PLUCKY JOHN THATCHER.

Catches and Stops a Galloping Runaway Horse.

Shortly after seven o'clock this morning, Milkman Thatcher was delivering his creamy stock in a house on Grove street. While he was inside his horse ran away, taking the wagon along too. The animal turned into Emily street and was soon going at full speed. Mr. John Thatcher, who is well known as a gentlemanly grocers clerk, is employed in R. W. Rice & Co.'s store. He pluckily ran out and caught the horse by the head, and, though dragged over a hundred feet, succeeded in stopping the animal. Mr. Thatcher was uninjured and the horse, wagon and contents also escaped damage. The young man was heartily thanked by the milkman and praised by those who witnessed the act.

Camera Club Meeting.

The Camera Club held a special meeting last evening, in their room on East Front street. Mr. F. C. Langhorne was elected an active member, and Mr. W. Boyd an associate member. A committee was appointed to make arrangements for the annual exhibition of prints to be held in the club's new rooms, in the Babcock building next November. The committee consists of Messrs. J. Harvey Doane, chairman; Coward, Arens, Smith and Stevens.

The Hospital Album Committee made a report, and presented the album and prints to the club, which were turned over to a committee, who will have them mounted and afterwards present them to the Muhlenberg Hospital.

The Board of Health's Final Meeting.

The final meeting of the Plainfield Board of Health was held last evening in Health Inspector Dunham's office on Front street. President Rockfellow, Secretary Leonard, Health Inspector Dunham, Dr. Endicott, and Messrs. Serrell and Newhall were present. The routine business of the year was gone over and a report prepared to present to the Common Council next Monday night. The terms of Messrs. Rockfellow and Leonard expired this year and two members are to be appointed next Monday night.

The Park Club Wins Again.

The Park Club bowling team defeated the Cranford team last night by the following score:

C. Y. M. L. DEFEAT CRESCENTS.

A Good Game Bowled in This City Last Night.

The two local teams in the Junior trophy tournament contested for honors in the battle of the pins last night. The game was played on the C. Y. M. L. alleys and was close and exciting. The Young Men, however, proved too much for the Crescents, and won by 42 pins. The lead was held by the C. Y. M. L. team from start to finish, but only by a small margin, and it looked toward the last of the game as if the Crescents would overcome it, by making a "Garrison finish" all on the wind up. The following is the score:

PERSONAL.

Mrs. I. A. Counett of East Second street is ill with the grip.

Miss Ver Meule of West Front street is confined to the house by illness.

Mr. J. H. Haberle and family of Chatham street moved to Harmony street yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Rhinehart will give a german at their home at Netherwood, next Tuesday night.

Mrs. William Hand of Park avenue is convalescent from a recent severe attack of inflammatory rheumatism.

Mr. J. R. Johnston of La Grande avenue recently contracted a severe cold, and he is now confined to the house.

There was a new arrival at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Mumford of East Front street Saturday night. It is a little daughter.

Councilman Charles P. Sebring of North Plainfield is one of the organizers of the Bound Brook Electric Light, Heat and Power Company, a certificate of which was filed with the Secretary of State, at Trenton, last week. The capital stock of the company is $5,000.

Mrs. James E. Fancher of Fanwood yesterday received $10,000 from the New York Life Insurance Company for the death of her husband. Mr. Fancher, it will be remembered, died from injuries received on the railroad track in this city, by being struck by the cars.

Mr. Charles W. Dodd, who has been warden of the county jail at Elizabeth for the past five years, passed the keys over to his successor, Mr. Blore of Rahway, this morning. Mr. Dodd removed to his family in this city Monday, and has joined them to-day. They reside on East Sixth street.

Mr. and Mrs. I. L. McVoy tendered an evening social to a number of friends at their residence on East Front street, last evening. About 40 guests were present and a most enjoyable time was had. Vocal and Instrumental selections and recitations were features of the evening. Supper was served and dancing indulged in.

The marriage of Miss Margaret Thorne Williams, daughter of Mr. S. F. Williams, general vice-president and comptroller of the Central Railroad Company, to Mr. William Simmons Johnson, will take place to-night in St. Luke's church, Roselle. A reception will follow at the home of the bride's parents, corner Fourth avenue and Chestnut street, Roselle. Guests from this city will be present.

"Passion in the Greek Poets," an illustrated lecture reading by Prof. Marion Miller, Doctor of Literature in Princeton College, was given in Association Hall, Brooklyn, last evening. Twelve prominent young ladies, principally of Brooklyn represented the Greek poems of Sophocles "Electra." A well known Plainfield young lady impersonated "Electra," and gave emotive gestures generally, winning many warm applause, which continued so heartily at the close that she was compelled to reappear and bow her acknowledgments to the 1,000 people present. One incharged said that they had been compelled to refuse tickets to fifteen hundred more applicants for seats. Nearly the entire hall was reserved at $1.50 per ticket. The affair was a great success.

Thiers Wins the Medal.

At the beginning of the new year the Park Club offered a medal to be given to the bowler making the highest score at bowling during January. As the contest Mr. Matthews was high man. Later on, however, Messrs. Charles Reed and Charles Lyman ranked even for the honor, and this state of affairs existed until Monday night when Mr. Charles E. Thiers made the high score of 228 taking the medal.

2,000,000 Gallons a Day.

About 2,000,000 gallons of water is the average daily quantity of the pure and sparkling liquid pumped into the standpipe at Netherwood, from the artesian wells. Last Summer the average was 250,000 gallons a day. The increase is on account of the supply sent to Elizabeth.

ABOUT ROAD BUILDING.

WHAT PLAINFIELD'S STREET COMMISSIONER SAYS.

An Interesting Paper Read Before the State Board of Agriculture—He Advocates the Employing of an Experienced Engineer.

A paper read before the State Board of Agriculture, recently, by Street Commissioner Robert E. Meeker of this city, is as follows:

One of the first questions that comes before a Road Board, Highway Commission or other body appointed by any citizens of any community to look after the roads, is, Shall we employ an engineer, or shall we not employ an engineer to assist us in our work? And more and more this question is coming to the front. Why? Because the people have learned, by costly experience, that it pays. On several occasions, when I have asked a reason, a practical engineer should be employed, I have been told that we could not think of commencing a lawsuit without consulting a good lawyer? Why? Because we are supposed to be thoroughly versed in all of the bearings and can tell us as the very outset whether we have a good case or not, and can tell us what we must do and in what form we must present our case before the court. Likewise in the laying out of roads, and only things to do in a lawsuit; the same reasoning applies in road-building. At the present day, almost every question connected with roads needs a study of road building, and not all members of the road board are able to say positively in what manner they should proceed. This question arises, what kind of stone? The engineer says trap-rock if possible; if not, tough granite or the hardest and toughest feldspathic rocks and some of the limestones of the transition and carb; but don't use red shale or the newer sandstone. Why? You ask. Because the experience of the old world has also of late become known as that it is cheaper in the end to use the hard, tough, dense rocks than the softer aqueous rocks. The first cost of delivering the trap rock on the road may be greater, but the saving in repairing, filling and forming the road will be the same. The trap-rock road will last for fifteen years, while the softer rocks will grind to powder and become worthless in from three to five years.

Having decided what to do your locality, what the nature of your road-covering shall be the next question is, how shall we do the work? Shall we contract the work to some one, or do the best results? The engineer says to mark the line of the road on one end to the other of our road, noting all waterways, ditches, the location and grade of the road and all ditches or other means at present provided for drainage. Then he says to go over the ground in profile so that at a glance we may see where the road requires cutting or filling and how much of it. How much is to be done; whether we will have dirt enough to make our fills or whether we will have to borrow it. Then, what shall we do with it? All these things should be decided before we commence work. To other words, we should endeavor to have a properly-prepared plan before beginning to build a permanent road as to the line to take and elevation of your house before commencing to build, and to the line to the same reason. The reason you want to know how much it is going to cost; second, you want to know how to build it, and, third, you want to know what you are getting for your money, so that you will not have to undo and do your work over again, which is the most costly way to build anything, as you will soon find out. A case in point occurs to me right here. Some years ago the Borough Commissioners of a certain town decided to build gravel roads to a road and filling in; the succeeding Winter and Spring they saw that they had made a big mistake, for they had soaked the water further up the road and made it worse than it was before. So they went to work and paid $600 more to haul the second vice-president and comptroller of the Central Railroad Company, to Mr. William Simmons Johnson, will take place to-night in St. Luke's church, Roselle. A reception will follow at the home of the bride's parents, corner Fourth avenue and Chestnut street, Roselle. Guests from this city will be present.

2,000,000 Gallons a Day.

between the two points, without regard to hills or hollows, or small it wind around them, so as to be nearly level? Of course we all recognize the fact that the ideal road would be perfectly level and perfectly straight, and perfectly drained by means of covered channels on each side. Except in a flat and level country, it will seldom be practicable to run a perfectly straight line for our road. In crossing a ridge, we look for the lowest point in proximity to our line, to avoid expensive cutting or steep or impractical grades; in crossing a valley, more especially, we must so locate our line as to avoid crossing and recrossing streams, which would involve the building of bridges. Hence, a perfectly straight or a perfectly level line will be impossible.

To determine where our line shall run between the points of departure and destination, the services of the engineer are absolutely necessary, because we want to obtain the shortest and most practicable line, consistent with, in other words, we want to get the best possible for the least money. The engineer runs the line and lays out the road according to the most practical route, at the same time taking levels for some distance on each side of the proposed road, so that in case the cuts or fills are too great he may change the line slightly, so that the levelling requirements may require, thus enabling us to determine how we may obtain the required result in the most practical and greatest economy. The location of the line having been determined, the engineer then proceeds to locate it upon the ground, from some point which must be accurately located and giving the courses and distances to the other extremity, which must likewise be accurately fixed. This line must be mapped and the map filed in the County Clerk's office, so that in case of any disputes arising in the future as to the boundaries of the road or any encroachments thereon, they may be easily and positively settled by the map so prepared, if they should. If possible, never exceed five feet to the 100 feet, and should never be less than one foot to the 100 feet. The first limit should never be exceeded on a good road, for the better the road the less should be the grades, and to obtain the best results from your team in hauling a load. The other limit should never be exceeded unless you have a paved gutter; otherwise, you will not be able to properly drain your road by surface drainage, and it will be liable to receive permanent injury from the backing up of the water in the gutters and the softening of the foundation of the road. These gradients are a very important part of the work, and it requires constant attention on the part of the engineer to see that they are followed. Any deviation from the forman or contractor will fail to cut deep enough or fill higher enough (thickness for no eye is a better guide than the engineer's instrument, with the result that we will have a depression where we ought to have with water at the first rain. In short, it is just as necessary for a grader to follow the instructions given him as it is for the carpenter or mason those given them.

The substance of the whole matter is right here: Shall we or shall we not profit by the experience of others? Shall we or shall we not follow a well-defined plan? Shall we or shall we not sit down and count the cost and look at the work to be done and the obstacles to be overcome before we begin to work?

FOR A WORTHY CAUSE.

An Entertainment Last Night for the Benefit of Trinity Church.

Mr. Van Winkle's class in the Trinity Reformed Sunday-school is composed of a number of energetic young men, who conceived the idea of holding an entertainment, to help the church.

The entertainment was held in the W. C. T. U. rooms, on Broadway, and was a gratifying success, socially and financially. Every seat in the room was occupied when the exercises began. There was a short musical programme rendered during the course of the evening, "Aunt Dinah's Husking Bee," which was a typical country scene.

"Aunt Dinah" had finished her household duties and had repaired to the barn where she and her husband prepared for the "Husking Bee" by spreading out shocks of corn on the floor. Soon the guests arrived and the frolic commenced which kept the audience in a continual roar of laughter. Some of the costumes of the participants were very elegant. At the close the hardy "tiller of the soil" himself, so well were they made up. The husking process occupied about an hour, when the barn became deserted and the huskers went to supper.

Killed by a Fall from a Scaffold.

William DeCoster, of Basking Ridge, while engaged with a number of other men shingling a barn at that place, yesterday at Bernardsville yesterday met with an accident which caused his death. De Coster was near the edge of the roof when the scaffold gave way and he fell thirty feet to the ground. He was picked up unconscious and removed in a condition to the residence of Dr. Steele, at Bernardsville, where it was found that the unfortunate man had been injured internally. The physician's efforts to revive him were without avail, and he died in a short time. He leaves a widow, Horace McWilliams, who was also on the scaffold when it gave way, fell and received severe injuries.

A Garwood Factory to Receive Water from Plainfield.

Monday the large factory at Garwood, recently erected, in which car wheels are to be manufactured, was connected with the water mains running from the Netherwood works. On account of the connection being made the engines were stopped and the pumping station, to lower the pressure.

Mrs. Cleveland and "Little Tippet."

During the phenomenal run of "Little Tippet" at the Lyceum Theatre in New York city Mrs. Cleveland visited the play twice. On the occasion of her last visit she was accompanied by Mrs. Wm. C. Whitney and Miss Whitney, and was given a reception by the people in the audience present. As the distinguished party were leaving the theatre the audience arose and cheered them to the echo and vigorously applauded. On being asked for opinion of "Little Tippet" by a reporter, Mrs. Cleveland replied: "It is unquestionably the funniest comedy I ever witnessed."—Exchange.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Prince Ferdinand, crown prince of Roumania, is not the son of King Charles and Queen Sylva of Roumania. They are childless. Ferdinand is a German, nephew of King Charles and son of Prince Leopold of Hohenzollern-Sigmaringen, related to the emperor of Germany. Princess Marie of Edinburgh is a niece of the emperor of Russia. When Ferdinand comes to the throne, therefore, both the czar and Emperor Billy will take it on themselves to boss Roumania.

The death of Jack Ashton, the slugger, at the early age of thirty dispels still further the illusion that prize fighters are either healthy or long lived men. The prize fighter model of physical culture has been held up before the world as the correct one for many a century, even back as far as the days of the Roman gladiators. It has been preached that anybody who would walk twelve miles a day, punch a beanbag two hours and skip a rope 600 times, after that eating a meal of raw beef, dry bread and tea, could be in condition to whip the world at anything from prize fighting to preaching. Yet here was Jack Ashton, John L. Sullivan's sparring partner on his exhibition tours, a person who had stood more "hard punching" than any other human brute alive perhaps, and taken as much of the beanbag and raw beef training as any one, dying at thirty from erysipelas caused by a pin scratch upon his left arm. It proves that his blood was impure and inflammable, and that he had anything but a strong constitution. A tape measurer is a dry goods shop would in most cases have fought successfully the illness that killed Jack Ashton.

The New, Old Religion.

He would be a shallow observer indeed who could not see that civilization is at this moment in the midst of the grandest religious reformation since the crusades. The reformation is along the line of religious work, not of theology. The signs of it are on all sides. The Salvation Army, the King's Daughters, the Moral Purity society, the Society of Christian Endeavor are some of the evidences of this tremendous reawakening of religious life. Men and women of wealth, of culture and the highest moral character are going from their luxurious homes and holding out a brother's and sister's hand to the outcast, the lowly, the poor and the ignorant. It is as if with one splendid rush of enthusiasm good people of every faith began to think on the true meaning of the command of the founder of the Christian religion to go out among the highways and byways and bid the people to the wedding feast. It is as if a lightning flash of comprehension Christians began to understand and practice the real doctrine of Christianity, the sweet dogma of love and helpfulness. It is not charity: it is not almsgiving; it is the far harder and higher task of showing people how to help themselves. Beneath the banner of this new, old creed the pope, the rabbi, the Protestant and the agnostic join hands and march gloriously together. The crusade for the moral, social, economic and sanitary regeneration of the race began in Anglo-Saxon England and America. It will spread through all the continents to the farthest islands of the sea.

There are some yet living who can recall the thrilling Shakespearean recitations of Fanny Kemble, and these perhaps will be surprised that she died only lately, so completely had she dropped out of notice in her last days. She was a month older than Gladstone. Since Mrs. Siddons no woman has possessed her dramatic greatness. She not only had the power of expression, but had masterful intellectuality of her own. More than sixty years ago she began her stage career in London and won fame and success at a bound. For her there was no grievous toiling by slow steps up the hill. She occupies a place in American social and dramatic history because she lived long among us and because of her South Carolina husband, Colonel Pierce Butler, whose home on the plantation she left because she could not tolerate slavery. After abandoning the regular life of the actress she continued giving Shakespearean recitations till she was sixty years old; then she followed authorship. Her last book was published as late as 1878. This gifted woman had extraordinary grace of figure and carriage, which she said was largely owing to the fact that in her girlhood her mother had required her to be drilled in military exercises by the regular drill master of one of the regiments stationed in her native town in England.

A joint resolution for a constitutional amendment calling for the election of United States senators by popular vote instead of by the legislatures of the states has already passed the national house of representatives. This is one of the changes that the Twentieth century will probably witness. Then different political parties in a legislature can no longer lock horns and stay locked till warm weather thaws them out.

We call it "missionary work" now, laboring with delegates at a convention to bring them over to somebody they don't want to vote for. But the arguments used are not always Scriptural ones.

THE CABINET MEETING.

Annexation of Hawaii Informally Discussed by Members.

ANTIOPTION PASSES THE SENATE.

Delayed Electoral Returns From the Silver State Come In—Pinkertons Are Regarded as Legal by the House Committee. Representative Harrity's Opinion.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—The senate got rid of the legislative incubus under which it has labored since the first day of the session. The antioption bill finally was passed by a vote of 40 to 29. There were many members of the house of representatives, at times almost as many of them as there were senators, present in the senate chamber during the votes and the preliminary discussions of the bill, and the deepest interest was manifested in the proceedings as well on the floor as in the crowded galleries. The Chandler resolution requesting the president to enter into negotiations with the commissioners from the provisional government of Hawaii for annexation of the islands was taken up and after a brief discussion was laid aside without action, the antioption bill pushing it out of the way.

The Cabinet Meets.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—The discussion of the Hawaiian question at the cabinet meeting today was informal, and there being no definite action in the matter no annexation no action was taken. The matter of the reception of the commissioners of the provisional government of Hawaii coming directly only to the president and secretary of state, with whom their business must be transacted. There was practically a unanimous expression of opinion in favor of annexation, but as this will require action by congress as well as by the executive, there was no decision that could be reached at this time. The commissioners of course will be received courteously and their proposition listened to with sympathy, but their recommendations that may be made will not be determined by its terms. What these may be cannot be told until the arrival of the commissioners and the statement of their case to the secretary of state.

Representative Harter's Opinion.

Representative N. D. Harter of Ohio is one of the congressmen who have decided opinions upon the question of the annexation of Hawaii which are antagonistic to the expressions of a large number of his associates.

"We don't want the islands," said Mr. Harter, "under any conditions, and I am decidedly opposed to making them a part of our territory. The whole scheme is a job intended to benefit the few sugar planters, who are anxious to secure the 2 cent per pound bounty paid by the United States on the native product. Their crop amounts to 2,000,000 or 3,000,000 pounds a year, as I recollect, and if they should get that bounty there will be a nice bounty of from $40,000 to $60,000 to divide among these sugar planters. But we will knock that out shortly, and then you'll hear no more about annexation."

England Will Have a Warship There.

London advices say the corvet Garnett, mounting 14 guns, left Acapulco, Mexico, on Jan. 7, bound for Honolulu. She was under orders to proceed from Honolulu to Esquimalt. These orders have been countermanded, and instructions have been sent to the commander of the vessel to remain at Honolulu until the troubles there are settled.

Representative Sanford (Rep., N. Y.) offered for reference the following: "Resolved by the house of representatives, that it is the sense of this body that the time has now come when the preservation and extension of our commerce and the upholding of our flag demand that prompt action be taken by this government looking toward the immediate annexation of the Hawaiian Islands to the United States."

Pinkertons Are Legal.

Mr. Bootner, in his report, says that he finds nothing whatever in the constitution which authorizes congress to interfere with, regulate or prohibit the employment of Pinkerton or any other detectives by persons or corporations, except so far as they may be engaged in interstate commerce. The trouble at Homestead was beyond federal or congressional jurisdiction. To permit interference by the federal authorities without demand of the states, or to make laws which would control or affect the relations of employer and employe in the states would be to undermine the just authority of the states and interpose federal authority upon a subject of which they have here and ought to have supreme control.

He does not hesitate to say that the suppression of riots and protection of public and private property from organized attacks ought to be by public authority and under direction of public officers who are responsible for all lawful discharge of their duties, but if the state allows the use of private armed guards to perform this public duty, he does not see what principle congress can cite to a reversion of their laws and correction of this evil.

Montana's Vote Received.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—The electoral vote of the state of Montana was received yesterday by President pro tem. Manderson in the absence of Vice President Morton. It was brought by Mr. Maloney, the messenger chosen by the electoral college of the state, who, in explanation of his disturbance, said:

"Neither one of the national committees nor any other authority seemed to think it worth while to send out any instructions about the way of delivering the electoral vote of the states. Nobody seemed to think it was essential that I should come to Washington by any predicable, so that I was on hand prior to the time prescribed for the counting of the vote."

Customs Receipts Increase.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—The receipts from customs duse during the month of January aggregated more than $21,000,000, being the largest for any month since January, 1891.

Holmes to Be Hanged.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Feb. 1.—The motion for a new trial in the case of Prince W. Holmes, the wife murderer, was overruled. Holmes will therefore be hanged Friday next.

An Elizabeth Mad Dog Bites a Boy.

ELIZABETH, N. J., Feb. 1.—A mad dog ran amuck here and bit several other dogs and also Tommy Carroll, a lad 14 years old.

Von Bulow Insane.

LONDON, Feb. 1.—Hans von Bulow, the world famous pianist, has been sent to an insane asylum.

THE OSBORNE ELECTION CASE.

The Order Denied to Show Cause Why Contempt Should Not Be Punished.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., Feb. 1.—The following is the decision of Judge Barnard denying the application made to him by Mr. Leavitt for an order to show cause why the board of canvassers should not be punished for disobeying the order of the court and counting in Osborne: "No preemptive case is made out for a contempt against the board for the failure of the order of the supreme court. The board of supervisors of Dutchess county canvassed the votes as to state senator by counting out certain so called marked ballots. The election law was imperative that such votes should be counted in the first instance. The act refused to sign the returns, and the board made Mr. Hylod, its clerk, certify its count. These returns so certified were forwarded to Albany.

"It was made a question whether the county clerk must certify the return, and the court of appeals subsequently held that a board of supervisors was empowered with the right to compel the return by another person than the county clerk if he refused to sign the certificate. The appeal from Judge Edwards' order had only this point in it. Before the decision by the court of appeals the supervisors had by order of the court recounted the votes so as to elect Mr. Osborne, and the act of canvassing was fulfilled by a new county clerk, the old one having been removed by the governor, and this action did not return got to the proper officers before the decision of the court of appeals, so that when that decision came the state canvassers had or ought to have had this corrected return. If the board violated its duty and counted the uncorrected return, it was not a contempt of an order of any court. The order of the court simply provided a legal return of the canvass of the votes, and when it was filed the duty of the court was accomplished."

ATTACKING HOME RULE.

Gladstone Replies In Parliament and Speaks Forty-five Minutes.

LONDON, Feb. 1.—In the house of commons Lord Salisbury said the keynote of the Irish policy of the government was to get the support of the criminal classes. The prerogative of the crown had been used to shield murderers and release dynamiters. With regard to the measures announced in the queen's speech Lord Salisbury declared that nobody believed that they would ever be undertaken.

There is no country in the world, Lord Salisbury added, where property was now so insecure as in Great Britain in consequence of erroneous legislative action.

In the commons Arthur J. Balfour, first lord of the treasury in the last Salisbury cabinet and now leader of the Unionist opposition, declared that the home secretary should say whether or not the release of Egan and Callan, the Irish dynamiters, was part of a policy of amnesty intended to involve the release of all the Irish dynamiters.

Mr. Gladstone was cheered loudly when he rose to answer Mr. Balfour. In his speech Mr. Gladstone showed plainly that he had been irritated by Mr. Balfour's taunts. The tones of his voice indicated deep indignation, and his gestures were rapid and violent, especially when he repudiated the imputation that royal clemency had been exploited for political purposes in the case of the Irish dynamiters and the Gweedore prisoners. He spoke for 45 minutes with good effect.

The American League Address.

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—An address was issued to the Irish people by the Irish National League of America. It was signed by the president, secretary and treasurer of the league. The address in part is as follows:

"The great British statesman, the Right Hon. William Ewart Gladstone, will within the next few days introduce in the British parliament a home rule measure for Ireland. We have carefully studied its provisions, and we have arrived at our conclusions regarding it.

"We are of the opinion that the measure is a mere mass of legal verbiage, intended to give no satisfaction to any party. Even should the bill pass, it would only place Ireland on a still lower level. We stand today at the parting of the ways, betwixt resistance and conciliation. We have advised the latter until patience has ceased to be a virtue and further temporizing has become a crime."

Hughes' Bail For Conspiracy Forfeited.

ROCHESTER, Feb. 1.—Judge Rumsey, on application of District Attorney Forsythe, signed an order authorizing that official to commence action to recover the amount of the bail of Master Workman James Hughes from the signers of the $5,000 bail bond. A warrant was this morning placed in the hands of the sheriff for the arrest of Hughes.

A Pneumatic Treat Imminent.

HARTFORD, Feb. 1.—The American Cyclist publishes the report of a strong attempt to form a trust, by the principal bicycle tire manufacturers. These use 12 makers of pneumatic tires. It will require at least 150,000 pairs of tires this year to supply the demand. The gross value of this output is over $3,000,000.

Chicago and St. Louis Electric Contracts Let.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 1.—Contracts for building the Chicago and St. Louis Electric Railroad line for the entire distance from St. Louis to Chicago were let to Bagnell Brothers of this city and Garvey Brothers of Memphis.

Gas Dollar a Day Not Enough.

COLLEGE POINT, L. I., Feb. 1.—Employees of the Kalmer Rubber company have struck for an increase of $1 per week in their wages. They have been earning from $5 to $7 per week and claim that they cannot live on their wages.

At the Storm Center.

ST. PAUL, Feb. 1.—A heavy blizzard is now raging throughout the northwest, and its violence is still unabated. Wires are prostrated, and trains are delayed, and it is very difficult to obtain authentic news from outside points.

The Nova Scotia Grant Passes.

HALIFAX, Feb. 1.—The Whitney syndicate bill passed its third reading in the legislative council, and now only requires the signature of the lieutenant governor to become a law. This will probably be given.

THE VESUVIUS TESTED.

A Demonstration That Will Revolutionize Warfare.

A PNEUMATIC DYNAMITE GRUBBER.

Officers Pronounce the Trials So Far Satisfactory—Others Will Occur During the Week—A Moving Account of High Explosives Which Do Vessel Can Stand.

PORT ROYAL, S. C., Feb. 1.—The severe ordeal through which the pneumatic guns of the dynamite cruiser Vesuvius must pass ere they are pronounced a success was begun this morning. The marvelous accuracy with which they hurled projectiles through the air at an initial velocity of 920 feet per second was a surprise even to the powder gun cranks assembled on the wharf. Two successive shells from the port gun fell within four yards of each other, and both were only 12 yards from the 2,000-yard line established by the board.

Dummies Only Were Used.

Though no high explosives were used, and the shells were all dummies, this was the test that it was believed would either kill or make the system, and those who have ever predicted the failure of the pneumatic gun now confess their error.

The one man to whom the system owes its development was absent. He was in New York perfecting the details of the time fuse that is to be used the latter part of the week, when the shells, loaded with 100 pounds of gun cotton, will be fired.

Twelve Shots Were Fired.

In all 12 shots were fired, 8 at a range of 2,000 yards and 6 at 1,500 yards, the three guns being fired in succession. With the exception of the first two shots fired from the starboard gun no shot fell more than 20 yards distant from the required range, and every shot fired would have struck a man-of-war at the distance designated by the board.

No target was used, but the board specified the distance required, and the observing officer with the guns reported the results. There was no difficulty in the working of the airguns, nor of the supply of air to the systems, nor in the controlling of the shell by the wind vanes. The first two shots fired from the starboard gun fell about 100 yards short of the required distance. This was probably due to a slight error in the assumed form of the range curve, an error arising from the limited number of the projectiles available for preliminary work. As soon as the error was detected in the range the curve of the starboard gun was slightly altered, and the remaining shots gave the same good results as those from the other guns.

Path of the Projectile.

When the projectile left the muzzle of the gun it had no perceptible motion of rotation. Several projectiles with grooved rollers at the base began to revolve almost as soon as the shot left the air chamber, about 100 yards from the muzzle. The grooves and wooden centering pieces fell off and left the projectile free in its flight. The motion of rotation was taken up and the shot continued on its course at the rate of 1,600 feet. From this point it fell almost point down, but did not sink immediately.

It kept on the surface of the water for some distance, and then with a slow motion of the steel flanges, which act like a propeller.

Lieutenant Schroeder said that he was highly pleased with the day's work. The board declined to give official figures and preferred not to express an official opinion at this time. The friends of the Vesuvius are, however, jubilant over the result and claim that the day has demonstrated facts which will revolutionize naval warfare.

The Danbury and State Line Railroad.

DANBURY, Conn., Feb. 1.—At a hearing before the railroad commissioners the plan of the Danbury and State Line railway was approved. The road will extend through Ridgefield, Conn., and North Salem, N. Y., to Goldenbridge, where it will join the Harlem road. It will virtually be a branch of the Harlem, and the distance will be shortened 20 miles thereby between Danbury and New York. Work will be commenced in the spring.

Powder Explodes in a Mine.

ZANESVILLE, O., Feb. 1.—A terrible explosion occurred at the Star coal mine at Crooksville. At the time of the explosion, which was caused by the ignition of blasting powder, there were 40 men at work. Charles Koontz and John Carender were fatally injured, and James Young, who was standing in the mouth of the mine at the time of the explosion, was blown 30 feet and severely burned.

Speaker Flynn Censures the House.

TRENTON, Feb. 1.—The members of the house were censured by Speaker Flynn for neglecting to perform the committee work promptly. There are over 100 bills unreported, and for want of business the house could hold only a brief session and was then forced to adjourn for the week.

Long Island School Teachers Suspended.

LONG ISLAND CITY, Feb. 1.—The new school commissioners under Mayor Sanford created a great flurry by suspending without pay 25 public school teachers who, it is claimed, are not properly qualified to teach. All of the suspended teachers were appointed by ex-Mayor Gleason.

IN CARLISLE HARRIS' CASE.

A Story Which, if True, Will Give Him a Chance For His Life.

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—The sensational murder case of Carlisle Harris, who was convicted of poisoning his schoolgirl wife, Helen Potts Harris, which in various stages has been before the public for a year, may take another turn if the story contained in a Kingston dispatch is true. It is to the effect that Lawyer Van Buren of that place has evidence to the effect that Helen Potts was addicted to the use of opium and morphine and had frequently threatened to kill herself. Mr. Van Buren's wife is a sister to Miss McKinstry, a former teacher in a Fifth avenue school where Miss Potts attended.

Miss McKinstry, in conversation with Mr. Van Buren, informed him of these facts some time ago. The matter passed out of his mind until after the affirmance of the conviction by the court of appeals, when he went to New York and saw Miss McKinstry and induced her to go to Philadelphia, where the principal of the school now lives, and find out the facts. Miss McKinstry did this, and on Monday morning Mr. Van Buren received a note from her stating that she had had a long conversation with the principal of the school, who told her that Miss Potts, the wife of Harris, was addicted to the frequent use of morphine and opium, and that when the girl became extremely dissatisfied with the school or when reprimanded for malconduct repeatedly threatened to kill herself.

PROPOSED CONNECTICUT LAWS.

To Investigate Industrial Life Companies and Establish Proof In Will Cases.

HARTFORD, Feb. 1.—In the house bills were presented requiring wheels of wagons carrying a load of 2,000 pounds to have tires 4 inches wide; requiring railroads to keep bridges and roadways beneath them in repair and requiring electric railroads to have a subscribed capital of $5,000 per mile before being incorporated. Resolutions were presented incorporating the Odd Fellows' home of Connecticut, re-establishing a union railroad depot at Waterbury and authorizing the insurance commissioner to investigate industrial life insurance companies doing business in the state. A bill presented places the burden of proof that the maker of a will has not been unduly influenced upon the proponent where a prima facie case of fraud or undue influence has been made by a petitioner, and another bill imposes a fine of $1,000 and an imprisonment of two years upon persons keeping any room for betting on horse races or acting as agents for betting firms.

The total foreign commerce for this port was $61,338,343 in excess of that of 1890-1 and for the whole country $93,738,941. The excess of imports over exports for this port was $114,473,888, and the excess of imports over exports for the whole country was $178,761,497.

American vessels brought $81,452,307 worth of imports to this port; foreign vessels, $401,056,654, and land vehicles, $3,741,-950. American vessels carried $46,326,604 of the domestic exports and foreign vessels $415,569,137.

For the whole country the trade by American vessels reached $149,180,971; by foreign vessels, $1,670,285,812, and by land vehicles, $90,874,853.

Civil Service Finds No Defenders.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—Representative De Armond (Dem., Mo.) put a little spice into the proceedings of the house by making an attack upon the civil service law, and for some minutes it seemed as though the house would be precipitated into a general discussion of that institution. But the excitement was extinguished almost as soon as it was fired, for no civil service reformer thought the speech demanded a reply. Then a controversy as to the Democracy of Mr. Enloe (Tenn.) and Mr. Bland (Mo.) entertained the house for awhile, based upon an amendment offered by the former which the latter construed as a surrender to the protectionists. But this also ended in a flash without injury to either gentleman. The third incident of the day was based upon the river and harbor feature of the sundry civil bill, which Mr. Butler (Ia.) contended did not properly belong to that measure. This contention Mr. Blanchard (La.) antagonized, and some Pickwickian expressions were indulged in. No final action was taken.

MGR. SATOLLI'S FINDING

It Favors English Speaking Churches For America.

A VICOROUS SLAP AT CAHENSLYISM

Bishop Wigger Claims a Victory, but Advises Positively State That In the Appeal of Father Killeen the Latter Was Successful Upon Every Count.

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—Mgr. Satolli has had referred to him charges against Bishop Wigger of the Newark diocese by Father Killeen of Bayonne, whose church some time ago Bishop Wigger peremptorily closed, dispersing the congregation, which was English speaking, to German speaking parishes. The charges are summarized as follows: First, that the closing of St. Thomas' church was exceeding the authority of the bishop; next, that it was in contravention of the rule established by the recent council of the church at Baltimore, which forbade the closing of a church by the ordinary without the consent of the pastor and people, and last, that the whole administration of Bishop Wigger was an attempt to foster and extend the spirit of Cahenslyism.

Against the Bishop.

The rector of the Catholic university has added his positive declaration to that of Mgr. Satolli that the charges against Bishop Wigger have not been settled, and it is now stated upon the highest authority in such matters that the case will not be settled in favor but against Bishop Wigger. The church at Bayonne, closed in January, 1892, by order of Bishop Wigger and since used as a public hall, must be restored to the use of the English speaking Catholics who built it. Services in English must be conducted there regularly and the rights of the congregation respected by the bishop of Newark.

The Bishop's Statement Incorrect.

The statement that Bishop Wigger has, in the face of the open declaration of Mgr. Satolli and Bishop Keane, reiterated the story that the case has been decided in his favor, is simply astounding to those who know that Bishop Wigger has no such letter from Mgr. Satolli or from any one who had reason for him.

The Decision Will Have No Uncertain Sound.

It is plain that the respect due to his offices will not allow Mgr. Satolli to have his word questioned in public, and there does not appear to be any other course left now but for the apostolic delegate to show as publicly that Bishop Wigger has exceeded all bounds of decency in following the course he has.

The Decision Will Have No Uncertain Sound.

Bishop Wigger authorized the statement that things were to remain in status quo at St. Thomas' church. The authority is given here to announce that the status quo will be broken, and that is a short time. Those who know speak distinctly on this subject and are not inclined to bandy words with the bishop of Newark, but say the occurrences of the next few weeks will prove the absolute correctness of all that has been said.

Permanent Secretary to Satolli.

Since the pope determined to establish a permanent apostolic delegation in the United States he has also ordered Mgr. Sbarretti, a nephew of the late cardinal, to report to Mgr. Satolli as permanent secretary of the delegation and to act as its chancellor.

The chancellor, who will bring all the authenticated documents with him, is between 35 and 40 years of age. He is familiar with American affairs, having had charge of an office in the propaganda, where business once before him relating to the church in the United States. He is also professor of canon law in the propaganda.

What Bishop Wigger Said.

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—The Tribune says: Bishop Wigger told a reporter yesterday that he had received in Latin from Mgr. Satolli the communication in which the archbishop informed him that the case of the Bayonne church had been decided in his favor. Bishop Wigger was asked what truth there was in the Washington dispatch alleging that the case had not yet been settled. The bishop said, "I have only to say, as I told yesterday through Father Marshall, that I have received a communication, signed by Mgr. Satolli, in Latin, which tells me that the case has been settled in my favor."

CHILDREN'S COLUMN.

"Pipped Off Her Nose."

A novel feature which was witnessed at an entertainment given for some charity was called the "blackbird pie." The managers gathered up four and twenty little girls and covered them in black paper aprons like Mother Hubbards, with raveyhns that came down over black stockinged knees. Big sashes of coarse black tarletan were caught up like wings to the little shoulders, and black caps completed the costumes.

The pie was a large pan from the hotel kitchen filled with trifling gifts, each daintily wrapped and tied with baby ribbon, leaving a long end to come through a masking in the brown paper crust of the pie.

The "black birds" sold a piece of pie for twenty-five cents, getting through the audience. It was a hard hearted man who escaped. When all were sold the purchasers gathered round the pie and each grasped a ribbon. The pie was struck up, and the children, joining hands, circled around the pie and its purchasers, singing:

Sing a song o' sixpence,
A pocket full o' rye,
Four and twenty blackbirds
Baked in a pie, etc.

At the words "opened off her nose" the pie was opened and the gifts drawn forth by their ribbons. These "blackbirds" sold seven large pies in one evening.—Anna Leach in Boston Globe.

A Fine Japanese Doll.

Did any of you ever see a doll from Japan? Yoritomo is a Japanese doll—a baby boy—and quite as large as any infant six months old. He is very lifelike in appearance and looks very young, although he is said to be over 300 years old. He wears quite a pic-ouller little dress. It is of a black and red silk material, and all painted with Japanese flowers, shells and playthings. It has the royal crest sewn in the good—one on each shoulder and one at the back of the neck.

These ancient crests show that Yoritomo once belonged to the royal family of Japan, and he was no doubt handed down as an heirloom from generation to generation until finally he was disposed of at one of the great doll feasts of that interesting country, when he was purchased by the wife of an American naval officer, who has no children, and brought all the way to Americus, where he is now one of the oldest and most prized dolls in the national capital.—Washington News.

necessity of quiet movement about the room. "Now, Harry," she said, "go back to your seat and see how still you can come to the desk. Come up like a mouse," she finished, by way of illustration.

Whereupon the small Harry returned to his place, and dropping upon all fours came sidelong and silently, in true mouse fashion, through the aisle. The outburst of merriment, which neither scholars nor teacher could suppress at this performance, surprised and grieved the heart of the little kindergartner, who saw nothing unusual in it.—Her Point of View in New York Times.

"V-e-r-y N-i-c-e."

Girls and boys, especially girls, don't all low yourselves to get into the habit that many grown people have, of, when called upon for an opinion of somebody or something of whom or which they inwardly dis approve, drawing out "V-e-r-y n-i-c-e." The attempt to hide disapprobation, savy is fault to which poor human nature is sadly prone) and several other disagreeable things under the thin veil afforded by these two words is most transparent.

Better tell an honest falsehood, if I may use the expression, and accord an emphatic approbation than to employ this weak, half way one which is so easily seen through.

Or, better yet, come out boldly with the truth. "Twon't sting a bit more than "V-e-r-y n-i-c-e."—Detroit Free Press.

Cat, dog, the dish and the spoon;
Then all at once said,
"We must soon go to bed,
Or we shall not be up by noon."

Well might the dog laugh, puss,
When he saw what the cow had done,
And well might the dish
With his friend, the spoon, wish
To see how fast they could run.

But the cow began to boast, puss,
And said she'd jump over the sun.
That very same night
She died in a fright
At the sound of a little pea gun.

TREATMENT OF MEASLES.

Information for Mothers Worth Putting Into the Scrapbook.

The ordinary symptoms of measles are chilliness, followed by a mild fever, headache and muscular soreness. The Woman Doctor in The Recorder says that ordinarily about ten days elapse between the time the child is exposed and the appearance of the disease.

It appears gradually. The child complains of being cold and follows his mother around and cries. Then his face and hands become hot and flushed, and he has a slight fever, with symptoms of a bad cold in the head. The eyes become inflamed and sensitive to the light. The catarrhal inflammation of the throat makes swallowing painful, though the sore throat of measles is not so marked as in scarlet fever. These catarrhal symptoms, however, are the ones to be most looked out for, because they most frequently lead to more serious complications. The eruption first appears in the red spots on the temples and forehead. These spots rapidly increase in number and intensity of color, and the fever increases. Some cough may remain for two or three weeks. This is the ordinary course of an ordinary case of measles.

There is no disease of childhood that requires more careful nursing. In a majority of cases no medicine is needed if proper care in other ways is given. When the child first shows symptoms of the disease give him a thorough scrubbing in a hot plunge bath. Give him a drink of something hot; lemonade or ginger tea will do. Then put him to bed in a warm room. The room must be darkened because of the inflammation of the eyes. Don't make the mistake of interpreting a warm room to mean a hot, unventilated room. Good air and cleanliness are the two essentials to a cure. The window may be lowered an inch from the top and the air strained through the curtain. The child should be isolated from the other children because the disease is contagious. All heavy draperies, rugs and carpets or upholstered furniture, anything, in short, that cannot be washed, ought to be removed from the sickroom. The patient should be kept on a light diet, such as gruels, milk, etc. A full liberal diet may be given as the fever subsides. Hot drinks should also be administered frequently. When the breathing becomes difficult and the lungs seem involved, a hot flaxseed poultice upon which mustard has been sprinkled will give speedy relief.

Will the Crinoline Prevail?

A writer in the New York Evening World is positive that the crinoline will not prevail. It may come in on the next steamer from Europe, but it will not be worn. The time is gone by for a sweet scented mollete to even attempt to dictate to the cultivated women of three continents. Here in America, where novelties are always in demand, lawyers know exactly what they want. It is not enough for them that a model is new. It must have other qualities. It must be neat, pretty or elegant, and each in-

Foreign buyers who travel for large dry goods firms defend their sensational purchases by the declaration that everything goes in Broadway. But Broadway is not New York. The criticisms may encompass that section of Vanity Fair, but it is not likely to invade Madison avenue.

And then there is the woman of native refinement—the typical American—who never has anything to do with the so called fluctuating styles and always makes a nice appearance, even with one dress a year. These element are a constant quantities, and it is from them the strongest opposition will come if the ridiculous hoopskirt rolls into view.

Cake a la Mason.

Roll out some puff paste fairly thin, and with it cover some circular baking tins; on these spread a layer of apricot, peach or any good marmalade, cover each again with a very thin layer of puff paste, brush it over with beaten yolk of egg and bake. When the cakes are all but baked, draw them from the oven, brush them all over with stiffly whipped white of egg, stew this with coarsely crushed sugar and chopped almonds or pistachios; sprinkle over it all a few drops of water and return it to the oven till set. Remember this glazing must only be added just as the cake is done or it will discolor and turn brown. Cut the cake from the center in triangles. It is good hot or cold.

THEIR LITTLE GAME.

It May Have Been a Joke on His Lordship, but It Was Liked By.

A certain Englishman, who may be known as Lord C——, was visiting an American city where society received him with open arms at the same time that it acknowledged in private the extreme difficulty it found in entertaining him. His lordship would not talk; perhaps he could not. At any rate he showed very little interest in most topics of conversation, and seemed deplorably obtuse to the point of a good story. Only one person, a brilliant woman named Mrs. A——, had the least success in waking him to a semblance of conversational life, and she was consequently saddled with the task of amusing him at whatever gathering they appeared.

"Lord C—— will take you out to dinner," my dear," her hostess would whisper. "Now do your best to amuse him, won't you, for I do want the dinner to be a success, and his long silences are so depressing!"

At first the situation was rather amusing to the victim so constantly laid on the block of conversation, but there came a time when she was heartily tired of it, and frankly acknowledged to herself that she was "talked out."

Time went on, however, as time has a way of doing, and one evening came the farewell dinner to Lord C——. He was to leave town the next morning, and his hostess sought out his entertainer with the well worn request:

"Now do make him talk, dear. He will sit beside you as usual."

But Mrs. A—— had a headache, and moreover her wits had deserted her. She had talked of everything with this noncommittal man, from the house of lords to fox hunting, and she felt absolutely hopeless of finding another subject in which he might take even a fleeting interest. A bright idea occurred to her, and she said to him, in a low tone, as soon as they were seated at table:

"I have a headache tonight, and it doesn't seem to me that I can talk. Yet we must say something or be thought very peculiar, so I will turn to you and say in an animated tone, 'One—two—three!' You can reply, with great earnestness, 'Four—five—six!'

"I will become argumentative and assert, 'Seven—eight—nine—ten!' and you can gayly contradict me by counting up to twenty. So we can continue for a whole evening, without having to exert ourselves to think."

The idea struck the Englishman as being exceedingly funny, and the plan was forthwith carried out. The lady was animated, the gentleman assured, in fact, he broke into such guffaws of laughter that the rest of the table ceased talking to listen, but in vain. Both were discreet, and at such some command in almost inaudible tones.

After dinner, so delighted was Lord C—— with the game that he insisted on following his companion into a corner and playing it until 10 o'clock, when he left her exhausted but triumphant. He had no sooner gone than his hostess rushed over to Mrs. A—— and exclaimed:

"How did you do it? May I ask what roused him to such interest?"

But the culprit shook her head seriously and replied, "It was entirely confidential."

The story was too good to keep, however, and she told it to several intimate friends. One of them, a person who did not know the Englishman in question, once repeated it in a Canadian household where he was a visitor. He did not scruple to set forth the Englishman's personal obtuseness and density, and when he had finished a gentleman whose name as not not caught said with quiet emphasis:

"She may have been making game of me, but it was the pleasantest evening I ever spent in my life and I forgive her."

It was Lord C——, and the slighted young man could not help feeling that his lordship had the better of it.—Youth's Companion.

Business Sympathy.

A bright printer's clerk who was instructed to write a letter of condolence to a firm, the head of which had recently died, did it in this way:

"We are greatly pained to learn of the loss sustained by your house, and extend to you our heartiest sympathy. We notice that the circular you send us announcing the death was lithographed in the province. We regret that you did not see your way clear to let us estimate for the work. The next time there is a bereavement in your house we shall be glad to quote for your printing, and are confident that we can give you better work at less cost than anybody else in the business. Hoping soon to hear from you, we remain, with profound sympathy, yours truly."

There is something soothing in that last sentence.—Million.

Bunkoing a Bunkoer.

"You have some fine looks this morning," said the kindly old schoolmaster to the pouliterer.

"Yes, sir; all fresh today."

"What is the price?"

"You can have your choice, sir. I have them at all prices."

"Well, I want to give my boys a treat, but I do not want them to be too tender. There are a dozen here—pick out four of the toughest."

The poulterer obeyed. "Here, sir, you have four of the toughest birds in my shop."

"Thank you, sir," said the schoolmaster. "I'll take the other eight."—Cincinnati Commercial Gazette.

BREVITIES

—The Board of Directors of the Y. M. C. A. will hold an important meeting at the association rooms this evening.

—The High School Lyceum will hold its second annual public meeting in Assembly Hall to-night, at 7.45 o'clock.

—One of the wheels on a carriage belonging to Mr. Hedden was "dished" by the car tracks, on Front street, this morning.

—Jona Council, Degree of Pocahontas, met last night. One "pale face" was adopted and a committee was appointed to arrange for an entertainment.

—There were two full moons during January. During February it will not be more than half full at any time, therefore this has been declared a temperance month.

—A regular meeting of Unity Lodge, Knights of Pythias, was held last evening. After the routine business was transacted City Judge Coddington took the degrees and became a knight.

—Information in regard to the Y. M. C. A. State Convention, to be held at Camden, Feb. 9th, to 12th, may be obtained at the Y. M. C. A., rooms, or from W. E. Murray, C. T. Kissam of the State Committee, E. L. Walz, J. L. Robinson or Committee, E. L. Walz, J. L. Robinson or Walter M. McGee of the local association.

—"Aunt Dinah's Husking Bee," which met with such success at the W. C. T. U. rooms, on Tuesday evening, is likely to be repeated at Reform Hall some time this month. Many requests for a repetition of the entertainment have been received by those taking part.

—The following is an extract from ex-Gov. Abbett's recent message, concerning the Training School for feeble-minded children, at Vineland:

SCHOOL FOR FEEBLE MINDED CHILDREN.

The training school is under private management, but the State has generally sent all the feeble minded children to this institution because it is situated in this State. The State has paid for the education, clothing and maintenance of 173 children during the fiscal year. The reports of the Board of Directors and of the officers of this institution make an excellent showing of the rapid and healthful development of every department. Without any aid from the State whatever, except a per capita yearly allowance for indigent children, the school has acquired a plant, chiefly through the generosity of public spirited citizens, which the management estimate to be of the value of $70,000. The inauguration and successful conduct of this school deserves just recognition. It is delightfully situated at Vineland, and in my visits to this institution I have been pleased with its management. It is a great charity, under the management of a Board deserving of high praise for its great work for these poor children, who appeal so strongly to our sympathies for their care and comfort.

CRESCENT LEAGUE MEETING.

A Large Number of Enthusiastic Members Attend.

The Crescent League members held an enthusiastic meeting last night in their club house on East Second street. The sense of the meeting and the sentiment expressed was that the club be continued.

The club decided to issue bonds to the members, and shares at five dollars each were quickly disposed of, and about $100 were subscribed.

Some of the members volunteered to act as a committee to call on the members not present at last night's meeting, and invite them to become shareholders.

It was decided to employ a manager to take charge of the club house.

MIDDLE WEIGHT CHAMPIONS TO BOX.

At the Entertainment of the Plainfield Athletic Club To-night.

The Plainfield Athletic Club, a new organization of young men, has arranged to hold an entertainment in its rooms, on West Front street to-night.

There will be a lively boxing bout between Messrs. Gillen and Kiernan, middleweight champions of Pennsylvania. Mr. Turner, a tenor singer of Raritan, will render several of his favorite selections. Mr. E. Godfrey of Jersey City will give an exhibition in club swinging, and the "Dresden Trio" are booked for several of their best compositions.

"Tek Ca'ah Mistah 'Possum."

Customers of the Central Railroad freight department of this city have presented the employees at the freight house with two opossums. They were caught in this neighborhood on the mountains. One by a butcher and the other by William Dunker of the "hook." The latter heard a great commotion in his hen house last night and captured the animal. A pretty cage was built, and the admiring eyes of the visitors at the freight house gazed upon the fluffy occupants. "Charley" Cline lingered around a great deal and remarked threateningly this morning. "Dat last possum's a very fine possum."

A Wild Cat Chase at Campbell's.

Last week Mr. William Smalley of Nashville, Tenn., sent a live wild cat to his brothers in this city. On Saturday, Feb. 11th, it will be let loose at Campbell's Club house, and gives a chance for freedom, if it eludes the dogs which are to enter in the chase.

FELL FROM AN ELECTRIC CAR.

Mr. James Storrs of Manson Place Injured Saturday Night.

Saturday night Mr. James Storrs of Manson place met with an accident which might have proven serious, but fortunately, he escaped with slight injuries. He boarded an electric car on Front street about ten o'clock to ride to his home. As is often the case, at that hour on Saturday night, the car was packed with people residing near the Pond Tool Works, who come up town to do their shopping, and in consequence, Mr. Storrs had to stand on the rear platform. His hands were filled with parcels. As the car was passing between Plainfield and Grant avenues, it gave a sudden lurch. Mr. Storrs, not having hold of anything to steady himself, was thrown headforemost to the street, cutting a deep gash in the back of his head, and rendering him unconscious. The conductor did not stop the car, and the unfortunate man was left lying in the street. A man passing soon afterward went to his assistance and accompanied the injured man to Dr. Simpson's, who dressed the wound.

TRIAL OF DOMINICO DURUBBO.

His Lawyer Claims he Shot Kiely While Acting in Self-Defense.

The trial of Dominic Durubbo, the Italian, for the murder of Patrick Kiely was continued yesterday in the Union county court, Elizabeth. The prosecution concluded its side of the case early in the afternoon, and then ex-Assemblyman Voorhees made the opening defense.

He undertook to show the shooting of Kiely was done in self-defense in a brawl on the street. The defense has eighteen witnesses.

The State insists that the prisoners deliberately laid in wait for the man who was killed, and that Durubbo went to his boarding-house and got the revolver and then rejoined his companions, who had been waiting for Kiely. The theory of the defense is that Kiely and his companions first attempted to assault the Italians and they defended themselves.

Patrick Kiely was a nephew of Officer Kiely of this city.

A NARROW ESCAPE FROM DEATH.

Expressman A. B. Dunavan Runs into the Pilot of an Engine.

Expressman A. B. Dunavan had a narrow escape from death last evening. Persons who saw the occurrence were horrified, and thought that his time had come. His business calls him frequently to the freight house, and, on returning from one of his errands there, he attempted to cross the tracks in front of an east bound coal train, engine 117. He jumped from the freight house platform, when the engine suddenly loomed up from behind a row of standing freight cars. He did not see it, and actually ran against the cross beams of the pilot. It threw him backward and spun him around like a top. Had he gone a little foot, his fate would have been different. As it is, he is badly bruised and stiffened.

THE "MARTIN SCORCHER."

Safety Bicycles to be Manufactured in This City.

Mr. F. L. C. Martin, proprietor of the Wheelmen's Headquarters on Park ave. will add a new feature to his rapidly increasing business. He has made arrangements to manufacture a safety bicycle to be known as the "Martin Scorcher." It will have cushion tires, and weigh 30 lbs. Several skilled workmen will be added to his force, and the work pushed rapidly forward. Mr. Martin has purchased a gas engine to run the lathe, also a "bake oven" to bake the enamel after it is placed on the wheels.

PERSONAL.

Among the guests from New Jersey who registered at Washington Hotels, during the past week is Mr. Ernest R. Ackerman of this city.

Relatives in this city of Mrs. A. Harold of Rahway received telegrams, this morning announcing the sad news, of her death. She died last night at her home. The funeral will take place Saturday.

Mary L. Collins, aged nineteen, died today at her parents' home in Scotch Plains. The funeral will take place Saturday, at nine o'clock, at St. Mary's church, in this city, where a requiem mass will be celebrated.

An Old Lady Murdered.

On the morning of Dec. 30 last, George Smith, a milkman, while driving along the road near the house of old Mrs. Sarah Nolan of Whippany, saw a bright light in one of the windows. Upon investigation the house was found to be in flames. After the fire was extinguished, the dead body of the old woman was discovered in the room where the fire originated.

Subsequent inquiry developed the fact that Mrs. Nolan's life had been insured, for a small sum just prior to her death, and this, together with other suspicious circumstances, led to an investigation by a Coroner's jury. Over one hundred witnesses were examined, and the verdict of the jury was that Mrs. Nolan was strangled to death, and that the house was then set on fire to conceal the crime.

FINED TEN DOLLARS.

The Sentence Imposed on Mr. Bock for Allowing Card Playing.

On complaint of Chief of Police Grant, Mr. Chris Bock was arrested for allowing card playing in his saloon, on East Second street, on the twenty-eighth day of January. He was arraigned before City Judge Coddington Tuesday to plead to the charge. Mr. Bock said there was a game of cards being played on that day in his saloon and he would plead not guilty. A hearing was set down for ten o'clock this morning.

Corporation Counsel Marsh appeared for the city and Lawyer Hetfield for the defendant.

In defence of his client Mr. Hetfield said that the arrest of Mr. Bock was nothing but spite work, that Chief Grant had notified another saloon keeper in the city to stop card playing in his place, but that he had pounced upon the prisoner without warning. He said that gaming had been going on in the saloons for years, and that this case was similar to the one a few years ago when men were caught drinking in a bar room, after the hour of closing, by an officer. Both were spite work. Mr. Hetfield did not mention the officers name, but every one in the room knew that he was referring to ex-Chief Carey's capture of persons in the old Laing Hotel, where Hetfield himself was one of the trio of model customers of the disreputable combine of which the city is now fortunately well rid. He went on to say that the arrest was made under an old "Blue Law," and asked that the judge suspend sentence in the matter as it was his first offense and as he had not saved the city the expense of a trial, by pleading guilty.

Corporation Counsel Marsh, in behalf of the city, said that the law under which the arrest was made was enacted in 1893, and was not an old "Blue Law," as stated by his opponent. In refuting the charges of spite work made by Mr. Hetfield against Chief Grant, Mr. Marsh said he could not stand by and hear in silence such old and faithful city officials as Chief Grant and Grant, made little of, because they were held in highest esteem by all whose opinions were worth considering, and knew them. Their acts were heartily upheld by the city. Mr. Marsh said he was not there to plead with anybody, but simply to do his duty, and state the laws governing the matter.

In sentencing Mr. Bock the judge said that in view of the fact that it was the prisoner's first offense against the city, he would inflict the penalty as light as possible, and concluded by fining Mr. Bock ten dollars. The fine was paid.

Disposing of Recent United States Grand Jury Cases.

In the United States District Court, Tuesday, the prisoners indicted by the recent Grand Jury were charged and entered their pleas to the indictments found against them.

Levi Allen, colored, of Trenton, pleaded guilty to sending an obscene letter through the mail and was fined $20 without costs.

Andrew J. Tice, son of Postmaster Tice, of Perth Amboy, and recently assistant to his father, pleaded guilty to fraudulently issuing money orders and was fined $700 without costs. Young Tice, while assistant postmaster at Perth Amboy, issued a number of fraudulent money orders last Summer, which he collected at Englewood and other places. Since that time until his arrest a few days ago he where-abouts were unknown, even to his parents or the postal authorities.

John Rogers, of Jersey City, pleaded not guilty to interfering with a United States Deputy Marshal at the polls last November and gave $200 bail for appearance for trial on February 14th.

Frank Graham, Robert Jarvis and Frank Bowers, alias Anthony Martin, Jersey City green goods men, pleaded not guilty and gave $8,000 bail each for trial on April 1st.

Fransede Brasacio, alias Martin Brasacio, Guiseppe Costanzo and Samuel Musto pleaded not guilty to passing counterfeit money and were taken to Mercer Jail to await trial.

George Stewart pleaded guilty to sending obscene letters through the mail and was fined $30.

John Weldener, a long-haired backwoodsman, who was charged with passing counterfeit money, noted in a strange manner and when his name was called arose and moved that the indictment against him be quashed. He is thought not to be thoroughly responsible mentally. He was taken to the Mercer jail to await trial.

World's Fair Buildings Closed.

CHICAGO, Feb. 2. (Special.)—Orders have gone into effect closing the gates of Jackson Park against all carriages, and excluding visitors from all buildings except horticulture. The time for getting exhibits in position, finishing the roads and clearing the park for the opening day is so short that the managers cannot afford to be bothered by either vehicles or visitors that obstruct the work.

Killed at South Amboy.

SOUTH AMBOY, N. J., Feb. 2—(Special.)—Peter Bloodgood, a yard contractor at the P. R. R. here, was walking on the railroad track talking to a brakeman this morning. He was not quick enough to get out of the way of a train and was drawn under the wheels and killed.

The brakeman escaped.

Convicted of Poisoning Mrs.

PITTSBURG, Feb. 3. (Special.)—Robert F. Beatty was to-day convicted of poisoning non-union men at Homstead. The jury was out only fifteen minutes.

Three Opinions of Judge Scudder.

Judge Scudder gave three written opinions in the Supreme Court Tuesday morning. The first was in the case of Truman Dodson against Mary A. Taylor et al. This was a suit brought by the plaintiff on behalf of the firm of Wasson, Dodson & Co., to recover on sundry promissory notes endorsed by the late James C. Taylor, deceased, for the notory firm in which Isaac Davis, John O. Dunn and Charles Marsh were partners. The notes, in default of payment, were protested, and the defendants, heirs of Mr. Taylor, claimed that inasmuch as an extension of time had been allowed by the plaintiff, to which Mr. Taylor was not a party, they were released. The court held that certain real estate owned by the deceased at the time the notes were executed was liable for the payment, and judgment was rendered against the lands for the amount of the notes with interest and costs.

The second case was that of Jennie E. Dunn against Emma S. Leavitt, and others. The plaintiff is the widow of the late Alexander Dunn, deceased, and the defendants are his children. This was a friendly suit brought to determine the question of heirship in a sum of $35,000 received from a life insurance company of New York, the policy specifying that the money should be paid to Mrs. Dunn, heirs. The court held that Mrs. Dunn should receive one third of the amount and the remaining two-thirds be divided legally between the three children.

In the matter of Robert S. Johnson against Cubberly & Kafer, in a rule to show cause why a new trial should not be granted, the rule to show cause was discharged.

Case No. 10 on the Supreme list, John M. Nolon, v. the Mayor and Common Council of Princeton, on contract, was called, and if counsel can agree to the facts the case will be argued on briefs, otherwise it will go off for the term.

Case No. 34, Reuben Crawford v. John Winter, on contract, also a Supreme Court case, counsel agreed as to facts, and will submit briefs to the court upon the law points within ten days. The court then arose without date.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Some Popular Science.

If there is anything we do enjoy it is spreading scientific ideas among the people. The reader will therefore understand the pleasure it gives us to lay before him an abstract of a paper by Alexander Macalister, M. D., F. R. S., on "The Study of Man." Professor Macalister begins by calling old tin cans "rusty polypedra." Take notice, please, that an ancient sardine box is a rusty polyhedron.

Having got thus far with our scientific education we proceed to the next point. It is that the word Celt is difficult to define because it is used sometimes in an ethnic, sometimes in a phylogenetic and sometimes in a phylogenetic sense, and is applied, moreover, both to dolichocephalic and brachycephalic races. This tends to bring physical anthropology into confusion, especially when the pseudomorphs of earlier cultures add to the perplexity. Yes, indeed, professor.

Another mighty truth is that the large part of the human skull, when unmodified by premature synostosis or other adventitious conditions, owes its form to that of the cerebral hemispheres it contains. Just so. Precious to us, too, is the information that the lower jaw of the macrodontal races is heavier than that of mesodontals, or microdontals, and that the average Englishman's masseters and temporals weigh sixty grams. We always thought it was more than that. This does not hinder macrodonts from being frequently microcephalic all the same, and in this case the jaw is prognathous and the supraorbital arcade must be advanced to meet the mandibular stroke. We suspected that.

At the period of second dentition there is an extension of the mucosa of the anterior ethmoidal cell. We are not surprised, therefore, to learn that the skull of the microcephalic and mesodontal bushman is orthognathous, while that of the macrodontal and microcephalic Australian is prognathous. We can even take it in that metopism is rare among microcephalic races. There is apparently nothing common in Scriptures in that. But when we are expected to believe that the alveolar arch of the macrodont is hyperoid, and that both the leptorhine Eskimo and the platyrhine Australian have a greater nasal index than that of the leptorhine Englishman, we are inclined to doubt. It does not sound orthodox: it doesn't really.

We turn with pleasure to things all can accept, as, for instance, that the orbital cavity of the microseme Australian and the megaseme Kanaka is larger than that of the mesoseme Englishman. All of us can agree cheerfully to the statement that microdontism and megacephaly have been acquired at some stage in the ancestral history of the race. And if there is anything we do believe with enthusiasm it is the following:

But there is underlying all these no unifying hypothesis, so that we find our anthropological jargon describe an Australian skull as microcephalic, prognathic, ortho-dolichocephalic, prognathic, platyrhine, hyperdolichocephalic, leptorhine, dolichurania, chamæprosopic and leptoprosopic, as near to the formulation of any philosophic concept of the general principles which have led to the examples of these characters by the cranium in question.

It is reported that a new electric lamp is on the market, one that will be a rival to the Edison incandescent without infringing the patents covered by that illumination which now fills all available space. The new lamp is the property of the Westinghouse company, that intends to push it vigorously. Any new electric lamp must avoid making use of any of the apparatus described in the following specifications covered by the Edison patents—namely, "A combination consisting of a carbon burner in filamentary form, a glass inclosing lamp chamber, which is one entire piece of glass, and from which, in order to complete the lamp, the air is entirely exhausted, and platinum wires leading through the glass to the filament of carbon, the glass being sealed by fusion around the carbon wires so as to make an absolute complete vacuum chamber."

It seems certain that before another decade it will not be very uncommon for railway trains to travel 60 miles an hour. On several occasions trains have already gone at the rate of ninety miles an hour for a short distance. A locomotive on a road between New York and Philadelphia recently made seventy-five miles in seventy-five minutes on a slippery track, with the wind dead ahead. Considerable time was lost besides in waiting for other trains, so that the engineer was obliged to go slow over a part of the road. The fastest miles in this remarkable journey were made in forty seconds—two-thirds of a minute. The engine was of the compound pattern and drew after it four parlor coaches.

The plan of the work, now nearly complete, to utilize the power of Niagara falls is as follows: The river is tapped a mile above the great fall and a portion of water drawn off through a canal. At intervals along this canal walls or vertical shafts are dug down into the ground. The water from the canal falls through the shafts one after another upon turbine wheels that whirl and develop the power for the machine works that will be built along the canal. Great plants are already in process of erection. After the water has done its work it passes off into a tunnel which discharges it a quarter of a mile below the falls.

WANT A PROTECTORATE

Hawaiian Commissioners Interviewed at Omaha.

SECRETARY FOSTER WILL REMAIN

President-elect Cleveland Has an Eye to Canada's Annexation—Germany May Ask For Money—The Deposed Queen Does Not Communicate With England.

OMAHA, Feb. 2.—The commissioners of the provisional government of Hawaii passed through Omaha on their way to Washington to present the claims of the islands for admission to the United States in some form or other.

The commissioners have a sealed letter from John I. Stevens, the American minister to Hawaii, to Secretary of State Foster. The latter is supposed to contain the credentials of the gentlemen from the provisional government of Hawaii to the secretary of state. If the letter is accepted, the commissioners will consider it a recognition on the part of the United States of the provisional government, which will give them authority to easily present their claims for the recognition and the protection of the government of this country.

In case the secretary of state refuses to acknowledge the credentials of the provisional government, the commissioners are at a loss to know just what action they will take, but will not hesitate to use every expedient to have their claims promptly considered. An appeal will be made to the president to have him send a message to congress on the subject. This they feel they will be able to accomplish, as they think the policy of the administration will warrant them in the belief that the president is favorable to the wishes of 1,500 residents of the sugar islands.

But in case the president refuses to act in the matter they consider they will not be discouraged entirely, but will make an effort to have the matter taken up by congress without any suggestion from the president.

The members of the commission do not know whether such action could be taken under the rules of international law, but they say the will find out if they fail to get their claims before congress in either of the other plans proposed.

Chairman Thurston Interviewed.

"Of course," said Mr. Thurston, "our admission as a state is out of the question. Our admission under the laws governing territories would be equally unsatisfactory to the United States and the representatives of the provisional government. Our position is a peculiar one. Popular government is out of the question, and still popular government in some modified form is the only thing that will satisfy our people. We want the protection of the United States and some form of government that will be satisfactory and profitable to both countries.

"The territorial form of government would not be liberal enough for the government of the islands, and a government like that of one of the states of the Union would not be practicable. The most of us are agreed that we would get the best results from a government similar to that which England gives her colonies.

"People must not think," continued Mr. Thurston, "that the natives of Hawaii are opposed to the proposed action of the provisional government in seeking protection from the government of the United States. Many of the natives—in fact a majority of them—have never been in sympathy with the native ruler, and only the clique that lived and grew rich on the favors of the deposed queen have any serious objections to the proposed government.

It Was a Native Revolution.

"The natives themselves have been responsible for two or three revolutions, and the government recently overthrown was the result of one of these revolutions, and it was as unsatisfactory as any of its predecessors as far as the white population of the country was concerned.

"The reports of the recent revolution have been very accurate so far as details are concerned, but no idea can be given to people living in the United States of the flimsy excuses and subterfuges by which the queen sought to force a new constitution upon the people that would have made her a despot with more power than the czar of Russia ever coveted. If their plans had been successful the white people would have been forced to abandon their interests and would have been absolutely compelled to leave the island."

Secretary Foster Remains at Home.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—The principal development in connection with the Hawaiian situation is the announcement that Secretary of State Foster had given up his trip to Paris next week, whither he was going as agent of the United States to attend the opening of the Behring Sea arbitrators. In view of the necessities of the situation suddenly presenting themselves, he has deemed it expedient that he should remain in the department until the close of his term of office. He will, however, meet the arbitrators at the date of their adjourned meeting, which has been fixed for March 23. The arbitrators will meet, as announced, in Paris on the 23d inst. and by an arrangement between the two governments will adjourn for a month without transacting any business.

No War Vessels Will Be Sent.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—Secretary of State John W. Foster held a conference with Senator Morgan, the leading Democratic member of the senate committee on foreign relations, and with Mr. Blount of Georgia, chairman of the house committee on foreign affairs. The secretary also had a talk on the Hawaiian situation with Representative Hitt of Illinois, ex-chairman of the house committee on foreign affairs and the leading Republican member of that committee. These conferences came simply and merely that the views of each might be had on the question. There are no present indications of any material change made in the number of United States naval vessels in Hawaiian waters.

The Queen Didn't Call on England.

LONDON, Feb. 2.—Hoffnung, the Hawaiian consul at Valfaires, has received an dispatches from Hawaii by way of New Zealand, although the Alameda has arrived at Auckland from Honolulu, and he is of opinion that Queen Lilluokalani has changed her mind about an appeal to Great Britain and has sent a statement to Washington which will arrive on the next steamer at San Francisco.

Germany May Want Compensation.

BERLIN, Feb. 2.—An inquiry at the British foreign office in regard to the attitude of Germany on the Hawaiian situation elicited a non-committal reply to the effect that if the United States should annex Hawaii, Germany might demand a slight compensation elsewhere.

Mr. Cleveland Wants Canada Too.

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—The incoming administration is not only anxious to annex Hawaii but is equally desirous of the annexation of Canada a conspicuous feature of the early days of the administration.

NO BRIBERY OF CONGRESSMEN.

Panama's American President Says There Was No Money Paid Officials.

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 2.—In an authorized interview Colonel R. W. Thompson, ex-president of the American Panama company, gives a detailed account of the operations of the company and the charges of bribery made against it. Regarding the latter he says: "I know nothing of the bribery of any congressman, big or little, and know of no occasion or reason why any congressman should have been bribed. The Panama committee was unanimous on the subject, with the exception of Congressman Ben Wilson of West Virginia, who made a minority report. The only charge I ever heard of bribery, if there was such a thing as bribery, was when this Cross resolution was up in the early part of 1890. Of course if that was bribery, that was the end of the canal, for the resolution declared it to be the duty of the United States to resist the proposed construction of the canal under the auspices of a foreign power. That was the only occasion for bribery that I can see, and it is certain that there was no bribery at that time nor at any other time, so far as I am aware."

A POLITICAL INNOVATION.

A Bill to the Legislature Authorizing the Departure by Oswego.

ALBANY, Feb. 2.—The bill of Mr. Ainsworth which passed in the assembly is known as Dr. Clarke's system of municipal elections. It provides that the names of all the voters in Oswego shall be drawn by the city clerk as the names of jurors are drawn. Each 100 names shall be set aside in a class, and the different hundreds shall be known as Class A, Class B, etc. Each class shall elect an elector, and all the electors so chosen shall appoint all the city officers, to hold office at the pleasure of the electors. The electors themselves may be renewed by the hundreds which they represent. The bill is nonpolitical and is favored by Oswego Republicans and Democrats alike. The purpose of the act is that the city is divided into four election districts.

No Break In Kansas Affairs.

TOPEKA, Feb. 2.—The anticipated climax to the terrible quarreling between the dual houses of the legislature failed to materialize. The houses met at the regular hour, and no attempt was made by the Populists to force their way into the senate chamber hall. No business of any importance was transacted by either body. In the Republican house a motion to adjourn was made and carried, and the Republicans hurried ly left the hall, not giving the Populists an opportunity to eject them, as had been planned. It is believed that the Populists will attempt to exclude them from the hall when their hour for assembling arrives, in which event the long expected collision may take place.

The Italian Bank Scandal.

ROME, Feb. 2.—The Turin Gazette says there is reason to believe that King Humbert spent 4,000,000 francs from his private fortune to redeem the notes which compromising politicians had given to the Bank of Rome and the National bank. The Naples Courier says it has proof that Signor Giolitti, premier; Signor Lacava, minister of agriculture and commerce, and Signor Grimaldi, minister of finance, drew checks after the last elections for the benefit of several new senators.

Egan's Welcome at Limerick.

LONDON, Feb. 2.—The popular reception of James Egan, the liberated Irish dynamiter, in Limerick was a remarkable demonstration. The whole city was ablaze with bonfires, torchlight processions paraded with bands and banners, and almost every house was illuminated. The mayor of Limerick presided over the meeting.

Japan Doesn't Like the British.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 2.—Advices received from Yokohama say the dissolution of the Japanese parliament is expected. A petition has been presented to the house of representatives asking that all Britishers be expelled from the country. The native papers are very bitter against the Britishers.

New York's Death Rate.

ALBANY, Feb. 2.—The state board of health issued a summary of the mortality of the state for the year 1892. The total number of deaths was 130,780. This makes the death rate for the year 20.78 per 1,000 population. In 1891 it was estimated at 21.43; in 1890 and 1889 at 19.65.

A Canton Factory Burns.

CANTON, O., Feb. 2.—The plant of the National Machine company, which is jointly occupied by them and Musser & Co., manufacturers of pianos, was entirely destroyed by fire. The loss is estimated at $80,000, partly insured.

Another Coney Island Match.

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—A match was arranged by the Coney Island Athletic club for a fight between Tom Williams, the 140 pound champion pugilist of Australia, and Billy Smith, the welterweight of Boston

The Monthly Treasury Statement—The Committee Reports Favorably For Extending a Permanent Census Bureau—Various Affairs of Congress.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—The attention of the house was concentrated to one item of the sundry civil appropriation bill. That item appropriated $16,006,006 for carrying on the contracts already entered into for the improvements of rivers and harbors. The jurisdictional authority of the committee on appropriations was called into question. It was contended that the appropriations should have been reported by the committee on rivers and harbors, but although Mr. Holman was foremost of those who made this contention against the power of the committee of which he is chairman, that committee came out victorious, and the item was included by a proper vote. Further than that, the item withstood a fusillade of objections and came out unscathed. Without finally acting on the bill the house adjourned to the senate.

Good progress in the general legislative work of the senate was made. Immediately after the routine morning business the committee on appropriations asserted its rights of precedence and maintained it up to the time of adjournment. It even refused to yield to the urgent appeal of Mr. Harris (Dem., Tenn.) to let him report a substitute for the house quarantine bill and to have action upon it. The fortifications bill was the first of the general bills to come up before the senate, and it was passed after a rather interesting though not novel discussion on the subject of coast fortifications. The army appropriation bill was then taken up and was passed with but a single amendment increasing the monthly pay of sergeants of the army. The District of Columbia bill came next in order. All the committee amendments were agreed to except one that was reserved for action looking to the erection of a $300,000 municipal building in Washington city, and the bill went over.

Cash in the Treasury.

The debt statement for January shows a decrease in cash in the treasury during the month of about $9,000,000, making the net cash balance $91,000,000, against $99,000,000 on Jan. 1, 1892. This decrease is accounted for largely by the fact that $7,250,000 was paid during the month on the interest account.

For a Permanent Census Bureau.

Chairman Willcox of the 11th census committee reported to the house on the resolution to inquire as to the expediency of the establishment of a permanent census bureau. It was shown that the work could be done with more accuracy and more economically than under the present system. In view of these facts the committee reported favorably upon the proposition and submitted to the house for consideration a bill providing for a permanent bureau, the aggregate cost of which, it is estimated, will not exceed $200,000 annually.

Mr. Cleveland's Ultimatum.

Don. M. Dickinson is here to say, with authority from Mr. Cleveland, that something must be done toward the repeal of the Sherman silver purchase act before the present session of congress ends on March 4, or else Mr. Cleveland will summon an extra session within 30 days after his inauguration. This was the most decisive step on silver yet taken.

To a Press reporter Mr. Dickinson said: "It is of no consequence just now what other questions are doubled, and until it is settled other questions will have to wait."

"How about Hawaii's request for annexation?"

"It should be granted. The next war—there is to be no one—will be on the ocean, and we have need of those islands."

The Public Debt Statement.

The net gold in the treasury on Jan. 31, as shown by the debt statement issued today, was $100,151,713, the lowest figure reached in many years. In July, 1892, the net gold was $110,444,301, a little over the amount in the treasury since 1891. This amount includes the $100,000,000 gold set apart as a greenback redemption fund. In the month of January there was a net loss of $10,292,588 in gold. Of $362,500,000 the noninterest bearing debt was decreased $7,21,289 50. The interest bearing debt showed an increase of $200, while the net cash was $3,867,320 18 less than at the close of the year 1892. The interest bearing debt outstanding Jan. 31 was $585,022,000. The debt on which interest has ceased since maturity is $2,857,755 25. The noninterest bearing debt was $376,411,818 37, making a total of $962,833 63.

President Harrison sent to congress today his special message dealing with the importation of foreign goods into the United States across the Canadian border under consular seals.

Wall Street's View of Anticipation.

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—The passage by the United States senate of the Hatch anti-option bill had no perceptible effect upon the speculative position manifested, although speculation in those departments of trade would naturally be most seriously affected should the bill become a law. The general feeling, however, is that the bill will either be smothered in the conference committee, and that if it ever comes before the house for action it will be found that President Harrison will refuse to sign it.

Forgot to File a Bond.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., Feb. 2.—D S. Hill of Liberty, who was elected to the office of district attorney of Sullivan county, has neglected to file a bond, and County Clerk Gilbert has notified Governor Flower, who will, as required by law, fill the vacancy by appointment.

$100,000 Fire in Little Falls.

UTICA, N. Y., Feb. 2.—A disastrous fire visited Little Falls. Assistance was called from Herkimer and Utica, both of which places responded, but before the combined fire departments had controlled the fire nearly $100,000 damage was done.

Muscle Switchmen Advanced.

MUNCIE, Ind., Feb. 2.—The strike of the Lake Erie and Western switchmen was terminated by the men accepting an advance of 15 per cent, about one-half of the increase they originally demanded.

Father Dunn Stricken.

Nothing seemed able to relieve him of his pain and discomfort. The humor had a very offensive odor and caused

Intense Itching

We cannot tell how that poor boy suffered in all those years. Physicians did not effect a cure. At last I decided to give him Hood's Sarsaparilla, and my druggist recommended it. In about two weeks the Sarsaparilla began to have effect. The sores commenced to heal up; the flesh began to look more natural and healthy. Then he added another bottle, and all the body sore and healthy flesh and skin formed. When he had taken three bottles he was entirely free from sores, having only the scars to show where they had been. I have all the credit I can ask." We are unable to express our thanks for the good

FOY PRONOUNCED GUILTY.

He Receives the Jury's Verdict With an Air of Bravado.

BALLSTON, N. Y., Feb. 2.—The jury in the Foy murder case came into court and asked that the evidence given by eye witnesses of the shooting be read to them. The testimony showed clearly that the second shot, which struck Miss Wilson in the back of the neck, nearly severing the spinal cord, was the fatal one, and not the third one which was fired after Foy had shot himself twice in the forehead. The jury retired, and Judge Holmes, who had been standing out since that the third shot was the one which caused death and which was fired after Foy had been crazed by bullets striking his skull, now became convinced of the prisoner's guilt and agreed with the other 11 jurymen.

Foreman Sickler announced that they had agreed and that their verdict was guilty of murder in the first degree. Foy took his fate nonchalantly and walked back to his cell with the same air of bravado that has distinguished him in jail. His aged father sat by his side and seemed to realize that the verdict was the inevitable result of the evidence.

TO TELEPHONE HANDWRITING.

A New Company Which Will Do Away with the Telephone Girl.

CHICAGO, Feb. 2.—A new telephone company is chartered here with $80,000,000 capital to work under the Harrison patent. The Harrison patent was some time ago involved in a lawsuit with the Bell Telephone company. The case was hotly contested before the supreme court of the United States and was the first in which the Bell company ever suffered defeat. The incorporators claim that they can give service for one-half the rates now charged. President Perse said: "We will construct a circuit between New York, Boston, Buffalo, Cleveland, Detroit, St. Louis, Louisville, Cincinnati, Pittsburg, Philadelphia, Washington, Baltimore and from there back to New York.

"One of the most important features of our new system is that it is expected to do entirely away with the telephone girl. We do this by a system of automatic switchboards. In conjunction with this invention we will have a new system of telegraphy by which messages are written out, and an exact facsimile is transmitted to the receiver."

THE CAR WORKS FAILURE.

Liabilities Will Aggregate More Than $1,000,000.

ERIE, Pa., Feb. 2.—The failure of the Erie Car Works company, limited, has shaken business circles to the center in this community, although no other institution is likely to be disastrously involved. It is estimated that the liabilities, including a $250,000 mortgage in favor of Hon. William A. Galbraith, and Colonel H. B. Plumer on the Martel furnace at Point St. Ignace, Mich., will aggregate more than $1,000,000. There are a number of iron firms in the Shenango valley among the unsecured creditors, and it is said that the Car Works company's liabilities in that locality will reach $100,000. The Carnegie company or the Carnegies as individuals are also among the creditors. The concern has been struggling under a heavy load for a number of years, and the sale of its personal property will take place on Saturday of this week. The works are still running on orders in hand. When worked to the full capacity they employ about 500 hands.

THE GOVERNOR OF OREGON.

He Evidently Doesn't Like Presidents, Whatever Their Politics.

SALEM, Or., Feb. 2.—Governor Pennoyer has issued the following:

"No permission will be given to use state cannon for firing a salute over the inauguration of a Wall street plutocrat as president of the United States."

Pennoyer is the governor who refused to travel to the border of his state to greet President Harrison when the latter was traveling through the west and north west.

To Remove Jeff Davis' Remains.

RICHMOND, Feb. 2.—At a meeting of the board of directors of the Jeff Davis Monument association it was decided to request that the remains of "President Davis" be removed from New Orleans to Richmond and reinterred in Hollywood on May 30, Memorial day, and that a committee of five be appointed to consult with Mrs. Davis and the New Orleans authorities to arrange necessary details.

Vesuvius Tests Continue.

PORT ROYAL, S. C., Feb. 2.—The experimental practice with the pneumatic guns of the Vesuvius was resumed and continued throughout the day. Fourteen projectiles were discharged. With the exception of the two final shots, ranged for 2,000 yards, shorter range lines were aimed at—8 shots at 1,000 yards and the other six at 800 yards.

The East River Tunnel Stopped.

LONG ISLAND CITY, N. Y., Feb. 2.—The shaft of the East river tunnel on Fourth street, this city, is boarded over, and a gang of men is busy taking down the machinery used in sinking the tunnel. Since the explosion of dynamite at the tunnel on Dec. 28 no work has been done on the shaft, which is now full of water.

Zante Shaken Again.

ATHENS, Feb. 2.—The island of Zante was shaken by another earthquake. A hundred houses are reported to have been wrecked in the city of Zante. Thousands are leaving the city to sleep in the fields. Many have been killed and injured. Several villages have been entirely destroyed.

Ex-Governor of Ohio Ill.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Feb. 2.—Ex Governor R. M. Bishop of Ohio is dangerously ill here. By reason of his extreme age (80 years) it is likely to prove fatal. He was governor of Ohio from January, 1878, to January, 1880, and has always made Cincinnati his home.

TO OVERCOME READING'S COMBINE.

Danger Threatens the Institutions of States and the Welfare of the People—A Senate Investigating Committee Reports a Bill as the Result of Their Conclusions.

ALBANY, Feb. 2.—Senator McMahon, chairman of the special committee appointed last year to inquire as to whether a combination of corporations or individuals had been formed with a view to advancing or controlling the price of coal, and to report such remedial legislation as in its opinion would be for the best interests of the public, submitted a report and a bill to the senate.

Seventy Per Cent Controlled by Combines.

The report reviews the circumstances leading up to the Reading railroad combination and says the amount of coal controlled by these several companies aggregates about 70 per cent of the entire tonnage annually brought to tidewater.

The report, in brief, finds that the Reading combine is contrary to public policy and dangerous to the interests of the state and the welfare of its people.

A License Necessary to Sell.

The proposed law provides that on and after Sept. 1 it shall be unlawful for any person not having a coal carrier's license to transport anthracite coal which is intended for consumption in the state on a railroad, the navigable waters or a canal therein, or for any person not having a coal dealer's license to engage in the business of selling anthracite coal which is in the state and intended for consumption therein.

The Price Fixed.

The maximum price of coal is to be fixed by the state railroad commission, based on its investigations of the matters affecting such prices, which shall be so adjusted as not unfairly to discriminate in favor of or against any locality. The board of railroad commissioners shall meet at least every three months, when prices for coal, as fixed by it, may be modified. The board, in the pursuit of its investigations, is empowered to examine the books of carrying companies and of wholesale or retail dealers.

BURNED AT THE STAKE.

A Texas Mob Takes the Execution of the Law Into Its Own Hands.

PARIS, Tex., Feb. 2.—Henry Smith, a negro, who murdered the 4-year-old daughter of Henry Vance, a white man, was captured by a mob. The country roads were alive with people coming in with wagons and on horseback. It is estimated that the crowd surrounding the depot numbered nearly 20,000 people. When the train arrived a rush was made for the coach in which the negro was confined. The deputy sheriffs and the guard of Paris citizens who accompanied the negro from Texarkana drew their revolvers and attempted to prevent the mob from taking their prisoner. The guard was quickly overpowered, however, and a rope was thrown about Smith's neck. He was dragged from the train and hurried to the scene of his crime. All along the route he was pelted with missiles, struck by fists and otherwise maltreated. He was tied to a stake, and after being subjected to every conceivable torture he was cremated amid the howling of the mob.

Marseilles Short of Bread.

MARSEILLES, Feb. 2.—The situation arising from the strike of the bakers is grave. Bread is very scarce, and the municipal authorities ordered several private bakeries to be placed at their disposal so that the supply might be increased. The strikers objected to this and barred the doors of the shops to prevent the authorities from entering. The police were summoned and soon burst in the doors and took possession of the bakeries, but as yet the authorities have not been able to start the work of making bread owing to the difficulty experienced in obtaining practical bakers.

Reducing Wages.

PITTSBURG, Feb. 2.—A new scale of wages went into effect at the Edgar Thomson Steel works today. The scale is based on a selling price of $25 per ton for steel billets and reduces the wages of about 400 employees. The men will hold a conference. A 10 per cent reduction to the wages of 350 employees at the Braddock Wire works is also announced.

To Make Michigan Republican.

LANSING, Mich., Feb. 2.—The house passed the senate measure repealing the Miner election law enacted by the last legislature, which was Democratic. The Miner law provided for the election of presidential electors by congressional districts and not by the state at large, as in the case in other states.

No Authorized Book on Blaine.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—In view of the public advertisements of many biographies of James G Blaine pretending to be authentic, Mrs. Blaine states that no manuscript by Mr. Blaine, or any private letter or paper of Mr. Blaine's, or any material for biography has been given out to any one.

Bruised Sports.

SHAMOKIN, Pa., Feb. 2.—While Shamokin and Sunbury birds were in the pit in a public hall here the police made a descent upon the place. Five hundred sports jumped through the windows to escape. Many bruised heads and broken limbs resulted. Numerous arrests were made.

A Kansas Blizzard.

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 2.—The severest blizzard of this winter is sweeping over Kansas, Missouri and the southwest. The mercury fell with startling rapidity, and the recorded drop in 24 hours was 56 degrees. In southwestern Kansas a fall of 65 degrees in the same time is reported.

Wisconsin Officials Short.

MILWAUKEE, Feb. 2.—County Treasurer Bower and ex-County Clerk Young of Wood county are reported to be short in their accounts $5,000 and $3,000 respectively.

Hon. Joseph P. Comegys Dead.

DOVER, Del., Feb. 2.—Joseph P. Comegys, ex-chief justice of this state, died at his residence. He was born near Dover in 1813.

A Great Success.

"I hear you took the west by storm."

"Well, I should say so. Why, the first time I got on a cable car half the men offered their seats, the other half tried to pay my fare, the conductor gave me a pass, and the policeman came in and proposed to me."—Life.

He Wanted Some Experience.

"Why did you arrest this man?" asked the judge sternly.

"For practice," returned the policeman. "I'm new on the force and I wanted to learn how, your honor."—Harper's Bazar.

FASHIONS

French Knack in Dress.

The French woman excels all other women in her attention to the details of dress. She will live on one meal a day, if necessary, to save the money to always have neat shoes and gloves. Her dress may be of cheap material, but no dirt spots are allowed to stay on it, no buttons are left to dangle for want of a timely thread, and she never wears shabby shoes or gloves. A New Yorker, just home from abroad, attended a tea dressed in a Parisian gown and bonnet. She destroyed the whole effect of her costume by wearing a pair of shoes that looked as weather worn as a cobbler's sign. She was not brilliant enough to distract attention from her clothes. Any woman can ill afford to wear shabby shoes and gloves. Even the interesting woman with thoughts more attractive than dress will not be less charming if perfectly booted and gloved.

Last Winter's Gown Made New.

The very little amount of velvet that it requires to make any of the pretty Bolero, Figaro or Eton jackets places them within the means of the most modest purse, and to richly complete a new simple dress, or to modernize one of another season at little outlay, there is nothing just like them. An equally effective and moderate investment is enough really good velvet for the full sleeves, collar and girdle of your last winter's gowns.

ORDINANCE

To Remove Snow From Sidewalks.

An ordinance to provide for the removal of snow and ice from sidewalks and gutters of the Borough of North Plainfield.

The Mayor and Council of the Borough of North Plainfield do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. That the owner or owners of property in front of which such sidewalks and gutters are, shall within five hours after such snow and ice has fallen or accumulated, remove or cause to be removed all snow and ice from the sidewalks and gutters along the street in said Borough.

SECTION 2. That the Street Commissioner of said Borough shall remove or cause to be removed all snow and ice from any sidewalks and gutters along the streets of said Borough, where the owner or owners of land in front of the same fails to remove the snow and ice therefrom within five hours after such snow or ice has fallen or accumulated, and the cost and expense paid and incurred by the Street Commissioner for removing such snow and ice from any such sidewalks and gutters shall be certified by said Street Commissioner to the proper officers, whose duty is to assess and levy the tax of such Borough, and the same shall be added to the tax or taxes on the lot or parcels of land in front of which such sidewalks and gutters are, from which such snow and ice has been removed and shall be part of the same as a first and paramount lien.

SECTION 3. That this ordinance shall take effect on the 30th day of October, 1893.

Approved: WM. L. SAUN: ERS, Mayor.
Attest: HENRY B. BROKAW, Clerk.

HOW TO CARVE.

An Art Which Every Man Will Be Proficient in if the Rules Are Followed.

Carving should be considered a necessary part not only of every man's but of every woman's education.

To be a good carver is to possess a very desirable accomplishment. Of course if the head of the family is one of the sterner sex it is his duty to preside at the head of the table where the joint is placed. But in case of an emergency the lady of the house may be called upon to do the carving, and if unskilled in the art how awkward the situation becomes!

To carve with ease and dispatch it is essential that one should be provided with sharp carving knives, which vary in size and shape according to the purpose for which they are intended.

For carving a big joint like roast beef, either rib or sirloin, or a piece of corned beef, like the round or rump, a long, slim blade somewhat pointed toward the end is required. The knife known in the hardware shops as the French carver is the best for this purpose.

For poultry, game or birds of any sort a short, sharp pointed and somewhat curved blade is necessary.

There is a capital carving knife for poultry in the market called a bird carver. It differs from the game carver in having a sort of scissors attachment, with which the ends of the wings and other small bones and tendons may be snapped off.

Always have your knife strong, and yet as light as compatible with the strength required, the edge very sharp and a good steel and knife sharpener at hand.

In selecting your large pieces of meat see that the butcher properly divides the joints of the necks and loins, as this materially facilitates the work of carving.

The seat should be sufficiently high to command the table, thus rendering rising unnecessary.

For serving fish a broad silver knife or trowel is to be preferred, as it preserves the flakes of fish entire.

A sirloin roast should first be freed from the bone at the big end; then cut in thin slices toward the point. If the tenderloin is left in, it should be carved across and down to the dividing bone.

A rib roast should be cut from the butt end, carving the slices lengthwise with the ribs.

Roast or boiled ham may be carved by passing the knife to the line about midway across the ham, cutting in very delicate slices, as an appetizer, or thicker, according to taste. For this a very sharp and thin blade is indispensable.

A turkey roasted or boiled should be carved by placing the head end toward you. Take off the wing first, then the first joint of the leg, then the thigh. Leave the breast whole, to be sliced, commencing at the wing and cutting straight into the bone and up to the point of the breastbone, a little diagonally, till all is served. This is a much better way than is commonly done by carving the breast lengthways. The side bone is to be removed by placing the fork firmly in the breastbone and working the knife up from the tail.

Don't Forget Curried Chicken.

Don't, when chickens are tender and yet too old for boiling, forget that finest of dishes, curried chicken. After the chicken is stewed disjoint it. Boil some rice dry and flaky. After making a rich chicken gravy dissolve one large tablespoon of Indian curry in a little water and stir thoroughly. Garnish the dish with the rice and pour gravy and curry over all. Don't go in grooves in regard to your cuisine. Consult your cook and the cookbook. Your family should have a change of dishes which is healthy and beneficial.

High Art in Collars.

Beautiful capes for dressy wear are made of dark green corded silk, with immense empire breteliellke revers spreading over the shoulders and back from a few inches below the neck. The capes are of dark green velvet, edged with a roll of otter, seal or other rich fur. The high directoire collar is likewise edged, and capes of this kind are lined variously with pale green and brown, dark surah, red or pink silk or pale yellow ottoman reps.

A Homemade Bookcase.

The illustration shows how an artistic bookcase can be made out of a shoe box. Get a box having the dimensions 37 inches high, 19 inches broad and 9 inches deep.

Now purchase a few feet of cheap molding and neatly fasten it to the box, letting the lower molding come below the edge so as to hide the castors. This done, fasten the cleats to hold the shelves by means of small wire nails. Boards

STORIES BY JOSIAH HOWLAND.

They Will Be Found to Be "Equaled by Few and Surpassed by None."

Ex-Judge Henry E. Howland, of New York, is a famous story teller. In obedience and variety his collection is "equaled by few and surpassed by none." Mr. Howland is not fully an after dinner story teller, but he has had after dinner speeches with new and old stories.

Here are some samples of his stories:

THE DIGNITARY AND THE BULL.

Once there was a very important state official of California who thought everybody knew him or ought to know him. One day he was walking through a field when a bull addressed him in an undertone and made for him with its head down and horns in a position to raise him. He was a state official, a man of dignity and political power and of natural perspicuity.

But he ran. He ran surprisingly well. He ran even better than he did for office, and he got to the fence first. He clambered over, out of breath and dignity, and found the owner of the bull calmly contemplating the operation.

"What do you mean, sir," asked the irate official, "by having an infuriated animal like that roaming over the field?"

"Well, I guess the bull had some right in the field," said the farmer.

"Right! Do you know who I am, sir?" gasped the official.

The farmer shook his head.

"I am General Blank."

"Well, why in thunder didn't you tell the bull?"

THE MAN AND THE TOMATO CAN.

A certain man's wife heard him in the adjoining pantry making explosive remarks. "What are you doing, my dear?" she asked.

"Opening a can of tomatoes," he answered.

"What are you opening it with?" she asked sweetly.

"With a knife," he replied savagely. "Did you suppose I was opening it with my prayer-b——"

"No. From the language which you used I thought you were opening it with prayer-b——"

A HIGH PRICE FOR CONVICTION.

Conkling had defended a man who was on trial for arson. He had been convicted before, and on appeal the conviction was affirmed and Conkling rendered his bill, which was questioned by the man's friends. Conkling was rather new at the bar. He called on McCOOnes. He said: "Mr. Mc-Cooney, is Jobbins, now, whom I defended in a hard fought trial, was argued the case on appeal and got a reversal of the judgment?"

"Yes, sir, he is Jobbins, now, whom I defended in a hard fought trial, was argued the case on appeal and got a reversal of the judgment."

"What are you opening it with?" she asked sweetly.

"With a knife," he replied savagely. "Did you suppose I was opening it with my prayer-b——"

"Yes, sir, he is Jobbins, now, whom I defended in a hard fought trial, was argued the case on appeal and got a reversal of the judgment."

"Well, Conkling, I have no doubt that you did the best you could. You had a powerful trial. You exhausted your whole energies in the litigation and $500 is not a large bill, but I have no doubt he could have been convicted for a great deal less money."

THE LORD AND THE DAISY.

A Scotch minister was trying to impress upon his people the care of the Deity for all living things, great or small, and, getting to the promotion of his address, he said: "The Lord, who made the mountains, made the little blades of grass. The Lord, who made the ocean, made the pebble on the shore. The Lord, who made the sun, made a daisy."

THE SAGACIOUS BOY.

You never can catch a Yankee boy napping on any corner but a quarter. A traveling in the country at Stoddard, N. H., where it is all rocks and bowlders and abandoned farms—the old farmhouses going to ruin—saw a boy of twelve or fourteen looking in a gateway on the side of what would be pasture land on anybody else's farm. The man reined up and stopped. The boy retreated a little farther and spoke to the boy. He said to him, "Your cow looks rather small."

"Well," said the boy, "we planted dwarf corn."

"Well, it looks yellow, poor and thin."

"Well, we planted yellow corn."

"Well," said the traveler, "I don't mean that. I don't mean that. If you would get more than half a crop."

"I don't expect to. I planted it on shares."

A DEBATE YOU QUICK ACTION.

A man was working in a field with two of his sons. One of them was at work in one part of the field and the old man, with the other, was working down in a marsh. All of a sudden the youth who had been with his father ran up to the other and cried: "Come down and help the old man out. He has fallen in the bog."

"How deep is he in?"

"Up to his ankles."

"Well, there's no hurry."

"Yes, there is. He's in head first."

AND HE CHOSE DEATH.

A certain artistic immigrant on arriving in this country—New York—saw the statue of Liberty. He asked one of the crew, "Is that the statue of Liberty?"

"Yes, that is Liberty."

"Then give me death!" and he plunged overboard.

THE POWER OF DISCIPLINE.

This is historical and illustrates the devotion of Sheridan to Grant.

Sheridan and Grant were traveling on a steamboat together with other officers. Among the passengers was a young Englishman who used to take a hand at poker with them. The usual limit was fifty cents, but this young fellow got worsted to go out and fight a sham and asked Gen. Sheridan to play his hand while he was gone. It was four jacks pot. The Englishman returned and asked Gen. Sheridan how it had panned out.

"Oh, the general bet me fifty cents," said Sheridan, "and I called him and won the pot."

The Englishman looked in amazement. "Well," he said, "I have heard of military discipline, but I never heard of it going that far."

Mr. Howland has a knack of hinting at a story by giving the point of one, leaving the hearer to fill out the rest. Some examples of that follow:

To censorious critics we reply in the language of the old verger of St. Mary's, Oxford, who on being congratulated by his rector on his constant attention to duty replied, "I have heard every sermon that has been preached from this pulpit for fifty years, and, thank God, I am a Christian still."

The comments and advice of outsiders are never particularly appreciated, and remind one of the toast given at a village firemen's ball by a crusty old bachelor, "One more fireman—may they be like our old maids, ever ready, yet never wanted."

If I should assume to interpose my ideas I should be like the gentleman who met a friend and was asked what he had been doing lately. "Lecturing in Boston," he replied. "I am glad of it," said his friend. "I always did like Boston baked beans."

We are here present in no vain spirit of boasting, though it is our right to exalt ourselves were questioned we might reply in the words of the American girl who was shown some cannon at Woolwich arsenal, the sergeant in charge remarking, "You know we took them from you at Bunker Hill." "Yes," she replied, "I see you've got the cannon, but I guess we've got the hill."

Speaking of a temperance lecture: "It would have been a great success," said one of the principal workers, "if our chairman hadn't been so absentminded." "Why, what did he do?" "Well, he tried to blow the foam off a glass of water."

A small boy's beautiful sister saw him standing on his head on the lawn. "I wouldn't do that if I were you, Jimmy," said she; "I wouldn't." "Wouldn't?" he replied; "by Jocks, you couldn't."—New York World.

Old Time Precocity.

French children of the last century had no kindergarten schools. Perhaps if they had had them they would have declined to attend them. Certainly it would have been a daring teacher who would have recommended blocks, pink and blue dodecagons, papers and the like to the notice of Mlle. Necker, even in her early infancy. This young lady, who afterward became the famous Mme. de Staël, composed tragedies at the mature age of twelve years.

The aristocratic little French girls of the period began writing their homilies at a tender age because that was the fashion of the time. They were taught elaborate manners and the art of conversation, and at the age of eight or ten years they bloomed and appeared very much like their mothers. Along with social graces they were also taught how to be excellent housekeepers.

One may conclude that Mlle. Rambouillet led the ranks of brilliant children, since she remarked, to her mother, one of the elder became famous. The subject of dolls or play or some trivial matter of that sort had been introduced for her benefit, and she said:

"Mamma, the matter should be left, grandma. Let us talk politics. I am seven years old now."—Youth's Companion.

A Few Bulls.

A Chicago paper tells of a young man who had just returned from Europe and was showing his friends some photographs. He came to one of the tomb of Juliet and after giving an account of it said, "Juliet's esophagus is full of cards." This would be a degree or two worse for poor Juliet than cold poison, to say nothing of its bitter for possibility at this late date. He wound up with a glowing talk on Venice and the "Divine" Dante, a place of which some acquaintance happened in at a Christian Endeavor meeting, which is always held before the regular night church service. She was much impressed by the young man's earnestness and especially pleased with the singing. She said: "Oh, I do love to hear 'em sing! They sing with such venom!"

And He Understood.

AUGUSTUS DIDN'T LIKE IT.

A Proposed Society for the Prevention of Youngster Rowdyism.

Suddenly appointed to the bookkeepership of a prominent soap firm, Augustus De Wolf had availed himself of the opportunity offered to make a display suited to the occasion. Accordingly, in a spick and span new buggy, with a dashing pair of horses, he drove up to her door to take her for a drive on the day he and two little boys were prepared for him, though he knew it not.

Unsuspicionsly Augustus let them hold the horses while he went indoors to salute his inamorata. He had the necessary dime to spare, which he presumed was the objective point of their unusual courtesy and accommodativeness.

When the young pair emerged from the palatial residence one young brother stood at the horses' heads while the other, who had made a hasty visit to the back of the premises, now stood ready to swath the young couple when they had mounted.

Such politeness was unheralded for and unexpected that he turned the presentation dime into a quarter.

With a superbly condescending smile he waived the horse holder aside, and with elbows squared and the grapple tense of a prince he moved majestically forward on his way.

But he was a little surprised.

As for her, she became suddenly indignant. The looks of envy and admiration which they feminively sought in the faces of the passersby were not forthcoming.

On the contrary, every one smiled broadly and some broke into rude and boisterous laughter.

It was inexplicable.

He grew hot in the collar and unhappy.

They scanned each other coldly for the telltale smut or smudge which might explain the situation.

But both were immaculate in personal appearance.

And so they might have gone on for an hour in blissful ignorance of the unknown joke.

But the air was too exhilarating.

A strangled yell of triumph behind them caused her to look around.

Then she grabbed at the reins and the horses came to an abrupt halt, while two abandoned little boroughmore brothers rushed forward and unhooked their little wagon from the hind axle, and waved, with mad and happiness beat a hasty retreat.

Womanlike, she visited all her available wrath upon the old fool's unlucky shoulders.

It should have been a glorious ride, but it was not.

She made him pay the expenses of her lost dignity all the way home.

Augustus thinks the young American brother an irritating and unnecessary wart on the face of nature.

And that is why he proposes to get up a society for the prevention of youngster brotherism.—San Francisco Call.

A Dark Saying.

Young Higgins was heard to remark the other day that he feared that his janitor meant to commit suicide. He had just finished his primary school as a preparation for the work in his studio.

"It happened this way," explained young Higgins. "Patrick had looked at my paintings with ominous solemnity. When I displayed my portrait of myself the blow fell. I said:

"'The paint on this is badly cracked, which spoils the likeness.'

"He answered promptly, 'Not at all, sor!'"—Youth's Companion.

His Worst Enemy.

He was a picturesque personality.

There were large, irregular apertures in the middle of the seats of his whipcord breeches of the sort that betokened an impatience of all restraint. He had lived in the world many years longer, apparently, than the boys who hung upon his every word before doughnuts and a chicken bone on a dirty plate.

He tried to look grateful, and, be it said, was successfully assisted.

"Thank you, ma'am," he murmured deferentially.

She gazed upon him and her features softened.

"Poor fellow," she mused, "you are undoubtedly your own worst enemy."

He started, pondered a moment and shook his head.

"No," he replied deliberately, "I am not.

"When?"

The lady was interested now.

——"then, is your deadliest foe?"

He turned into her face a piteous glance.

"That," worst enemy is the smoking school."

Dropping one of the pieces of doughnut upon the plate with a sharp, metallic sound, he fled.—Detroit Tribune.

Timpson and Mrs. D. Ginna poured tea. The decorations consisted of white roses. Hundreds of guests attended.

But How About Here?

[From the N. Y. Evening Post.]

ELECTRIC STREET-CAR ACCIDENTS IN BOSTON.

Boston, Feb. 1.—The record of accidents in and around Boston caused by the electric street cars in 1892 shows that ten persons were killed and 86 injured.

To THE EDITOR OF THE NEWS:—I think if the above record for the Boston trolley for the year 1892 is given a place in your popular paper it will have more force than any other argument against the deadly trolley system. The life and safety of the individual seem to be held very cheap now-a-days, and only corporations count. A RESIDENT.

[The above shows that there are still some people here opposed to the trolley, though it is about as good as one could wish. So long as it keeps as good as at present, and don't kill or injure anybody, we won't say anything more against it. Our opposition hitherto was to secure the best of everything for the city. We've got it, and don't think there is any good reason to complain.]

The C. Y. M. L. Win a Pool Game.

A game in the Diocesan Union pool tournament was played in this city last night between the T. A. B. Association team of Newark and the C. Y. M. L. team. The game was exceedingly exciting and close. It was "nip and tuck" throughout. The C. Y. M. L. team was Messrs. White and McInerney. The score stood 76 to 91 in favor of Newark, when White scored nine points, winning the game, making the score 100 to 76.

HIGH SCHOOL LYCEUM.

Second Annual Public Meeting Last Evening.

The High School Lyceum held its second annual public meeting, in Assembly Hall, last evening. It was a successful affair and the young debaters delighted those present by the masterly manner in which they handled their subjects. There was a large attendance.

The decorations consisted of American flags, which were very appropriate to the occasion. One very large flag was tastefully draped at the rear of the platform, making a pretty background.

The programme had been arranged with great care and reflects credit on the committee. It is as follows:

Second Anniversary of the Salvation Army.

The second anniversary of the advent of the Salvation Army into Plainfield occurred at their headquarters on West Second street yesterday afternoon and evening. It was an occasion long to be remembered in the religious annals of the city. Two years ago the Army was looked upon as somewhat of a novelty and an innovation, to-day is is recognized as an essential element in this community and a factor for great and lasting good.

The scene about the hall—or as the Salvationists prefer to term it, barracks—was an inspiring and animated one. Soldiers in uniform flitted to and fro, with earnestness and determination pictured on their faces, while "God bless you" greeted every soul that entered its portals.

Apparently there is nothing gloomy or cold about the Salvationists. They believe in a cheerful faith, and prove it by their lives and actions, as evinced at the banquet spread in the hall last evening where cheerfulness and good nature reigned supreme amid the hum and excitement attendant upon an occasion of that nature.

Those who hungry had been filled with good things," the forces were marshaled and paraded the streets with music and banners, the proverbial quota of saints and sinners alike following in the rear.

The marching over, the soldiers and visiting comrades took their places on the platform, which was very inviting to the eye, the wall in the rear bearing portraits of Commissioner Ballington Booth and his sweet faced and cultivated helpmeet, adorned with national and Army flags, while the banner with the device, "Welcome, Colonel, and Staff," floated over all.

The Jubilee began in earnest when Col. Evans took his seat as presiding officer and opened the exercises with a rousing and familiar Army song, which was heartily joined in by the large gathering, violins, cornets, banjos and other musical instruments making melody and swelling the volume of sound. Hearty and well-delivered addresses by Col. and Major Evans followed, reviewing the work of the corps and how much they had to be grateful for. Soldiers gave testimony and greetings were sent from officers who were formerly stationed here.

Thus ended the second anniversary of the entrance of the Army into Plainfield, and still they are "marching as to war."

Music Hall Notes.

The company under the direction of Mr. Charles Frohman, which will appear at Music Hall, next Monday, in the presentation of the latest comedy success, "The Junior Partner," is universally conceded to be one of the strongest organizations ever gathered together for the illustration of the farcical side of life, including such eminent artists as Mr. Henry Miller, Miss May Irwin, Mrs. McKee Rankin, Miss Rosily Bancker, Mr. Hugo Toland, Miss Phyllis Rankin, Mr. F. B. Strong and others. "The Junior Partner" is a farcical comedy in three acts, by the eminent French playwrights Bisson and Carre, authors of "Wilkinson's Widows," "Dr. Rip," and other successful plays. It is described as being original in conception, novel in construction, rapid in action, brimming over with life and hearty laughter. Previous to the comedy will be presented Clyde Fitch's exquisite one act play, "Frederick Lemaitre," with Mr. Henry Miller in the popular character.

Theatre Notes.

Mr. William H. Crane began his annual engagement at the Star Theatre, New York, on Monday night and scored an emphatic success in Messrs. Matthews and Jessup's play "On Probation." This comedy was the first work written for Mr. Crane after he severed his business relations with Mr. Robson and was performed at a special matinee at the Star Theatre two years ago. Since then it has undergone changes, the serious portion being sacrificed for the amusing.

Obtained Money Under False Pretence.

Thomas Shelly was arrested yesterday charged with obtaining money under false pretense. The complaint was made by Mr. M. N. Terrill. Shelly was given a hearing before Justice Nash this morning. He plead guilty and was sent to the county jail.

CORRESPONDENCE.

INTERESTING FACTS NOT GENERALLY KNOWN.

A Series of Washington Letters Giving Many Historical Events of the United States in a New and Interesting Manner.

LETTER NO. II.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 1, 1893.

It may have been forgotten—so easily do we forget even recent history—that our late war was brought on by the refusal of the free states to permit the extension of our territory and of slavery southward toward the isthmus and to annex Cuba.

Both nature and destiny forbade the extension of slavery northward. The outcome of the struggle in Kansas demonstrated that. There was not much hope of its extension westward. In 1861, after twelve years of the free admission of slaves into the territory of New Mexico, there were in all that territory only twenty-five slaves owned by citizens of the United States. The hope and desire of the slave power in the South looked southward.

Accordingly, in the Winter of 1860-1, the Crittenden compromise (so called on the motion of Senator Powell of Kentucky), which was to pacify the country and save the Union, provided for the permission of slavery, not only in all that part of the territory of the United States south of 36 degrees and 30 minutes, but also in that which was "hereafter to be acquired." This latter was the real, vital thing in the Crittenden compromise.

While the compromise resolutions were pending, Vice President Breckinridge wrote to Gov. Magoffin of Kentucky that the compromise was intended to embrace after-acquired territory south of 36.30, and declared that this provision was vital. He expressed the expectation that the United States would extend toward the tropics and would carry slavery with it. "The southern states can not afford to be shut off from expansion to the tropics by the hostile action of the federal government."

In the House "Committee of thirty-three," two members, representing two southern states, promptly withdrew after the committee refused to go into the question of permitting slavery in territory thereafter to be acquired. "The last ist," said Representative Adams of Massachusetts, a member of that conciliation committee, "that it appeared to be somewhat singular that the attempt at conciliation should come just at this particular time."

In February, 1861, Representative Stokes of Tennessee asserted in the House of Representatives that a plan had been formed two years before by certain leaders in the cotton states that in a certain contingency, "a separate confederacy should be established, whose object was to open the slave trade, conquer Mexico and annex Cuba."

Senator Slidell of Louisiana, in his farewell to the United State Senate, predicted that, "though for a time more circumscribed in manner, our children, if not we, will rally under a constellation more numerous and more resplendent than yours."

In the Peace Congress of the States, which it may be recollected, was in session in Washington during February, 1861, to see whether war could not be averted, the permission of slavery in territory to be acquired, was the chief and vital issue. The northern states wanted to forbid the acquisition of more territory, except the consent of three-fourths of the States, or of three-fourths of the Senate. The southern States were determined that no obstacle should be put in the way of the acquisition of more territory south of our then and present boundary, and that slavery should be permitted in territory there to be acquired. The second of the proposed amendments to the constitution which this Peace Congress recommended, treated of the acquisition of territory. It provided that a majority of senators from free states and a majority of senators from slave states should be necessary to acquire territory, either by discovery or by treaty.

Senator Hunter of Virginia, speaking in the U. S. Senate against the amendments proposed by the Peace Congress, declared that under them, territory could not be acquired southward, and that therefore they would be only an inducement to disunion, and would almost fatally tie border slave States to go into the Confederacy, where they could acquire territory.

The Confederate States put no high a value upon this subject of territorial acquisition that they even gave it place in their constitution, and devoted a subsection to it. It was as follows:

Art. IV. Sec. 3 (3) "The Confederate States may acquire new territory, and Congress shall have power to legislate and provide governments for the inhabitants of all territory belonging to the Confederate States lying without the limits of the several States, and may admit them, at such times and in such manner as it may by law provide, to form States to be admitted into the Confederacy. In such territory the institutions of slavery, as it now exists in the Confederate States, shall be recognized and protected by Congress and by the territorial government; and the inhabitants of the several Confederate States and Territories shall have the right to take to such territory any slaves lawfully held by them in any of the States or Territories of the Confederate States."

In March, 1861, Vice President Alexander Stephens, at President Jefferson Davis's reception, made a speech which is reported in the Columbian (Ga.) Sun of the following day thus: "Mr. Stephens, in his speech last night at the President's reception, in quite a pointed manner alluded to the probable expansion of the Confederate States, hinting that our territory might extend far down to the tropical country of Central America, taking in the whole, all united and all based on the fundamental idea that the negro was inferior to the white race and that slavery must be extended and perpetuated."

Even the closing days of the war, this subject of territorial acquisition southward came up again in a remarkable way. At the celebrated Hampton Roads Conference, in February, 1865, Vice President Stephens, as the mouthpiece of President Davis, proposed informally to President Lincoln an alliance, during which the arms of the United States should be turned against Maximilian and the French in Mexico, and showed how there might be a pacification between the warring sections of our country on the basis of "an ocean-bound, federal republic" completed by the adjunction of other States which "would continue to join it in the future, as they had in the past."

How this matter stands now, since slavery has been abolished, let us consider in another letter to-morrow.

TEDD KATANING.

"WHERE THE AXE HIT THE CHICKEN."

Mr. J. H. Carney Scores a hit at the Athletic Club Entertainment.

Last evening, in their rooms on West Front street, the members of the Plainfield Athletic Club gave a successful entertainment.

The old Council chamber, the club's room, presented quite a gala appearance, with decorations of flags and bunting. At one end of the room a stage had been erected and a sliding curtain arranged, making an excellent place for such an entertainment.

The first number on the programme was a solo, entitled "Just a Little," by Mr. Turner. He was followed by Mr. P. Ryan in a reel and jig dance. As the men did not put in an appearance, in place of the boxing bout, Mr. John Carney, as "the Dutchman" recited "Where the Axe Hit the Chicken." Round after round of applause greeted the jolly "Dutchman" and he was compelled to respond to an encore. A selection by the "Dresden Trio" brought the entertainment to a close, and dancing commenced. Later on Kiernan, the champion middle weight boxer of Pennsylvania, arrived and the audience was treated to a lively four-round bout between Kiernan and Freddie Dixon of the Club.

The entertainment committee comprised Messrs. T. Kane, W. Vroom, T. Larue and W. Kiely.

The committee in charge of dancing was as follows: J. Dixon, general director; T. Kane, floor manager; and W. Vroom and W. Dennick, assistant.

A "COCKING MAIN."

Between New Brunswick and Scotch Plains Birds.

A one-sided "cocking main" took place last night in a barn on the road leading from this city to Rahway, between New Brunswick and Scotch Plains birds for $10 a battle, and $100 on the odd fight. Sporting men were present from Woodfield, Scotch Plains, Plainfield, Evens, Dunellen, Bound Brook, Smyville, Metuchen, Rahway, Elizabeth, Newark, Perth Amboy, and even from Camden, Philadelphia and Gloucester. If the New Brunswickers had their choice the fires were "moderately" they would have returned home with pockets filled with money. New Brunswick won the first four fights, Scotch Plains the fifth and sixth battle, and New Brunswick the seventh battle, leaving the Scotch Plains nerve to two, the worst drubbing they have received in years. About five hundred dollars changed hands. Everything passed off quietly.

What Weather Prophet Hicks Predicts.

The following are Weather Prophet Hicks' latest selections:

"Secondary disturbances existing at the opening of the month, end in cold 1st and 2nd. Warmer about the 5th, with rain and snow to 7th. A cold wave will follow, extending southward, and lasting to about 11th or 12th. After storms about these dates, colder up to about 17th. Storms of rain, thunder, sleet and snow from 16th to 19th. A severe cold wave will come behind these storms. Reactionary temperatures and storms will touch the 21st and 26th, followed by returning cold until the last day of the month, at which time rising temperature and coming storms will be the order. Don't forget or neglect the prior dates or errors that depend upon you for food and shelter. Their suffering will be your loss."

LATEST NEWS BY WIRE.

To Hold an Indignation Meeting.

New Brunswick, Feb. 3d. (Special)—The residents of Highland Park, across the river from this place, are going to hold an indignation meeting to-night, to see if they can compel the Board of Freeholders to erect a foot-bridge over the river to enable pedestrians to get to this city. The old wooden bridge was torn down some time ago to make room for a new steel bridge. A temporary bridge which was erected was swept away at the breaking up of the ice, and persons have to go about two miles out of their way to reach this city.

Two Men on a Snow Plough Killed.

Rome, N. Y., Feb. 3, (Special.)—At Mo-Connelleville, on the Rome, Watertown and Ogdensburg Railroad, thirteen miles east of this place, this morning, a snow plough ran into the rear of a freight train, which was stalled in the snow. The plough was crushed by the collison and two men inside were killed. The wreck has blockaded the road.

TELEPHONE TRADE IN JERSEY.

Brisk Business Likely to Follow the Expiration of the Bell Patents.

The old Mucci Telephone Company, of which J. R. English of Elizabeth is President, is about to revive its charter and begin active operations. The Mucci Company had a regular system in operation in that place some years ago, but had to suspend business on account of infringing the Bell Company's patents, which are now expiring. Moneyed men of Elizabeth, Plainfield, Newark, and other cities are about to organize a strong company to build both trunk and local lines to operate throughout the State. They will, it is said, control the Mucci franchise and also the poles and wires of the New Jersey Postal Telegraph Company, which has a system now doing a general telegraph business between New York and Asbury Park, with branches in all intermediate cities and towns.

The patent, it is alleged, expired on the telephone receiver in January, and the patents on the Blake transmitter will expire March 14th, at midnight. The field will then be thrown open to competition. Well-informed experts declare that the Bell Company or its allies will find it impossible to then obtain injunctions or restrain competition. A large factory at Red Bank is now in course of completion for which the manufacture of telephones to be sold for general use, and the company has already died orders for many months ahead. There is also in circulation a report that another company will take up the telephone manufacturing business.

—The original company of jubilee singers from Nashville, Tenn., will give a concert at Reform Hall, next Thursday night. Tickets may be procured from the committee in charge of the affair—President Spencer and Messrs. Smith and Vanderbeek.

A Word to Thinking Buyers!

Does it hurt the quality of our 50c. Corsets to sell them at 37½? Does it make a really good Stocking any poorer to sell it for 15c. instead of 25c.

Does it lessen the value of a Table Linen that is worth 50c., to sell it for ?

Does it hurt the quality of a Towel that anyone will ask you 25c. for, to sell it for 12½ ?

Is a gentleman's unlaundried Shirt any poorer because we sell it for 50c., and others ask 75c. for one as good?

EDITORIAL NOTES

The Difference.

When John L. Sullivan was whipped by Corbett last fall, he exclaimed mournfully: "I tried it once too often. I was too old." Sullivan was 34. All prize ring experts agreed with him that he was past the age when man is at his best physically. In brief, man is getting old at 34, according to prize ring judgment.

Mr. Jay Gould died in the 57th year of his age. Nobody called him old. It is to be noted, however, that nobody spoke of him as being called from life too soon—before his best work was done. Probably nobody thought so except his own children and immediate family, who were tenderly attached to him. His greatest work had been accomplished. A little more than a month after Mr. Gould there died in Boston a man who was 57 years old in December, the month the millionaire took leave of this life. It was Bishop Phillips Brooks, considered by many the greatest preacher of his time after Beecher.

Bishop Brooks was 5 months older than Jay Gould. Yet at his death, chief after expression of loss at the departure of so great and good a man, was the lament that he had been snatched away in the prime of his life with his grand powers in full possession. It was counted an irreparable loss, the untouched years before him, which he would have filled full of work for mankind. He preached the gospel of brotherly love, the theology of the brotherhood of man, and it was counted that he died young, all too young.

So here we have the three—the prize-fighter who is an aged man at 34, the millionaire who had finished his life work at 56, and the preacher whom men loved dying young at 57. "Who knows the names of the millionaires of even a century ago" asks somebody. And yet, which would the average man rather be, the millionaire or the preacher?

Poor Girls!

Another girl victim with royal blood in her veins has been offered on the altar of a state marriage. A few weeks ago it was the Princess Marie of Edinburgh. This time it was Princess Margaret, youngest sister of the German emperor and apparently deriving her chief distinction from that fact. Once more the poor, vain little soul of William of Germany has strutted and glorified itself in public as the head of the house of Hohenzollern, to dispose of all the members thereof according to his own crude, whimsical will.

To his foolish mind his sisters, his cousins and all his female relatives are merely so many pieces of property to be bestowed as bribes to strengthen his own personal interests. He would like to boss even his grandmother, Victoria of England, if he could. At the marriage of his sister to Prince Charles of Hesse he appeared in the "gala uniform of the garde du corps and wearing the decorations of the Black Eagle and the Garter." In such monkeyish ceremonials he is happy and satisfied.

Meantime the murmurs against the military taxation bill grow louder and rise to a roar. The cries of the starving working men of Berlin are heard the world over—

Slowly comes a hungry people, as a lion, draweth higher
Glares at one that nods and winks behind a slowly dying fire.

A bill for the founding of Greater New York has been laid before the legislature of that state. It provides for putting to vote before the people the question whether New York, the county of Kings, in which Brooklyn is situated, Staten Island and certain outlying towns in the vicinity of the two cities of New York and Brooklyn shall be consolidated into one city. Voters resident in those localities will cast the ballot. It would bring into one magnificent city a population of nearly 3,000,000. Americans would take a national pride in it. It is said to be opposed only by the municipal authorities and local politicians of Brooklyn. Well, can't they whack up the offices so as to give Brooklyn a large slice in the beginning, and thus lubricate the machinery a little? We can give Brooklyn and New York a pointer on the question, and that is that the whole country would be so proud of them if they would unite that Chicago would not be thrown into their teeth for at least 10 years. Join, sisters, join!

It is certain that the Columbian naval review at New York in May will be the most magnificent ever witnessed in this country. At least 25 foreign warships will take part. If the Prince of Wales comes over, the entire channel squadron of the British navy will attend him. Let us hope he will come. He has not been here since he was a mere stripling. Perhaps he would like to take a look around and see what advantages a republic would offer as a place of residence when the bottom drops out of the divine right of kings in Europe. If France survives the Panama scandal, our sorely tried sister republic will send to our review nine of the most improved models of iron clads and fast cruisers. There will be besides five of Italy's crack fighting ships, seven from Russia, six from Germany and four each from Spain and Austria.

Of public known and recognized paupers London now has nearly 160,000. Pauperism has horrors in England that are unknown in this country, too, for a British pauper cannot vote.

FOR ANNEXATION FIRST.

If This Is Impractical, a Protectorate Would Do.

THE DIPLOMACY OF DR. MOTT SMITH

The Queen's Accredited Representative Will Take a Hand in the Controversy If Allowed—The Representatives Due In Washington Today—An Interview.

CHICAGO, Feb. 3.—The Hawaiian commissioners to the United States, comprising Messrs. Loring A. Thurston, chairman; William R. Castle, Charles L. Carter, Joseph Marsden and W. C. Wilder, arrived in Chicago on the Overland Flyer of the Northwestern railroad at 11:30 this morning. Accompanying the party was Miss Mellie Andrews of New York city, a cousin of Chairman Thurston, who was the only person not attached to the commission permitted to leave the island on its steamer. The secretary to the commission is C. F. Emerson, managing clerk of Mr. Thurston's law office. The remaining member of the party was Mr. William A. Kinney, now a lawyer in Salt Lake City, but a former resident of the Sandwich islands and one of the leading participants in the revolution of 1887.

He met the members of the commission at Ogden for the purpose of renewing old acquaintance, but was detained to accompany the body to Washington in an unofficial capacity as legal adviser. His knowledge of conditions on the island and his facility for formulating ideas make him a valuable addition to the commissioners' party.

Will Formulate a Policy After Arrival.

There was a conference of the commissioners in the drawing room of the sleeper regarding the plan to be pursued on arriving at Washington, and it was decided to seek an interview with Secretary of State Foster and present to him the certificate of authority issued by the provisional government before asking for an audience with President Harrison.

It was held that this would be more in accord with diplomatic usages than any other course. On the Wisconsin border the party was joined by a representative of the United Press. A majority of the commissioners had pretty well talked themselves hoarse since arriving in this country, and accordingly Commissioner Castle, who has been doing the listening on the trip, was designated as spokesman. He said that the commissioners had so far formulated no policy, preferring to wait until the executive branch of the United States government had expressed itself.

Annexation If Possible.

"Every man of us," said Mr. Castle, "is an annexationist pure and simple. We want annexation if it can possibly be secured. If not, then we must be satisfied with a protectorate, if that is obtainable. We have no plans regarding our stay at home. We propose to stay in Washington until our mission is successful, or until it has proven so absolute a failure that it will be useless to stay longer. We do not look for this latter alternative. We believe that the people of the United States are with us, and that the administration is such as to insure us some sure and lasting identification with this country. As I have said, we have our own predilections, but we will not urge them too forcibly if the sentiment of the administration is favorable to a protectorate."

The Queen's Representative Talks.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—Dr. Mott Smith, the present Hawaiian representative in Washington, in an interview said:

"I expect to call upon the commissioners immediately upon their arrival and will probably accompany them to the department of state Saturday morning. It is not probable that I shall take any part in their consultation with Secretary Foster because I am not an annexationist from their standpoint. I was opposed to a revolution under any conditions, but one having been accomplished I shall not oppose their further plans."

"If the commissioners should request you to take part with them, would you not do so?"

"It is hardly likely that they will ask this, but of course I cannot say as to this until after their arrival. They may have some communication for me which was sent on the steamer that brought them over."

Dr. Smith said that it would not surprise him any if a proposition was made for the establishment of the Princess Kaianlani upon the throne, but in his opinion it would come from the deposed queen and not from the commissioners of the provisional government.

If their train is on time the commissioners should reach Washington this afternoon at 5 o'clock over the Pennsylvania line.

England Sensible at Last.

LONDON, Feb. 3.—Sir Edward Grey, parliamentary secretary of the foreign office, says that the government as at present advised did not intend to send warships to Honolulu. The government considered that the lives and property of British subjects in Hawaii were safe under American protection.

To Buy West Virginia Coal Lands.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 3.—President Kendy of the Cumberland Valley railroad and Secretary of War Elkins, ex-Senator Henry G. Davis, Richard C. Kerens of St. Louis and ex-Congressman Hotchkiss in this city. The object of the conference was to further the organization of a syndicate to purchase some very valuable coal and timber tracts in West Virginia.

Changing Massachusetts' Holidays.

BOSTON, Feb. 3.—The joint judiciary committee of the legislature has reported a bill favoring the abolition of Fast day and making April 19, Lexington day, a legal holiday. The bill will be amended so as to provide for the closing of liquor saloons on that day.

Central Trotting Association.

SYRACUSE, Feb. 3.—At the meeting of managers of the Central New York trotting circuit F. W. Harrington of Cortland was elected president. L. M. Cafferty of Binghamton, vice president, and George M. Robinson, secretary.

Rains For the Cabinet.

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—The Mercury dispatch to The Press says that President-elect Cleveland has tendered Governor Boies the position of secretary of agriculture. The governor has the matter under advisement.

New York Mechanics Strike.

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—About 200 mechanics quit work on the new criminal courts house because of the employment of nonunion carpenters.

MR. CLEVELAND SEES VISITORS.

The Present Week Will End His Office Days In New York.

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—Politicians made the most of Mr. Cleveland's "at home" hours. Congressman Breckenridge and Mr. Brosius called first and made a short stay. Congressman W. F. Wilcox of Connecticut came next. President H. H. Goodell of the Massachusetts Agricultural college at Amherst headed a committee of four which called to talk to Mr. Cleveland with reference to the agricultural department of the government.

Ex-Congressman John F. Russell, who is considered a cabinet possibility; Mr. N. E. Wheaton of Buffalo and Major Samuel Klotz of Newark, who was made collector of internal revenue by Mr. Cleveland in 1885, also called.

Mr. Cleveland returned to Lakewood last evening. He was accompanied by Don M. Dickinson. Mr. Cleveland will be at his office in the Mills building Saturday. After that he will remain at Lakewood until he leaves for Washington.

THE DEACON DIVORCE.

The Decree Granted Upon Arrangement With Mrs. Deacon.

PARIS, Feb. 3.—About a month ago Mr. Deacon offered to his wife the following conditions: That the custody of the three elder children should be given to him; that she should not cohabit with Sandwich islands and one of the leading participants in the revolution of 1887.

He met the members of the commission at Ogden for the purpose of renewing old acquaintance, but was detained to accompany the body to Washington in an unofficial capacity as legal adviser. His knowledge of conditions on the island and his facility for formulating ideas make him a valuable addition to the commissioners' party.

TWO CARS OF POWDER EXPLODE.

A Rear End Collision Which Resulted Fortunately In No Loss of Life.

STRYKER, O., Feb. 3.—A rear end collision of two freight trains, two carloads of powder occurred on the Lake Shore railway, which resulted in considerable damage to property. The explosion blew the caboose and three cars to atoms. The concussion was felt for miles away, and telegraph wires were torn down. The engineer and fireman saved themselves by jumping. There was no one in the caboose, and no loss of life resulted. The ground is covered for acres with powder cans and wreckage. Pieces of the timber were blown half a mile away. A heavy snow was falling, and the trainmen on the local did not see the flagman.

Destitution at Zante.

ATHENS, Feb. 3.—Reports from Zante state that inhabitants of most towns on the islands are suffering severely. Hundreds of families are camped in the fields near the city of Zante. The weather is inclement, and unless shelter and food be provided speedily the mortality will be appalling. A British man-of-war, which has been loading at Piraeus with food and clothing, sailed for Zante this afternoon. The island of Zante was shaken last evening by two shocks more violent than any of the preceding. The shocks were accompanied by a furious storm of thunder, lightning and rain.

Bread Riot at Marseilles.

MARSEILLES, Feb. 3.—Bread riots broke out while the carts were carrying the loaves to the centers of distribution. The carts had been placed under military guard, as the crowds of unemployed were already threatening when the first carts were sent out. The rioters made several attempts to break through the guards to get the carts, but were driven back. The strike of the journeymen bakers ended last evening. A new arrangement as to the price of bread and the wages of the men goes into effect today.

France Looks Toward Egypt.

PARIS, Feb. 3.—M. Develle, minister of foreign affairs, recalled to the memory of the chamber the declarations that had been made by Lord Salisbury and Lord Cromer, the British minister to Egypt, regarding the British occupation of Egypt. M. Develle added that the Egyptian question was not purely an English one. The Suez canal led to the eastern colonies of France as well as to India. A permanent British occupation of Egypt would certainly cause international troubles.

Canada Would Stop Sunday Papers.

OTTAWA, Feb. 3.—Mr. Charlton's bill, now before the house, repealing the observance of the Sabbath makes it a misdemeanor to sell newspapers, whether published on Sunday or published on Saturday and sold on Sunday. The bill does not permit newspaper offices to do any work on Sunday evening in order to enable them to issue Monday morning.

A Load of Scrap Becomes Charged.

NEWARK, N. J., Feb. 3.—A wagon containing a load of old iron was being driven under the wires of the electric railroad when an electric current was communicated to the wagon and then to the horses which were pulling it. One horse was killed and the other will probably die. The driver was killed from blindness, but he was not badly injured.

Gas at $1.

BOSTON, Feb. 3.—Sumner C. Chandler, J. F. Goodridge, Charles Howard and associates desire a charter as the Metropolitan Gas company to supply gas for lighting, fuel and other purposes at not over $1 per 1,000 feet of 25 candle power. The company is to furnish gas free for lighting Boston's streets.

Assemblyman Ainsworth in Business.

ALBANY, Feb. 3.—The William P. Bedford Manufacturing company of Sandy Creek, Oswego county, was incorporated to manufacture articles manufactured wholly or in part from wood. Directors: Joseph Mallin of Watertown, William P. Sandford and Daniel K. Ainsworth of Sandy Hill.

Billiard Championship of New England.

MERIDEN, Conn., Feb. 3.—Rudolph, of this city, and John Murphy of Hartford on Thursday evening next at Allis hall, Hartford, will contest for the billiard championship of New England and a purse of $200.

A Common Scold.

HOBOKEN, N. J., Feb. 3.—The trial of Mrs. Elizabeth Schultz, of West Hoboken, who was indicted as a common scold, took place in Jersey City and resulted in a verdict of guilty.

Professor Baldwin Confirmed.

HARTFORD, Feb. 3.—Professor Baldwin's nomination to a judge of the supreme court was confirmed by the house in concurrence with the senate.

A JUSTICE APPOINTED.

Hon. Howell E. Jackson to Succeed Justice Lamar.

FAVORS ANNEXATION OF CANADA.

Amos Cummings Introduces a Bill With Canada In View—Mrs. Blaine to Leave Washington — Opinions Regarding the New Appointment—Affairs of Congress.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—Howell E. Jackson of Tennessee was appointed by the president to be associate justice of the supreme court of the United States, vice L. Q. C. Lamar, deceased.

Howell Edmunds Jackson is an ex-senator and at present judge of the United States court for the district embracing Tennessee. He is a native and lifelong Tennessean, having been born at Paris, Tenn., April 8, 1832, being therefore 61 years of age. His parents early moved to Jackson, Tenn., and he lived there for many years. He was graduated from West Tennessee college in 1856 and afterward spent two years at the University of Virginia.

In 1856 he was graduated from Lebanon Law school and immediately began the practice of law in Jackson, removing to Memphis three years later. He served on the Confederate staff of his state's governor by appointment. He was elected to the state house of representatives in 1880 on the state credits platform and was very soon afterward elected to the United States senate as a Democrat, serving from March 4, 1881, to March 3, 1887. He is reviewed at the capital as a man of quiet, unassuming manners, generally well liked and distinguished for fairness and judicial consideration of the questions arising here.

Inquiry developed the fact that it was generally considered from a judicial and not a political view as a splendid one. About the supreme court it is said that President Harrison has shown a great deal of judgment in his selection.

Senator Dolph said: "I am a great admirer of Mr. Harrison, and I do not like to criticise his administration. I know Judge Jackson. He is an industrious, painstaking and able judge, and will do good service in that important court. He is sound, understand or appreciate the reasons which induced his appointment. I think there are Republicans upon the bench in the south the part of Judge Jackson, and I cannot understand why a Republican president should have appointed a Democrat to fill a vacancy occurring during his term."

Mrs. Blaine Will Leave the Capital.

Mrs. James G. Blaine will shortly leave Washington for a few weeks. Her destination has not yet been decided upon, but it is probable she will go to some southern resort. Her health is fairly good, considering the long physical strain to which she has been subjected for so many weeks in consequence of her assiduous watch at the bedside of Mr. Blaine. She has been the recipient of many invitations from friends in different sections of the country urging her to visit them, but has not accepted any of these offers.

Will Fall to Mr. Cleveland.

The records of the postoffice department show that there are now in operation 3,218 presidential postoffices, at all of which (except about 35) appointments of postmasters have been made during the present administration. This is an increase in the number of presidential offices during the last four years of 633. Of the presidential postmasters in office on May 1, 1889, about 90 have been reappointed, and of these 25 have held office through the last three administrations. Of those who received their original appointments from President Cleveland, 27 have been reappointed by President Harrison. The reappointments include 11 women.

Proceedings In Congress.

WASHINGTON, Feb 3.—The session of the house was an unusually interesting one. In the morning the antioption bill was the center of interest, and before the opening of the session little knots of members were congregated and discussed the probable course which would be pursued in disposing of the measure. The opponents of this legislation were on the alert, and the instant that Mr. Hatch made his motion for a conference Mr. Bynum of Indiana was addressing the speaker with a point of order that the senate amendments must first be considered in committee of the whole. The discussion of Mr. Bynum's point was a brief one, but long enough to show that the fight over the measure will be a sharp and vigorous one. John I. Davenport and the federal election bill were the principal topics of talk in the house. They were brought forward by an amendment offered by Mr. Fitch of New York to the sundry civil bill. The Republicans, whose spokesman was Mr. Boutelle of Maine, saw the entering wedge of a repeal of all the laws relative to federal supervision.

Mr. Fitch replied in a moderate tone, but stated that the Democratic party made no secret of its purpose to repeal the federal election laws. Several other personal passages ensued, but the amendment was finally agreed to.

With the exception of one hour in the early portion of the day and a little longer time in the evening, the session of the senate was held behind closed doors and was devoted to the consideration of the Francis and Swedish extradition treaties and incidentally of the Hawaiian question. In the open session the Chandler Hawaiian resolution, which went over from Monday, was referred to the committee on foreign relations. Morris, Hale (Rep., Me.) and Blackburn (Dem., Ky.) were appointed sellers to assist in counting the presidential votes, and Mr. Carlisle's resignation as senator from Kentucky was presented. The district appropriation bill was taken up, considered and passed.

Cummings Wants Canada.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—Mr. Cummings (N. Y.) introduced a bill in the house to provide for and facilitate commercial and political union between Canada and the United States. It provides for admission into the Union of all states formed in the Dominion of Canada and their representation in congress in accordance with their population. The states formed are to be admitted upon their own application and with the consent of Great Britain. An appropriation of $250,000 is authorized to defray the expenses of missions and negotiations to fix and agree upon the terms of admission.

College Indigestion.

MIDDLETOWN, Conn., Feb. 3.—Johnston, president of the Wesleyan freshman class, has suffered repeatedly at the hands of sophomores. Judge of the supreme court was roughly handled and had his hair closely clipped on the greater part of his head.

"I Owe My Life to Hood's Sarsaparilla"

"Words are powerless to express the gratitude I feel toward Hood's Sarsaparilla for what, under God, I feel and know that to this medicine I owe my life. Twelve years ago I began to feel, followed by severe attacks of Malarial Fever, Bilious Fever, and finally by Typhoid Fever, accompanied by severe pain. I gradually grew worse, until three years ago, I believed I had not the strength to live. I for several months I had been unable to retain any food of a solid nature. I was greatly reduced in flesh, and my friends thought I was not long for this world. One day a friend brought me a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and I resolved to give it a trial. After taking a few doses I felt better all over. Put the entire three years' illness has been gone, and I have been able all the time to do the housework for my family. After what I have said, you can imagine that I am a firm believer in Hood's Sarsaparilla." Mrs. Ogden Snyder, Albany, N. Y.

SENSATIONAL EVIDENCE.

Allegations Against Dr. Treverton, an Uncle of Harris' Victim.

SCRANTON, Pa., Feb. 3.—Evidence which it is believed will be of great importance in the case of Carlyle Harris, now under conviction in New York for the murder of his wife, Helen Potts, has just been discovered here. Mrs. Harris, the young man's mother, has been spending some days here, and it is principally through her efforts that the evidence was gathered.

The newly found evidence has been obtained from Helen Potts' friends and intimates while she was a visitor here at the home of her uncle, Dr. C. W. Treverton, and from physicians of high standing in their profession. Some letters are held from young ladies in the Hyde Park section of the city who during Helen Potts' visit here associated with her, and who were spoken of as the "arsenic eating coterie," and who know more about the troubles of the dead girl than they have heretofore cared to reveal.

The evidence gathered shows that Miss Potts was a confirmed morphine eater. The claim is also made here that whatever abortion was performed on the girl was done by Dr. Treverton while she was at his home, Treverton's wife being an aunt of Miss Potts.

Treverton left this city some time ago and is now, it is believed, living in Chicago. Treverton's house burned a short time after the conviction of Harris, and nothing was saved from it but his diploma, showing that he graduated from the University of New York. Treverton received over $2,000 insurance and soon afterward left for the west. There is also some evidence that Dr. Treverton encouraged his niece in the use of morphine, and it is stated that prescriptions that he gave her have been presented from a Hyde Park drug store and are certified to as being filled for the girl.

THE OLD COLONY INTACT.

Rumor That the Reading and the Boston and Maine Had Absorbed It Denied.

BOSTON, Feb. 3.—The report that the Reading and Boston and Maine had bought the Old Colony system reached Boston late this afternoon. President McLeod of the Reading and Boston and Maine said when shown the dispatch from Philadelphia, "I have nothing whatever to say."

President Choate of the Old Colony said: "Regarding the report that the Old Colony has already been absorbed by the Boston and Maine I will say that it is not so. As to what may take place in the future I do not care to speak specifically at present. There are a great many rumors floating about the exact meaning of which I do not know at present. Therefore I cannot say what may take place. This is all that I can say now."

Hon. Frank Jones, chairman of the board of directors of the Boston and Maine, said: "It is no such thing. The report is false."

Will Defend the Cup.

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—The New York Yacht club elected the following officers: Commodore, Edwin D. Morgan; vice commodore, William Butler Duncan, Jr.; rear commodore, Ralph W. Ellis; secretary, J. V. S. Oddie. The date fixed for the annual regatta is Thursday, June 15. A number of amendments were made to the constitution. The America's cup committee announced that for the purpose of selecting a vessel to represent the New York Yacht club in the coming contest for the America's cup trials races would be sailed early in September.

Furnished Premiers With Money.

ROME, Feb. 3.—Signor Tanlongo, the imprisoned governor of the Bank of Rome, has given evidence to the examining magistrate against several of the most conspicuous statesmen in Italy. Proof was said to have been found that Tanlongo had provided at fewest three Italian premiers with money to be spent in the public service. In the last few years these sums aggregated 5,000,000 francs, most of which had been spent to strengthen the government in the chamber.

Norwegian Legislation.

CHRISTIANIA, Feb. 3.—The storthing or Norwegian parliament opened Thursday. In the speech from the throne opening the session King Oscar promised that bills would be introduced providing for the granting of pensions to those persons employed in the military and civil services, limiting the hours of labor and establishing a sick and accident insurance system for workmen. It was also stated in the speech that no increase would be made in the taxation.

Yale-Princeton Debate.

NEW HAVEN, Feb. 3.—Messrs. W. G. Brownson and L. T. Wells of the Yale union vest Messrs. Erdmann and Cochran of the Princeton Debating society at New York and completed arrangements for the first annual debate between the two colleges. It will be held at Princeton March 18. The question which has been chosen for discussion is, "Resolved, that the peaceful annexation of Canada would be beneficial to the United States."

Arrested on an Old Warrant.

NEWARK, N. J., Feb. 3.—Carl F. R. Hartman was arrested on a warrant issued nearly two years ago. He was at that time the head clerk in the money order department of the Newark postoffice and was discharged for being several thousand dollars short in his accounts. His political friends paid the money which he had taken, and the matter was hushed up. Hartman is at present studying to be a lawyer.

Governor Flower Receives.

ALBANY, Feb. 3.—Governor Flower gave his annual reception to the citizens of Albany last night at the executive mansion from 9 o'clock till midnight. The reception was brilliantly illuminated, and the rooms and halls were strewn with flowers and palms. The portrait of Governor Hill throughout the house was a feature of the decorations.

THE BAYONNE CHURCH.

Counselor Burtsell Says Father Killeen Wins.

BISHOP WIGGER WILL NOT TALK.

A Dispatch Says Father Killeen Does Not Know of Mgr. Satolli's Decision—Although the Gist May Be Guessed At.

ROSEBURY, N. Y., Feb. 3.—The Rev. Thomas Killeen of Bayonne, whose charges against Bishop Wigger of the Newark diocese have attracted much attention in Catholic circles, was the guest of the Rev. R. I. Burtsell, D. D., at St. Joseph's rectory. He came here to show Dr. Burtsell a letter which he had received from Mgr. Satolli sustaining the charges against Bishop Wigger. The letter was to the effect that St. Thomas' church in Bergen Point will positively be reopened, and that if the Germans living there cannot support St. Henry's church it will be attached either to St. Thomas' or to St. Mary's in Bayonne, of which the Rev. Thomas Killeen is pastor.

A History of the Case.

In an interview Dr. Burtsell gave the following history of the case: St. Thomas' church was founded in St. Mary's parish, Bayonne, for the convenience of the English speaking people of the remoter part of the parish. The German church of St. Henry's was established with the positive promise of Bishop Wigger that the exercises would be conducted in German for 20 years, and that no English whatever would be spoken there. Three months after the establishment of St. Thomas' church Father Killeen expressed his willingness to allow the remote part of his parish to be formed into a district parish, and he objected very strenuously to the English speaking people attending the German church.

Bishop Wigger Closes the Church.

He was of the opinion that St. Henry's was so near St. Mary's that it would be likely to weaken the mother church, but Bishop Wigger took advantage of Father Killeen's willingness to give away part of St. Mary's parish and place it under that of St. Thomas, to do away with the latter church and attach all of the English speaking people to St. Henry's German church. This, Dr. Burtsell said, had the twofold disadvantage of compelling the English speaking people to listen to German sermons, which they could not understand, and at the same time, on account of the pastor of the German church being allowed frequently to speak in English, of drawing away some of St. Mary's parishioners.

Dances Were Held.

After the bishop had closed St. Thomas' church and handed over its membership to the German church Dr. Burtsell declares that the pastor of St. Henry's used a part of the closed church as a public hall, where dances were held.

Dr. Burtsell has been the legal adviser of Father Killeen in the case, and it was he who presented the matter to Mgr. Satolli. The decision just rendered, following the Corrigan and McGlynn cases, which he also conducted, makes his third important victory of late in the ecclesiastical courts.

Bishop Wigger Reticent.

NEWARK, N. J., Feb. 3.—Bishop Wigger was met on the street in front of Seton Hall college by a reporter.

"Will you give the contents or the purport of the decision of the case regarding St. Thomas' church which you have just received from Mgr. Satolli?" was asked.

"I have nothing to say," the bishop replied.

"Is it not a fact that you have just received the decision from Mgr. Satolli?"

"I have nothing to say," the bishop replied. "I would like to give you the information you desire, but I think the safest plan for me is to say nothing about the matter."

"Is it not so that you intend to open the church at Bayonne within a few weeks?" was asked.

"I cannot say," was the bishop's only reply.

One of the priests at the college said that he understood from the way the bishop addressed the priests of the college a few days ago that he had intended to open the Bayonne church some time ago, and that it would have been opened before this time if it had not been for the present controversy. He explained to the priests that the reason he closed the church was because he was short of priests.

Father Killeen Denies It.

JERSEY CITY, Feb. 3.—Father Killeen said that he has no knowledge that Mgr. Satolli has decided the dispute between him and Bishop Wigger one way or the other. The decision must first come from Satolli, and when it does come it will be made public throughout the United States, and Bishop Wigger will know it no sooner than any one else. He thinks that the stories published regarding the decision come from the university at Washington.

The Champions May Meet.

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—Another step was taken toward making a match between Harold Hagen and Joseph F. Donoghue for the skating championship of the world. Two weeks ago Donoghue posted $500 as a forfeit and has waited for Hagen to respond. Donoghue's manager received a telegram from Hagen's backer at St. John, N. B., saying that he had posted $500 at St. John and that Hagen would race Donoghue for $1,000 a side.

A Palermo Official Elopes.

ORWEGO, N. Y., Feb. 3.—Frank Clark, overseer of the poor of the town of Palermo, disappeared a week ago. About the same time Mrs. Fayette Temple left for Syracuse to visit friends. It has just been discovered that they went away together. Both left families and both stood high in the community.

Panama's Court of Inquiry Adjourns to Paris.

PARIS, Feb. 3.—M. Waldeck-Rousseau argued that M. Eiffel had acted with rectitude and courage in coming to a settlement with M. Monchicourt, the official liquidator of the Panama Canal company, and that the liquidator, by the act of signing the arrangement with M. Eiffel, testified that he was convinced of the fairness of the stipulations contained in the agreement. His profits had not exceeded 7,000,000 francs and had been obtained in a perfectly legitimate manner.

NEWEST DRESS PATTERNS.

Summer Fabrics Already on Exhibition Sentiment of Colors.

The fashion writer of the New York Sun notes that already the shop windows are full of summer challies, of sephyrs and organdies. There promises to be a ren of these old time fabrics, which come again with all their former brilliancy of color and floral elaboration of design, because of the revival of the old modes to which they are quaintly adapted. "Lapel spots" and bouquet patterns, dear to our grandmothers, are shown in the challies and muslins, which will be made up in the old fashioned way, with ball skirts and gathered bodices, finished with fichus and frills, as in the vanished days.

Like the heroines of the Thackeray romances, the summer girl will appear perpetually in a simple gown, with a rose in her hair.

In richer fabrics there is something mediæval in the growing passion for gold and silver embroidery and splendid metallic effects. Gold and silver cloth, such as was fashionable in the days when Henry VIII and Francis I met on the field of the cloth of gold are promised for the coming season, and future brocades bid fair to rival in splendor that famous one of Keidel's. "All branched and flowered with gold."

This barbaric love of brilliance exhausted itself by its own strength in the Sixteenth century and the vivid reaction in favor of softly falling laces and subdued tints has maintained until now, when the reign of splendor begins again. Purples and magentas, violets and greens have taken the place of ecrus and blues and grays. Silks and even wools are flecked or seeded with color, powdered with flower sprays and dots of bright tints. Stiff cords are shown in all the new fabrics, both in silk and wool, and shaded and two toned effects prevail in the plainest wools.

A MEAN TIME SUNDIAL.

An Instrument That Makes Its Own Correction for the Equation of Time.

Most persons know that an ordinary sundial does not give clock time. Sometimes the dial time is fast and sometimes it is slow as compared with clock time, for sundial days are not, like ordinary days, all of equal length. The mean time shown by ordinary clocks is based upon the circle of a mean day, which corresponds to the mean length of the day as measured by the sundial shadow at different parts of the year. Hence the clock time corresponds to the dial time which would be shown by a "fictitious" or "mean" sun moving uniformly in the equator at the same average rate as that of the real sun in the ecliptic.

MEAN TIME SUNDIAL.

The difficulty of contriving a dial to show the mean time has, it is told in The Horological Review, been overcome in a simple manner by Major General J. R. Oliver, of London, who has devised a gnomon which would make its own correction for the equation of time. In this instrument the time is indicated not by the shadow of a straight edge, as in the old sundials, but by the plane in an equatorial circular disc is cut by the edge of the shadow of a curved surface, the curvature of which is so arranged with respect to the sun's distance above or below the equator as to compensate for the "equation of time." The instrument is a universal one and consists of a meridional semidisk, the diameter of which is an axis carrying the curved gnomon, and an equatorial circular arc. The latter has engraved upon its concave surface a graduated line on which are marked the hours and their subdivisions. There is a screw for clamping the meridional arc at the proper position for any given latitude and another clamp for adjusting the equatorial arc. The dial not only indicates local mean time, but by a very simple adjustment may be set so as to show any required standard time. The figure here given illustrates the dial devised by Major Oliver.

or a bottle and upon it lay a threepenny piece. You may then challenge the company to make the coin fall into the bottle without touching either match, coin or bottle. It will take them some time to find out the modus operandi, which is, however, simple enough.

THE COIN IN THE BOTTLE.

Dip your finger in a glass of water and holding it just above the angle formed by the broken center of the match, let fall upon the angle one or two drops of the liquid. The fibers of the wood, swelling under the expansive influence of the moisture, tend to revert to their original position, and you will see the angle of the match open little by little until the opening becoming too wide for the match to support the coin, the latter falls into the bottle. And that is the whole of the secret.

Scientific Brevities.

A curiosity in wells is what are sometimes called "breathing wells" in Kansas, by which air is blown out at times and drawn in at other times. These wells doubtless tap a subterranean reservoir of air, probably filling the interstices of sand or gravel beds.

The white rhinoceros, which formerly abounded in certain districts of South Africa, is now becoming exceedingly scarce. There are not more than twenty specimens known to be alive, and these are to be found on the south bank of the Zambesi, says a London journal.

The Electrical Review states that electric arc lights have been placed on the front lawn at the Ohio penitentiary for the purpose of preventing escapes at night.

Four thousand miles is estimated as the outside figure of the railroad track laying on main lines in the United States for 1892, and 4,582 miles was that of 1891—both a considerable falling off from the yearly average of 6,308 miles of the last fifteen years.

The effect of heat and cold on wood is the reverse of the same on metal, since cold lengthens the one and heat increases it. The building of the ends of joists and girders into newly laid up brick or stone walls, where they are subject to absorb the freshly burned lime in liquid state from the mortar, greatly hastens their decay at these vital points, says T. R. Tinsley.

It is stated that in England those parts of locomotives which are liable to rust are made of galvanized iron, and that this includes the inside of tender tanks and also the coal spaces.

THE HOUSEHOLD

HOUSEKEEPING TRIFLES.

Closets Without Skeletons—The Newspaper in Service.

The skeleton that makes itself obnoxious in closets of houses otherwise cleanly and well kept is composed, according to Good Housekeeping, from which we quote, of old boots, dressed and undressed, instead of bones; but better by far good white bones than old leather, with its coating of mildew and smell of mould. When tea is done, don't save these reminders of long and tiresome journeys in shut up places. If one believes, as many have professed to do, that the shoe tells more of the character of its wearer than any other article of apparel, and is to treasured on that account, then give it a prominent place, plenty of light and fresh air, scrubbing and clean rags to it; deemed best or make a pile of the collection in the largest room in the house, that all may see what to avoid.

A sight of cast off wearing apparel hidden away recalls the advice given a girl by her mother who discovered the sweepings from the floor swept under and about the closet in which the worker sits will save all the litter of thread and lint from the carpet. There are a few windows to be washed, and a couple of papers on which to set the pail of water save the carpet if there should be a spatter. On sweeping day a number of papers spread over the writing table, bookshelves or pictures answer a useful purpose.

There are flowers to be arranged, the sweetest things in the world; they will make a litter unless placed on this large paper. The silver must be polished, but let us not stand. Spread some papers on the table, move the chairs near; now everything is protected; the papers can be burned if soiled by the whiting, the rubbing or the washing. But please do not use newspapers to wrap about anything eatable.

The Open Fireplace.

The increasing use of the open fireplace is a healthy sign of the times, whether regarded from a sanitary or artistic point of view, says The Decorator and Furnisher. More healthy than either the stove or the basement heater, is given occasion for the free play of decorative metal work, which is one of the most active and vital of modern furnishing tendencies. The open fireplace consists of course a tiled hearth, with its accompaniment of fender, fire irons and fire screen. Fenders and fire screens are often made to match, a very beautiful one being of beaten copper, with panels filled in with ruskin or bullseyes of colored glass, which produce an excellent effect. Fire screens of colored glass are made in a brass framework, having panels of enameled glass in Persian or Japanese designs, and are exceedingly decorative.

Cold Slaw.

Take half of a large, white cabbage, shave it fine, lay it in a salad bowl, season first with salt and pepper, and pour over it this dressing: Beat the yolk of an egg with a teaspoonful of cold water. Boil one-half cupful of vinegar, one cupful of cold water. Blend one tablespoonful of flour in a little cold water and thicken in the same. Add a piece of butter the size of an egg and season to taste. Pour it over the cabbage and set it away to cool.

Golden Cake.

Beat one-half pound of butter to cream with one pound of sugar. Add gradually the yolks of ten eggs beaten till quite light, beating them well together. Then stir in one pound of fine flour and as the last a teaspoonful of soda mixed with a little hot water. Bake in a moderate oven.

Cold Turkey Fried.

Cut up the bird into pretty sections, and dip each piece into beaten egg and bread crumbs seasoned with pepper and salt. Fry in boiling fat until of a golden brown; serve on a hot dish, with a little good brown gravy poured over.

A Convenient Bit of Decoration.

The neat little arrangement shown in the sketch serves a double purpose. It is a useful photograph holder and a pretty bit of wall decoration.

The heavy photo frame is of ruby colored plush stretched over stout cardboard or canvas and edged with gilt fringe. A trail of flowers, painted or embroidered, can be added along the fold which holds the photographs to enhance the decorative effect. Two of these hung one over the other with silk cord served on at the top to suspend this frame to the wall.

Silver Novelties.

The Jewelers' Circular notes the following novelties in silver:

Silver plated candlesticks with reflectors are introduced for the ballroom and make an admirable light for reading.

Silver knitting balls, silver knitting needles and silver knitting needle cases are also of the latest fashion.

The bouton spoon in perforated silver and silver gilt has grown into a great shovelful's table for serving nuts and raisins at dessert.

Tea strainers, bonbon spoons and ladles and little receptacles are made of Moorish design in silver gilt united by tracery.

There are jelly spoons, toddy spoons and pudding knives of silver.

Dresden china is quite fashionable for small vases and special dishes.

Glass vases are now tied with bows of metallic ribbon.

THE FATHER OF COLONEL CARTER.

A Good Story That Is Told of F. Hopkinson Smith.

Everybody knows about "Colonel Carter of Carrollton," and of F. Hopkinson Smith, the man who presented the colonel to an admiring public.

Mr. Smith is a lecturer, author, reader, painter, engineer and a capital teller of short stories, serious as well as humorous.

Here is a brand new story of his, which, alas, can only be half enjoyed in print, where it lacks his inimitable manner of telling it and that dialect that the type can not exactly catch:

I was in a hotel corridor in Washington speaking once again and I met one of those peculiar looking individuals from Virginia, with typical clean-shaved hat, hair rather long, with a low cut vest, and with a pair of bombs sine shoes. He wasn't a type of a man like my colonel, dear old Colonel Carter, but he happened to fill that exact type that the northern people generally consider a southerner to be.

He was giving an account of his sufferings immediately after the war, and he said to me: "You know, suh, that immediately after the war with our people had gone through a great deal of misfortune. Our property had been wrested from us, and our slaves had been freed, and it was necessary, suh, for some of our people to go to work. I want to tell you, suh, that of course the Yanceys never done any work since they came to America, but my family, suh, is some mo' than 400 years old.

"So when it became necc'ssry for me, suh, to go to work, suh—and when I tell you that my wife had to make over her best and my chil'ren were also barefoot and had very little to eat, owing to some very unguessmanly forcements proceedings which occurred just then, in which I was interested, you see I had just to make up my mind to do somethin—I thought I'd open a livery stable, suh, in which I was interested, you see I had just to make up my mind to do a disgrace, but my chil'ren were barefooted. At that time there'd been a circus pass through our part of the country. The circus man had left two spavined horses up in Judge Barbour's lot, and the bill for their pasture, suh, was $6.75.

"I borrowed Judge Yeerfoot's notes for $100, which, you my indoosments, suh, I sold for enough to pay the pasture bill for the two circus horses. Then I mortgaged the horses, and after feedin them up I got enough to get a harness and a wagon. So by the end of the week I had a very good wagon to seat eight people, and the two horses and harness. I went to Judge Talcott's Black Sam came down to see me and said, 'Major Yancey, I unde'stan' you's going to be a bull down at Barboursville.'

"'That so?'

"'Yes. We want you to take eight of us over to the ball.'

"'What! take you eight niggers over to the ball, you infernal scoundrel?'

"'Major, don't get huffy about it. Eight niggers at fifty cents apiece is fo' dollars.'

"Then I says to myself: 'Yancey, brace up. This is one of the great crises of your life. If you ever going to support your family now is your chance.' I turned to Sam an said, 'Bring on your nukes.' Well, that night, suh, he came down, and I brought four bucks and four wenches. It was a very cold night, suh, a very cold night. I have not seen any such weather in that part of the state for years. I hooked up the team an drove over to Barboursville. The ball was over a grocery store. There was a grocery store below and a ball above, with a kind of balcony out of the upper place, and there was a ladder on the outside leading to the balcony above. After I tied up I got into the room. Perhaps you don't know the effect of a room in which there are seventy-five or eighty niggers, and two playing their fiddles at the end of the room, and a redhot stove in the middle, suh. Of course you don't know the effect of a thing of that kind, but I want to assure you, suh, that the atmosphere was well, oppressive.

"I stood it as long as I could, an then I sashayed between the balcony and the inside of the room, and finally went out on the balcony, catching my breath between times. When I'd been there awhile I says: 'Brace up, Yancey, you're trying to support your family. There's no reason why you should die of pneumonia. Go in an sit down on a bench.'

"I hadn't been there mo'n five minutes when Black Sam came up an said, 'Major Yancey, would you've any objection to step out on the balcony, suh?' 'Why?' 'Because, suh, some of the ladies object to the smell of hoss in your clothes.'"—New York World.

A Mind Reader from Saginaw.

Detroit has a young man who is a fosterer in his social circle. Somehow or other as a result, palmist, mind reader and "fancy business" generally. He is just a little proud of himself all around, but especially of his mind reading. Lately he has been giving some amusing takeoffs on mind reading. Several nights ago he had as a confederate a cheery girl from Saginaw, who accompanied him here and then in his confidence places. On this occasion he had posted her on the mysteries of mind reading. She was to signal secretly to him before a parlor audience blindfolded in due form, and took her place ready for the performance. He held up a lemon in plain view of the audience.

"I have here," he said with much form, "in my hand a lemon. What is it?"

"A lemon," promptly replied the sensitives, and he bowed and threw it aside, to the midst of applause.

"Now," he continued, taking up a piece of tin, "I hold in my hand a piece of tin. Is it hot or cold?"

"Cold," answered the blindfolded girl.

"Thanks;" and he fired it out of sight, while the audience applauded.

Next he took a shoe from the table.

"I have here," he said, "a No. 9 shoe. Can you tell me the size of it?"

"No, sir," responded the girl, and there were more roars and applause.

Then he stepped to one side and returned with a saw and a stick of wood. He put the stick across a chair and began to saw.

"Now," he said to the fair sensitive, "will you tell the audience what I am doing?"

"Sawing a stick of wood," promptly.

The sensitive held her hand to one side and listened intently. The operator was greatly pleased.

"This ladies and gentlemen," he said, "is a most difficult feat."

The subject waited a minute longer, listening.

"Well," said the operator, "can you tell the audience what I am doing?"

"You're singing," announced the subject in a most positive way, "and the operator fell over a chair and broke the back of trying to get away.—Detroit Free Press.

Merit Somtimes.

She was coloured to an altitude of Boston lee and snow,
And what she'd not a smattering of there was no use to know.
She spoke with English accent in her foreign travels gained,
And the hand she wrote was angular by practice hard obtained.
To all that made propriety she was a devotee,
And the shocking things that some girls did were very far from she.
She dearly loved the service of a ritualistic church,
But her sleepy little sister said, "I'll call her off her perch."
So on a Sabbath morning, when the sun was shining bright,
She tripped with dainty leg in hand to find the church, but high!
And in the softened colors of the transept's mellowed mist
She dozed, forgot her prayer book, lost that column "Psalm Whist."

THE BOROUGH COUNCIL.

THE REGULAR FEBRUARY MEETING HELD LAST EVENING.

Spencer's Hall to be Secured for a Council Chamber—Mayor Saunders Favors the Establishment of a Fest House—A Committee Appointed to Look into the Matter—Other Business.

The borough Council met in regular session last evening. Present, Mayor Saunders and Councilmen Hegeman, Hummer, Needham, Neal and Sebring. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

A communication was read from the fire department notifying the Council that Mr. Joseph of Manning avenue had been elected a member of the department, it was received and filed. Another communication, stating that Mr. John M. Bettman had served as a member of Warren Engine Co. and of Alert Hose Company and that he was entitled to exemption papers, was read and ordered filed. The matter was referred to the Fire and Lamps Committee.

A number of residents of that section of the borough situated near the mountain, petitioned Council to place a hose carriage at their disposal and they would form a company.

The following claims were read, referred to the Auditing Committee and later ordered paid:

D. C. Allen	3.50
F. Kellegher	6.25
W. N. Pangborn	50.50
F. Seabold	5.00
T. Crowley	2.00
L. H. Bigelow & Co.	17.00
Cahoone Harness Co.	84.00
T. McCrea	4.00

Tax Collector Spencer's report was read and placed on file.

Mr. Neal, from the special committee appointed to look for a suitable meeting room, reported that the committee had considered the matter and had decided that the most available place was Spencer's hall. He submitted a proposal from Mr. Spencer, in which he offered to rent his hall to the Council for $100 a year, including heat and light. The report was received and filed.

From the committee appointed at the last meeting to raise funds for the fire department, Mr. Hegeman reported that the committee had come to the conclusion that the best way to procure the money would be for the borough to issue bonds, so as not to increase the taxes. It was received and filed.

Mayor Saunders said that the committee to meet with the Board of Health, in regard to sewerage, had held a meeting in Dr. Carman's office and had had a long and careful conference with the Plainfield authorities. "We told them," he said, "that we had prevented the emptying of sewerage in Green brook from the borough. After a discussion the city authorities agreed to grant no further permits allowing connections to be made with the brook. They also decided to build a flush tank, which will dilute the sewerage as it enters the brook, and will keep it from accumulating at the mouth of the sewer.

"In the matter of establishing a sewerage system we are waiting to hear what plan the city has to propose. Another matter of vital importance to both city and borough was discussed, and that is the establishing of a pest house. At present there is no place available for that purpose if a contagious disease should break out. I think the best plan for the borough would be to pay a pro*portion of the cost of a pest house in* conjunction with the city and have our patients sent there."

Mr. Sebring reported that an expert accountant had been employed to look over the borough accounts, and that a written report would be presented at the next meeting of Council.

Mr. Hegeman, on behalf of Rock road had complained to him about the electric light near his home. It had not been lighted for four months. The Fire, Water and Lamps Committee was instructed to attend to the matter.

Mr. Hegeman moved that when Council adjourn it be to meet on the 17th inst. Carried.

The ordinance in relation to the changing of the election districts was read for the third time and adopted.

The Mayor and clerk were authorized and directed to draw a warrant for $400 to pay a note falling due Saturday, Feb. 18th. The same to be drawn from the borough account.

The request of Mr. John Taylor Johnson and others for the return of their petition in regard to the macadamizing of Farragut road, was refused.

As Mr. John Bodine was unable to serve on the election board, on account of his being a member of the township board, Mr. Levi Kline was appointed in his stead.

The mayor and clerk were authorized to draw warrants for notes of $1,600 and $1,800 falling due Feb. 18, to be drawn from the road fund and light account, respectively.

It was resolved that the mayor and clerk sign a lease for Spencer's hall, for one year, beginning March 1st. After that date the hall will be known as the Council Chamber.

Mr. Needham offered a resolution that the mayor appoint a committee of two to confer with the Board of Health in regard to a pest house. It was adopted and Messrs. Needham and Hummer were appointed as the committee.

Council then adjourned.

—Next Monday night the last game of the series between the Dunellen and Sassenbrund bowling teams will be rolled on the Dunellen alleys.

The entertainment at the Boys' Club Monday evening, Feb. 6, will consist of music, recitations, etc. Among those who will assist are Miss C. S. Lewis and Messrs. Walter Hudson and J. T. Vegiard.

Bishop Wigger has removed Father Cushing as assistant to Father Smythe, rector of St. Mary's church. Recently he was offered the position of Coadjutor Bishop of Colorado, but declined the honor.

The fourth sermon of the series to "The Young Men and Women of To-morrow" will be delivered by the Rev. J. W. Richardson at the Park Avenue Baptist Church to-morrow evening. His theme will be "A Skillful Commander."

A very pleasant party was held at the home of Miss Maud Benton, at Dunellen, last evening. There were guests present from Plainfield, Bound Brook and Dunellen. The evening was spent in dancing. The music was furnished by Prof. Andrew G. Carpenter of this city.

Isaac B. Stryker, who has resided here a number of years, expects to move either to Plainfield or Elizabeth soon. He has sold his house on Second street to Charles Schwed. Mr. Stryker is employed as a carpenter on the Central Railroad.—Somerset Democrat.

Henry Noe, aged eighty years, died this morning at the home of his sister, Mrs. Payne, at Mount Pleasant. He was well-known around this vicinity as an old miner. He was always pleading poverty and his clothes were always ragged, while he owned property valued at thousands of dollars.

The State Publishers' Union, of which Mr. T. W. Morrison, of this city, is President, is to hold its third annual meeting Monday, at the State Street House, Trenton. The organization numbers 126 New Jersey newspaper publishers. Mr. Morrison has been three times unanimously elected its President.

Last evening a very pleasant birthday party was given to Miss Ida May Tallamy at her home, 72 West Sixth street, on the occasion of the tenth anniversary of her birth. Twenty-eight of her little friends attended and had a good time from five to nine o'clock. At eight o'clock the grand march was started, led by Miss Reba Kline and Master Willie Westphal. Among the little ones present were: Misses Florence White, Ethel Crane, Florence Clarkson, Ida and Bonny Thompson, Ada Westphal Louise Curtis, Mabel Banner, Cora Harris, Miss May Wallingder, Miss Addie Hustelon, Miss Vesy Rushton, Miss Dora Ulrich, Miss Ella Banner and many others. They were then seated at a bountiful repast after which they played games. Numerous and handsome gifts were bestowed on the young hostess. Among them was a beautiful upright piano, the gift of her mother. They all left well pleased with their evening's enjoyment, wishing Miss Ida many returns of the day.

Take Your Bibles With You.

Elder Hand invites all to take their bibles with them to the First Church of Christ to-morrow evening, also pencil and paper, to hear his talk on "What Constitutes Man."

Elder Hand has been requested to speak for a few Sunday evenings on some very interesting subjects, including the above, to be followed with "Is Man Immortal?" "Where Do Dead Folks go, or the Unconscious State of the Dead." "Annihilation; or, Everlasting Punishment," and "The Saint's Inheritance."

These subjects are full of interest to the bible student and it is hoped all will be profited by them.

Could Not Fool Him.

A tramp went the rounds of the borough yesterday soliciting alms. He had one of his knees bandaged, which he claimed was injured. The joint, he said, was stiff, and he limped along as though hardly able to move.

He entered a store on Somerset street, told a threadbare story and begged for money. The proprietor had evidently seen him before, and, after refusing to help him told him to get out or he would be thrown out, at the same time squaring off, a la Corbett. The tramp did not wait for a second bidding, but skipped. He forgot to limp, in his hurry and when last seen was running along Pearl street.

AN EXPLOSION AT BOUND BROOK.

Two Men Injured as a Result of Lighting a Match near Gasoline.

An explosion occurred at the Standard Gas-fixture Works at Bound Brook yesterday afternoon by which two employes were badly burned. George Cook and Henry Ashford went to the gasoline house about four o'clock to see what was the matter with the tanks, which were out of order. Cook lighted a match as he stepped inside. An explosion followed, throwing both men down and setting fire to the building. The explosion startled the other employes, and they rushed to the rescue.

Cook and Ashford were found to be badly injured. They may recover.

Would Make a Fine Court Room.

One thing the city of Plainfield is sorely in need of is a large court room. One where there would be room enough to properly conduct city court cases. The small, dingy room at the lockup has always been used for that purpose, but it is entirely inadequate to meet the demands of city court's increasing business. There are three rooms in the rear of City Judge Coddington's office that would make a fine court room. Such a court room, by the removal of two partitions. The place would be an excellent location, as it would be in close proximity to the judge's office, where his books would be accessible at any time. It is understood that the owners of the building, Messrs. Hetfield and Lindabury, are favorable to the proposition.

Gone to Get the Money.

Thursday night William Godown was arrested on West Front street for using profane and indecent language to Fred Koechli. He was arraigned before Judge Coddington yesterday, found guilty and sentenced to pay a fine of $5 dollars or spend ten days in the county jail. As he didn't have the money he was allowed to go borrow it, on his promising to return. He has failed to put in an appearance yet.

Favor a Fest House.

The Board of Health has for some time been agitating the advisability of procuring a building, on the outskirts of the city, suitable for a pest house. No doubt the matter will be brought up at Monday night's meeting of Common Council, as the Board's annual report will then be presented, which, it is probable, will contain recommendations regarding the matter.

A Series of Holes.

The roadbed of Somerset street, between Front street and the bridge, is a series of holes sufficient to demolish the springs of any wagon. Two accidents were caused by them this morning. A milkman's wagon was damaged by the breaking of a spring and another's horse stepped in one and fell down.

LATEST NEWS BY WIRE.

Judge Scudder Dead.

TRENTON, Feb. 4. (Special.)—Judge W. Scudder expired at his home, 108 Greenwood avenue, about 11 o'clock last night, from an attack of apoplexy.

Judge Scudder was a thorough scholar and a great lover of books. He was as familiar with the works of the best authors as he was with the every day routine of court matters.

He was appointed in 1889 by Governor Randolph one of the Justices of the Supreme Court. He was re-appointed by Gov. Beddle in 1878, again in 1883 by Governor Ludlow, and again in 1890 by Governor Abbett. His term would have expired March 28, 1897.

Three Engines to Haul Two Cars.

HOUGHTON, Mich., Feb. 4. (Special.)—Terrible blizzards raged for the past two days, with the mercury 30 to 40 below. Snow drifts are as high as the tops of the passenger coaches. Mineral Range and Hancock and Calumet passenger trains, consisting of only one coach and a baggage car, takes two or three powerful engines to haul them. The mines are shut down for lack of fuel and the stamp mills for lack of rock. Trainmen are having their faces badly frozen. It is more than a quarter of a century since there were so many continuous blizzards and such low temperature.

Ran Down Six Men.

SYRACUSE, Feb. 4, (Special.)—Near the State Pumphouse, at the foot of Emerson avenue, a Central-Hudson passenger train, west-bound, ran down six men at 7.40 o'clock this morning. Three were killed outright and three injured. One died at the hospital, another is dying and the third is seriously hurt.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The longer it is tried the smoother the zone system of railway fares in Hungary works, the more money it brings in, and the better everybody likes it.

The ominous fact is to be considered that, in spite of the severity of the winter in Europe, almost unprecedented, the cholera still lurks in Germany. Since it first obtained foothold in August, 1892, it has never let up entirely for a single day.

Cincinnati is not going to be left in the hog business. A great stock company with a capital of $1,250,000 will build near the city a gigantic abattoir as fine as that of Paris. The slaughtering and packing industry there carried on will give employment to 1,000 men.

An interesting survival of the ideas of 100 years ago will be witnessed Feb. 8 in the halls of congress at Washington. The house and the senate meet in joint session at 1 o'clock on the second Wednesday in February. In presence of the two houses the president of the senate opens the seal of the electoral votes of the states and declares in a loud voice, what everybody has already known for three months, that Grover Cleveland and Adlai E. Stevenson are chosen respectively president and vice president of the United States. Then they adjourn and feel better. But if there is dispute about the credentials of the electors from any of the states, then the two houses must separate and talk the matter over, each to itself, and talk and report till an agreement is reached.

Blaine.

All his countrymen know Blaine, the parliamentary leader; Blaine, the greatest brained Republican statesman of his time, the farseeing, intensely patriotic secretary of state. They know, too, that with all his force he urged on this nation for its own interest, as he conceived, the two doctrines of statecraft with which his name will be historically associated—pan-Americanism and reciprocity.

But those who never heard him speak do not know perhaps of his power as an orator. Those who do know something of it may recall at this sad time the peroration of his eulogy on President Garfield, delivered at the Garfield memorial services in the hall of the house of representatives at Washington, Feb. 27, 1882.

The address occupied an hour and a half in delivery, and it took rank as one of the most appropriate and eloquent eulogies ever uttered. Its closing words, beautiful and thrilling, seem almost as if Blaine looked into the future with prophetic eye and read his own death:

> Through days of deadly languor, through weeks of agony that was not less agony because silently borne, with clear sight and calm courage, he looked into his open grave. What nights and days of pain; his anguished eyes whose like may tell—what brilliant, broken plans; what baffled, high ambitions; what wandering of strong, warm, manhood's friendship; what bitter rending of sweet household ties!
> * * * Let us think that his dying eyes read a mystic meaning which only the rapt and parting soul may know. Let us believe that in the silence of the receding world he heard the great waves breaking on a farther shore and felt already upon his wasted brow the breath of the eternal morning!

Annexation of Canada.

The New York Sun calls renewed attention to the opportunity which presents itself for "uniting the Anglo-Saxon race upon this continent and doubling our territory." There are thousands of annexationists in Canada, and the number is increasing. There are also thousands of annexationists on this side the line. The idea of the proper course of statesmanship to be pursued on our side is to screw up Canada tight by withdrawing from her as far as possible the privileges of trade and transportation she now enjoys with this country. The pinch of hard times will then be the inevitable logic which will convert those Canadians who still have a lingering sentiment of attachment to Great Britain. This pinch is already felt in the Dominion to a considerable extent.

The Sun, the especial organ of the annexationists, says:

> It is not the business of American citizens to ponder permanent the schism of the Anglo-Saxon race upon this hemisphere. It is not their business to consider and fathom a British colony in order that the bond of connection with the British crown may be perpetuated. But it seems to us that a careful study of precisely the vigorous efforts now being made by intelligent Canadians to find in the American Union the true refuge from the rule which confronts them.

The same article calls attention to the annexation movement of 1854, which was so powerful that the London Times began to prepare the British mind for the loss of the North American provinces. But at that time the south was dominant in congress and ruled the country. Southern statesmen took alarm, fearing that if Canada were annexed with us the number of free states would be so increased that the dominion of the south would be overthrown. So they killed the movement, which has now started again, stronger than ever. Another extract from The Sun's editorial says:

> We ourselves have faith that Mr. Cleveland and his advisers will recognize the splendid fruit derivable from the present situation in the Canadian Dominion—a fruit only comparable with the Louisiana purchase, which made the name of Jefferson illustrious. The administration that shall be associated with the annexation of British North America is destined to live forever and gloriously in the history of the world.
> The existing state of affairs in Canada is far more favorable to international union than was the situation in 1854.

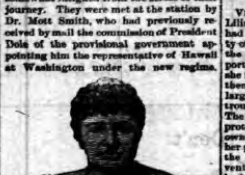
THE HAWAIIANS ARRIVE.

Dr. Smith Is Continued as Envoy by the Revolutionists.

"WE ARE ENLISTED FOR THE WAR."

The Government of the District of Columbia Suits the Islanders—A Lottery Bill and the Importation of Opium Aided In the Queen's Overthrow.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—The commissioners of the provisional government of Hawaii, who are charged with the duty of presenting to the government of the United States the proposition of annexing the islands to this country, reached Washington last night. They made the trip across the continent in fairly good time and arrived somewhat fatigued from the stress of their journey. They were met at the station by Dr. Mott Smith, who had previously received by mail the commission of President Dole of the provisional government appointing him the representative of Hawaii at Washington under the new regime.



QUEEN LILIUOKALANI.

The gentlemen were driven at once to their hotel, where they spent the entire evening. The hour of their arrival was too late in the day for them to meet any of the officials of this government.

The commissioners received a number of representatives of the press at their rooms and talked freely and frankly of their errand. They brought with them copies of the Hawaiian papers of Wednesday, Jan. 18, which contained full accounts of the proceedings in connection with the revolution which was accomplished on the previous day, the 17th, and the particulars of which have already been made public through interviews given by the gentlemen at San Francisco and at various points en route to Washington.

The Committee Are Solid Men.

The personnel of the committee is as follows:

Lorrin A. Thurston, chairman, was premier of the first revolutionary cabinet of Hawaii in 1887 and is the leading lawyer in Honolulu. He was born in Hawaii, but parents being American missionaries. He was connected with the government in some capacity for years.

William C. Wilder is the head of the Wilder Steamship company, which does transportation business among the islands. He has not held a political position until recently, when he became a member of the legislature.

William R. Castle is a lawyer largely interested in real estate in the islands and one of the principal owners of the Oahu railroad, which runs down to Pearl River harbor. He is a native.

Lorrin Andrews is a sugar planter. He is an Englishman. He has lived in Hawaii about 15 years.

Charles L. Carter is the son of the former Hawaiian minister to Washington, H. A. P. Carter. He is a lawyer, was born on the islands and is 29 years old.

William A. Kinney is now a lawyer in Salt Lake City, but a former resident of the Sandwich islands and one of the leading participants in the revolution of 1887. He met the members of the committee at Ogden for the purpose of renewing old acquaintance, but was induced to accompany the party to Washington in an unofficial capacity as legal adviser.

Wish to Avoid the Ballot.

Mr. Castle said to a reporter that the desire of the commission was to secure annexation with the United States. "The proposal that we have to make," he said, "is practically that set forth in the proclamation of the provisional government issued on Jan. 17 in the following language:

> "We, citizens and residents of the Hawaiian islands, organized and acting for the public safety and the common good, hereby proclaim a provisional government for the control and management of public affairs, and the protection of the public peace is hereby established, to exist until terms of union with the United States of America have been negotiated and agreed upon."

"The terms upon which the annexation shall be made," continued Mr. Castle, "we are perfectly willing to leave to the United States government to determine. There is one condition that we very much desire shall be contained in any agreement that may be determined upon, and that is that the right of suffrage shall be restricted. We want no universal suffrage on the islands. If to accomplish this it is necessary to lose our own right to vote, we are perfectly willing to abandon that.

"If we might be allowed to suggest the form of government, the District of Columbia seems to afford the most desirable one for the Sandwich islands. We don't want a territorial government in which there shall be a legislature elected by the votes of all the people.

Revolution Deferred From 1887.

"At the time of the revolution in 1887, in which all of the gentlemen who are now with us took an active part, this matter of annexation was discussed. Had it not been for the sentiment of affection with which we natives of the islands regarded the aborigines, it would have been brought to a focus at that time. But we are satisfied now, however, that it is impossible for the property interests of the islands to depend in any way upon the natives for a stable government, and we feel that we must seek this at the hands of a greater power."

Speaking of the causes that led to the revolution, Mr. Castle said that there was, in his opinion, a conspiracy to which the queen was a party, and which included the passage of the bill to charter a lottery and providing for the importation of opium. By the former an excessive franchise for 25 years was given to a corporation which was doubtless the Louisiana lottery company.

"Of course," Mr. Castle said, "a lottery could not live upon Hawaiian support alone. It would have to feed upon the United States, and the queen was given to understand that the passage of such a law would be regarded by the United States as a distinctly unfriendly act, but that would be of no difference whatever. There is at present a very strong sentiment against the importation of opium into the islands, which is the preservation of the native population. But the Hawaiians pass of both these measures. We are ruined for the war. We shall remain here until our object is accomplished or our application is rejected."

The Official Paper Week.

By the same mail that brought his appointment from President Dole, Dr. Smith received copies of the Honolulu papers of Jan. 18. The organ of the ministry of the queen was rather inclined to support the new condition of affairs. This fact, together with the statements of the commissioners to Dr. Smith, led that gentleman to express the belief that the restoration of the native dynasty to control of affairs in Hawaii was an impossibility in any circumstances.

Dr. Smith was asked if he anticipated any delay in the progress of the negotiations between the officials of this government and the Hawaiian commissioners. He replied that he did not.

The Story of the Queen's Relative.

VIENNA, Feb. 4.—A relative of Queen Liliuokalani says that the Hawaiian nation had frequently protested against the cruelty of the Americans sugar planters toward the natives. She also objected to the importation of Chinese, principally because she feared they would bring leprosy with them. The fact that she was the owner of large sugar plantations was also a cause of trouble between her and the Americans. The object of the new constitution was to protect the lower classes from foreign land owners, the queen had said, and to speed her plan she had secretly consulted about the revolution. The Americans had prevented the marriage of the Princess Kaiulani to a distant relative of the English royal family, because they feared an increase of British influence, and had tried to make a match between the princess and an American. The relative of the queen describes her as a woman of fine mind, an accomplished pianist and a talented composer.

BATTELLI'S AMERICAN SENTIMENT.

Foreigners Are to Assimilate With the English Speaking Churches.

ROXBURY, N. Y., Feb. 4.—In Mgr. Satolli's letter to the Rev. Thomas Killeen he laid down for the guidance of bishops a general principle that whenever a congregation should be established with the use of a foreign tongue and a pastor speaking that tongue, this arrangement should be considered only temporary, and that as quickly as possible the foreign tongue should be discontinued, and what in the country is considered as the normal tongue should be adopted. The letter also stated that Catholics in this country speaking a foreign tongue are expected to assimilate as quickly as is consistent with the English speaking congregations as they are generally constituted throughout this country.

Bishop and Pastor Hear the Decision.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—The final determination arrived at by Archbishop Satolli in the much discussed controversy between Father Killeen and Bishop Wigger of Newark, N. J., is authentically made known in the following announcement, which, it will be perceived, is adverse to the position taken by Bishop Wigger: "The Right Rev. Bishop Wigger of Newark, and the pastor of St. Mary's church at Bergen Point, N. J., Father Killeen, came this day to Washington on citation by the most reverend apostolic delegate, and in their presence he rendered the following decision: A new parish is formed of the two churches—St. Thomas' and St. Henry's—the Church of St. Thomas being the principal and the Church of St. Henry the subordinate. The Church of St. Thomas shall be restored and reopened, and on Sundays and holidays the second and principal mass shall be celebrated in St. Thomas'. All sermons and instructions, not only in St. Thomas' but also in St. Henry's church, shall be given in the English language, there being but few Germans in St. Henry's church, and even those few understanding English."

Connecticut River Railroad Leased.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Feb. 4.—The Connecticut River railroad was this noon leased by the Boston and Maine for 99 years, and President McLeod has already taken possession. He has appointed George F. Evans as general manager. Mr. Evans has been superintendent of the Lowell division for some time. The lease is secured by the payment of a 10 per cent dividend in cash on the River road stock and all fixed charges. The Connecticut River directors this noon declared a scrip dividend of 20 per cent, bearing 6 per cent interest and payable at the end of 10 years in cash or bonds at the option of the company.

TROY, N. Y., Feb. 4.—Peter J. Winters was held for the grand jury, charged with ill treating his 3-year-old daughter. The case is hereby established, to exist until terms of union with the United States of America have been negotiated and agreed upon."

"The terms upon which the annexation shall be made," continued Mr. Castle, "we are perfectly willing to leave to the United States government to determine. There is one condition that we very much desire shall be contained in any agreement that may be determined upon, and that is that the right of suffrage shall be restricted. MR. HILL GIVES NOTICE.

He Will Anticipate Mr. Cleveland's Wishes on Silver.

THE OPPOSITION TO ANTIOPTION.

Senator Sherman Reiterates His Views on the Sherman Bill—Mr. Cleveland's Lieutenants May Be Called to the Capital. Various Affairs of Congress.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—The question of the repeal of the Sherman act, or at least of the suspension of the silver bullion purchase provision of it, was unexpectedly precipitated on the senate today by Mr. Teller (Rep., Colo.).

He made the presentation of some petitions on the subject the occasion for launching into a discussion of the whole question and expressed his confident assurance that the repeal of the Sherman act was not among the possibilities of the present session.

Mr. Hill (Dem., N. Y.) said that in his judgment the best way to test the sense of the senate was by a direct motion, and he therefore gave notice that on Monday next, during the morning hour, he should move to take up the bill.

Senator Hill's Reasons.

Senator Hill's notice that he intended to call up the silver repeal bill was given because of a belief on his part that there is a lack of real earnestness among the Republican managers in the senate in pressing the repeal bill to a vote. He waited until this time before making a movement in deference to that courtesy of senatorial courtesy which appears to require a motion to take up a bill to be made by a member of the committee from which it was reported. But because of the emergencies of the case and also from the further reason that he originated the silver repeal bill, having introduced the measure, or at least the bill upon which it was based, at the beginning of the present session, Senator Hill feels that he is justified in taking the action of which he has given notice. He also expresses the opinion that his motion will prevail and the bill will be taken up.

Mr. Sherman's Views on Repeal.

Mr. Sherman (Rep., O.) spoke of having reported from the committee on finance the bill to suspend the purchase of silver bullion, and said he had often seen the question discussed in the newspapers why he had not moved to take it up. He had said to senators over and [illegible] that he did not consider it his [illegible] to take it up until he was ready or [illegible] majority of senators would be here and pass it. And he said now that whether he was sure that there was such a majority in favor of it he was ready to move to take it up, as it was his duty to do. He is equally the right of any other senator to make that motion, and it would not be a disparagement to himself or the committee on finance.

Antiadvertisers Will Call Help.

A report has been in circulation at the Capitol to the effect that the anti-silver men have become so desperate in their attempt to secure the repeal of the Sherman act that they have appealed to the close friends of Grover Cleveland to come to Washington and help them in their fight. It is stated that Messrs. Dickinson, Whitney and Lamont are expected to come here early next week and labor to bring about an agreement by which the silver question may be disposed of before March 4.

Anticption Gains a Point.

The friends of the antioption bill obtained a victory in the house. Although a number of democrats spoke against the bill and ruled that the house could not at this time concur in the senate amendments and thus throw the bill into conference, when a report would be presented to the house, notwithstanding the determined fight of the members of the ways and means committee and other opponents of the bill, referred it to the committee on agriculture, which is favorable to its passage. And it did so by a large majority—not quite two-thirds, but approximating to it so closely that it is still a debatable question whether if a two-thirds vote is required, it could not be obtained. The deficiency appropriation bill was passed.

A Naval Officer's Disloyalty.

In directing Paymaster J. C. Sullivan to consider himself on furlough, the navy department has undertaken to discipline this officer for indiscreet expressions of opinion concerning the Behring sea controversy.

Paymaster Sullivan was attached to the Mohican during her service in Behring sea, and he was reported in the newspapers as saying that Great Britain was right in her allegation that on the evening of Jan. 15, while the child was crying, Winters placed the child on a redhot stove, severely burning the little girl's limbs, and that he did not procure medical attendance until eight days afterward.

New Jersey Militiamen Dishonored.

TRENTON, Feb. 4.—Colonel Campbell of the First regiment, New Jersey national guard, has issued an order dishonorably discharging 23 members of Company B, Fifth regiment, who refused to obey the order consolidating the two regiments and failed to parade when the regiment was ordered to Paterson.

A Bank Caves In.

MOUNT VERNON, N. Y., Feb. 4.—While a gang of men employed by Contractor Kelley, the contractors for the improvements on the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad at this place, was excavating through the cut at Fulton avenue the bank of the excavation gave way and buried five Italians.

The Little Rock Bank Failure.

LITTLE ROCK, Feb. 4.—In the First National bank the total amount of unsecured deposits already found is $286,000. With the amount of money Mr. Affils succeeded in getting from the bank direct, the total amounts to considerably over $700,000.

Lakewood Express Agent Gone.

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—The United States Express company announces that its agent at Lakewood, N. J., William Oscar DeHart, has been missing since Jan. 30. His books have been examined, and a shortage of $1,500 has been found.

Egyptian Affairs Serious.

LONDON, Feb. 4.—Lord Cromer, the British minister to Egypt, says that the condition of affairs in Egypt may compel the landing of all the British troops who have been ordered to that country.

Dr. Graves to Be Tried Again.

DENVER, Feb. 4.—The supreme court issued an order to Dr. Dr. Graves case calling for a new trial.

Trial of Jack Clifford For Murder During the Riots.

A DECISION FOR THE PINKERTONS.

The Convicted Grand Master Workman Hugh Dempsey—Judge Stowe Holds the Lawyers Down to His Decision That the Pinkertons Were Lawfully Employed.

PITTSBURG, Feb. 4.—The case of Jack Clifford, who is charged with murder in the Homestead riot of July 6, is on trial. Captain Cooper said he saw Clifford on the shore with a revolver in his hand; that Clifford aided in caring for the wounded Pinkerton men and to all appearances was the leader of the mob on the shore. It was by Clifford's order that others joined him on the barges and gave the Pinkerton men assurances of protection when the terms of surrender were determined.

Attorney Erwin asked to submit an offer as to the line of policy in cross examination with regard to Pinkertonism.

The Pinkertons Were Justified.

The judge said: "These men were going to Homestead on a lawful errand and had a right to go. Even if the Pinkertons had been going there to take that mill by force they were justified in doing so, and no one has a right to dispute it in this court, and you may be well understand that now. Such ideas as you attempt to advance never have been the law, are not the law, and I hope never will be the law. It is anarchistic to advance such sentiments, and I will allow no one to advance such ideas here."

HUGH DEMPSEY.

Strikers Fired First.

Captain Rodgers, who was in charge of the steamer Little Bill, related the story of the trip. During the cross examination the court again overruled the questions asked by Mr. Brennan, and an objection was filed. Witness said that Captain Hines and others on the barges had revolvers in their hands. Then the firing became general on both sides, lasting 15 minutes. After the battle a dozen wounded men were taken from the barges to Port Perry.

Pinkerton Captain W. H. Burt graphically described the battle at Homestead, and declared that the men on the barges did no firing until after 15 shots had come from the crowd on shore.

After this the detectives sent two volleys of shot at those on the mill property, scattering them right and left. The witness then described the wounding of Connors. He saw Clifford just before he started to run out the gangplank. The defendant came in through a break in the fence. Clifford had a pistol in his pocket.

Several other witnesses reviewed the scenes of the riot and identified Clifford as a participant.

CHICAGO AND INAUGURATION RATES

The Trunk Line Agents Establish High Tariff For the Events of 1893.

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—At a meeting of the executive committee of the Trunk Line association it was agreed to sell tickets to and from the World's fair at Chicago at a 20 per cent reduction from present rates, with one-stop over in each direction. It was also agreed to sell unlimited tickets at the fares now charged for limited tickets. This arrangement will take effect April 15 and continue until Oct. 30.

Rates to Mr. Cleveland's inauguration at Washington will be made on a basis of 3 cents a mile each way.

Legislation Against Crinolines.

MINNEAPOLIS, Feb. 4.—George M. Becker, Democratic member, caused a sensation in the legislature by introducing a bill as follows, "It shall be unlawful for any person to manufacture or sell, or to offer for sale or use, or to permit the manufacture, sale or use of any hoopskirt or hoopskirts or anything like thereunto within the limits of Minnesota."

Murderer McDowell Confesses.

BENNINGTON, Vt., Feb. 4.—Officers here have been notified by authorities in Norwalk, Conn., of the arrest and confession in that place of Henry McDowell, who killed John Crowley at Glastonbury, near here, in April, 1890. One night he coolly walked into town and told what he had done. He as coolly walked away and has not been seen since.

To Abolish Grade Crossings at the Hub.

BOSTON, Feb. 4.—The commission appointed to prepare a plan for the abolition of grade crossings on the Old Colony railroad propose doing away with more than a dozen grade crossings and provide for an elevated structure from Chester Park to Forest Hills. The cost will be about $2,000,000. Ten city and suburban streets will go under the railroad.

And Senator Gray Declines.

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—The Herald's Washington correspondent says Senator George Gray of Delaware has declined the secretaryship of state under President Cleveland. This offer was made to him through Don M. Dickinson, and Mr. Gray's reply was that he had definitely decided not to leave the senate.

Fancy Skaters' Carnival.

THE ZANTE EARTHQUAKE.

Terrible Experiences of the Inhabitants of the Mediterranean Island.

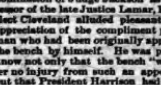
ATHENS, Feb. 4.—It is an undisputed fact that the earthquakes that have occurred during the past two or three days at Zante have been the worst that have done damage on that island in modern times, and no one can tell when the disturbances will cease. The shocks experienced did enormous damage. In fact, the whole island was devastated. To add to the terror of the inhabitants a most terrific thunderstorm paralled at the time of the shocks. The rain fell in torrents and was accompanied by large hailstones. The blinding flashes of lightning, the roaring thunder and the rumbling beneath the surface of the swaying earth caused many persons to believe that the end of all things had come. The people were panic stricken, and so great was the fear inspired that many persons entirely lost their reason and are now hopelessly crazy. A most unfortunate feature of the situation is the fact that the last shocks destroyed the bread ovens in the city of Zante, rendering it impossible for the greater portion of the inhabitants to procure the first necessary article of food. The minister of the interior has arrived at Zante and will do everything in his power to relieve the distress. King George will start for Zante on Sunday. A British warship and three vessels belonging to the Greek navy arrived at the island with supplies of tents, provisions and medicines.

The President-elect Praises Harrison.

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—In reference to the nomination of Judge Jackson as the successor of the late Justice Lamar, President-elect Cleveland alluded pleasantly to his appreciation of the compliment paid to a man who had been specially appointed to the bench by himself. He was pleased to know not only that the bench "would suffer no injury from such an appointment, but that President Harrison had had such a high regard for our highest court."

New Jersey Repeaters.

JERSEY CITY, Feb. 4.—The argument in the Riddle-Hoffman contested senatorial election case from Atlantic county was continued before the senate committee. The evidence went to show that some men had voted in Philadelphia and Camden and then went to Atlantic City and voted there. The hearing will be continued at Trenton on Tuesday.



STYLES IN LINCERIE.

Some Attractions of a Recent Fashionable Trousseau.

Underclothing as now made is in truth delightful, and fashion spreads her wings over it all. On the newest nightgowns, for instance, two of which we illustrate, the sleeves are made of a different material from the gown itself; large balloony sleeves they are too. One especially pretty example has a drawn front and large sleeves made of an embroidered muslin threaded with ribbons. Another scarcely less pretty has a turned down collar plaited into wide revers in front and trimmed with rows of insertion and valenciennes lace; this is trimmed with deep frills of lace, bordered with lines of infinitesimal tucks.

FASHIONABLE NIGHTGOWNS.

The fashionable wedding trousseau of today is fascinating enough to induce any woman to resign to the advantages of matrimony. In one lately completed most of the undergarments were made in the combination form. Some had the tops trimmed with broad valenciennes insertion applqued with a leaf design in embroidery; others crossed in a V shape, trimmed with muslin embroidered in a crescent design elaborately tucked, edged with the beading and threaded with ribbon. Some simple styles were carried out no less effectively, with even frills daintily embroidered at the edges with tiny sprays and wreaths.

There were some very attractive silk nightgowns with deep capes of lace over the shoulders, and these were here cases of all descriptions fastening down the fronts and down the sides and made of the very finest of embroidery and valenciennes lace, with broad yoke pieces and sleeves entirely made of embroidery, and others again were striped with insertion and threaded with ribbons.

AN ORDINANCE.

Changing the limits of the election districts of the Borough and repealing the ordinance entitled "An Ordinance dividing the Borough of North Plainfield into two election districts" approved September 4, 1891.

The Board of Council of the Borough of North Plainfield do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. The Borough of North Plainfield is divided into two election districts, to be known hereafter as the First Election District of the Borough of North Plainfield and the Second Election District of the Borough of North Plainfield, respectively.

SECTION 2. The First Election District shall include all the territory and inhabitants which is contained in that portion of the Borough situate on the southwesterly side of the centre line of Somerset street.

SECTION 3. The Second Election District shall include all the territory and inhabitants thereof contained in that portion of the Borough situate on the northeasterly side of the centre line of Somerset street.

ORDINANCE

To Remove Snow From Sidewalks.

An ordinance to provide for the removal of snow and ice upon sidewalks and gutters of the Borough of North Plainfield.

The Mayor and Council of the Borough of North Plainfield do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. That the owner or owners of the property in front of which snow, sleet or ice falls or accumulates, shall within five hours after such snow and ice has fallen or accumulated, remove or cause to be removed all snow and ice from the sidewalks and gutters along the streets in said borough.

SECTION 2. That the street commissioner of said Borough shall cause snow or sleet to be removed all snow and ice from any sidewalks and gutters along the streets of said borough, where the owner or owners of land in front of the same fails to remove the snow and ice from such sidewalks and gutters after such snow or ice has fallen or accumulated, and the cost and expense paid and incurred by the street Commissioner shall be added to the tax or taxes on the lot or parcels of land in front of which such sidewalks and gutters are, from which such snow and sleet shall have been removed, as part of the same as a first and paramount lien.

SECTION 3. That this ordinance shall take effect on the 20th day of October, 1893.

Approved. WM. L. SAUNDERS, Mayor.

THE SALAMANDER.

Also Known as a Lizard and Formerly Credited with Strange Powers.

In the mythology of the Middle Ages salamanders were beings possessing the shape of a man, whose element was the fire, or who, at least, could live in that element. The same curious belief of ability to live in fire and to resist or even extinguish flame has been attached to a variety of batrachian animals—the salamanders, also known as lizards. Professor H. L. Osborn had the following to say recently in Science concerning an interesting form of salamander which he had been observing:

The markings of this salamander (Amblystoma tigrinum) are vivid yellow spots upon a ground of brown black upon the back, giving place to faint bluish ground and lighter color on the ventral surface. In general they are irregular, elongate figures of various sizes from very small, rounded ones up to those whose length may be equal to half an inch.

AN INTERESTING VARIETY OF SALAMANDER.

The patterns of the two sides are not "mated;" they are entirely independent. Not only is there a distinct line which separates them, and in the middle a black line often cuts directly through the spots, so that while they meet they do not match. This last named condition is very noticeable in the tail, as shown in the accompanying figure. The markings of birds, etc., blend across the middle line; in, too, the blotches of snakes, frogs and other familiar cases, and I have never seen an animal in which the independence of the colored markings is so divided is as pronounced as it is in this form.

The movements and locomotion of the salamander are very interesting to observe. They suggest an animal which is speeding from the use of the backbone and its curvatures to the use of limbs. The locomotive movements are of two classes. The first are those performed under ordinary circumstances; the second those performed to escape from a pursuer. The former are made by means of a combined use of the backbone, which is thrown into gentle curvatures, and the legs, which are the chief instruments in the act.

The limbs are used in strict alternation, the right front leg and the left hind leg going forward together and then backward together. The creature in water, when disturbed, generally makes a disorderly scramble with the limbs, which has but little result, or it swims swiftly with a flabby simulation of the body, including the large postal areal region or tail. It is a case of the tendency to fall back on the ancestral mode of action under the influence of strong excitement.

The death of the salamander is accompanied by a loss of powers of movement, which is first manifest in the last acquired of the powers—i. e., in the limbs—and finally in the vertebral muscles.

Paper Pulleys.

Paper pulleys have been invented by a Frenchman, M. Burot. The center or nave is made of cast iron, with iron spokes supporting a stay on which the paper rim rests. This stay maintains the rim during the process of manufacture and gives it a greater solidity afterward. The paper, which is of a special quality, is dried, rolled and compressed on the stay in one operation. The rim has been to be dried and then steeped in a mixture of linseed oil and resin. These pulleys are much lighter than those made of iron and are less expensive.

Aluminium Silver.

An alloy prepared from one part silver and three or four parts aluminium is highly recommended by The Horological Review for articles in which lightness is desired—as instruments used by ship captains, cobaists, scientists, quadrants, etc. The alloy is one-third or one-fourth as heavy as silver or brass, and can be easily turned or filed, which is not the case with pure aluminium, which is too soft and clings to the file.

The Working of a Diving Bell Illustrated.

If we plunge an inverted tumbler into water we observe that the level of the water in the glass is much below that of the water outside. This well known fact enables us to give an amusing illustration of the working of the diving bell, beneath which the workmen, though far below the surface, can breathe and work without inconvenience. The vessel to hold the water should be an inverted glass bell, such as may be seen in a confectioner's window covering a wedding or christening cake, and should be supported on a pickle jar, the mouth of the jar accommodating the knob of the bell.

A MINIATURE DIVING BELL.

You have thus a transparent vase enabling you to see all that passes within it. If you now lower an inverted tumbler into the water you will see clearly that the level of the water within the glass is much lower than that of the water outside. Taking advantage of this principle, you may safely accomplish the following feat: To place a lump of sugar under water without wetting it.

You have only to place a lump of sugar on the end of a cork, to float the jar and to cover the cork with an inverted tumbler; lower the tumbler quite perpendicularly, lest the cork should turn over, and hold it down with the edge to the bottom as long as may be desired. On again withdrawing the glass, and in due course the sugar and the supporting cork, you will find the lump of sugar quite dry, the air in the glass having prevented the water from contact with it.

THE SCIENCE OF VENTILATION.

Air Should Be Admitted to a Room in Fine Streams and with a Gentle Flow.

The healthy atmosphere of a room is one in which the air is changed to the extent of 3,000 cubic feet per adult, says a writer in The Contemporary Review, who expresses the following opinions: "The air admitted need not be cold; warm air, so long as it is fresh, is of course preferable to the cold air in winter, but in some way the air must be brought in if we are to continue in health. There are various ways of doing this. One is by admitting cold air so that it is directed upward toward the ceiling, where the air of a room is at the highest temperature. The cold stream is then heated in its passage as it falls to the lower level for breathing. This is the large volume, to still less at its best the current, there should be in the skirting outlets communicating with a heated upcast flue, which will draw away the heavy air near the floor. In cases where there is heating by hot water coils the air may be brought in at or near the floor level and passed through the hot water coils—the inlet for vitiated air being in or near the ceiling—to a heated upcast flue.

"The great desideratum in the admission of fresh air is to cut it up into very fine streams, something in the way water is cut up in passing through the fine holes of a watering can. It has been found that air admitted through a tube or orifice of equal sectional area throughout enters as a cold draft, but if the inlet be through a series of small truncated cones—the smaller section outward, the larger inward, with a wire gauze on the inside—the current is so cut up and diffused that the draft is not felt. By analogy a mass of water entering through a narrow canal drives all before it and cuts a narrow channel for itself, but the same quantity flowing over a large surface of ground gently irrigates it. Another important point is not to let the passage of the air be at too great velocity. The gentler the flow the better."

Fat as a Force Producer.

Liebig taught that fat split up in the body, and that the free carbon combined with the oxygen taken in by respiration to produce carbonic acid, and that it was by the act of respiratory combustion that the body heat was maintained. Fatty foods were hence considered necessary as heat producers.

Another writer states that recent investigations, however, show that though fat is split up and combined with oxygen in the production of heat, especially during muscular exercise, the process is effected in the tissues by the agency of the cells, and not in the lungs, as formerly taught. The use of fat is now regarded as threefold:

First—To maintain the body heat. In cold latitudes, where the body is subject to rapid cooling, fatty foods become a necessity, so that the carbon may be easily supplied for combination with oxygen in combustion. Hence the Greenlander consumes large quantities of blubber and oil.

Second—To produce force. As muscular tissue is only produced at the cost of oxidation in the tissues, fat is rapidly burned off during exercise. If absent, the tissues themselves would be wasted.

Third—To prevent the waste of albumen

A pretty albuminous diet is extremely wasteful. It has been proved experimentally that a small amount of meat food taken in combination with bread and fat suffices to maintain the albuminous structure of the body better than an exclusively lean meat diet. Fat stored in the body as adipose tissue is a bank on which the body may draw for supplies of energy and heat when required. It is stated that in the Franco-Prussian war the surgeon of Bazaine, acting on the strongly expressed opinion of Bazaine that muscular fatigue could best be supported on fat, gave to every chef each soldier should have served out to him 250 grams of fat bacon. It is also a well known fact that fat animals bear deprivation of food better than thin ones.

THE RUBY.

Its Legend and History—Precious Oriental and European Rubies.

Perhaps none more vividly than diamonds rubies and carbuncles addressed themselves to the oriental imagination. Something in that liquid fiery color which reminds one of a heart full of its beating blood—of the sun in its concentrated splendor—something at once vivid and fascinating stirred the minds which peopled space with peris, djinns and afreets, and gave to certain things of earth powers named by common consent magical and supernatural. Gems in general, and rubies and carbuncles among the more specialized, were assumed to put forth light that made the sun superfluous. Noah had this light when in the ark, and Abraham's eye, wherein he shut up his wives and whereat the walls were too high to allow the sun to shine therein, was brilliantly lighted by a basin full of precious stones. Rubies and sapphires are the same stones, one colored red and the other blue, and both come under the head of "corundum," which the dictionary tells us is "anhydrous alumina."

The finest rubies are found in Burmah, though Taverner, who, after all, is the great authority on eastern gems, though he did write an long ago—says that he preferred the Pegu rubies to those of the great mogul. Yet the great mogul had 108 large rubies in his throne, and among them one weighing 2¼ ounces. Various other immense rubies are noted by authors. The king of Arracan had one—a six sided prism—a full inch in diameter, ending in a six sided pyramid. The king of Pegu had a ruby of which the purity of flame passed into a peyorels, and which was said to be the finest in the world—if not for size, yet for color and brilliancy. The supreme of all for size—if indeed it were a ruby at all—was one spoken of by Marco Polo, in the possession of the king of Ceylon, "a span in length, as thick as a man's arm, and without a flaw." What has become of it no man knows, and indeed whether it was a bit of colored crystal or a wonderfully tinted slab of glass, akin to those Babylonian emeralds and the like, wherein the Egyptians were so deft, is not known, any more than the ultimate fate of this extraordinary production.

Of European rubies Charles the Bold, that luckless son of a fortunate father, had three rubies called "Three Brothers," of perfect color and worthy size. They passed into the possession of James I, who used them to "Baby Charles." There is a large heart shaped ruby in the Austrian crown. It has been neither cut nor polished, is only semitransparent, and is of a dark red, like a Morello cherry. A merin and or has an oriental ruby the size of a hen's egg. The coronation ring of the kings of England is of plain gold with a large violet tablet ruby, wherein a plain cross, engrave of St. George, is curiously enclosed. The queen's ring is likewise of gold, with a large table ruby and sixteen small brilliants around the ring. Rubies and carbuncles are male and female, according to Pliny.

What Parisians Say About the Mustache.

The male element of France appears to be just awakening to the fact that the mustache is "fashionable." Being of late quiring times they are now eager to invested in the important question as to who introduced this fashion. "They come from England," says one oracle; "all stimulated (!) Englishmen wear mustaches." "Not at all," replies another, "the home of the mustache is Spain, and here is the story of its origin. After the Moors first invaded the country the Christian and Moslem population became so mixed that it was difficult to say which were Moors and which Spaniards. The Spaniards then began to distinguish by which they could at once distinguish their brethren. They did not shave their upper lips any longer, and they allowed a tuft of hair to grow below their under lip so that their beards formed the rude outline of a cross. Thus the mustache became a symbol of liberty and Christianity." This sounds somewhat far fetched, but it is a popular legend just now in Paris.

Fifteen Kisses.

It is told by some observant student of past times that the monks of the Middle Ages divided the kiss into fifteen distinct and separate varieties. 1. The chaste or modest kiss. 2. The diplomatic or kiss of policy. 3. The spying kiss, to ascertain if a woman has drunk wine. 4. The slave kiss. 5. The kiss indicating a cheerful penance. 6. The slipper kiss, practiced toward tyrants. 7. The judicial kiss. 8. The feudal kiss. 9. The kiss of betrothal. 10. The erose. 10. The ecclesiastical kiss, on joining a solemn brotherhood. 11. The lewd kiss. 12. The Judas kiss. 13. The poetical kiss, the purpose of which every one acknowledges. 14. The kiss of etiquette. 15. The kiss of love, the only real kiss.

Mr. Gladstone's Activity.

We all know that Mr. Gladstone finds a change of occupation the best means of rest and recreation. In this connection the Rev. George Jackson told an Edinburgh audience the other day an anecdote of the premier, which he said I never been published. A gentleman asked Mr. Gladstone the cause of his astonishing activity. Mr. Gladstone replied that he may remember he heard them say on a road leading out of London which killed more horses than any other road. Now this particular road was in bad repair, and accordingly only brought out a flaw." What has become of it no man knows, and indeed whether it was a bit of colored crystal or a wonderfully tinted slab of glass, akin to those Babylonian emeralds and the like, wherein the Egyptians were so deft, is not known, any more than the ultimate fate of this extraordinary production.

The Chocolate Bean.

Cocoa (chocolate bean) is produced in many tropical countries, but nowhere in better quality, says the California Fruit Grower, than in the states of Chiapa and Soconusco, Mexico, from whose plains, once inhabited by the Aztecs, the kings of Spain derived the chocolate for the royal tables during the earlier occupation by the Spaniards. The whole annual product of cocoa in the world is about 60,000,000 pounds, and its consumption is found to be rapidly on the increase in Spain, France, Italy and the United States.

The Age of Turtles.

The age of turtles, like the age of some excellent women, will never be known, says Mexican in his monthly. In many parts of the country logs cut their initials on the shells of the tortoises, with the date, and then watch for them in later years.

At Hatboro, in Pennsylvania, one was found with "L. W. 1826," cut on the shell. Mr. Levi Walton, who cut the lettering, is still living, but the slow going turtle will probably outdo him in the race of life.

The Professional Shoppers.

I come from every part of town,
I'm stopping by forever;
I turn the stores all upside down
And don't get home till seven.

I look at stacks of every class,
From ribbons to plaques,
But all I ever buy, alas!
Is bonbons and headaches.

I price and sample every here,
But make a purchase never.
For clerks may frown and clerks may sneer,
But I'll shop on forever.

I'm after every bargain sale;
I watch each "flood" and "fire;"
I go to every "mark down" raise myself
And likewise when they're higher.

On opening days I'm sure to be
In very highest feather;
I'm always located to get a seat,
No matter what the weather.

I prig and sample day by day,
But make a purchase never;
Perhaps I'll buy some more next fall
Or maybe not forever.

It is the keenest joy for me,
Where crowds are congregating,
To daily with the clerk and see
The other shoppers waiting.

And when I can no longer stay
The clerk's poor soul to harrow,
I tell him, "I'll not buy today,
But I'll be around tomorrow."

Though years may come and years may flee,
And earthly ties may sever,
I will still be for ever and for me
To just shop on forever.

STILL ANOTHER VICTIM.

OF THE DANGEROUS PRACTICE OF JUMPING ON COAL TRAINS.

This Time it is Eighteen-Year-Old George Staats.—One Leg Crushed.—Likely to Die from the Loss of Blood.

George Staats, eighteen years old, is lying in the Muhlenberg Hospital in a dying condition, as a result of pursuing that dangerous practice of catching on coal trains. He was attempting to board an east-bound coal train about one o'clock yesterday, near the gas house, when he slipped and fell. The car wheels passed over his right leg, below the knee, badly crushing it, but not cutting it entirely off.

He was laid on a stretcher by friends who saw the accident, placed in a wagon belonging to Mr. Higgins of East Fourth street, and conveyed to Muhlenberg Hospital.

The physicians there, held a consultation and decided that the young man was too weak from the loss of blood to undergo the operation of having the injured limb amputated.

Time and time again THE NEWS has been called upon to warn boys of the fatal consequences resulting from this dangerous habit, by recording accidents of this kind.

Michael Barry of West Third street, was the last victim. He had both legs cut off, and died the same day at the hospital. The accident was similar to that of yesterday, and occurred at nearly the same spot.

The admission will be free.

Chanfrau, Mlles., Daily Tribune, Feb. 5, 1893.

Concert companies are risky affairs for a manager to handle, being, as they are termed in theatrical vernacular, "frosts." Sometimes, however, the very opposite is the case, and your attraction turns out to be a "smasher." Such was the case with the Fisk Jubilee Singers who appeared in Victoria Hall last night. Long prior to the hour for beginning the concert all the reserved seats were occupied and the people continued to pourin until there was only standing room left, and that, too, but to a limited degree. It was an audience which delighted the performers as much as they, in turn, delighted one and all of those assembled to hear them render the songs of slavery days.

The Fisk Jubilee Singers will be at Music Hall next Thursday evening.

END OF A CAREER.

MR. GERSHOM FRAZEE DIED THIS MORNING.

He Was Known to Almost Every Resident in This Vicinity—His Eventful Life—An Old "49-er."—He Made and Lost Three Fortunes.

Mr. Gershom Frazee (Gep ther) died at the Muhlenberg Hospital at four o'clock this morning, from cancer of the stomach. He had only been sick a short time. He was 72 years old, having been born in this city in 1819.

The following are a few facts of his life: At the age of 13 he was apprenticed to Enoch Randolph, of Somerville, father of ex-Mayor Randolph of this city, to learn the hatter's trade. When his time expired he went to Newark, where he worked about six years as a jatter. Then he returned to Plainfield and worked for Manning Vermeule, who had a hat shop near what is now Plainfield avenue. In 1849 he gave up working at his trade and went to California to make his fortune. He was successful and returned to Plainfield five years later a rich man.

He lost considerable money in several transactions and four years later returned to California on another gold hunt. Again he met with success and came back the owner of several claims, which turned him out another fortune. Eleven months later he returned to Arizona. He struck a number of rich claims, and after a while sold some of the best and came back to Jersey and engaged in the silver plating Business with his brother James, at Newark. It was a money making business and for several years they conducted it with success. A few years later he again returned to the place of his birth, this city, where he has resided since.

A few years ago his wife died, and he had not been himself since.

In politics he was a strong Republican and always took an active part in campaign work.

He was offered, and accepted, a position in the New York Custom House when President Harrison came into office. This position he still held up to the time of his death.

Mr. Israel Lewis of this city, accompanied by his son, went to South Plainfield this morning and killed an ugly bull, which had nearly killed its keeper last week.

PRESENT DAY TOPICS.

"MONSIGNOR SATOLLI AND THE CATHOLIC QUESTION."

The Rev. Mr. Charles Herring, the Progressive Pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Introduces an Innovation that Should be Popular.

At the First Presbyterian church yesterday morning a new feature was added to the service in the form of a prelude on "Present Day Topics."

Yesterday morning's theme was "Monsignor Satolli and the Catholic Question." The Rev. Mr. Charles Herring said, in substance: "We live in an age of revolution and reformation. If we may judge of the signs of the times they have a hopeful aspect. It is a wise writer who says that we have the faith of our fathers without the forms. Some would destroy the faith and form. Some would keep both form and faith but others would modify the form, keeping the faith. There is no occasion for alarm as the present tendency. It will bring out a better understanding of things.

It is an encouraging sign of the times to note the change of attitude in the Catholic church. To my mind the Catholic church in this country has taken a forward movement.

The movement has occasioned surprise. Surely the criticism that "ignorance is the mother of devotion" has been the watchword of this church, applies no more.

The policy of the church on the face of it excites our admiration, and the appellation of "bag of bones" to Pope Leo III, is not relevant. He has shown keen insight into the time, and has declared the Catholic church to be on the side of the common people. He has taken sides with labor. Well do I remember the prophecy of my revered teacher in church history. The Catholic church would be struck with lightning but within.

On the school question this church has been put on record as its enemy, but the American part of the church, represented by such men as Cardinal Gibbons, Archbishop Ireland and Dr. McGlynn, has won a decided victory. Dr. McGlynn has been practically reinstated without apology or retraction.

Leo has proved himself brainier than Corrigan and recognizes the importance of the industrial question as a matter demanding the church's attention.

The presence of Monsignor Satolli at Washington as the Permanent Apostolic Delegate will strengthen the Catholic church in America.

Through the executive ability of the Pope the church has been greatly strengthened in Ireland and England and her friendly relation with the Protestants is encouraged.

I am not one of those who wish to continue the outcry against the Catholic church and suspect political machination, through this will be the interpretation of some.

Every righteous movement is subject to the suspicion of hypocrisy.

There is a lesson for Protestants in the Catholic movement, and it is this. She interests herself in other worldliness but has not forgotten this worldliness. The questions for the next Catholic Congress to be held at Chicago next September, embrace these: "The Encyclical of the Pope on Social Questions," "The Rights of Labor and the Duties of Capital," "Trade Combinations and Strikes," "Immigration Intemperance," "The Negro Problem and the Indian Problem."

The Archbishops of Chicago invites the greatest freedom of discussion on them all.

We are pleased to note the future policy of the Catholic church in America. Let us hope for still greater things to come."

PERSONAL.

The Rev. Hobart Clark will speak at the Boys' Club entertainment to-night.

The engagement is announced of Mr Charles W. Parks and Miss Etta Randolph.

Mrs. F. G. Green and daughter, of New York, and Miss Blanche Smith, of Jersey City, are the guests of Mr. D. W. Rogers.

Mr. Clarence Murphy holds the highest score of the Park Club at bowling, for the month of February. Saturday he bowled 202.

Mr. Augustus Bloodgood, of the Recess Mine, Washington, passed Sunday at the home of Mr. W. H. Sprague, 13 Muhlenberg place.

Mrs. Horace Loring, of Beacon Hill, Boston, who has been spending the past two years abroad, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Henry R. Bowen, of this city.

The Board of Trustees of the Plainfield Hockey Club will hold a meeting tomorrow night at the home of Mr. Townsend Rushmore, on Grant avenue.

Mr. Workenheimer, formerly of this city, but now of New York, had a skilful surgical operation performed upon him yesterday. Several of his old friends in this city visited him to-day.

Rev. Dr. Henry Mason Baum, editor of The Church Review, will deliver two historical lectures on "Recent Oriental Discoveries in Confirmation of Bible History" in the chapel of Grace church, Wednesday and Thursday evenings at eight o'clock.

Mrs. Annie Kettler, in the eighty-eighth year of her age, died at Elizabeth last Thursday. The remains were brought to this city and yesterday and interred in Evergreen cemetery. Deceased was a sister of the late Mrs. Gerome Pack, of this city.

SOCIETY'S BUSY WEEK.

AFTERNOON TEAS AND RECEPTIONS FOR EVERY DAY.

As Lenten Season Begins Wednesday, February Fifteenth, Society is now Rushed With Pleasures—Rest will then be Welcome.

This will be a busy week among Plainfield society people. Afternoon teas and receptions follow each other in rapid succession. There will be an afternoon tea or reception every day this week. The whist will be started at Dean Endicott's house on La Grande avenue this afternoon. To-morrow Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Stewart of West Seventh street will receive their hosts of friends. On Wednesday afternoon, from four to seven o'clock, society will crowd the handsome parlors of Mrs. J. Evarts Tracy's home on West Eighth street. Society will be entertained Friday from eight to eleven at Mrs. Bodine's and Mrs. C. B. Langdon will stir up things with her guests Saturday afternoon from three to seven. But there are not by any means all the pleasures of this one week, for on Thursday evening the Mozgosh concert takes place at the Casino and Mrs. James Brown Potter and Kyrle Bellew will appear in Music Hall in "The Marriage Spectre."

Lent is so near and society's demands must be filled. It is so at this season every year and society is ready to welcome the six weeks of Christian denial in order to "rest up."

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE

Plainfield Branch of the Needlework Guild of America.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE NEWS:—"What cannot will and union effect," Lady Wolverton exclaimed, in one of her direct, simple speeches on the subject of the Needlework Guild. But even she, its originator, must feel some wonder at the magnificent of what will and union have effected in this great confederation, the outcome of her thought.

At the yearly meeting of the Plainfield Branch, on January 27th, it was found that we had made quite an advance over last year's work. Whereas, we had collected last year 816 garments and miscellaneous articles, this year the total stands at 922, an increase of 122. If we can continue to enlarge our number of directors, it will not be many years before we will be a large organization in this city. We feel we are doing a great deal of good, and supplying a long needed want, that of giving to the different charitable organizations, and our local poor, suitable, strong and new garments for their individual needs.

The following is the number of garments, etc., given out by the guild this Winter:

Children's Home	231
Muhlenberg Hospital	120
Boy's Club	32
Day Nursery	62
Dorcas Society	43
Missionary Box Trinity Ref. church	32
Grace Church Guild	30
Ann Bertha Home	9
Home for the Aged, Newark, N. J.	29
Free Home for Destitute Girls, N. Y.	18
	606
In reserve	136
A Total	742

It is hoped that through THE NEWS we may influence others to join our work. We will be only too glad to send our "leaflets" explaining the work in detail to any who may become interested and desire to know more about it and perhaps unite with us in doing this good work.

Music Hall Notes.

The Music Hall manager says that the array of artists who play the "Junior Partner" at Music Hall, is not a road company, but is Mr. Klaw & Erlanger's book. Plainfield may never see Henry Miller with such a support again.

Mrs. Brown Potter and Mr. Bellew were given a new play by Dumas. Its initial production in Philadelphia was a most pronounced hit. The new play will be given on the appearance of Mrs. Brown Potter and Mr. Bellew at Music Hall, Thursday night.

"The Junior Partner," the latest farcical comedy from the French, after having been presented successfully for 120 nights in New York, and for extended engagements in the principal cities of the land, will receive its first presentation in this city at the Music Hall this evening. The company, which is directed by Charles Frohman, contains many well-known people, the most prominent being Henry Miller, May Irwin, Mrs. McKee Rankin, Emily Bancker, Hugo Toland, Thomas Ryley and Phillis Rankin. The play is described as being bright and breezy and full of life and hearty laughter. Prior to the opening of the clever little comedy, "Frederic Lemaitre," will be enacted with Henry Miller in the title character.

The Fox Escaped.

The fox, which was captured not long ago and taken to Beaman's road house, on Central avenue, by the Plainfield Coursing Club, and afterwards caught again by Day's dog, is again at liberty. It was released Saturday afternoon at Stelle's woods, on Central avenue. A pack of dogs gave chase but the fox proved too "foxy" and escaped. It ran in the direction of Ash Swamp, where the dogs lost the trail.

LATEST NEWS BY WIRE.

A Bad Railroad Wreck.

PITTSBURG, Feb. 6, (Special.)—A big wreck occurred at two a. m. at Williams Station, twelve miles this side of Cumberland, on the Baltimore & Ohio. Two men are under the wreck and are no doubt dead; another is fatally injured and several others badly hurt.

The accident occurred at the foot of the mountain, and was caused by the icy rails, which rendered the train unmanageable.

At the foot of the mountain the train crashed into another freight and both trains were wrecked. The bodies of the men are still in the ruins. Twenty-four cars were demolished.

A Strike Feared.

CHICAGO, Feb. 6. (Special.)—On authority from several reliable sources, it seems more than probable that within ten days a heroicism attempt will be made to tie up every locomotive and car in the city and, paralyze the traffic on many thousands of miles of track.

The switchmen have decided to demand an advance of five cents an hour from their present pay, and to strike if they do not get it.

Twenty Years for Darabbo.

Dominico Darabbo, who killed Patrick Kiley at Elizabethport on Sept. 25, was sentenced Saturday in the Union County Court by Judge Van Syckel to twenty years in State prison. The jury had found him guilty of murder in the second degree. Charles Prince, who was an accessory to the crime, but did not shoot, was found guilty of murder in the second degree, but Judge Van Syckel sentenced him to ten years in State prison. The indictments against four other Italians in the affair were nolle prossed by Prosecutor Marsh.

Refused to Pay for Talking.

James Moran entered the Central Telephone Station at Elizabeth on Saturday night and after using the telephone for twenty minutes refused to pay for the service, and Manager Root went to call a policeman. While he was gone Moran attempted to escape and J. E. Pucci, manager of the Postal Telegraph Office ran Overcoat to stop him. A tussle followed. Mr. Pucci was no match for Moran, who tore all the buttons off Pucci's coat and would have overpowered him had not a policeman arrived andlocked up Moran.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The Future Telescope.

The great telescope of the future will be a refractor—not a reflector. Further, there is no limit to its size that can apparently be set at the present day. These are conclusions which Mr. Alvan Clark, the leading lensmaker of the world, has reached, according to his paper in The North American Review. Telescopes consist of two essential parts—the eyeglass and the object glass. The object glass now consists of two lenses—one of crown glass, the other of flint glass. This is to correct the aberrations of light and color which result from the use of a single convex lens.

The object glass of the telescope is only following the general tendency to great size that is manifest everywhere in our time, from a city business building to a steamship. In 1825 the greatest telescope of the time had an object glass that was 9½ inches across. It was said then that no telescope could ever have a larger one. But the gradual increase in size went on, till two years ago the telescope of the Lick observatory was put in place with an object glass of 3 feet aperture. Furthermore, Mr. Clark has now in his workshop at Cambridge two remarkably fine disks of 40 inches diameter set for the final polishings.

The glasses must of course increase in thickness accordingly, and it might be supposed they would absorb so much of the light that passes through as to dim the image. But this is not the case. The two lenses of an object glass 6 feet across would only require, both together, a thickness of 6 inches, and the glass is so clear that the light is not appreciably diminished. It is certain that with these mighty telescopes the 26th century holds in store achievements for astronomers no less wonderful than those awaiting other investigators.

Fish Exhibit at the World's Fair.

It is acknowledged in Europe that the United States leads the world in the science and art of pisciculture. The United States fish commission is preparing an exhibit for the Columbian fair that will still further open the eyes of Europe to what we can do. If you cannot take in everything at the exposition, omit something else, but be sure and see the fish commission's exhibit. Part of the live fish display will be arranged to give the effect that you are standing at the bottom of the sea looking up through a multitude of fishes at home in their native waters.

There, too, will be the fish hatcheries, which will show all the world how our skilled fish culturists hatch in small ponds millions of shad, codfish, mackerel, etc., and distribute the young fry to the various waters in which fishermen can catch them when they are full grown. This part of the commission's work has been so effectual that already the annual catch of shad has perceptibly increased in the rivers.

The methods of deep sea dredging will also be amply illustrated. The fish that can be distributed in the fresh waters of the country constitute perhaps those in which the larger portion of our people are directly interested—as, for instance, trout and whitefish. These will receive their due share of attention. It is to be presumed, too, that the commission will by no means neglect the opportunity to show the farmers of the country how each one of them may have his own fishpond and draw a food supply from it without endangering the health of his family from malaria.

David Dudley Field lays before the public his plan of settling the labor question. It is, in brief, that the state shall pass a law making business corporations divide their capital, consisting of the value of their buildings, money, machinery, etc., into small shares—Mr. Field himself suggests $5 as the amount of one share, so that their workmen can become purchasers of some of the stock. He believes this would reconcile the interests of capital and labor in such a way that there would be no more trouble. Mr. Field, being a lawyer, ought to know, however, that laws amount to little without a public opinion to back them. If he and the other apostles of reform would go on a mission of educating both employers and employed up to the point where each is willing to give the other a fair chance, then his law would be applied as a matter of course, and not by compulsion.

Magnesium powder blown through a bellows upon a leaden lamp makes a flash of light that can be seen more than a mile in broad daylight and for a distance of eight miles on a clear night. The flashes are made to appear and reappear by clockwork, and the invention is considered an improvement over anything yet devised in the way of a light to penetrate a fog. It comes from a German. The magnesium powder makes a red light, which can penetrate farther than white light. In one of the lighthouses on Staten Island this invention is in use.

If New York was Chicago and characterized by the Chicago spirit of hustling, there would be by this time half a dozen bridges and tunnels across the Hudson river, so that railway passengers from all the continent would not be obliged to change to a ferryboat in a fog to get into the city and besides run the risk of delay and collisions unnumbered.

THE NATIONAL CAPITAL.

The President's Reasons for Appointing Judge Jackson.

THE AMERICAN CATHOLIC CHURCH.

The Pope's Position Toward the Church In America—Forecast of the Measures Likely to Be Considered by Congress—The Hordes Begin to Gather.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—This begins the last four weeks of the 52d congress, and the clash of interests demanding attention which must inevitably arise from the announcements already made promises an exceedingly lively legislative week. These subjects include such important measures as the bills for the repeal of the silver purchase act, for the establishment of a national quarantine, to prevent dealings in futures (the anti-option bill) and for the establishment of a general bankrupt law.

A discussion the end of which before the session closes cannot be foreseen, unless brought about by the presentation of appropriation bills, is likely to be precipitated in the senate at the very beginning if Mr. Hill carries out his intention of asking the senate to determine whether or not it will take up the bill to repeal the silver purchase law.

Much pressure is being brought to bear upon Mr. Hill not to press the motion, but so far he has given no indication of yielding to the importunities addressed to him. Mr. Harris has given notice that he will ask the senate at its next session to take up the quarantine bill. If Mr. Hill's motion prevails, then Mr. Teller's implied threat of talking out the session would begin to work.

Senator Cullom will endeavor to have the bills for the amendment of the interstate commerce law disposed of this week, but will probably not antagonize Mr. Sherman's desire to get the Nicaragua canal bill out of the senate and over to the house. In this event it is the intention that legislation upon matters of general public moment accomplished by the senate will be almost entirely confined to such bills as the appropriations committee may call up.

The Admission of Utah.

The programme of the house for the week is fairly well outlined except as respects the antioption bill. Mr. Hatch, for reasons of his own, declines to say what move he intends to make with regard to it. There seems to be a disposition to obstruct such bill as it comes up, regardless of the feeling toward the measure itself, for fear that its speedy passage may be the harbinger of hope to some more objectionable bill further down the list. Mr. Hatch has asked for recognition in order to call up the Paddock pure food bill, and the speaker will give him the opportunity desired. Besides the pure food bill the measures which are most likely to be considered under suspension of the rules are the bill for the admission of Utah into the Union as a state, the Torrey bankruptcy bill and the New York bridge bill.

Wednesday is the day named in the constitution for counting the electoral vote, and Thursday and Friday will be devoted to a discussion of oleture and of the silver question. The appropriation bills will monopolize most of the time of the house not occupied by the silver question, the electoral count and suspension of the rules.

Clarkson's Criticism Criticised.

The criticism upon the appointment by President Harrison of Judge Jackson to succeed the late Associate Justice Lamar on the supreme bench made by Mr. Clarkson was the subject of considerable discussion among politicians. The fact that Mr. Clarkson had requested Senator Cullom to withdraw the recommendation of Judge Jackson's nomination added interest to the affair. It is not considered probable by many senators that Judge Jackson's nomination will be rejected.

One of the president's friends said the president had the precedent of the first Republican president for his nomination of Judge Jackson; that in 1863 President Lincoln nominated Stephen J. Field, a Democrat, to a place on the bench, which Mr. Field still retains. He said that the president before making the nomination was assured that the confirmation of the nomination of a Republican was extremely improbable, and that being the case he chose to promote a Democrat who had demonstrated by his decisions upon the bench that he was a protectionist and a Nationalist with a big "N."

The Office Seekers Are Gathering.

Already a considerable number of office seekers have arrived in Washington and are looking over the ground, using congressional influence and otherwise making every effort to secure advantage in the coming race for the offices which will be at the disposal of the incoming administration. Many of them were here eight years ago, but when Mr. Cleveland assumed office of governmental affairs took weeks hence they will realize that the classified civil service has even during the present administration absorbed many places thought to be desirable.

Mgr. Satolli's Decision.

The New York Tribune says:

"The decision rendered by Mgr. Satolli in the matter of the Italian church and his enunciation of the papal policy determining the broad issues therein involved cannot fail to gratify American Catholics, who justly estimate the privileges and obligations of American citizenship. The principle Bishop Wigger sought to establish was to maintain the solidarity of foreign nationalities in this country, through the instrumentality of the church, by preserving the language and fostering the traditions of each. This is Catholicism. Its application has been chiefly to our German population, as it was at Bayonne, but in theory it comprehends all races, and its tendency is to include them all in practice.

"This is the policy which the pope has now denounced through the apostolic delegate with an emphasis which courteous forms of speech do not disguise.

The Effect of Catholicism.

"With the purpose and effect of putting this policy into execution the bishop of Newark closed St. Thomas' church, which the English speaking parishioners of Father Killeen has built and which their labors and sacrifices had much endeared to them, thus compelling them to worship with the small German congregation of St. Henry's, among uncongenial surroundings and in a language which they did not understand, or else to incur the hardship and expense of relinquishing their religious privileges altogether. They had constantly and urgently protested through their pastor against this infliction, but unavailingly, until Mgr. Satolli gave them a hearing. His decision was communicated to Bishop Wigger and Father Killeen.

"The settlement of this controversy in the Newark diocese, comparatively insignificant in itself, is exceedingly important as an authentic declaration of the pope's will and intentions concerning the Catholic church in this country, its informing spirit and its relations to our national development. Leo has given numerous proofs of sagacity and enlightenment, but none more than this. It discloses at once his comprehension of the American people and his sympathy with the governmental and social institutions of the United States. Through Mgr. Satolli he has laid down for the guidance of Catholic bishops in this country the general principle that the use of a foreign tongue in any parish is to be regarded as an arrangement of temporary convenience, to be discontinued as soon as possible.

"In a word, he desires and expects American Catholics of foreign extraction to assimilate with the popular mass, to grow into the prevailing likeness and to acquire the prevailing spirit.

"To native Americans this enunciation of papal policy will be most agreeable, and to the majority of citizens of foreign descent it will not be unwelcome."

Killeen Announces His Victory.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—The Rev. Thomas N. Killeen, the rector of St. Mary's Star of the Sea Roman Catholic church in Bergen Point, Bayonne, N. J., read the decision of Mgr. Satolli on the charges preferred against Bishop Wigger by Father Killeen from his pulpit.

Father Killeen told his congregation that the decision "wiped out Cahenslyism." He said he received a cablegram this day from Mgr. Satolli and went before him last Friday and received the decision verbally. No mention of the decision would be given to the Catholic parishioners in Bayonne in German. After the mass Father Killeen said that the decision of Mgr. Satolli was that there should be no German or French or Irish Catholic churches in America, but only the American Catholic church.

PAPA SIGNED THE CHECK IN BLANK.

The Daughter Draws $10,000 and Elopes With a Bank Cashier.

CHICAGO, Feb. 6.—Mr. Ward, son of Israel Ward, a banker of West Haven, Conn., arrived here in search of his daughter, who left with James Lewis, cashier of the West Haven bank. They were married in Albany and started westward. After tracing the couple through Canada young Ward ascertained they had come to Chicago. At the Wellington hotel he found the names "Mr. and Mrs. J. Lewis, Syracuse," registered, but was informed by the clerk that the couple had left for St. Paul. To a reporter was told this story:

"Early in December my father called for Europe and before leaving home signed a blank check which he gave to my sister, telling her to fill it out Christmas time for the amount she would need for presents and to get the money at the bank. Instead of using the check during the holidays she kept it until Jan. 10, when, as I believe, according to an understanding with Lewis, the cashier of the bank, she presented the check filled out for $10,000, which he as cashier was bound to honor, as the signature on the check was genuine. Two days after she received the money my sister left to visit her aunt, Mrs. John Myers, in Albany, and a week later Lewis followed her without giving any notice at the bank of his intention to leave."

The Story Modified Somewhat.

NEW HAVEN, Feb. 6.—Israel Ward, the banker referred to in the Chicago dispatch of the Lewis-Ward elopement, has been dead about a month. He left a son and a daughter, now about 30 and 16 years of age respectively. Gossip has it that during last summer a young man named Lewis paid marked attention to Miss Ward, but whether he is the person alluded to in the dispatch cannot be learned. Wallace W. Ward, the girl's uncle, positively refused to discuss the elopement matter. There is no bank in the town of West Haven, and consequently there is no James Lewis cashier thereof.

Father McGlynn Talks to Congressmen.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—Rev. Father McGlynn lectured to a very large audience last night at the new National theater on "The Politics of God's Prayer." A large number of congressmen were among his hearers. Dr. McGlynn avoided any pointed references to his controversy with the archbishop of the church, but reiterated his belief in the right of a minister of Christ to practice politics, where by so doing he could point out to the people the proper pathway to pursue in the attainment of happiness.

Died of Hydrophobia.

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., Feb. 6.—Herman Lang was bitten by a rabid dog last August and had a madstone applied, which adhered several times, and a physician pronounced the poison eradicated from his system. She was taken with hydrophobia on Thursday night he was thrown into convulsions, which continued in rapid succession until his death.

A Harvard Theologian In Trouble.

FREDERICKTON, N. B., Feb. 6.—A warrant has been issued for the arrest of the Rev. Leonard G. Stevens, ex-pastor of St. Luke's Episcopal church at St. John, N. B., for alienating the affections of the wife of Leonard Bass. Stevens is a son of Bishop Stevens and a graduate of Harvard college and became pastor of St. Luke's church in 1873.

A Straw For Annexation.

WINDSOR, Ont., Feb. 6.—A big political meeting was held at Essex to discuss the future of Canada. At the close of several addresses a vote was taken, which resulted as follows: To remain in statu quo, 31; independence, 12; imperial federation, 2; political union with the United States, 412.

Father and Daughter Perish In the Snow.

HARRISON, Mich., Feb. 6.—While searching in the blizzard for his missing daughter, Henry Graham perished almost within reach of his own door. The daughter has not yet been found, and it is believed that she was exhausted by the cold, lay down and was buried by the snow.

Whites at Church Burglars Broke In.

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., Feb. 6.—While the family were at church burglars effected an entrance into the residence of Henry H. Rowark, a rich retired merchant. The house was completely ransacked, and money, jewelry, silverware and clothing stolen.

Rome Bank Officials Arrested.

ROME, Feb. 6.—Michael Lazzaroni, nephew of Cesare Lazzaroni, the imprisoned president of the Rome bank, was arrested and locked up, charged with bribery and forgery in his relations with the Bank of Rome.

Abdulhamid Refuses Odd Request.

CAIRO, Feb. 6.—The Khedive was received with exceptional enthusiasm at Assouet, where he opened a new railway. Despite previous rumors of a rebellion, all is quiet in this city.

MRS. WHITNEY'S DEATH

Wife of Ex-Secretary Whitney Expires Suddenly.

SHE WAS A LEADER IN SOCIETY.

At the Metropolis and In Washington, Where She Was Principal of the Cabinet Ladies of the Cleveland Administration. Her Death Will Be Greatly Mourned.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—Mrs. William C. Whitney, wife of the ex-secretary of the navy, died at her home, 2 West Fifty-seventh street, at 5 o'clock Sunday morning of heart disease.

Only Mr. Whitney and the nurses who attended her during her illness were present at the deathbed, the end coming unexpectedly. Dr. J. Wood McLane, who, with Dr. Charles McBurney, has been attending Mrs. Whitney, left her at half past 11 o'clock, Dr. McBurney having left several hours sooner. When Dr. McLane departed it was for the night, as at that hour it was expected that Mrs. Whitney's illness would not take a serious turn before morning.

Mr. Whitney sat up until 3 o'clock, as which hour he retired to his bed, and the house was darkened. A few minutes before 5 o'clock one of the nurses hastily summoned him, and he hurried to Mrs. Whitney's room, reaching there just in time to see her expire.

So unexpectedly did death come that there was not even time to summon her father, brother and sister, who were in the house, but who were called from their beds when Mrs. Whitney's condition first appeared serious. They reached the bedside a few minutes after her death.

The death of Mrs. Whitney awakened widespread sympathy throughout the country, and all day telegrams and messages of condolence were received by the family. Although these messages of condolence were kept strictly private, it is said by members of the family that among the first received were those from President-elect and Mrs. Cleveland, Sir Julian Pauncefote, the British minister at Washington, and representatives of other foreign powers and high officials.

A Charming and an Accomplished Lady.

Mrs. Whitney was one of the most popular women in New York. She was a daughter of Senator Henry B. Payne. Mrs. Whitney possessed the happy faculty of being a successful hostess, besides having distinguished charms of mind and manner and wealth sufficient to maintain an establishment in a form that could compete with any in the land, if not the world.

Mrs. Whitney's musical discrimination was remarkable, and her talent is far above the ordinary. After the election of pre-eminent position was supplied by the appointment of Mr. Whitney to a place in President Cleveland's cabinet and the opportunities that are always present in the broader society of the national capital for the wife of a cabinet officer. The friendship of the Clevelands and the Whitneys was ever abated.

Recipient of a Magnificent Gift.

Mrs. Whitney's girl life was spent in Cleveland. That city claims as citizens many men from the oil and gas regions of Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia have developed into modern prototypes of ancient Croesus, and prominent among the members of the Standard Oil company. One of these, who in many times over a millionaire, is Colonel Oliver H. Payne. This gentleman's most marked characteristic is his devotion to his sister, Mrs. Whitney. His fraternal affection had taken on tangible form, and he was delighted to see his sister royally in his grand good fortune. An instance of this was manifested when her first babe was born, and the grandfather was the occasion of his gift to the young mother of $1,000,000.

Although only on the threshold of the forties, Mrs. Whitney's hair was prematurely white. Her face retained a great measure of the youthful freshness and sweetness that characterized it when she was a bride. Mr. Whitney, then a hard working lawyer of modest income and scarcely any means, a score of years ago. Mr. Whitney's first official position was gained only a few years after he had fulfilled the duties and bore the title of corporation counsel to the city of New York.

Her Daughter's First Season.

One of the greatest attractions of the season in New York was Mrs. Whitney's eldest daughter, Miss Pauline. Her mother's death will nip her first experience of the gayeties of society in the bud, and practically has closed the Whitney mansion. For years Mrs. Whitney has evinced symptoms of heart trouble. Last night before the attack came the beginning or her illness Mrs. Whitney gave one of the dinner dances that are the fashionable fad of the season. She was in such exhilaration at the time, and the excitement and strain consequent upon the entertainment of her large party superinduced the attack.

The funeral will be held at 2 o'clock Tuesday forenoon from St. Bartholomew's church, Madison avenue. The services will be conducted by the Rev. Dr. David H. Greer. The interment will be in Woodlawn cemetery, where the daughter, who died abroad in 1885, is buried.

A Fugitive Knocked Out Absolutely.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 6.—In John Duffy's grocery a fatal shooting took place in which George Goodrich, the negro manager, was killed. George Queen, the referee, was arrested and remanded to the parish prison without bail on accessory.

Hawaii's Relations to the United States Treated in 1881.

THE COMMITTEE AWAITING ORDERS

Further Instructions Are Expected From the Provisional Government Upon the Steamer Which Is Due In San Francisco From Honolulu Wednesday.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—No more complete and striking expression of the American view of the Hawaiian question can be found perhaps than is contained in the dispatch of Secretary Blaine to Minister Comly, dated Dec. 1, 1881, some extracts from which are here given:

In 30 years the United States has acquired a legitimately dominant influence in the North Pacific, which it can never consent to see decreased by the intrusion therein of any element of influence hostile to its own. The situation of the Hawaiian Islands, giving them the strategic control of the north Pacific, brings their possession within the range of questions of purely American policy.

We Started Hawaii's Growth.

The treaty of 1875 gave to Hawaii its first great impetus in trade and, developed that activity of production which has attracted the attention of European powers anxious to share in the prosperity and advantages which the United States has created in midocean. From 1877, the first full year succeeding the conclusion of the reciprocity treaty, to 1880, the imports from Hawaii to the United States nearly doubled, increasing from $2,350,335 in value to $4,666,444, and in this same period the exports from the United States to Hawaii rose from $1,372,949 to $2,095,170. In a word, Hawaii is, by the wise and beneficent provisions of the treaty, brought within the circle of the domestic trade of the United States.

On the other hand, the interests of Hawaii must inevitably turn toward the United States in the future, as in the present, as its natural and sole ally in conserving the dominion of both in the Pacific trade.

Cuba In the Same Relative Position.

Hawaii, although much farther from the California coast than is Cuba from the Florida peninsula, holds in the western sea much the same position as Cuba in the Atlantic. It is the key to the maritime dominion of the Pacific states, as Cuba is the key to the gulf trade. The material possession of Hawaii is not desired by the United States any more than was that of Cuba. But under no circumstances can the United States permit any change in the territorial control of either which would cut it adrift from the American system, wherein they both indispensably belong.

If they drift from their independent station it must be toward annexation and identification with the American system, to which they belong by the operation of natural laws and must belong by the operation of political necessity.

Foretold With Accuracy.

The United States does its simple duty both to Hawaii and itself, and it cannot permit with obvious neglect of national interest as would be involved by silent acquiescence in any movement looking to a lessening of those American ties, and the substitution of alien and hostile interests.

It firmly believes that the position of the Hawaiian islands, as the key to the domination of the American Pacific, demands their neutrality, to which end it will earnestly co-operate with the native government. And if through any cause the maintenance of such a position of neutrality should be found by Hawaii to be impracticable, this government would then unhesitatingly favor the elevated situation by seeking an avowedly American solution for the grave issues presented.

The Annexation Commissioners.

The members of the Hawaiian annexation commission met in quiet Sunday, passing most of the time in their rooms at their hotel. The commissioners do not expect to have any audiences to make to the public regarding their errand until after the completion of their conferences with Secretary Foster. They will be busily engaged during the intervals between these meetings with the secretary in the preparation of the argument that they will advance in support of their application for the annexation of the islands by the United States. It is said that the conferences between the secretary and the commissioners will not be anything more than formal until after the arrival of the next steamer from Hawaii, which is due at San Francisco on the 8th inst., bringing further advices as to the situation of affairs upon the islands. The state department expects to receive by that steamer full reports from Minister Stevens of the events in connection with the revolution and of what has occurred since.

Until these communications have been received, it is said that the commissioners will not be presented to President Harrison.

Speaking of the probable course of events on the islands, Commissioner Carter said this afternoon that the provisional government would not undertake any legislative action pending the negotiations with the United States upon the subject of annexation, except that the advisory council, which stands in the stead of legislature, would probably repeal the lottery bill which the recent legislature passed the day before it was prorogued by the lately deposed queen.

The Herald's Estimate.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—The Herald this morning says that according to a poll of both houses of congress by its correspondent 30 senators favor annexation, 26 a protectorate and 35 are noncommittal. In the house 89 representatives favor annexation, 46 oppose it and 77 are noncommittal. There is a unanimous sentiment in congress against the control of the islands by any foreign power.

ANNA E. DICKINSON SUES.

The Doctors Who Committed Her to the Insane Asylum the Defendants.

SCRANTON, Pa., Feb. 6.—Miss Anna E. Dickinson, lecturer and actress, has brought three suits in the circuit court of the United States directed against eight persons, two of whom are physicians, asking damages in the aggregate sum of $125,000. These suits are against the persons who were instrumental in lodging her in the Danville asylum for the Insane in February, 1891.

ANNA E. DICKINSON.

The main suit is against J. an as Courtwright, G. B. Thompson, Allen Hackstaw, John B. Hedman, George Underwood and Henry Bryden. In this $50,000 damages are asked. In the second suit Dr. George Underwood of Pittsburg is made defendant, and damages are placed at $50,000. The third suit is against Dr. James Oglesby of Danville, from whom damages are asked in the sum of $25,000.

Miss Dickinson, after referring to her alleged forcible removal to any asylum, declares that the examination the physicians made as to her condition was hastily, improperly, negligently and insufficiently done. In consequence of her imprisonment she suffered mental and physical agony, was subjected to indignities and pain from wounds and from exposure and for five weeks was kept in the asylum, during which time she was prevented from pursuing her vocation as a lecturer. For these reasons she believes that she is entitled to damages in the aggregate sum of $125,000, which she now claims. The case will probably be tried at the March term of court.

SUNDAY AT LAKEWOOD.

Mr. Cleveland Does Not Expect the Silver Law to Be Repealed.

LAKEWOOD, N. J., Feb. 6.—Congressman W. L. Wilson of West Virginia, who came from Washington Saturday to consult with Mr. Cleveland, presumably on the prospect of the repeal of the Sherman silver purchase act at this session of congress, spent last evening with Mr. Cleveland and Don M. Dickinson at the Cleveland cottage and had another long talk with the president-elect Sunday.

Mr. Wilson, when asked what were the prospects of a silver bill passing both houses of congress before the end of the present session, said, "The time is too short, in my opinion, for the repeal of the silver act at the present session."

Mr. Cleveland remained quietly at his cottage all day. Don M. Dickinson was his guest. Aside from Congressman Wilson, his only caller was Mr. Nathan Straus, who is the principal owner of the Lakewood hotel.

Mr. Cleveland announced that he would remain here all of the coming week in order to dispose of several matters of importance which have been awaiting his attention for some time. He desires that his ordinary mail shall be directed to his office in New York, as it will receive more prompt attention there than here.

Isador Straus for Postmaster General.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—A special from Lakewood, N. J., to The Sun says: From a man who is very close to Mr. Cleveland comes the news that Mr. Isador Straus has been slated for the postmaster generalship. According to the information received Mr. Cleveland is very anxious to have Mr. Straus in his cabinet. Mr. Straus is a successful business man and was a strong antislavery man. It was through his influence that Mr. Cleveland came to Lakewood, and it is in Mr. Nathan Straus' cottage that the president-elect is now living. When Mr. Straus was asked by a friend if he would be the next postmaster general he smiled and walked away.

DR. GRAVES OUT ON BAIL.

Once Sentenced to Be Hung, Now Free Under $8,000 Bonds.

DENVER, Feb. 6.—Dr. T. Thatcher Graves, who a little over a year ago was convicted of poisoning Mrs. Josephine Barnaby of Providence and was sentenced to be hanged, but subsequently granted a new trial, was released from the penitentiary and came immediately to Denver. He came here for the purpose of furnishing bail pending a rehearing of his case. Upon his arrival the formality of furnishing bonds was gone through with, and the doctor was allowed his freedom. The amount of bail given was $8,000. Dr. Graves is hale and hearty and does not show any traces of his long imprisonment. He retains his old time courtesy and pleasant manner. The doctor is of course happy at being free again, as there is no probability of his ever being tried the second time because of the great expense attached to the trial and the absence of witnesses.

DR. T. T. GRAVES.

MYSTERIOUS DEATH AT HOMESTEAD

An Ex-Striker Found Dead Before One of the Furnaces.

PITTSBURG, Feb. 6.—John Marley, aged 36, married, a resident of the Homestead Steel works, was found dead in front of one of the furnaces. The mysterious circumstances surrounding his death have caused Coroner McDowell to decide upon a thorough investigation. Marley was an ex-striker, and the coroner says too many men have met their death in the Homestead mill of late and the remains buried before an investigation could be made.

Too Noisy Dress For Him.

He was a Chicago man and was taking in the house of representatives before leaving Washington. He listened to the rattle of the gavel, the echoes of "Mr. Speaker" and the rattle of oratorical musketry with attentionment so great that he became silent. In a few minutes he rose and made for the door.

"Where are you going?" asked his friend.

"I'm going," he said, with deliberate emphasis, "I'm going back to Chicago. I'm going back to the board of trade, where it's quiet."—Washington Star.

He Told Him.

Some time ago a troopship was returning from abroad, and among the passengers there was an old lady who had a favorite parrot, which she placed under the especial care of one of the sailors. On going to attend to Polly one morning he was surprised to find the poor bird dead, and, knowing how very much upset the old lady would be to hear of the death of her favorite and not feeling equal to imparting the sad intelligence himself, he employed a brother tar, who was famous for his gentleness in matters of that nature. Going up to the old lady with a very sad face and touching his cap, he said:

"I don't think that 'ere parrot of yours will live long, marm."

"Oh, dear," said the poor old lady. "Why?"

"'Cos he's dead," was the comforting reply.—Tit-Bits.

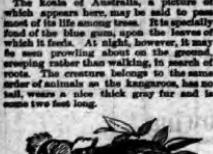
OUR YOUNG FOLKS

AN INTERESTING ANIMAL.

The Plucky Little Australian Koala, Which Lives Mostly Among the Trees.

The Koala of Australia, a picture of which appears here, may be said to pass most of its life among trees. It is specially fond of the blue gum, upon the leaves of which it feeds. At night, however, it may be seen prowling about on the ground, creeping rather than walking, in search of roots. The creature belongs to the same order of animals as the kangaroos, has no tail, wears a nice thick gray fur and is some two feet long.



THE KOALA OF AUSTRALIA.

Its baby soon learns to perch upon its mother's back, and a pretty picture the pair make. It does not fear man and takes a lot of killing. Even when badly wounded it will still cling to the bough. The natives are smart in the chase of it, climbing a tree as fast as a man can rush up a ladder. When they reach the branch upon which the koala is resting, perhaps fifty feet from the ground, they follow their victim to the very end, and either kill it or catch it alive.

The Black Cat's Philosophy.

Keep yo' claws inside yo' feet when yo' play wid de baby—human bein's don' like dair young ones cat marked.

Mek' dat kitty cats' claws when dey got thin pants on.

When de cat's away de mice will play—dey'd be fools if dey didn't—dat's deir on'y chance.

Cats don' talk biggity of yo' don' mean fightin.

De biggest tails haven't always got de best cats.

When de man sw'ars, it's time for de cats to go home.

Cats oughter lay low when furs is in de fashion.

Don' stag under de winder when dere's cheap crockery about.

Cats don' steal—dey on'y feel defrivins.

Keep mos' shut when de dog's lookin at yo'.

Don' be shy wid de dinner plate when dere's a pig dog 'roun.

Canary birds wasn't built fo' cats.

Keep yo' eye on de dust bin when de butcher's bill is big.

Going for the Doctor.

"Wait a bit, my little miss;
What makes you walk so fast?
You've got the key before you;
The sky is not o'ercast."

"I'm going to the doctor, sir
For my doll is very ill;
She's got a raging fever, sir,
I guess she's took a chill."

FASHION'S DECREES.

FABRICS AND STYLES WHICH GOOD FORM NOW DEMANDS.

Voluminous Sleeves with Skirts Interlined with Wires and Crinolines—Victorian for Day, Empire for Evening—Chat Satin and with Opal Lights in Sheen of Pearl.

To a Sun fashion writer a famous New York dressmaker says there's to be a great change in styles between now and summer, perhaps greater than any we have had in a long time. The world of fashion has been divided into two factions—one fighting for the empire modes, with their straight lines and clinging draperies, the other supporting the 1830 balloon sleeves, small waists and flaring skirts. In this country we have compromised on the empire for evening and the Victorian robes for the day.

You see, the empire dress was becoming to very few women after all. Short women couldn't wear it, and very tall women were not graceful in it. Besides, it wasn't a practical dress for anything but house and carriage wear. It needed most careful manipulation not to be grotesque and a repose of manner and deliberation in movement which the American women are not supremely gifted with. It is safe to say that the 1830 and 1845 modes will influence the coming fashions far more than anything in which Josephine and her court ladies look so lovely in the pictures. Painted women never hurry, never grow stout, never begin to grow old, never look haggard after a night out. If we could fit gowns to the women in the pictures we would have an easier time, I assure you.

About the hoops—they are just now like the hereafter. Thank heaven, for one exactly knows what is before one. The dressy skirts are interlined with crinolines; ruffles inside are wired, and facings are wired. Don't you notice how the ladies smooth out the bends in the wire when they sit down? There's no use in expecting to fix over last season's skirts. The only thing to do with an old bell skirt is to wear it bravely as it is or discard it forever.

It promises to be a great summer for

The Idea Went Out With a Sober Face.

Only a few moments elapsed, however, before he appeared again, and with with an eager smile said:

"Mamma, I want to tell a lie."

"Well, my dear, tell me what you want to say," said the mother.

The Oldest Inhabitant.

When you think it is colder than ever before, And the winds are much bolder with biting and roar,
The oldest inhabitant happens along
And shows you at once that you're utterly wrong.

The snow but a skim,
And the cold is no more than will keep a man strong.

Men and Manners.

There is infinitely more wisdom in submitting to the necessary rules of civilization than in scorning them. They may be neglected, however, for want of knowledge, and in such a case the offender is to be censured, though he may be laughed at.

George Stephenson, on being urged to wear gloves when about to be admitted to an audience with the king of Belgium, said that he was only a plain man, and if the king of Belgium could not receive him in nature's gloves, clean washed, he need not receive him at all.

It is not probable that the king would have thought more of Mr. Stephenson had he accepted the proffered kid; failure to conform to a court rule of which he was well aware was a lack of courtesy that might well be censured.

A great natured but ill informed man was invited to a large reception, where he was introduced to several ladies, one of whom he invited to dance. She accepted, but suggested the propriety of his putting on his gloves before they took their places on the floor.

"Oh, never mind me, madam!" he exclaimed; "I shall wash my hands when I have done dancing."—Youth's Companion.

His Preference.

"You want a Prince Albert coat with tails, I suppose?" asked Snipp.

"Can't you make a Prince Albert Edward, doctor, know?" asked Sappy.—Smith & Gray's Monthly.

The following communication was received from the Mayor, concerning the Board of Health's recent action in the purchase of a High School site:

MAYOR'S OFFICE,
Plainfield, N. J., Feb. 6, 1893.

To the Honorable the Common Council of the City of Plainfield:

GENTLEMEN—The recent purchase by the Board of Education of a desirable site for a high grade school directs attention to certain features of the law under which the Board acts which seem to be wrong in principle and fraught with possible evil to the interests of the People. This law as seemingly interpreted by the Board gives to it the power to expend for the current year, without the consent of the Common Council, an amount not to exceed one half of one per cent. of the taxable valuation, and in addition such further sum as the Board may consider necessary for the purchase of lands and erection of buildings for school purposes. This amount the Board is authorized to have added to the tax levy and assessed against the tax payers without regard to public opinion on the subject. It may be the Board's intention to act in this wisely and conservatively all it will—but if its ideas and those of the Common Council in these and other matters should fail to represent public opinion it would be impossible, under our system of electing the school trustees each year, to correct the evil. The only purpose in bringing my act of the present matter to your notice is that you may know it are well known in the community as men of conservative views, and that I have been actuated by a patriotic purpose in pursuing the course I have taken. Possibly I may be wrong in the law under which they act is wrong in that it is placed in the hands of a body that is not directly responsible to the people for its acts. If the law is wrong it should be changed at once, and any lawful means that may be suggested to accomplish this result will receive my hearty support.

While this view is my mind seems indisputable, I am unwilling to advocate an immediate change so radical as to imperil the efficiency of our school system. I do most sincerely believe that the authority of the Board should be abridged to the amount of requiring its power to expend money for the purchase of lands and the erection of buildings without the consent of the Common Council.

The Common Council has no power to issue bonds or borrow money except to a very limited extent for one or two specific purposes without the consent of the people; but the Board of Education can borrow money and create indebtedness to any amount they may deem necessary for public purposes.

I merely claim a right; no municipal board in this respect should be clothed with greater powers than the Common Council.

The legislature of the past few years with reference to the power of School Boards to purchase lands and erect buildings for school purposes recognizes the principle that the determining power should reside in the Common Council.

I enclose herewith a bill relating to the subject which has been drawn for submission to the Legislature. Should it meet with your approval I recommend the adoption of a resolution requesting our Senator and Members for this Assembly District to introduce the same into the Legislature and to endeavor to secure its passage.

Respectfully Submitted,
A. A. ANDERSON,
Mayor.

The annual report of Overseer of the Poor Vanderbeek was read and filed. The city physician's report was also received and filed.

The report of the Board of Health was read and filed. The report stated that 127 cases had been reported to the Board during the year, 12 of which proved fatal. The Board favored the purchasing of a building for a pest house. There have been during the year 131 marriages, 235 births, 235 deaths in Plainfield. The matter concerning a pest house was referred to the Fire Committee.

The City Treasurer's and City Collector's reports were read and filed.

The bonds of Constable Mattox and Collector Johnson, approved by the Corporation Counsel, were received and ordered recorded.

Mr. Case reported that the Citizens' Committee on sewerage would report at the March meeting.

Mr. Fisk, from the special committee on taxes, reported that there were several names of dead men on the list, of firemen and a number of names of men who had never paid taxes. He said the committee recommended the appointment of a delinquent tax collector, and offered a resolution appointing to fill that office Justice Vincent W. Nash. The resolution was adopted and Mr. Nash's bond accepted. Mr. Fisk offered another resolution to the effect that Mr. Nash seize all property on which taxes were due and sell offer it for public sale. It was adopted. Another resolution was adopted authorizing the seizing of any person owing delinquent taxes on personal property, to be delivered over to the sheriff to be held until the money is paid.

The following resolution was adopted:

Whereas the Supreme Court of this State has decided that for unpaid real estate taxes the personal property of the owner of such real estate is liable and may be seized and sold, and that such property is not by law exempt or entitled to any exemption, but that all the personal property of such delinquent may be appropriated for the purpose as far as may be necessary, and that no statute of limitation has been enacted for the collection of such taxes.

Resolved, That Vincent W. Nash, the officer designated by the Common Council to receive and collect tax and assessments, be and he is hereby directed to proceed in the execution of said warrants in the first instance by seizure, public advertisement and sale of the personal property of delinquents, and that he so proceed without delay subject to the further order of the Common Council.

Resolved, That upon failure to find property of the delinquent with which to satisfy personal property taxes, the said collector take the body or the command of his warrant by taking the body of such delinquent, if to be found in the county, and deliver the same to the sheriff of the county or his jailor to be kept in close and safe custody until the taxes in said warrant be paid.

The Clerk was authorized to procure names of all officials owing taxes.

Mr. Fisk stated that back taxes due the city amounted to $66,194.58.

The City Treasurer's report was received and ordered published in the official papers.

On motion $2,000 were transferred from poor fund to the general fund, temporarily.

Notes falling due Feb. 18th for $26,000, $3,000 and $500 were ordered paid. Another for $45,000 was extended for thirty days.

Smalley Bros. were awarded the contract to furnish crushed stone to the city for the year at the following prices: Dust, 9½c., No. 1½, 95c., No. 3½, 85c.

The Street Committee referred back the communication from the Board of Health, in regard to sewerage emptying into Green brook, and presented an ordinance covering the matter, which was laid on the table.

Maps of the new system of numbering houses received and filed. An ordinance in regard to the new system of numbering houses was passed on its first and second readings, ordered engrossed and advertised.

The salaries of the city officers were fixed as follows: Corporation Counsel, $1,000; City Clerk, $700; City Assessor, $1,000; City Treasurer, $700; Tax Collector, $1,200; Overseer of the Poor, $400; City Judge, $600; Street Commissioner, $1,750; Janitor Council Chamber, $80. All the above are for one year. Chief of Police, $60 per month; Regular policemen, $50 per month; Special policemen, 25 cents per hour when on duty; Chief of Fire Department, $700 per year, 1st Assistant Engineer, $150 per year; 2d Assistant Engineer, $100 per year; drivers, $60 per month; City Physician, $1 per day; Gamble engineer, $75 per year.

Twenty-five dollars were transferred from the trust fund to the general fund.

Mr. Fisk presented a resolution favoring the adoption of a bill by the Legislature for the introduction of broad tires on heavily-loaded wagons. The resolution was adopted and a copy ordered sent to the Hon. George Kyte.

The matter of establishing a hose company in the outskirts of the city was referred to the Fire Committee.

The care for the Council room and offices in the Coward building was renewed for another year.

The Fire and Buildings Committee was authorized to procure a temporary building to which to place No. 2's engine and the old hook and ladder truck.

Mr. Erickson offered a resolution authorizing the Fire and Buildings Committee to sell one of the steamers and two hose carts. Adopted.

It was moved that when Council adjourn it be to meet Monday, Feb. 20th. Carried.

The Street Committee was authorized to purchase $200 worth of tools for the Street Commissioner.

A resolution was adopted to compel the Central Railroad Company to cut down its side of South Second street to the proper grade.

The rules and by-laws of the Council of 1892 were adopted to govern the present Council.

Mr. Marsh offered a resolution refuting the charges made in a local paper against the City Clerk. He said the charges were without foundation and must have been made under a misunderstanding. The resolution was adopted.

The ordinance relating to the City Treasurer was read for the third time.

The ordinance relating to the licensing of hacks was referred to the Law and Ordinance Committee.

The Wanser petition was referred back for correction.

Council adjourned at eleven o'clock.

BREVITIES

—Ash Wednesday, the first day of Lent, occurs this year on February 15.

—Camera Club exhibition, in the club rooms over the post office, to-night.

—A regular meeting of the Plainfield Bicycle Club will be held on Monday, Feb. 13th, at eight o'clock, p. m. in the Club House.

—Every crossing on Somerset street seemed to be a combination of ice water and "cuss" words, last evening. The recording angel must have been sadly overworked.

—Rescued men will tell of the work of the Industrial Christian Alliance at the First Presbyterian church, this evening, at 7.45 o'clock. Special Mission song service, 7.45 to eight o'clock.

—The forty-second great council of the Improved Order of Red Men will be held at Trenton, February 23rd and 24th. Twenty new tribes have been instituted this year, and the membership reaches 15,000.

—The Merchants Protective Association of New Jersey will endeavor to have a bill passed in the Legislature making a married woman living with her husband equally liable with him for all necessary goods.

—At a recent "cock-fight" near Plainfield the "pit" was in a room about five feet eight inches high. The space between floor and ceiling was said to have been so filled, it is said, with smoke, as to hide the birds. And that was "sport!"

—An exchange says a new scheme is being worked in the rural districts by the dealers in "green goods." They now send out $1, $2, or $3 in genuine bills as a bait. The proper way is to pocket the bills and have nothing further to do with the rascals.

—A number of interesting experiments will be made by Mr. F. S. Smith, at the Y. M. C. A. rooms, Thursday evening, to show the composition and properties of water, and a number of lantern slides illustrating the history of the subject on hand. Admission free. All young men are invited.

—The manufacturers of this State have combined for the purpose of fighting the fifty-five-hour law. Petitions have been sent to every factory in the State with the request that the employes be asked to sign it. The petition asks that the fifty-five-hour law be repealed, declaring it to be against the interests of the workingmen.

The Park Club Defeated.

The Park Club bowlers were defeated by the Fanwood team, at Fanwood, last night, by the following score:

Because His Wife was Out, Thompson Destroyed His Furniture.

Sunday night, because his wife did not return home from visiting her sister, Gilbert Thompson, colored, of Manning avenue, North Plainfield, proceeded to clean house, by throwing out the furniture, about midnight. A neighbor, aroused by the disturbance, notified Marshal Pangborn, who arrested Thompson and placed him in the lockup, where he remained until this morning when he was released on payment of a three dollar fine.

A Miniature Water Fall.

There was a miniature water fall in a Park avenue butcher shop yesterday afternoon. While the steam was at the height a portion of the roof of the building gave way. The upper story was flooded and and the watercan in a stream into the shop underneath. The water poured through the roof at such a rate that a portion of the walls gave way and fell to the floor. The apartments are occupied by a colored family and some of their furniture is ruined.

BOARD OF EDUCATION.

THE REGULAR MONTHLY MEETING HELD LAST EVENING.

Bills Ordered Paid—City Treasurer's and Collector's Report Received—Teachers Resigned and Others Appointed.

A regular meeting of the Board of Education was held last evening in the High School building on Fifth street. Members present — Messrs. Babcock, Probasco and Finch.

The reading of the minutes of last meeting was dispensed with by vote.

The bills passed were as follows:

W. L. Force & Bro.	4.75
H. H. Ballard	7.40

A communication was read from Alex. Tilsworth, city treasurer, reporting having received from B. Holmes, County Supt. Schools, warrant for State money for $13,403.58, which had been deposited in the bank to the credit of the board.

Report of John Johnson, collector of taxes, reporting collection of school moneys for January, 1893, of $1,601.69, which included interest of $46.81.

Communication received from the Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Stephen Haff, of Plainfield Branch Alliance of Unitarian and other liberal Christian women, requesting the use of Assembly Hall at Irving school, for three "Emergency" lectures which will have especial reference to accidents on railroad, in shop or in homes. The request was granted.

Principal Mason turned over to the president $280 collected for tuition.

Committee on Teachers reported resignation of Miss Toombs, Bryant school; Miss Katherine D. Kimball, Franklin school; and recommended to the board Miss Emma L. Stickels, salary $600, to fill Miss Toombs' place; Miss Flora Griffen, salary $500, to fill Miss Kimball's place; also Miss M. L. Jones, salary $450, as assistant in Bryant school. The report was received and teachers engaged.

Miss Stickels is all graduates of Normal Schools, and have had several years experience.

A motion was adopted that in making out the pay roll of the teachers, each month, no deduction should be made for days on which the schools were closed by order of the board, except for the regular vacations.

Dr. J. B. Probasco read a clipping from a New York paper which showed that the standing of graduates from Plainfield High Schools was higher than some of the colleges.

It was moved that the janitors be allowed $1 per night, extra, for the nights they were obliged to be at the schools to attend to the heating, to properly maintain the temperature during school hours.

The committee on the auditing of collector and treasurers accounts reported progress.

The board then adjourned.

PERSONAL.

Miss Lizzie DeCamp, of Chester, Morris county, is visiting Miss Lillian Force of Dunc street, North Plainfield.

Mr. W. E. Chapman, the conductor of the Mahopac society, is reported to be seriously ill at his home in New York.

There will be a free organ recital at the First Baptist church, Tuesday evening, Feb. 28, by Mr. W. E. MacClymonds, the organist of that church.

Congressman James A. D. Richards of Ohio is visiting his mother, Mrs. Britain R. Bryson. On Thursday evening a reception will be given in his honor at the home of his brother-in-law, Mr. John Haberle of Harmony street, North Plainfield.

The Rev. and Mrs. E. M. Rodman gave a reception yesterday at their home, on Lin Grande avenue. Mrs. Rodman was assisted in receiving by Mrs. W. E. Lowe, Mrs. Cox, Mrs. J. B. Dumont, Mrs. S. Huntington, Mrs. F. C. Herring and Miss E. Cock. Mrs. A. Kleinecke, Mrs. Saltzell, Mrs. L. G. Timpson and Mrs. G. E. Thomas, presided at the tea table, assisted by Miss Jessamy Barte, Miss Marion Dumont, Miss Florence Huntington, Mrs. Wharton, Miss Grace Lansdon, Miss Wharton and Miss Ida Harlott. About a hundred and fifty guests attended.

A House Partly Burned.

Mr. Fernando Brown's house on Webster place was partly destroyed by fire this morning. It was started by a detective flue. The rear end of the house was burned. The firemen's quick response saved the building from total destruction, as the flames had gained quite a headway before an alarm was sent in. Water was taken from a hydrant.

Entertaining the Boys.

The storm did not prevent but few of the members of the Boys' Club from attending the entertainment in their rooms last evening. Their choice selection and unrehearsed applause was very flattering. Rev. Hobart Clark addressed them, Mr. Hudson sang for them and Mr. Vreeland delighted them with recitations.

Five Sailors Drowned.

POINT PLEASANT, N. J., Feb. 7. (Special.)—The Norwegian bark Alice, Capt. Jacobson, from Dunkirk Dec. 21, for New York in ballast, came ashore at 9.30 o'clock last night at the Long Beach Life Saving Station. Five of the crew were drowned. Eleven of the remaining members of the crew were rescued.

A MURDEROUS ITALIAN.

Mr. John Windle and His Son Have a Thrilling Experience.

A murderous attempt was made on the lives of two persons at Smallwood on early yesterday morning. Several Italians are engaged in the manufacture of cheese near that place, and have purchased milk from John Windle, a milkman, to furnish the milk used in the manufacture of the cheese.

The contract did not call for the delivery of milk on Sunday and Mr. Windle refused to comply with their request that a delivery be made on that day. This enraged the Italians. Yesterday morning, Mr. Windle, in company with his son, drove to the cheese factory, with the customary amount of milk, which the Italians refused to accept. Thereupon he proceeded to pour it out upon the ground. Mr. Windle's son was standing on the ground. An old Italian appeared with a revolver which he aimed at the boy. The weapon would not go off at the first trial and so the old fellow tried it again, and still he could not discharge it. Before he could cock the hammer again the father was upon him. Mr. Windle bore him to the ground, at the same time calling to his son to run. The boy started for home, but before he had gone far the Italian succeeded in getting away from the father and started after the boy. He could not catch him so the revolver was brought into play again. Three shots were fired, none of which took effect. While the Italian was cheating the boy Mr. Windle escaped by getting into his wagon and driving off.

They consider themselves very fortunate in escaping with their lives, as the Italian evidently intended to kill them.

Mr. Windle is a brother-in-law of Mr. John Byrnan of North Plainfield.

At Music Hall Last Evening.

Mr. Henry Miller and company were at Music Hall last evening in the one act play "Frederic Lemaitre" and the three act comedy "The Senator Pleasant." Mr. Miller is a most talented actor. In "Frederic Lemaitre" he was especially good.

The comedy was hurried too much to be thoroughly enjoyed. It seemed as though several parts had been omitted. The night was a very stormy and the walking so very bad, that, these things considered, the attendance was large.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Another idiot has gone and blown his brains out in a room at a hotel. Choose any place but that.

We may have cheap money yet before this congress adjourns. The bill for the redemption at the United States treasury department of foul and ragged national bank bills is on the house calendar now. Congress ought to pass that law even if it lets some other things go over. It would not take half an hour in both houses.

The French people, many of them poor working people, contributed $400,000,000 to build the Panama canal, expecting to get it back in dividends that would take care of them in their old age. A third of it was used in bribery and corruption, another third was wasted, and only the remaining third was employed in honest work. Charles de Lesseps testified that $2,400,000 of the fund had been used in the United States "for the best interests of the company." He did not explain in language any less vague what was done with the sum. But in his report Jan. 31, 1881, Count de Lesseps said that "the opposition in America has been quashed." This is mysterious and throws a shadow over the American committee of the Panama company. They were men of high standing. A full explanation is in order in America.

Headwater Forest Reservations.

As long ago as 1873 Carl Schurz, secretary of the interior during the Hayes administration, brought on himself great odium by his attempts to prevent destruction of timber on the public lands. It was represented that Schurz was trying to force his despotic German notions down the throat of a great free people, one of the first of whose rights was the liberty to cut, hack, burn, uproot and cart off every tree on Uncle Sam's dominions. Yet the Schurz idea grew in popularity until nearly every American outside of those actually engaged in purloining timber from the public lands has come to see the necessity for its practical enforcement.

The best fruits of the forest preservation agitation thus far are embodied in an act passed in March, 1891, for the preservation of forests upon public lands surrounding the headwaters of rivers and streams in the western states and territories. The law put it in power of the president to set apart by proclamation certain portions of the public lands which shall be kept as forest preserves, not to be touched by ax or saw. The only exception is that actual settlers may by special permit take from such forest wood enough for fuel, fences and necessary building operation.

Six of those forest preserves have now been set apart, containing in all over 5,000 square miles. The largest one is on the southeast of Yellowstone park, and it is 14 times the size of Rhode Island. The next largest is the White river reservation in Colorado, which state contains three of the six preserves. New Mexico and Oregon have one each.

Jugglers In Asia and Africa.

Professor Harry Kellar, the sleight of hand performer whose exhibitions have been given in every part of the world, writes a paper in The North American Review which creates the impression that the most skillful magicians, so called, in Europe and America do not yet know the A B C of their art. He is careful to tell us more than once that he repudiates utterly all supernatural agencies in producing the results which he describes. He says he has spent his life in combating the delusions of supernaturalism and the so called manifestations of spiritualism.

But there is one thing of which Kellar is firmly convinced after spending 15 years in India and the far east. It is that it is possible for man to obtain a control over the forces of nature such as western nations, with all their civilization, are not yet even dimly aware of. That the fakirs of India have gained such control Kellar is fully persuaded. They have had it for ages, yet have guarded the secret so closely that even Kellar with all his shrewdness is unable to guess how they perform their feats.

One of the most extraordinary of these feats is levitation—that is, apparently rising bodily into the air and remaining suspended there without any support. Once he saw a spiritual medium, Eglinton, who accomplished the same. Kellar did not believe in it and held Eglinton closely by the hand. But even while he held him Eglinton's body rose in the air, and not only that, but it pulled Kellar with him, until he was first obliged to stand upon a chair, then upon a table, to keep hold of Eglinton's hand.

Once when Kellar was in Africa he "saw a witch doctor levitate the form of an athletic young Zulu by waving a tuft of grass about his head." The witch doctor waved a bunch of grass stalks about three feet long over the head of the Zulu. In a moment or two the grass seemed to take fire. The Zulu's body rose slowly into the air to a height of about three feet and remained till, as the grass gradually burned out, it descended to the ground. Professor Kellar vouches in the most matter of fact way for the truth of the story. The easiest way to get around the thing is to say it isn't so. If it is, then we ought to have a troop of those African witch doctors over to give exhibitions at the World's fair.

SILVER BILL REMAINS.

The Senate Refuses to Repeal by a Vote of 42 to 23.

HARRISON PREPARING A MESSAGE.

Kilgore Assumes His Favorite Role as Obstructionist—Gilbert Island's Appeal For Protection Against British Encroachments—Hill's Dig at Cleveland.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—Mr. Kilgore (Tex.) began filibustering motions early in the house, his superficial object being to prevent the consideration of the anti-option bill, but no sooner than this was his antagonism to the bankruptcy bill, which public rumor had put down on the slate for consideration. Many members who were in favor of the one were opposed to the other, and there was a third section which, being in favor of both propositions, was opposed to the consideration of war claims measures. After the long but rather uninteresting fight Mr. Kilgore found himself in a hopeless minority and was obliged to surrender to the powers, and the journal, against which his skirmish line was drawn, was approved. But Kilgore was not disheartened, and when he found Mr. Barrows (Mich.) leading an attack against a war claims bill he valiantly seconded every motion made by that gentleman. Between them they succeeded in preventing action on any measure, and at 4:40 the house adjourned.

A Vote on the Hill Resolution.

The proceedings of the senate were of a character at once interesting and important. The junior senator from New York, Mr. Hill, made the motion of which he had given notice last Friday—to proceed to the consideration of the bill to repeal the Sherman silver purchase act—and in support of the motion delivered a carefully prepared speech, in which he declared himself unconditionally a friend of free bimetallic coinage. The speech received unusual attention from senators, from members who had come over from the house to hear it and from a large audience in the galleries, but the motion was defeated by nearly a two-thirds majority, the vote being: Yeas, 23; nays, 42. Afterward the quarantine bill was taken up and passed without a division, also a bill for the payment of claims in the treasury of local taxes on lands held by Indians in severalty. Finally the automatic coupler bill was taken up and discussed for a time, when it went over till to-morrow.

The Vote on the Silver Bill.

The following is the vote of the senate against the report of the silver act:

Yeas—Brice, Caffery, Davis, Dawes, Dixon, Faulkner, Frye, Gallinger, Gibson, Gorman, Hale, Hawley, Hill, Hoar, Mc. Pherson, Mills, Morrill, Palmer, Proctor, Sherman, Vest, Vilas and White—23.

Nays—Bate, Berry, Blackburn, Blodgett, Call, Carey, Cockrell, Cole, Colquitt, Daniel, Dolph, Dubois, Felton, George, Gordon, Hansbrough, Harris, Hunton, Irby, Jones (Nev.), Kyle, McMillin, Manderson, Mitchell, Morgan, Pasco, Peffer, Perkins, Pettigrew, Platt, Power, Pugh, Ranson, Shoup, Squire, Stewart, Stockbridge, Teller, Turpie, Vance, Voorhees and Wolcott—42.

Mr. Hill's Clever Tactics.

Mr. Hill, by procuring this vote upon the silver question, is considered to have accomplished a clever political movement. He has placed on the records of the senate and elect a formal record of those who openly bid defiance to his command to the senate, and of those who, while yielding to his dictation, cannot for the most part be considered in sympathy with his expected policy regarding the distribution of patronage.

In his speech Mr. Hill paid Mr. Cleveland the compliment of dubbing his office in the Mills building "the eastern Olympus in Wassan street."

He spoke of the mugwumps as supervising at once the "literature of all nations and scraps of New York," and of their arguments as coming from persons who were "busy smoothing our road to heaven with some supplement to the Ten Commandments."

The President Confers Relative to Hawaii.

Considerable headway has been made by the administration in the Hawaiian matter. The president and secretary of state were together on the subject for some time, and Secretary Tracy joined in the conference. The president devoted all of yesterday to the consideration of the subject, with the assistance of his secretary of state and secretary of navy, both of whom are known to be enthusiastically in favor of annexation. What actually transpired at the White House can only be surmised, as it is the president's orders that nothing be said for publication until the negotiations with the commission have been completed.

A Message Under Consideration.

There is ample authority for the statement that work was continued on an important state paper which is intended for further discussion at the cabinet meeting, with the view to transmission to congress the latter part of the week. It is further believed there is hardly any doubt on that score that the paper being drawn is the message which will be sent to congress urging legislation for annexation and the form of government the administration considers desirable for Hawaii under the proposed new status of annexation. There are of course further negotiations to be conducted with the commission, but the deliberations at the White House were on the form of the message to be sent to congress, subject to revision to be made after further negotiations with the commission.

Carroll Wright Nominated.

The president sent to the senate the nomination of Carroll D. Wright of Massachusetts to be commissioner of labor.

Another Island Seeks Admission.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 7.—Colonel Charles E. Bailey, the American commissioner for King Tebenon of Butaritari, one of the Gilbert islands, has forwarded to the state department at Washington a protest from the king against the forcible seizure of the islands by the British government, while negotiations were progressing with the United States. He asks the protection of the United States or annexation. Advices from Butaritari state that Captain Davis of the British navy, who seized the islands, was very arbitrary in his conduct, insulting the American consul Isham and abusive to the king. Representatives of the island king in this country state that the British made haste to seize the islands as soon as ago on receipt of the information from Sydney that the king had gone to the United States to ask protection.

Pays $100 Rather Than Serve on a Jury.

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—John H. Fingler of the Standard Oil company was fined $100 by Judge Beach of the supreme court for failure to answer a subpœna.

JUSTICE JACKSON INTERVIEWED.

He Has Had No Correspondence With the President Regarding His Appointment.

CINCINNATI, Feb. 7.—Judge Howell E. Jackson, recently nominated by President Harrison to the office of associate judge of the supreme court of the United States, is here in connection with his duties as circuit judge.

Speaking of his recent appointment, he said: "I have had no communication with the president relating to my appointment either before or since I was informed of it. A few days before the appointment was made I had a letter from one of the present justices saying he hoped the president might see his way clear to appoint me to the vacant post. About the same time I had a letter from a prominent lawyer of Detroit expressing the same hope. I was not consulted, and as far as I know the president did not consult with any one relative to the matter. I have no idea who will be my successor, but I would like to say a word about an item I saw in a morning paper. It said I was appointed that Harrison might appoint his old law partner, General Miller, to the place I vacated. Now, as a matter of fact, such a thing is impossible, even had the president desired it. My successor must come from my own district. General Miller is of the Seventh district and is not eligible."

"Do you think the president should have let Cleveland make the appointment?"

"Not at all. It is no new thing for a retiring president to make such appointments. President John Adams appointed Chief Justice Marshall only two days before the inauguration of Thomas Jefferson, who objected to such action seriously, and President Jackson appointed Justice Catron and had him confirmed on the morning of March 4, only a few hours before he retired from the presidential office. Such appointments are not partisan by a Republican president seems a good step toward removing the court still further from the realm of politics, which it should have not the least connection."

CHICAGO UNDER WATER.

Sewer Inlets Frozen So as to Render the System Inadequate.

CHICAGO, Feb. 7.—Much damage has been caused by the rapid flow of water from the streets. Whole districts of the city are inundated. The sewer department at present is crippled. Nevertheless the situation in this city been more serious, and the authorities are absolutely powerless to avert the inevitable consequences. There are in the city 40,000 catch basins, a majority of which are frozen up by the recent severe weather. The American Express company, the Tremont House, the Adams Express company and several of the public schools have been badly flooded and have called upon the city for help. Four hundred men have been put to work in the down town districts, and every effort is being made to open up the catch basins. The rapid changes in the weather, thawing one day and freezing the next, have made it an utter impossibility to keep the catch basins clear of ice.

A Saratogan Commits Suicide.

SARATOGA, Feb. 7.—A. Gerald Hull, 30 years old, one of Saratoga's most respected and wealthiest citizens, committed suicide this morning by shooting himself through the head with a revolver. Mr. Hull came here a few years ago with his beautiful young wife for her health. They moved in the best society here and made themselves popular wherever they went. Mrs. Hull's health failed, however, and about a year and a half ago the family left here. Since then Mr. Hull's health has been poor. He was an enthusiastic sportsman and built an elegant residence at Saratoga Lake, where he resided until this winter, when he hired rooms in the Arcade building here, which he fitted up magnificently.

A School Superintendent Resigns.

WATERTOWN, N. Y., Feb. 7.—The trouble in the Watertown high school this winter between Principal T. F. Kane and some of the pupils, which recently reached such an unpleasant state that an effigy of the principal was hung on a tree in the school grounds, has culminated in a controversy between Superintendent F. Seymour of the city schools and Professor Kane. As a result Mr. Seymour has voluntarily resigned his position after severely criticising Professor Kane, accusing him of ungentlemanly treatment of teachers and scholars as well as discourteous action toward the superintendent.

Freed From Panama Scandal.

PARIS, Feb. 7.—The chamber of indictments has decided that no case has been found against Deputy Rouvier and Senators Deves, Grevy and Renault, against whom M. Franqueville, examining magistrate in the Panama scandal, reported true bills. The parliamentary commission of inquiry, by a vote of 12 to 8, rejected a proposal that the government order an interrogation of Cornelius Herz by a special commission.

The Grand Jury After Gleason.

LONG ISLAND CITY, L. I., Feb. 7.—The Queens county grand jury has commenced an investigation into the right of ex-Mayor Gleason to withhold the books and papers of the office of mayor after he vacated it. The ex-mayor has surrendered the documents, but there is a belief that he will be indicted for retaining them as long as he did.

A Cabinet Rumor From Boston.

BOSTON, Feb. 7.—There is a rumor current that the portfolio of state has been offered to John Quincy Adams by the president-elect. At his residence on Commonwealth avenue today Mr. Adams could not be seen. His secretary refused to say if there was any truth in the report.

Mrs. Makepeace Secures Bail.

DEDHAM, Mass., Feb. 7.—Mrs. Anna Makepeace, in whose trial for manslaughter the jury recently disagreed, has obtained bail, and she has been released from jail. Whether or not she will be tried again depends upon the new district attorney, Robert Harris.

Death of Ex-Congressman Hewitt.

BELVIDERE, N. J., Feb. 7.—Captain Benjamin F. Howitt, a prominent Republican and manufacturer, died at his home near Columbia at the age of 68. The deceased was an ex-member of congress and represented the Fourth district of New Jersey.

The City of Peking Safe.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 7.—The City of Peking, which has caused so much anxiety to friends and relatives of those on board and to her owners from the fact that she was 12 days overdue, has arrived. The delay was caused by a broken shaft.

A New Pastor at Saratoga.

SARATOGA SPRINGS, Feb. 7.—The Rev. William Durant, a graduate of the Princeton Theological seminary, class of '73, will be installed as pastor of the First Presbyterian church on Feb. 15.

WERTS' INDEPENDENCE.

Republican Nominations Confirmed by Democrats.

EX-GOVERNOR ABBETT AS A JUDGE.

New Jersey's Senate Confirms William Walter Phelps' Nomination and Has Under Consideration That of General Spencer, Another Republican.

TRENTON, Feb. 7.—The senate today confirmed the nomination of William Walter Phelps to be a judge of the court of errors and appeals.

It is stated that Governor Werts will appoint ex-Governor Abbett to succeed Justice Scudder, who dropped dead Friday, on the supreme court bench. Governor Werts has nominated General Bird W. Spencer to succeed himself as state senator. General Spencer is a Republican and was appointed by Governor Green four years ago.

Senator Cornish has introduced a bill limiting the charges for telephones on a graded scale according to the number of subscribers. It is evident that no Republican Jersey City local government will be made by this legislature. Mr. McLaughlin said he would not speak till the bill generally is introduced and an effort made to pass it. It will be the old bill of last year, which authorizes boards of freeholders, or to house any race track, the track to pay 5 per cent of its gross receipts into the county treasury. Mr. McLaughlin did not approve very much of the special bill. He thinks it is not believe that the governor will sign it, and he says efforts will be made to pass it over the governor's veto.

FUNERAL OF MRS. WHITNEY.

Mr. Cleveland and Mr. Vanderbilt Were Among the Pallbearers.

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—The funeral, as announced, took place at 10 o'clock this morning in the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian church. The burial was in Woodlawn cemetery.

The four children remaining are Pauline Whitney, who has just entered society; Henry Payne Whitney, now a student at Yale; William C. Whitney, Jr., who is attending a school near Boston, and Dorothy, who was born in Washington during Mr. Cleveland's administration.

The pallbearers were Mr. Cleveland, Cornelius Vanderbilt, George Peabody Wetmore, E. Randolph Robbins, H. McK. Twombly, George H. Bend, George G. Haven, Thomas F. Cushing, Buchanan Winthrop and Edward A. Wicken.

Making 94 Whisky at a Cost of $1.31.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—Before the committee investigating the whisky trust Mr. Myers produced liquors by adulteration. By the use of essential oil, essences and coloring matter, he produced in a few minutes what would take years to produce. He sent to those that were placed on the market and sold as pure goods. The basis for this product was laudanum and odorless liquid, known in the trade as No. 1. It was worth about $1.30 per gallon. By the use of compounds worth about 1¾ cents he produced a gallon of liquor that would sell as high as $4. The production of adulterated goods represented one-half of the liquor business of the country.

Walking the Rope In Overshoes.

BUFFALO, Feb. 7.—Clifford Calverley, the Canadian rope walker, who performed daring feats on the rope at Rumsey Park last summer, gave a private exhibition there yesterday before a few friends. He proposed to cross the river on the whirlpool, but it would be impossible to find places to fasten the guys, so he determined to test its steadiness without guys in its present location first. He wore overshoes and carried an iron rod as a balancing pole. The cable was covered with ice and as icy drizzle was falling. The rope walker went out some distance safely, but as he stepped on the cable, knocked the ice off it and performed various feats.

Governor Flower's Vote Fails.

ALBANY, Feb. 7.—Governor Flower sent to the senate a veto of the famous Brooklyn police bill. This was the bill which legislated out of court the indictment against the Brooklyn officials for misappropriation of funds in connection with the Columbian celebration. The governor's message declared that the acts of the indicted officials were clearly illegal and criminal, and no excuse of ignorance could be made.

A Toledo Official Guilty of Malfeasance.

TOLEDO, Feb. 7.—Henry Bower, street commissioner of this city, was found guilty of malfeasance in office by a jury in the common pleas court. Mr. Bower is charged with having drawn the salary of a man whose name appeared upon the pay rolls of his office, but who in reality was dead. Every month Mr. Bower would present the false voucher and receive the money.

Hughes Begins His Sentence.

ROCHESTER, Feb. 7.—Master Workman James Hughes, convicted of extorting money from the Rochester Boiler Makers' Clothing exchange, gave himself up at the penitentiary and began serving his year's sentence. He had been out on bail and could not be found when the decision of the court was handed down.

The Lewiston Strike of Spinners.

LEWISTON, Me., Feb. 7.—Grand Secretary Ross of the National association was present at a meeting of the mule spinners of Lewiston. The meeting lasted for a prolonged session, and it is doubtful if any decision in regard to a strike will be reached.

Sentenced For Life.

SYRACUSE, Feb. 7.—John Cooper, alias Thomas O'Donnell, was sentenced to life imprisonment at hard labor in Auburn state prison for the murder of George L. Gottle at Skaneateles junction on Nov. 22 last.

A LONG STRUGGLE IN KANSAS.

Both Parties Make a Show of Doing Public Business.

TOPEKA, Feb. 7.—The Populist and Republican houses worked side by side in the hall, but neither gave any sort of recognition to the other. Both houses have determined to enter upon the transaction of business with increased energy regardless of legal complications.

The Republicans have already passed two bills, but as the governor and senate will pay no attention to their acts they cannot hope to accomplish much. But they will give the usual consideration to the bills now pending before them.

The Populists have introduced over 100 bills, but have passed none as yet that will enable their opponents to raise the question of constitutionality in the courts. Many of the Populist bills are duplicates of those introduced two years ago, which failed to become laws because of the opposition of the Republican senators. The appropriation bills for the support of the state institutions will probably be passed within a few days by the Populists, but they cannot be taken into the courts earlier than July.

Pastor Downs Moves For a New Trial.

BOSTON, Feb. 7.—Rev. W. W. Downs wants his famous $50,000 suit against Dr. Sepas, Joseph Story, Mrs. Campbell, Alice Hopton and others tried anew. He has filed a motion for a new trial of the case against Mr. Story on the ground of newly discovered evidence in the superior court. Mr. Story's counsel moved to dismiss the motion for a new trial on the ground that it was filed after the regular time allowed. The court denied the motion to dismiss, and Judge Sherman, who presided at the trial which resulted favorably to Mr. Story, will pass upon the motion for a new trial.

Major Pond's Daughter Seeks Divorce.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 7.—There was much surprise in theatrical and musical circles of this city when it became known that Edith Hand, nee Pond, daughter of Major J. B. Pond, the manager of lecturing tours, had begun suit in this city for an absolute divorce from her husband, Elmer E. Hand. Edith is a singer of ability and has a reputation in musical circles both in this city and New York.

HOW TO DRESS CHILDREN.

Winter Styles for Girls and Boys Described and Illustrated.

"What shall we do with our boys?" is the ever recurring question of anxious mothers as the seasons come and go. Not a few of these parents answer the query by putting their boys in knickerbockers ever so much too soon. The little fellows ought to be kept in their pretty frocks and old fashioned pelisses and big beaver hats and feathers as long as possible.

Of course, no matter how much one may decline to that picturesque style of dress, the time finally comes when a change is necessary. When petticoats have to be given up a sailor dress or something in the Scotch style (not necessarily in tartan—it looks extremely nice in homespun or tweed) is infinitely preferable for a very small boy to knickerbockers. And just as the premature adoption of knickerbockers should be avoided a protest is here made against a too early excursion into long trousers. A fine manly fellow of twelve to fourteen rarely appears better than in new cut knicker bockers and thick ribbed stockings.

There is, however, no lack of variety in boys' clothing any more than in that provided for girls. Indeed dresses for children of both sexes are this season considered with care, especially that provided for little people's parties, in instance of which are the charming costumes depicted in the first cut. The one for a little boy is made of tan colored velveteen, the coat open and faced with silk, trimmed with cords and buttons, and revealing a cream silk shirt and turned down collar, edged with a frill.

OVERCOATS FOR BOYS.

This is very pretty and by no means "overdone." And delightfully simple, too, is the dress for a little girl, which is accordion pleated from neck to hem and made in a peach colored crepon, with a deep lace frill around the neck and the quaint "angel" sleeves.

An attractive dress for a little girl of ten or twelve years of age is of rose colored silk, with a yoke braided in fine silk cord. The ballet is plaited below the waist into a belt of the same cord, and is opened again around the hem.

Overcoats are matters of considerable importance just now, and of these there is an excellent selection. Plain and manly looking Chesterfields; thick reefers, double and single breasted; tweed coats, with capes or without, comfortable Inverness and smart covert or four-in-hand coats are a few among the styles to be seen this season. In the second cut are illustrated six pleasing topcoats for little boys, including the Chester, reefer, four-in-hand cape ulsters and hussars.

AMONG THE PUGILISTS.

Griffin and Murphy Fight at Coney Island For $4,000.

THE AUSTRALIAN PUT TO SLEEP.

It Only Took Seven Rounds to Do the Business, and to Fill Out the Evening a Match Was Indulged in by Lyons and Hogan to the Extent of Twenty Rounds.

CONEY ISLAND ATHLETIC CLUB, Feb. 7.—Despite the stormy weather there was a large and enthusiastic crowd of sporting men assembled at the Coney Island Athletic club last night. Johnny Griffin of Braintree, Mass., and Australian Billy Murphy fought for the featherweight championship and a purse of $4,000. In addition to this finish fight there was an additional attraction of a 20-round contest between Kid Hogan of Brooklyn and Dolly Lyons of New York.

It was 8:30 before the first pair of scrappers hopped upon the stage. They were to fight 20 rounds for a purse of $1,000, the winner to take $600 and the loser $200. Lyons was awarded the fight.

Griffin and Murphy Take the Ring.

There was a slight intermission between the conclusion of the first fight and the beginning of the second. Billy Murphy of New Zealand was accompanied by his seconds, Martin Murphy, Charley Horan, Charley Hogan and A. F. Murphy, with Snapper Garrison as timer. The seconds of Johnny Griffin were Jimmy Carroll, Phil Conway and Jack McGee, with John McGrath of Boston as timer. Bob Stoll held the official time. Murphy wore white trunks and a black belt, and Griffin had on red tights and the American flag as a belt. Griffin was the favorite in the betting, but Murphy had an excellent following.

In the seventh and last round Murphy started in to do some heavy work, but Griffin met him with a hard left on the mouth and landed on his nose with his right. They came together like mad bulls, and Murphy forced Griffin to the floor, and when he arose Murphy went at Griffin swinging his arms like windmills.

They rushed each other, fighting like demons, when Griffin shot out his left, which settled on the pit of Murphy's stomach. Down he went, groaning and completely knocked out by the same blow by which Cal McCarthy knocked out Calligan in New Orleans.

Murphy Was Knocked Out.

When Murphy was carried to his chair he fell off and was held in position until he recovered his senses. The time of the round was 15 seconds when the knockout blow was received. Murphy broke his wrist early in the fight.

Murphy was very clever at long range, but Griffin was aware of that fact and forced the fighting all he knew how. Griffin gave Murphy some terrific jabs. Murphy had only one hand on which he depended, which was his right, but the lad from Braintree was not in its way. Murphy was groggy, and it was foxy play. He would take blow after blow squarely in the face and wait for an opportunity to get in his right, but Griffin was equally sharp.

Duke of Marlborough's Will.

LONDON, Feb. 7.—The will of the late Duke of Marlborough shows the gross value of the personality to be £352,708. To his son, the present Duke, the testator leaves so much farming stock, live or dead, as will amount in value to £3,000, to be accepted in satisfaction of the son's claim upon the testator's estate. To Lady Colin Campbell, as a proof of friendship and esteem, the duke leaves £20,000, and after some small legacies amounts the testator bequeathed the residue of the estate to his widow, the Duchess of Marlborough, who was Lillian Warren Price of New York.

Italian Officials and the Bank.

ROME, Feb. 7.—The investigations of the examining magistrate have shown already the criminal connection of seven deputies and two ex-ministers with the bank scandals. All nine men have been brought under police surveillance pending their arrest. OUR PANAMA CANAL FRAUDS.

Colonel Ingersoll Received $60,000 and Other Lawyers $25,000 In Fees.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—After many delays the Panama investigation was begun by the special committee appointed by the house for the purpose. Charles Cohse of Brooklyn, secretary of the American committee of the Panama canal company of formation in 1881, testified that Mr. Thompson was not as the office much, and most of the business done there was transacted through whisky. He has disbursed about $6,000,000. After 1883 the principal business of the American committee was to seek for subscriptions to loans and to act as a go between for the Panama Canal company and the Panama Railroad company, the canal company owning nearly all the capital stock of the railroad company.

Mr. Cohse testified in substance that the American company purchased the Panama railroad stock at $250 per share, although the market price was $140, because it was necessary to obtain control of the road. Attorneys' fees paid were: To R. J. Ingersoll, $5,000, and Shellabarger & Wilson, $25,000.

The committee decided to meet again on Wednesday and it possible have Messrs. Thompson and Appleton present. Mr. Ellis is now traveling in the yacht "for his health," as Mr. Cohse expressed it. The books of the American company will be brought to New York by Mr. Cohse and placed before the committee for inspection.

ROCKVILLE CENTER, L. I., Feb. 7.—Freddy Stella Bridgeman, whose attempt to clear from here last week with Deerfoot, a Kickapoo Indian, who had been selling patent medicine, was frustrated by her mother, went to Hempstead, where the Indian band is at present in camp. From Hempstead she went to Long Island City, accompanied by Deerfoot. When seen at Jamaica the girl said they were going to New York to be married, but Miss Stella returned home shortly after. She said that Deerfoot left her in the Long Island railroad waiting room, Long Island City, promising to return in an hour, but failed to do so.

West National Quarantine at Chicago.

CHICAGO, Feb. 7.—Director General Davis of the World's fair, in his report on the cholera question to the council of administration, declares that it is absolutely necessary for the federal government to assume control of the quarantine service at seaports to insure public confidence in the efficacy of quarantine regulations. The report says there is no likelihood of the disease being introduced in merchandise shipped here for purposes of exhibition, the only sources of danger being immigration from German ports and the importation of rags.

Electricity Will Supplant Horsepower.

ROME, N. Y., Feb. 7.—The citizens of Rome have secured their subscription of the sum of $21,000 for the purchase of the Rome City Street railroad. The property will be acquired in behalf of the subscribers by A. C. WOMAN AND HOME.

ADVICE OF ELDERS IN CHOOSING THE FRIENDS OF YOUTH.

Some Useful Suggestions For the Housekeeper's Guidance—Hints For the Parlor and Kitchen—The Responsibilities Which Rest Upon Mothers.

"It seems as if grandmamma could not find enough fault with my friends," a young girl was heard complaining to her sister the other day, and grandmamma, not beyond hearing, felt very sore and indignant over the unjust remark. Why had she found fault with the friends of her darling? Because she loved to pick a rose to pieces and throw its petals to the wind, or because she did not love the young girl and want her to be happy? Far from it. Her whole thought in the matter was love. Yet, for all that, the sign was not altogether single in the direction in which that love looked. For, in the first place, she was moved by a desire that her grandchild should have about her the best companionship, and her anxiety that it should be the best made her inspect and criticise and find fault, made her difficult to please, for what was there quite good enough for the occasion, and who was there to be fully trusted to do no harm of blight or tarnish to this opening flower of her hope?

And then, in the last place, it is not impossible that a little jealousy of the companion, who has possibly more beauty, or more talent, or more money, or more position, more of the world's advantages in general, perhaps even a prettier manner of a better temper, than her own young girl, made her look askant and speak bitterly, seeing in her own dear the demerit that only eyes sharpened by jealous love are quick enough to see, but which only the tongue that champions a rival is sharp enough to announce. At any rate in either case it is love, even if love perverted. But is it not better for those of us who have reached the dignity of the elders, who are grandmothers and aunts, without actual responsibility and power to forbid, to remember that youth and years behold things from entirely different points of view?

If we look back upon the intervening space of our own lives, we shall remember how ardently youth took everything in hand, how we chose our friends, few out of many, for reasons surely appealing to ourselves, and having chosen them, how we clung to them, confided in them, held them as a part of us, felt censure of them as censure of us, not only as censure of our choice, but of all the life of ours, the thoughts, the feelings, the acts that had entered into it. We did not sympathize with that love for us which would separate these friends from us, and we would have despised the jealous thought that saw the wrong side of these young friends because the other half of our souls, as Horace has it, had we been aware of it.

Would it not be best, then, to reserve the fault finding from loud expression, to endeavor to improve the young companion under our displeasure, and if that is not possible, then to wish to the unbelieved companionship by long visits elsewhere of our own young girl, by journeyings and occupations of her choosing forward companions beyond reproach, whom the propinquity may make as dear as were the undesired?—Harper's Bazar.

It we are to judge from some of the letters printed in the Paris Figaro. The young wife of a doctor, who says that she goes out much, loves to dress, entertains often and has been reluctantly to think that "order is the first law of heaven," complains that the first five years of her married life were made unhappy by bad servants. "I could not tell," she says, "whether it was bad luck or incapacity on my part, but it was impossible to get along with servants. Bad ones remained with us, and good ones soon became spoiled. One day I called on the mother superior of the convent in which I was educated, and among the things I happened to speak of was the trouble to reconcile economy, my taste for society, my husband's profession and the keeping of order in the house with bad servants.

"Shall I tell you how to do it?" said the mother superior. 'There is only one way to obtain it, you must have everything work with regularity. In our house every thing runs like clockwork, and no one is allowed to break the rules of the system upon which things are done. Try it. Put the servants' occupations for every hour on paper. See that each one has a duty to perform at every stated hour. The first aim is to obviate all whims, all unreasonable, all orders badly given or badly understood and all other things prejudicial to a good administration. For the first month you must rule with a rod of iron. At the least breaking of any of the injunctions you must point to the written regulations. Let no protest make you swerve, and when the habit of doing things is systematically formed you will be surprised to see how smoothly everything will run.' I followed the advice and was surprised to see how admirably it worked."

A Mother's Recollections.

"It seems to me," said a woman lately, one whose sons and daughters are grown and out in the world, "that if I had my children to bring up over again I would give up everything in my power to cast in each till he was 5 years old. What I did was to employ nurses—what a travesty of the tenderly significant word!—from infancy to about that time, when I could not shift them myself. One of my children—he is a married man now—cherishes still a most unreasonable fear of the dark, even of passing an open door of an unlighted apartment, because forsooth years ago in his babyhood a nurse urged him to sleep lest a wolf should come out of the dark and get him.

"A second son will carry to his grave a nervous dread of laughing, even of a practice by another nurse of showing her large, white, glittering teeth in a mirthless grin when as an infant he fretted. I caught her at it early one day, instantly sent her away, but the mischief was done, and I have been helpless to eradicate it. And my nurses were not unlike in disposition.

"A child's caretaker should be a child lover, and who loves a child like his mother? I long to say every young mother I know: Stay with your babies if you possibly can until they are big enough to know what is going on about them. Let maids wait upon and assist you in supplying their needs, but let mothers be mothers ever, lest the mischief was done, and I have been helpless to eradicate it. And my nurses were not unlike in disposition.

"A child's caretaker should be a child lover, and who loves a child like his mother? I long to say every young mother I know: Stay with your babies if you possibly can until they are big enough to know what is going on about them. Let maids wait upon and assist you in supplying their needs, but let mothers be mothers ever, lest they become ignorant and life lasting harm."—Her Point of View in New York Times.

Too Wise!

Have you ever watched a woman in the street put her hand behind her and run it all over the back of her skirt in a vain effort to find the opening to her pocket that she may get her purse? All the while the conductor stands before her with one hand outstretched for the fare, while the other holds the cord ready to ring out its recital.

How unconcerned she tries to look while the fruitless search goes on, and how she strives to appear calm and unembarrassed, while her face turns red and the perspiration starts out of every pore—if it happens to be warm weather!

Then in sheer desperation she stands up and finds the truant pocket, and presently twilled in the produced and the fare paid. Every eye is gazing upon her—not with impudence, oh, no! but simply because the passengers have nothing else to do, and the least tidgy concerning one passenger interests the others.

I wonder why sensible women—or at least they seem sensible in other things than dress—calmly submit to being made the victims of a fashion? Why have they not sufficient independence to say: "I don't care if the fashion does demand that I hide my pocket in the folds of my skirt or else carry my purse in my hand at the risk of its being snatched from me. I will wear my clothes made in the most comfortable style and my pockets where I can reach them!"

Ah, when will they do this!—New York Herald.

Notes on Towels.

The housewife who wishes to save her best kitchen towels will do well to provide a number of coarser towels made from twilled linen cotton crash to use about the stove and in handling pots and pans. The best towels for silver and china are of linen, either plain or striped. It is best not to buy the heaviest quality, as it is some time before they become pliable enough to absorb water, readily. A fine quality of linenlike crash is durable and much liked for other kitchen towels. For kitchen hand towels, a good, quality of cotton and linen is preferred to the linen, as it will dries them better than the coarser qualities of Russian crash.

Of bed and bathroom towels the variety is so great as to prove quite bewildering. Damask towels are more pleasing to the eye than useful, though every housekeeper buys them for her towel rack, to divide the honors with those of the guest chamber. A good quality of huckaback is, however, preferred for ordinary use by those who like a towel that absorb the water quickly and will stimulate the skin. Those with hemstitched are liked better than those with fringed edges. For the bathroom towels of twilled cotton crash or Russian towels, the Turkish towels of many qualities and most reasonable in price, the imperial towels, which take up the water almost as readily as a sponge, and towels made from linen tape.—New York Post.

A Convenient Kitchen Receptacle.

There are many houses that have not sufficient storage space for the articles in regular use, and as a natural consequence the back door and yard are fringed with utensils, boxes, barrels and rubbish of various sorts, all necessary to have at hand, but for which there is no suitable provision in the way of putting away any place. It would be a matter of decided economy in time and strength, if not absolute cash, to build either a commodious extension or provide a small outhouse for the purpose. Shelves, pantries, hooks and racks should be arranged, and each article have its definite place, for such a purpose. Shelves, pantries, hooks and racks should be arranged, and each article have its definite place, for such an imperative requirement that it always be found there.

There are many homes where the space is so contracted that one must carry up stairs or down the cellar many of the articles in common use, and there is no more killing work for the housekeeper than this. No one who has not tried it can imagine the tax on the strength and the addition to the tension of his wrists is imposed by the lack of conveniences. Of course, it may be said that with limited means one can not make the necessary provision in building, but this is not in any sense a valid excuse. At least something should be done to save steps for the housekeeper, who in many instances the mother of the family and does her work without assistance.—New York Ledger.

Tooth Has Had Its Day.

Never till the present time had woman such a golden opportunity for revealing, as Voltaire remarks, in the decline of her beauty the charm of her intellect. Never was the sphere of middle aged woman wider. We have abolished the generic term of "old maid" and left behind that of the woman "with rights," "with a mission," "with work." Tains marveled over the numbers of unmarried women he found in the quiet provincial towns and in the dull country neighborhoods of England. We do not waste them in convents; we use them in philanthropy, education, politics, art and science. We have done away with the shelf, wherunto modern dress assists.

We have abolished the ringlets and white muslin of our youth, and we have left maidenhood; as well as the caps of middle age. These latter, thanks to the advances made by the artist in taste, will soon become as extinct as the tuckers our grandmothers wore at the Georgian jubilee. Bonnets will probably share the same fate, for hats are simultaneously worn by three generations. Modern dress allies all three alike, aiming not at maintaining an appearance of perennial youth, but of preserving that of a sternal middle age.—Hearth and Home.

In Fashionable Drawing Rooms.

The fashionable drawing room today is very far removed indeed from the crowded, ornate affair of a dozen years ago, when decoration ran rampant in a thousand devices, and the tables and chairs were crowded so thickly together that it was almost impossible to move about the room without knocking something over. Now the arrangement is classical and somewhat stiff, and the notable aspect is tempered with a sort of frigidity which fairly daunts one's newest clothes and best behavior. It must be admitted, however, that the lounging manners of the youths of the period are shortly to be replaced with the gilded entourage of 4 Louis XVII salon, which would seem to suggest the courtly graces of a bygone age.

Our women, on the other hand, with a finer perception, have noticeably adapted themselves more or less to their surroundings. The more graceful manners have revived, and there is much more of gracious charm and dignified urbanity of late, the somewhat blunt although hearty manners of the "English school" which were fashionable some years ago having almost entirely disappeared.—Chicago Tribune.

The Wife of Rider Haggard.

In appearance Mrs. Haggard is charming. She has clear cut features, a strong, self reliant face, large, expressive brown eyes and an abundance of dark brown hair. She is above the medium height, with the strong, graceful figure that belongs to healthy, athletic womanhood. Her personality is quite as interesting as is that of her well known husband, whose strong, square forehead, firm lips and clear, deep eyes impress you with their owner's strength and originality. In stature Mr. Haggard is tall and erect, his voice low and musical. He has been described as "that blond and athletic gentleman." While at Ditchingham he is wont to appear in jacket and knickerbockers of tweed, thick, knitted stockings and thick, serviceable boots, his whole appearance suggesting the typical English squire.

The home life of this interesting family is beautiful in its simplicity and genuineness. The day opens with family prayers, which are read with gentle reverence by the master of the house, in the large, square entrance hall, to which assemble not only the family and visitors, but all the servants.—Ladies' Home Journal.

Thoughtless Injury to Young Children.

Strange as it may seem, many of the little playful acts with which fathers, mothers and grown up friends are wont to amuse the little ones have a tendency to prove disastrous. That old nursery trick of lifting the little one up "to see London town" by taking the child's head between the open palms has produced in many instances very serious results. Further even than this, it is the experience of nurses and physicians that many little tricks and nurses, the dandling and jumping so dear to the hearts of all little children are fraught with danger and should be avoided, as, all unwitting, the person who thinks he may be bringing the child a temporary pleasure is doing so at the risk of inflicting upon it a lasting injury.

The result is an immense amount of physical deformity due solely to improper methods of nurturing young children and to good natured though thoughtless handling of children while young.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Educating a Boy.

In Montaigne's eyes the object of education is to form a boy's character and prepare him for life, and to fill him not so much with learning as with the desire of learning, "with an honest curiosity for information about everything in the world, perhaps obvious and commonplace, but the soul which Montaigne sowed there contents ago, has, it must be confessed, fallen on stony ground. There are a large number of persons concerned with education at the present day who, if they have equipped a boy with a sufficient stock of learning to enable him to pass an examination, fold their hands and think that they have done all that is needful. I will quote two aphorisms which Montaigne has left us, "Epitomizing of a good book is a foolish abridgment," and "Learning in one man's head is a conquest; in another's, a tackle."—Macmillan's Magazine.

Fried Mush.

Cut the mush in slices about half an inch in thickness, or thinner if desired; dust each slice carefully with flour. Put about two tablespoonfuls of lard in a shallow frying pan. Place over the fire, and when smoking hot drop in the mush. Do not disturb it, but allow it to fry brown on one side, then turn and brown on the other. Remove, place on a piece of brown paper for just a moment, dish and serve. It requires a deal more trouble to put the fat in than to keep it out, and one point to be remembered is to have the fat hot before the mush goes in; fry quickly and take it out. If the fat runs short before the frying is done, pull the pan aside until the mush is brown. You must not add fresh cold lard while there is mush in the pan.—Mrs. Rorer in Table Talk.

Protect Your Guests.

Mothers, one and all, if you desire your little ones daughters to be popular with the adult guests who visit your house, take warning; do not let them swoop down upon your friends directly they enter your house and confiscate to be in evidence during the entire period of their stay. It may sound cruel and unkind, but it will pay in the end, for, no matter how kind hearted a man or grabbing a woman may be, they will very soon tire of a course of infantile conversation, attentions and positions, and in order to keep your friends you must let them see the children only at such rare intervals that they will learn to appreciate their society.—Philadelphia Times.

A tempest beat against the windows, but within the drawing room all was light and warmth.

It often occurs that way.

The mother's face was pale with a flagrant hairpin was weeping with joy. She had just fallen upon the neck of the man who was raising a Van Dyke whisker.

"Yes," she cooed fondly, "seemingly.

"Ah," rejoined he, "this is the moment to which I have long looked forward."

She stole a shy glance at him and then in delightful confusion buried her face in his four-in-hand tie.

"And now"—

Gently he raised her curly head.

A shade of pain flitted across his face.

"—who I really am."

With a look of intense horror she sprang from him.

There was a heavy load on his heart, but he yielded nevertheless.—Detroit Free Press.

THE CONTRACTS FOR THE Y. M. C. A. BUILDING AWARDED.

The Building Committee Held a Meeting Last Night and Awarded the Contracts.—Will Not Interfere with the Peace Street Extension.

The Building Committee of the Young Men's Christian Association held a meeting in the association rooms last evening.

It was decided to have the work of erecting their new building begun at once.

The officers have authorized the giving out of the following contracts for the work:

Carpenter work—Pearson & Gayle.
Plumbing—Tobin & Addis.
Mason work—Isaac W. Pangborn.
Heating—J. F. Odam.
Painting—Marsh & Ayers.

The building is to be erected on their lot on Front street, opposite Peace. The site was purchased some time ago, but the association has been waiting for the extension of Peace street. Now that that matter has been delayed the committee deemed it wise to build immediately. When completed it will be one of the finest in the State. The building, it is said, will not interfere with the Peace street extension.

PHOTOGRAPHIC GEMS.

SHOWN LAST EVENING BY THE PLAINFIELD CAMERA CLUB.

A Large Audience at the Club's "Lantern Slide Evening"—Slides from the Brooklyn Academy of Photography Exhibited by Stereopticon.

A select audience, the largest of the season, attended the "lantern slide evening" of the Plainfield Camera Club in the Club's room on East Front street last evening.

About a hundred slides, made by members of the Brooklyn Academy of Photography, were exhibited on the screen. They were, without exception, the most beautiful specimens of amateur work yet shown in the society.

The slides were particularly clear and sharp in detail. The subjects were very artistic and well "taken." The exhibition began with views of Brooklyn, showing the great bridge in various ways. Some of these views represented in colors the grand pyrotechnic display on the evening of Columbus Day.

The views included many natural and excellent pictures of the streets of the City of Churches, with prominent buildings and numerous excellent views of Prospect park, Coney Island scenes, true to life. Glorious yacht and canoe races that could not be surpassed. "Moonlight" views of yachts on the water and a Sound steamer making its nightly trip. Steamships, sailing vessels, wrecked and otherwise, fire boats and tugs, active and inactive.

Animal life, showing sheep in Prospect park, cats on the back-yard fences, (representing Brooklyn's Musical talent) buffalo, dogs, etc. Excellent views of Yellowstone Park, The Garden of the Gods, and the Rocky mountains. Gems from New Jersey which our photographers didn't make. Glimpses of the Bronx river, studies in reflection, and everyday life in many places.

The slides were nicely arranged and accompanied by a cleverly written, and neatly arranged descriptive lecture, type-written and stylishly bound in leather. Prof. Franklin Smith read the descriptive lecture and President Oscar S. Teale operated the stereopticon.

The pictures were well received throughout and were beyond criticism.

Though so many pictures were shown the audience was not allowed to get wearied, and the evening was acceptably enlivened by piano selections by Mrs. F. M. Hulett and vocal solos by Mr. Walter Arnold Hudson, basso.

After the Brooklyn slides were exhibited some experiments were made by the Plainfield camerists. A laughable effect was produced by a wet slide of a man yawning. The heat of the lantern caused the wet gelatine coating of the plate to slowly dissolve. The face and body exhibited on the screen slowly moved, the mouth opened wider, the head changing its position in a gradual manner until it was removed. It seemed exactly like a very sleepy man having a glorious yawn and "stretch." The audience were convulsed with laughter, and some were even seen imitating, to a certain degree, the actions of the figure on the screen.

Some slides, representing views and portraits, were "thrown" upon the screen to be tested for their quality. They were freely discussed, and many compared favorably with the excellent work of the Brooklyn camerists.

These "lantern slide evenings" are very sociable affairs and everybody is made to feel at home. The club is growing very popular and increasing in membership.

Next Wednesday evening many members of the club will go to Newark to attend the annual meeting of the New Jersey Division of the American League of Amateur Photographers.

A Big Cargo of Flour.

At 10.20 o'clock this morning a train passed through this city enroute for New York. It was made up of thirty large box cars and was loaded with flour. On each car was a large poster with this information:

"This is a bull train of Pillsbury flour for Geo. W. Wells & Co., New York."

The cars belonged to various western railroads, including the C. H. & D. Wis. Cent. and D. L. & W.

Each car contains 180 barrels, and the entire train load aggregated 288,000 lbs. It is estimated that with the average consumption this amount of flour would feed the inhabitants of Plainfield for over one month.

The Firemen's Fair.

The fair of the North Plainfield firemen opened in Saengerbund Hall Monday night with a good attendance, but that of last night was much larger. The members are highly pleased with the success of the fair.

In the contest for the whip, Alert Hose Co., has 6 votes; Granite Engine Co. No. 1, 10; Plainfield Hook & Ladder Co. No. 1, 5; Zephyr Hook and Ladder Co. 11; Warren Engine Co. No. 1, 32.

In the contest for the toilet set Mrs. P. Sauder has 6 votes. Mrs. T. McCann, 6; Mrs. G. R. Fairchild, 6; Mrs. Wm. Smith, 5.

A Horse Stops an Electric Car.

A horse belonging to Mr. Higgins of East Fourth street, fell on the electric car tracks, on Peace street, Monday night, striking his head on the slide. It took about half-hour to get the animal on its feet. Meanwhile an electric car had to wait. The roadbed was so slippery that it would fall down whenever it attempted to rise.

AT LAW FOR A FORTUNE

W. S. HURLEY'S SUIT AGAINST W. AND J. MILES OF THIS CITY.

He Alleges that Mr. Miles Got the Most of His Father's Estate, While His Mother Only Received $25,000.

—The Case Will go on To-Day.

William Samuel Hurley, a flour merchant doing business in Wallabout Market, New York, has begun suit in the Supreme Court against William and Jacob Miles of this city, to recover $250,000 alleged to have been taken out of the estate of the plaintiff's father, Samuel Hurley.

The elder Hurley died in 1885, leaving a widow, Catherine Hurley, aged twenty-nine, and four children. He had been engaged in various tanneries under the firm name of Hurley & Miles. Jacob Miles was his brother-in-law, having married his sister. Jacob, who, with his brother William, was a partner with Mr. Hurley, sold out his interest in the firm in 1880, but William remained up to the time of Mr. Hurley's death. He was very successful in his business ventures, and, it is said, is now several times a millionaire.

Under the terms of Mr. Hurley's will, Jacob was made the executor of his estate, with Thomas Webb and the widow. Webb, it is said, took no part in the management of affairs, and, as the widow was inexperienced in business matters, Jacob was left to do as he pleased. In 1889, when a settlement was made, Mrs. Hurley found that she had only $25,000. Her son, the present plaintiff, began an investigation to find out what had become of his father's property, and he alleges that he discovered that William Miles got most of it, through his position as partner in the tannery firm.

The plaintiff and three other witnesses were examined yesterday, and the case will go on to-day.

PERSONAL.

The Misses Stewart gave an afternoon tea at their home on West Seventh street, yesterday, to a large number of friends.

Mr. George W. Moore, from Winfield Scott Post, G. A. R., will attend the Department Council of Administration, at Trenton, to-night.

The Park Club gave an informal dance at the club house, last night, from eight to twelve. The House Committee are: B. A. Hegeman, Jr., Aug. Van Deventer and Geo. P. Dupee.

George Staats, the young man who had his right thumb cut off by coal train Sunday, died at the hospital Monday. His funeral will take place to-morrow afternoon at 2.30, at the First Church of Christ, on Grove street.

Mr. James A. Searing fell on the ice, on Madison avenue, Sunday night, and badly sprained his left arm. He was hurrying to the doctor's for medicine for his wife, who has been sick for some time, when he met with the accident.

Rev. Father McKernan has obtained from Bishop O'Farrell full faculties for Rev. Father Cushing, and henceforth he will remain to assist Father McKernan. This will be pleasant news to Father Cushing's friends here and elsewhere.

The following are the delegates from this city to the State Y. M. C. A. Convention at Camden, Feb. 9 to 12: Messrs. W. D. Murray, S. Cahoone, S. Yerkes, G. G. Tucker, T. E. Hazell, J. A. Robinson, A. C. LaBertaux, C. W. Dunham, R. E. Waix, Jr., J. McLaughlin, C. B. Fernald, and Irving Brady.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Reinhart of Netherwood gave a reception last evening in honor of their guest, Miss Young of Louisville, Ky. The decorations were exceptionally fine. The mantel was banked with beautiful lillies of the valley and a large cluster of Bermuda lillies hung from the chandelier. The favors were very elaborate. Landers' orchestra of ten pieces furnished the music. The supper, by Sherry of New York, was served at small tables at which were seated eight persons. Dancing commenced shortly after 10 o'clock. The german was led by Mr. L. G. Timpson.

Mayor Gilbert's Bill.

The bill referred to in Mayor Gilbert's communication, published in THE NEWS of yesterday, is as follows:

Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That it shall not be lawful for any city other than the Common Council, Board of Aldermen or other governing body of said city shall have power to purchase land or to erect or alter any building for school purposes, the cost of which shall exceed $1,000, without the concurrence and approval first obtained of the Common Council, Board of Aldermen or other governing body of said city.

And be it enacted, That all acts and parts of acts inconsistent herewith be and the same are hereby repealed, and that this act shall take effect immediately.

Struck by a Timber.

This morning while Abram Vail of Third street was repairing the roof of the sheds in the rear of the Quaker church on Peace street, he was struck on the left side of the head by a falling timber, cutting a deep gash about three and a half inches long. He was taken to the office of Dr. Searles. Six stitches were necessary to close the wound. Mr. Vail will be confined to the house for some time.

Rescued Men Talk.

The large auditorium of the First Presbyterian church, on East Front street, was crowded last night by members of the congregations of all the churches in the city.

Rescued men told of the work of the Industrial Christian Alliance in the dives and slums of New York. The talks were preceded by a special song service.

No. 231, Mr. Kelly, H. A., authorizes any city of the first class to provide by temporary loan for any deficiency caused by insufficient appropriation through the annual budget.

No. 232, Mr. Barrett, provides that all street car passengers not provided with seats shall pay but three-fifths fare.

No. 233, Mr. Kelly, appropriates $15,000 to improve the sanitary condition and continue the system of manual and industrial education in the school for deaf-mutes.

Music Hall Notes.

There was a vivid interest manifested in the re-appearance in New York, after an absence of four years of, Mrs. Brown-Potter and Mr. Kyrle Bellew. The New York World thus describes the opening night of her engagement: The large audience that filled the Union Square last evening, to welcome Mrs. Potter and Mr. Bellew, was in particularly amiable mood. It was ordinarily silent during the scenes save for an outburst upon the entrance of Mrs. Potter, which was so long continued as to seriously threaten the movement of the play; but between the acts it called into the centre and again before the curtain, and only desisted because they wearied of pressing the button. Mrs. Potter's welcome was certainly clever at nearly every point, and in the short tableau in it by Mrs. Potter and Mr. Bellew there was much contact and repose, by admirable self-restraint, by illuminative power, and with remarkable pose and effect.

Mr. Pepper Holds the Lucky Number.

LATEST NEWS BY WIRE.

LAWYER VAN NESS ARRESTED.

A Plainfielder Charged With Forgery

New York, Feb. 8 (Special.)—John K. Van Ness, a lawyer living in Plainfield, N. J., with an office at 195 Broadway, was brought to the Tombs Police Court this morning by Detectives Titus and Crouch of the Central Office and arraigned upon a charge of forging a check for $1,089 drawn upon the Union Trust Company of 80 Broadway.

The complainants were John A. Waldron and Dykman Waldron of 241 West Forty-fifth street. They were represented by Lawyer Frank H. Smalley of 200 Broadway. Lawyer Van Ness was represented by Col. Payne of Brooklyn, the Republican candidate last year for District Attorney of Kings county.

The check alleged to have been forged is dated Dec. 13, 1890.

Dykman Waldron is the executor of the estate of Dorcetia Waldron, his aunt, who died in 1878, leaving property to the value of $160,000 to be divided between Dykman Waldron, James A. Waldron, and another brother who has since died. The will was contested by other relatives.

On Dec. 11, 1890, Justice Ingraham at the Supreme Court ordered Dykman Waldron, as executor, to draw a check upon the Union Trust Company for $1,500, payable to the order of James A. Waldron. The check was drawn and delivered to James A. Waldron.

The latter deposited it with his attorney, Lawyer Van Ness. He testified that Van Ness had the check certified by the cashier of the trust company and changed it so as to make it payable to himself as attorney.

Some time after this Lawyer Van Ness, it is alleged, had the check cashed. Under various pretexts he has since avoided a settlement with his client.

Brake Chain Broke—Two Men Hurt.

HARWAY, Feb. 8, (Special.)—Two men were badly injured, one fatally, on the Lehigh Valley road, at the Essex Building Mills, at 8.30 o'clock this morning. A freight train was shifting cars, when a brake chain broke, and the cars crashed into a building at the end of a siding. Engine will probably die as the injuries. There were several very narrow escapes. The damage is estimated at $6,000.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Extract from a private letter written at Christmas time in Melbourne: "It is now midsummer here. It is odd in this Christmas season to see in the shop windows pictures of Santa Claus dressed in a linen duster and carrying a fan."

Liverpool has borrowed the American idea of an elevated railroad and now has her first iron tracks upon stilts, passing along the whole line of her docks and shipping. The interesting point about Liverpool's elevated road is that the motive power is electricity taken from a steel conductor along the rails.

In prehistoric times the art was understood of hardening copper till it would take an edge like a knife, but it was lost, and men have been trying for centuries to rediscover it. Edison said once that if copper wire could be hardened it would be as easy to telephone across the Atlantic as from New York to Brooklyn. Hardened copper wire would be better than anything now in use for all electrical operations. It would not rust like iron. Well, a Swede, Peter Johnson, who has been working at the problem eleven years, claims at last that he has rediscovered the lost art of the Norsemen and the American aborigines. A piece of his hardened copper plate half an inch thick turned and flattened a bullet fired with sixty grains of powder an 180 paces. A number of capitalists believe Johnson's discovery sufficiently so to have formed a stock company at Chicago, putting $500,000 into it.

The Pope's Jubilee This Year.

The pilgrimages to Rome in honor of Pope Leo began with the first month of 1893, and they will continue at intervals until their close in December. The pope had a golden jubilee five years ago. That was to celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of his assumption of the priesthood. The present golden jubilee will celebrate the 50th anniversary of his consecration as a bishop. It will be seen that his advancement was rapid. Deputations from different countries will visit Rome at intervals during the jubilee year. Many events of the greatest importance in Roman church ceremonials have had and will have place.

One was the creation of a number of cardinals. Another is the issuance of an encyclical early in the year which, it is said, will deal especially with the questions of patriotism and state education. It is said that the pope wishes to impress particularly on the people of the United States that love of country is part of the Catholic church's teaching, and that his holiness believes in the thorough Americanization of Catholic children in this country.

Most novel to the Protestant mind, however, will be the ceremony of "beatification." This amounts to a solemn ceremonial proclamation that the spirits of certain eminently devout and saintly persons who have departed this life are released from the place of waiting souls and have entered the state of heavenly bliss.

Medicine as a Career.

Dr. John S. Billings tells us in The Forum that no career at the present day offers to a young man such inducements for success as the medical profession. By success, however, he assures us he does not mean the means of amassing great wealth. This profession will give to a man a comfortable competency for himself and family; no more perhaps. But it will afford opportunity for a good degree of happiness, for the exercise of the highest mental faculties and for being helpful to more people than the practitioner in any other profession can be.

Certain kinds of investigation lies before the scientifically inclined doctor. We know, for instance, says Dr. Billings, that malaria is due to a minute animal organism that passes through several stages of development, some of which occur in the human body. But nobody has as yet ever found this organism outside the human body. It may perhaps get into the human blood from the bite of a mosquito, but nobody knows. The medical student who shall hunt the malarial bacillus home to his native lair will be the benefactor of the race. So will he who traces out through its various forms the vegetable bacillus of typhoid fever, and he who shall find out the function of each of the nerve centers in the brain and throughout the nervous system:

"With a little change in certain cells of the cortical gray, a change which requires the use of the microscope to determine, the orator becomes speechless, the judge becomes criminal, and the prudent man of business, the affectionate husband and father, the model citizen and pillar of the church, becomes extravagant, unchaste, deceitful, and thus enters upon the first stage of a degeneration which if unchecked will make him a hopeless paralytic and a driveling idiot.

Here is certainly a splendid field for being useful to the race. But it is worth while to note what Dr. Billings considers the proper preparation for entering on this profession which enables one to be so helpful to his fellow man. It is indicated in the passage below:

My young friend whose attention I wish to direct in medicine as a career will have spent five years at a good academy or college as a preliminary to entering the university, which he does when he is about 17 years old. He spends five 4 years at the university, 2 years at the medical school, 2½ years in the hospital and 2 years in travel and special studies. When, therefore, he is ready to begin work, he will be about 28 years old, and his education, living, books, etc., will have cost about $6,000 from the time he entered the university. It can be done for less, but this is a fair average estimate.

SILVER WILL NOT DOWN

A Bill to Substitute the Bland For the Sherman Act.

CABINET FAVORABLE TO HAWAII.

Senator Chandler Scores the Democrats. Senator Martin Is Unwilling to Precipitate Discord—Maintaining Faith With Mexico—A Tariff Exception.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—Aside from a review of the condition of the treasury by Messrs. Dingley and Dockery and an attack on the civil service law by Mr. De Armond, the proceedings of the house were uninteresting.

Senator Chandler (Rep.) managed to give a political twist to the debate in the senate on the automatic coupler bill. He brought a resolution in the national Democratic platform which denounced the Republican party and the Republican senate for not having provided legislation for the protection of railroad employees and insisted that the position of so many Democratic senators against the bill was inconsistent with their party fealty.

Chandler Feeds the Democrats.

He twitted them with the fact that only 17 of them had voted to take up the bill for the repeal of the Sherman act, knowing the declaration of the national Democratic convention on the subject of silver and knowing the entreaties of the president-elect to have the Sherman act repealed before March 4. He predicted that the course of Democratic senators in the next congress on the subject of tariff would be equally at variance with their party platform. Mr. Wolcott (Rep., Colo.), while canvassing against the automatic coupler bill, said that no other senator than Mr. Chandler could have found a political advantage in it. No action was taken on the bill.

An Exception to the Tariff.

When the senate a few days ago referred to the finance committee the bill which had been favorably reported by the commerce committee, permitting the St. Louis and Chicago Electric Railroad company to import free of duty machinery necessary for the construction of the road, it was thought the bill had been pigeonholed for this session. However, the finance committee resolved to report the bill back to the senate, with the recommendation that it pass, and of course this was achieved by the aid of Republican votes in the committee. So the bill enjoys the distinction of being the first and probably the only bill touching the tariff which the finance committee has reported or will report to the senate this congress.

Senator Martin's Consideration.

Judge John Martin, the senator-elect from Kansas to fill the unexpired term of the late Senator Plumb, now being filled by Mr. Peffer under appointment by the governor, is here.

His advent opens anew the gossip concerning legality of his seat in the senate and probability of his being permitted to take his seat. If Mr. Martin follows the advice of his colleague, Mr. Peffer, as he probably will, no issue in the Kansas case will be raised until the closing days of the session. Mr. Peffer said that, owing to the lateness of the session and the fact that Mr. Perkins understood the legislation of interest to the people of Kansas and had it well in hand, he had suggested to Mr. Martin that he refrain from presenting his credentials until toward the close of the session.

The White House Quarantine Raised.

The placards bearing the word "closed," which have been displayed on the front door of the White House since the day before Christmas, when little Marthena Harrison, the president's grandchild, was stricken with scarlatina, have been removed, and the public part of the house is once more open to visitors. The president will resume his triweekly receptions to the public.

The treasury department has reduced its estimate of the probable amount required for the payment of the sugar bounties. The original estimate was $10,320,000. It is now $8,000,000. So far sugar bounties on this year's crop to the amount of $3,500,000 have been paid.

Attorney General Miller has had prepared a statement which shows that so far there have been indicted and convicted 19 people in the United States courts in Texas in connection with the Garza raids for violations of the neutrality laws. Most of the men convicted are now serving out their sentences in the District penitentiary. In all over 150 indictments have been found.

Possibly the Silver Act Again.

The advocates in the house of a repeal of the Sherman law have had a conference. A resolution was adopted declaring that it had been discovered that a majority of the house was in favor of a repeal of the Sherman silver bullion purchase act, and that it had been decided to abandon the attempt to get a majority of the Democrats to sign a cloture petition and to make the fight on the floor of the house, where all friends of honest money, whether Democrats or Republicans, might join in the attempt to secure a repeal of the law.

Mr. Culberson (Tex.) introduced in the house the bill previously prepared and made public repealing the Sherman silver purchase act and substituting the old Bland act and providing for the coinage of bullion accumulated under the Sherman act.

The Hawaiian Commissioners.

The commissioners have not yet been received by President Harrison, and this fact is causing some comment. They appear quite satisfied with their status, however, and one of them said that they did not expect an audience with the president till he had been fully satisfied of their right to act and of the merits of their case. The most important feature of the information expected on the arrival of the steamer at San Francisco is that concerning the attitude of the deposed queen.

The administration feels that it should not act without giving Lilioukalani opportunity to present her side of the case. There are many who contend that she represents the native element of the island as against the wealthy foreign element which has now set up the provisional government.

The cabinet meeting revealed that there was substantial unanimity among the cabinet officers as to annexing the islands.

Naval Additions Practically Ceased.

The naval committee of the house has decided on a policy of economy, and no provision will be made in this year's naval appropriation bill for new cruisers or battleships. The committee has agreed upon the bill it will report to the house. One new gunboat to cost not exceeding $600,000 is the only new war vessel provided for. The bill is of a more routine character than usual, and, roughly speaking, its aggregate appropriation is about $5,000,000 less than last year's.

CHICAGO AND BOSTON CONVERSE.

"Terrapin, Boston—ce." "I Waited by Telephone to the Hub.

CHICAGO, Feb. 8.—Governor Russell of Massachusetts put his distinguished ear to a telephone receiver in Boston today and talked to Wendell Baker while the latter sat in the office of the American Telephone and Telegraph company in this city. The conversation marked the establishment of the longest telephone circuit in the world.

Mayor Washburne, Moses P. Kimball, Charles Henrotin, F. G. Bourn, general superintendent of the Central Telephone company, and Superintendent Fuller of the American Bell Telephone company were among the interested ones who attended the opening of the line, and DeWolff Hopper came in during the evening and gumshied a few minutes with Superintendent Meany in Boston.

A cornetist also regaled the listeners at the Hub with such classical music as "Maggie Murphy's Home" and "Ta-ra-ra, Boom-de-ay." The atmospheric conditions attending the opening of the line were such that the conversations were carried on with great success.

TYPHUS IN A MEDICAL COLLEGE.

Probably Contracted From a Subject of the Dissecting Room.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 8.—A sensation was created by the announcement that 80 students attending the College of Physicians and Surgeons at the corner of Jefferson avenue and Gamble street had left for home on account of the sudden death of three students. The excitement was intensified by the report that the deaths were caused by what is feared is typhus fever. The dead are George Herndon of western Kentucky, Fred H. White of San Antonio and David H. Brown of this city. The students were attacked by the same symptoms and the physicians were unable to ascribe to either typhoid, scarlet fever, cerebro spinal meningitis, or cerebral typhus and the disease is therefore a new one. Specimens of the blood of the afflicted students have been submitted to the health department. In the case of Student White the health commissioner issued a certificate of cerebro fever. It is believed the disease was contracted in the dissecting room.

Cass County Will Compromise.

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 8.—The Cass county judges who have been imprisoned here for contempt of the United States court for refusing to issue a special tax levy to pay $250,000 in bonds voted 30 years ago to a railroad that was never built were released. A special election was held to determine whether the indebtedness should be compromised on a basis of 70 per cent. The proposition carried and the judges promised to issue the levy. Except a short period since the time the bonds were declared valid has served a term for contempt in refusing to take the necessary legal steps to discharge the debt. The present judges have been in jail eight months.

Editor Coverton Tackles a Chief.

WHITESTONE, L. I., Feb. 8.—Dennis Cahill, chief of the village police force, was arrested by Detective Cavanagh on the charge of assault preferred by Winfield S. Coverton, editor of the Long Island City Tribune. Editor Coverton, who lives in this place, attended a meeting of the village trustees last night. Coverton made some side remark that angered the officer, and he slapped the editor's face. The two men clinched and struggled all over the room, upsetting chairs and benches. The fight broke up the meeting of the trustees, and they joined with the citizens in trying to separate the combatants.

Rhode Island Odd Fellows.

PROVIDENCE, Feb. 8.—The 50th annual meeting of the grand lodge of Odd Fellows of Rhode Island is being held here. The following officers were elected: Grand master, J. Milton Payne, Pawtucket; deputy grand master, Joseph E. C. Farnham, Providence; grand warden, George F. Mason, Providence; grand secretary, William H. T. Mosely, Providence; grand treasurer, Stephen O. Rindell, Providence; grand representative, John Cockcroft, Pawtucket; grand marshal, Adoniram J. Cushing, Providence; grand guardian, Henry O. Martin, Olneyville.

Donoghue Anxious to Meet Hagen.

NEWBURG, N. Y., Feb. 8.—The Newburg Skating association will give a purse of $300 as a bonus for Hagen to meet Joe Donoghue in a 5-mile race at this city within 30 days. Donoghue says that, as chances of a race between himself and Hagen for a purse are very slim as it stands at present, he will meet Hagen in an exhibition race of five miles as stated, for honors only. If such a race can be arranged, Newburg sporting men stand ready to back Donoghue in bets for $25,000.

Confessed, but Pleads Not Guilty.

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—George M. Nesbitt, who made several confessions that he forged the $50,000 check on the Merchants' National bank which young James Sturgis attempted to negotiate in Albany, pleaded not guilty before Judge Cowing in the general sessions. His counsel asked for the privilege of demurring to the plea by Thursday.

Phillips Brooks' Estate.

BOSTON, Feb. 8.—Bishop Brooks' estate is barely sufficient to cover the annuities named in his will, aggregating $16,500. Dr. Brooks never permitted himself to receive any emoluments outside his salary either as rector or bishop, and he gave from his income with an open hand but wise charity.

A Bridgeport Deserter Arrested.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Feb. 8.—Jacob Schwarz, aged 26 and married, was arrested here for desertion. Schwarz enlisted in the United States marine corps about three years ago after being on a spree for nearly a week. He served 10 months and then deserted and has since been at work here.

The New York Grand Chapter.

ALBANY, Feb. 8.—The 86th annual convention of the grand chapter of the state was convened in the Masonic temple here. Grand High Priest J. Leavitt Lenthall gave the address. The registered membership aggregates 16,871, a net decrease of 32; number of chapters, 198.

CANADIANS AGITATED.

Annexation Fever Threatens to Become Widespread.

THE SUBJECT NOW IN PARLIAMENT.

The Toronto Globe Defends Mr. Goldwin Smith, Who Is Strong For the Union—A Canvass in the Rural Districts Shows a Marked Majority For Annexation.

OTTAWA, Feb. 8.—The probable policy of President-elect Cleveland's administration and relations between Canada and the United States formed the subject of a stormy debate in the house of commons. John Charlton, a prominent Liberal member, charged the administration with misleading the people of the country by telling them that the government of the United States had refused to consent to any fair means of commercial reciprocity with Canada. The miserable attempt of members of the crown, he said, to make political capital out of the late general elections by misrepresenting what had taken place at Washington two years ago had forced the American government to deny those statements.

This scandalous conduct had produced in political circles at Washington a wholesale contempt for such pettifogging statesmen and had brought discredit upon the government of the Dominion.

Washington Officials Friendly.

While the government at Washington had no love for the party in power in this country, he was glad to be able to say that officials there were friendly to the Dominion capital, where in most many prominent politicians of both political parties, he found the people of Canada stood high in the estimation of American statesmen. Among other prominent men in the Democratic party he mentioned the Hon. J. C. Carlisle as being well disposed toward granting Canada a fair measure of commercial reciprocity.

The Hon. J. G. Springer, chairman of the congressional committee on ways and means, was also in favor of placing on the statute books of the United States an offer to all countries contiguous to that nation, including Canada, for free interchange of products of forest, mine and soil, both in their natural and manufactured state. Yet in the face of these sentiments expressed by some of the most prominent members of the ruling party in the American republic, the government of Canada has the criminal audacity to tell its people that it cannot obtain any measure of free commercial intercourse with the American nation.

Smith Is an Englishman.

In an editorial of considerable length the Toronto Globe strongly defends Professor Goldwin Smith against the attacks of his political opponents. Referring to the report that Mr. Smith while in Washington intended to visit President Cleveland to urge him to recommend measures favorable to the annexation of Canada, and which story Mr. Smith has since repudiated over his own signature, The Globe says: "Smith is an Englishman, with an Englishman's courage and an Englishman's honor, a thing which is not to be found in the great democracy of letters, and he ought not to be lampooned and denounced on the strength of words put into his mouth by irresponsible sensation hunting correspondents."

The Globe also refers to the fact that a motion is now before St. George's society of this city, of which Mr. Smith is a life member, to expel him for his advocacy of annexation of Canada to the United States and says such action is actuated by narrow and offensive partisanship. In conclusion The Globe says: "Sir John Thompson declared in parliament last session that the presenting of political union by constitutional and fair and honest means. If, then, the advocacy of political union is not treasonable, we must meet its advocates with sober speech and calm printed words, and not by social ostracism, violence and intimidation."

A Canvass of the Rural Districts.

The representatives of The Globe, who have been traveling through the province gathering information, are men who are well knowing as careful writers, who describe things as they find them. They report a strong annexationist sentiment in the rural districts. A meeting was held at Simcoe in Norfolk county, at which 272 persons declared for annexation, 4 for Canadian independence, 4 for imperial federation and 17 to remain as they are.

Facts Cannot Be Ignored.

The Toronto Star says: "These occurrences cannot be ignored. They show that the people are gradually drifting away from old affiliations. To shun the eyes and say there is no movement toward annexation would be a grave error on the part of those who are in authority and who are supposed to govern for the general good. If such agitation was attributable to the Liberals, the loyalty cry could be set up against it, but we have reason to believe that a large number of Conservatives are leaning the same way."

Pittsburg Catholic Synod.

PITTSBURG, Feb. 8.—The first synod of the Roman Catholic church of the Pittsburg diocese was opened in the Cathedral by Bishop Phelan of this city. About 200 priests and dignitaries of the church are in attendance. The synod is called for the purpose of establishing laws for the diocese and will be in session a week or more.

The Old Colony Rumor Confirmed.

BOSTON, Feb. 8.—The Old Colony railroad has been purchased by the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railway company, subject to ratification, by the stockholders. President Choate will immediately issue a circular to stockholders submitting the offer of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad.

Bound and Robbed.

WATKINS, N. Y., Feb. 8.—Two unknown men entered the store of Mr. Hause, at Big Tyrone while he was alone and overpowered him. They then ransacked the house, securing about $170 in money. Mr. Hause was found the next morning by a neighbor in an unconscious condition.

Large Shipment of Silver.

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—The steamship Trave of the North German Lloyd line, which sailed this morning for Southampton and Bremen, took out $500,000 of silver on board. It consisted of 408,000 Mexican dollars from Vera Cruz and $42,000 in bars.

Cleveland Encourages Chess.

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—Grover Cleveland informed a well known chess journalist that he would be pleased to have a gold cup for the winner in an international chess masters' tournament to be played in this city in the month of May or June.

LIEUTENANT PEARY'S EXPEDITION.

His Second Tour of Arctic Exploration Will Begin In June.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Feb. 8.—Lieutenant R. E. Peary said in an interview that his second Arctic expedition would set out from Philadelphia the last of June and would go by ship to Greenland, thence north by sledge. He expects to reach a point far beyond records before been attained. Surveys of the north coast of Greenland, further discoveries and geological and ethnological studies are the objects of the trip. Mrs. Peary has not decided whether she will go or not. About 10 men will constitute the party, and they expect to be gone two years. The equipment will be about the same as for the last expeditions, including, however, more and better instruments for surveying. The cost of the expedition will be about $25,000, and this sum the lieutenant is trying to raise by lectures. Mr. Peary will go to Europe May 1 and will address scientific bodies in England, Scotland, Germany and perhaps Austria and France.

LIEUTENANT PEARY.

CHARGED WITH ELECTION FRAUDS.

Lieutenant Governor Sheehan and Congressman Lockwood For the Defendants.

BUFFALO, Feb. 8.—The 18th juror in the case of James Duggan, the election inspector charged with falsifying returns, is secured. Lieutenant Governor Sheehan and Congressman Lockwood are associated with counsel for the defense. District Attorney Quinby, Mr. Mavey and Mr. Spencer Clinton represent the prosecution. Considerable acrimony was displayed by counsel on both sides during the drawing of the jury and promises to continue throughout the trial. Duggan was chairman of the election board in the Third district of the Second ward and is alleged to have manipulated the returns on the vote for superintendent of education.

The Rhode Island Muddle.

PROVIDENCE, Feb. 8.—The joint commission of the legislature appointed to count the vote cast in the last congressional election reported the following result, showing that there was no election in either district: First district—Melville Bull (Rep.), 18,691; Oscar Lapham (Dem.), 13,903; Isaac S. Turner (Pro.), 782; B. B. Chase (Pop.), 217; N. B. Church, 1. Second district—Adin B. Capron (Rep.), 11,487; Charles F. Page (Dem.), 10,409; A. Lewis (Pro.), 1,011; H. A. Burlingame (Pop.), 161. The count showed that 4,814 ballots were cast blank and were defective. The new election will take place on the first Wednesday of April, the day of the state election.

Shaking Up the Massachusetts Militia.

BOSTON, Feb. 8.—The court of inquiry which has been investigating the troubles in the Eighth regiment, N. G. S. M., has presented its report which is promulgated by Governor Russell. The court orders that Captain Benjamin H. Jellison be discharged; Captain Herbert O. T. Staples reprimanded; Second Lieutenant W. S. Dennison, discharged; Corporal Edward A. Connelly, discharged; Corporal James E. Conner, discharged. The reorganization of the whole regiment is recommended on the ground of lack of harmony and confused ideas of discipline.

Connecticut Judges Elected.

HARTFORD, Feb. 8.—The house has elected judges as follows: John J. Ross, judge, and Patrick Kane, deputy judge, of the city court of Bridgeport; R. J. Walsh and Howard J. Curtis, judges of the court of common pleas for Fairfield county; Hobart L. Hotchkiss and John B. Stanley, judges of the court of common pleas for New Haven county. Bills were introduced in favor of increasing the pay of letter carriers to $1,200 per year after three years' service and limiting the business of any life insurance company to $1,000,000,000 of risks on lives.

Move Texas Law.

PARIS, Tex., Feb. 8.—The body of Willi Butler (colored) has been found hanging to a limb and riddled with bullets on Hickory creek, five miles southeast of this city. Butler was a negro of Herbert Smith, who was cremated alive here Feb. 1, and made himself notorious during the search for Smith by claiming to know his whereabouts, which he would not divulge.

Granite Manufacturers Meet.

NEW HAVEN, Feb. 8.—The third annual meeting of the Connecticut Granite Manufacturers' association was held in this city. The secretary reported that all the manufacturers except those at Stony creek and Roxbury station had settled the difficulty with their workmen, and that in both places named the quarries are being worked with their full quota of men.

Texas' Governor Denounces the Mob.

AUSTIN, Feb. 8.—Governor Hogg sent a message to the legislature concerning the lynching of the negro Smith at Paris by a mob. The governor strongly denounces the torturing and burning and wishes to have laws made to punish those who participate in lynching. He denounces Smith's slayers as murderers.

Populist Senator From Nebraska.

LINCOLN, Neb., Feb. 8.—Judge W. B. Allen, Populist, was elected United States senator today, receiving 70 votes, 4 more than necessary to a choice. The vote for Paddock, Republican, was 57. All the independents and Democrats voted for Allen. His election was then made unanimous.

New York Grangers Meet.

CLIFFORD IS ACQUITTED

Freed From the Charge of Killing a Pinkerton.

OTHER HOMESTEADERS TO ANSWER.

Chairman Frick, Hugh O'Donnell and the Anarchists Bauer and Knold Will Stand Trial—Clifford Still Has Several Indictments Yet Pending Against Him.

PITTSBURG, Feb. 8.—Jack Clifford, the Homestead striker, charged with the unlawful killing of P. J. Connors during the famous barge battle on July 6, was acquitted last evening.

Since the Homestead trials began there has not been such an attendance at the courthouse. Every inch of space was occupied, and many persons were unable to get inside the doors. The day was devoted to the arguments of counsel for the defense and prosecution and the charge of Judge Stowe.

The arguments on both sides were masterly efforts, and the judge's charge fair and impartial. At 3:55 o'clock the case was given to the jury, and court adjourned until evening. At 7:30 o'clock court reconvened, and it was announced that the jury had arrived at an agreement.

The Defendant Was Nervous.

The defendant was brought from jail and placed in the prisoner's box, where he nervously awaited the result.

The jury then filed in, and the foreman announced the verdict of not guilty. An incipient attempt at applause made by a couple of persons was speedily checked by the court officers. Clifford heaved a sigh of relief at the announcement and was immediately taken back to jail on the other charges pending against him. He still has indictments for murder, treason and riot to answer for. Today an effort will be made to secure his release on bail. District Attorney Burleigh's only comment on the verdict was to say: "We will try each of these cases as they come, and then the responsibility for the verdicts rests upon the jurors and not upon us. All the cases will be tried, including that of Chairman H. C. Frick. Hugh O'Donnell will be placed on trial Monday." Today Bauer and Knold, the anarchists, indicted as accessories to Berkman, the man who shot H. C. Frick, will be placed on trial.

Indian Barbarities In the West.

PINE RIDGE AGENCY, S. D., Feb. 8.—Policeman Bear-That-Runs-in-the-Woods brought in one of Two Strikes' scouts, who is one of the murderers of the Humphrey camp cowboys. He is slowly dying of his wounds. He confessed that it was agreed among the Indians to go to the best camp and kill the cowboys. They slipped into the dugout while the men were asleep and each selected a victim. At a given signal—a cough—each Indian emptied his revolver into the body of his victim. The cook was not killed at the first fire, and upon his attempting to crawl under the bed was shot again in the head. So close was the range that each victim was terribly powder burned. The dying Indian says the men were killed because they were whites.

A Flood at Pittsburg.

PITTSBURG, Feb. 8.—The Alleghany river is causing consternation among business men and residents along Duquesne way and lower Pennsylvania avenue as well as among the residents of lower Alleghany. The signal office officials confidently expect 22 feet of water, and it is even possible that a 23-foot stage may be reached. Those living or doing business along the river front are hastily removing all perishable goods. So far no serious damage is reported. The tracks of the Pittsburg and Western road are several feet under water within the city limits, and trains arrive and depart from the West Penn depot.

True Enough.

The story is told of the governor of a certain western state that at one time he was in a remote region and had to pass one night in a log cabin which served as inn for a small settlement.

The quarters were limited, and it fell out that the governor must sleep with a young Irishman employed about the place.

This arrangement was not exactly to the taste of the state official, but he was forced to submit to it. But he could not refrain from making his condescension known to his roommate.

"Mike," he said impressively as he was getting ready for the night, "you would stay a long time in the old country before you'd ever have a chance to sleep with a governor."

"Shure," assented Mike promptly. "But it's meself is thinkin," he added eagerly, "that you'd have to stay a long toime in the ould counthry before yer honor would be governor!"—Youth's Companion.

His Error.

He—Just one, please.

She—What good will that do? You'll want another.

He (eagerly)—No, I won't. I promise you.

She—Then you can't have it.—Life.

FASHIONS

New Cottons and Shirt Waists.

A season of cottons may surely be predicted from the eagerness with which they are being purchased in midwinter. Moreover, the coming styles, as well as those now in use, can be effectively carried out in these soft sheer fabrics. The belled waist, puffed sleeves and full skirt, with row after row of insertion, many little frills or wider flounces, will soon set their bevy in the lawn, batiste and organdies with which the shelves are laden in anticipation of summer.

For shirt waists, which promise to retain their popularity through another summer, and also for entire dresses, are Oxford checkets of soft cotton in stripes of alternate light and heavy weaving of a single color—white, pink gray or blue—or else in stripes of one of these colors alternating with white stripes. These are thirty-two inches wide and cost from twenty-five cents to fifty cents a yard.—Harper's Bazar.

Purple and Green.

Not only are purple and green each fashionable, but purple and a very delicate shade of green is a combination affected by elegantly dressed women. A striking gown worn lately was of purple velvet with a tasselled belt of chartreuse silk, and a very handsome wrap noted on a recent Sunday was of purple velvet lined with apple green brocade.

Newest Fans.

Small fans are coming into vogue again for wear with the Old World costumes now fashionable. Many fans of silk or gauze are decorated with exquisite paintings and framed in lace. About twelve inches is the average length of the outside sticks of some fans of carved shell or pearl.

FEATHER FAN.

The fan here illustrated is made of coq and ostrich feathers combined, with colored sticks and ribbon bows.

White or black feather fans are convenient because they can be used with a variety of costumes. Gauze fans in different colors are popular and are worn to match the gowns in color.

Babykins Making Kisses.

One day Nora came up stairs and said, "Babykins, do you want to come down into the kitchen and help me cook?"

Babykins did, so Nora carried him down and put him in his high chair at one end of the kitchen table.

Nora was making pies. Babykins want ed the rolling pin, so she gave it to him.

Babykins rolled it backward and forward.

"Why, you are a fine little cook," said Nora. "A cup is all you want."

Nora took an empty paper bag and put it on Babykins' head. Babykins was pleased. Then she sprinkled some sugar on the table, and Babykins rolled it with the rolling pin.

Every now and then Babykins stopped to eat some. After he had eaten a little he would roll again with the rolling pin.

"What are you making now, Babykins?" asked Nora.

"Kisses," said Babykins.

"I want to know," said Nora. "Well, you must give me the recipe for your kisses, Babykins."—Babyland.

Brave Little Antonio.

The most heroic act I know of was that of a little Italian named Antonio, who was sent to the country by a mission for a fortnight. A wealthy farmer took him.

This farmer had two children, Ethel and Johnny. Ethel was 6 years of age and Johnny was 12, Antonio being only 10.

Ethel had been sick for a long time, and on the day I am telling of her mamma had put her in a hammock in the orchard, and to keep out the sun she threw over it a scarlet shawl as a sort of awning. Antonio was whittling near her, and Johnny was reading a book.

Now, Mr. Leslie, the children's papa, had a young bull, which he kept in the shed on account of its being very wild. The bull and the flies bothered him so that he at last was so dangerous that he broke through the shed door, knocked down the barn gate and headed for the orchard. Seeing the red shawl he charged for it.

Mrs. Leslie was on the veranda with a maiden aunt, and upon seeing what had happened she was struck dumb with terror Johnny threw down his book and "ran for his life," but Antonio, brave Antonio, was as calm as can be. He snatched the red shawl from its perch and ran out of the orchard, with the bull after him, down the lane into a meadow where hay was being made, bull following. The haymakers ran and the infuriated beast and then killed him with their pitchforks. Then turning to Antonio, who had swooned, they tenderly carried him home, where he soon recovered.

He never went back to the city, but after

Sir Walter Scott's Good Dogs.

Sir Walter Scott once told a visitor that two hounds which were lying before the fire understood every word he said. The friend seeming incredulous, the novelist, to prove his statement, picked up a book and began to read aloud, "I have two dogs, good for nothing boys, who lie by the fire and sleep and let the cattle ruin my garden."

The dogs raised their heads, listened and then ran from the room, but finding the garden empty soon returned to the hearth rug. Sir Walter again read the story, with like result, but once more the dogs came back disappointed. Instead of reading from the room when their master commenced reading the third time, both hounds came and looked up into his face, whined and wagged their tails, as if to say, "You have made game of us twice, but you can't do it again."—Our Animal Friends.

Why She Was Indignant.

An Auburn little girl of 8½ years came home from church a Sunday or two ago highly indignant frame of mind—in fact she was lofty and would hold no converse with any one.

She took off her bonnet and her tippet as crossly as little Miss Muffet ever sat on a tuffet, and then she flirted around the room with a most disgusted air. Being sweet of disposition, however, she soon became sugary and lovable as of old, and on inquiry it revealed that at church, where she had gone with a neighbor, she hadn't been treated well.

"Fy," said she, "they had broady butter, and dey wore dire—one (with tears) dey wore dir no nose."—Lewiston Journal.

An Experiment Worth Trying.

Here is a little experiment which is well worth showing to your friends. Procure a bit of ordinary camphor and from it break off tiny pieces. Drop these upon the surface of some pure water contained in a bowl or saucer and they will immediately begin to rotate and move about, sometimes continuing to do this for several hours. The water must be quiet, for if a drop of oil or any grease is in it the experiment will not work. But provided that nothing of the sort gets in the little pieces of camphor will twirl about in a manner that is exceedingly funny.

Mothers of Naughty Children.

Some one pleasantly observes that there is one good thing about spoiled children—we never have them in our own family. Nevertheless I feel sure that these words will be read by many a mother whose secret, unacknowledged sorrow is a wayward, seemingly incorrigible child, whose (often unjustly) shortcomings are more than mere childish naughtiness.

The words of a little girl recently, "Wasn't I partly good, mamma?" aroused in my mind an earnest desire to speak a word to the mother of the "bad boy" (and bad girl), for I myself, in the long past childhood, was one of the children of whom long suffering families despair, and from the depths of my experience I point this warning: Don't, under whatever provocation, let your child see that you think him wholly bad! Scolding and punishment are or course necessary. When you are displeased with him, he must of course be made to feel it, but don't make him despair.

"Give a dog a bad name and hang him." Children are canny little mortals, and when they see that you expect the worst they will come up to our expectations, having nothing to lose and everything to gain. One of the most marvelous speeches I ever heard was from a woman to her little son, who is, sad to say, a "natural born liar:" "Well, you say so, but I can't trust you, you're such a little liar. I never can take what you say as true."

The boy is foolish if he wastes truth on that mother.—Housekeepers' Weekly.

Women In Governmental Work.

There are 6,105 women employed in department work in Washington as against 17,095 males. Here is the table:

	Male.	Female.	Total.
Congress	18	7	25
Executive office	22	1	23

Of these employees about 10,000 come under the civil service rules. In 25 years women have captured 25 per cent of the government positions.

Kitchen Soap For the Mats.

For washing the hair, particularly such as is inclined to be oily, nothing is better than the common hard soap of the kitchen. A woman who has used it frequently herself, and sees its benefits lauded in other cases, prescribes it with strong faith. "Make a strong suds," she says; "rub it quickly on the hair and wash it off again at once. After that any scented soap or wash may be used in the way of an ordinary shampoo."

An English maid, who is famed for the care of her mistress' hair, was asked to give further testimony of the same article, as the only wash she used is soapsuds thickened with a teaspoonful of glycerin and the white of an egg. Unhesitatingly women waste money in expensive hair beautifiers and preservers. Simple means right to hand are quite as effective. The pulp of a lemon, for instance, rubbed on the roots of the hair will stop ordinary cases of falling out.—Her Point of View in New York Times.

A Warning to Matchmakers.

It may be questioned whether it is not much more injudicious to urge marriages than to prevent them. In the one case the wretched man may be much slower in coming, but it is none the less sure and farmaching is its effects. It takes a vast deal of grace for people to live together in harmony who have had the year out, and there must be some natural attraction or something more than somebody's whim or persistence to keep things even and preserve that unity and sympathetic consideration that are absolutely necessary to make home life worth the living. Therefore, whatever else you do, never urge a marriage. Marriage is one of the things that must be desired, and that ardently by the contracting parties. No one has a right to interfere, and to do so is to multiply sorrows for those whose affairs are meddled with in this way.—New York Ledger.

Two Aged Women.

One of the most famous of female centenarians was the Countess of Desmond, who lived to be 145 years old in the reign of James I from the effects of an accident. This wonderful woman found herself at the age of 100 so lively and strong as to be able to take part in the wars of Ireland, and when she was 140 she traveled all the way from Bristol to London—no trifling journey in those days—in order to attend personally to some business of state.

Lady Desmond is, however, quite thrown into the shade by a French woman—Marie Pitcairn—who died in St. Columbe in June, 1836, it is said, at the wonderful age of 168. Toward the end of her life she lived exclusively on goats' milk and cheese. Although her body was shrunk that she weighed only 45 pounds, she retained all her mental faculties to the last.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

The Children's Teeth.

If a mother wishes her children to "use up and call her blessed," she must make them go to the dentist. It is not to be suspected that her blessing and its cause will be simultaneous. She will probably earn her blessing with much fuss and consternation. But let her be firm. Of all physical good there is nothing equal to sound teeth. You little boys and girls, be obedient and brave. Let the dentist do his best for you, and when you are big men and women you will often say, "God bless my mother, who made me use my toothbrush, and heaven smile on the dentist who preserved my teeth!"—Cincinnati Post.

When Women Invest.

When you make investments of your little savings, look about you on all sides and find out for yourself where it is wise to put your money. Do not trust anybody implicitly. Women often lose their money through sheer laziness in finding out what sort of risks they are taking. Naturally nobody is as much interested in your affairs as you are. Do not expect, therefore, that anybody else will take trouble for you but you are unwilling to take for yourself.—St. Louis Star-Sayings.

Woman's Influence.

Women everywhere, and particularly women's Christian temperance unions, should use their good offices as mediators between capital and labor. They could do much by pen and voice and the passage of well worded resolutions to create the right sort of public opinion, and at the same time to increase their own influence for good in the woman's sex.—Wives and Daughters.

AN OLD ADMIRER.

Absence Doesn't Always Make the Heart Grow Fonder.

Scene—A dinner at the Van Ogdens'.

Reggy Westend (to himself)—Here's a sell! They've given me the stupidest girl in the whole room. I wonder where the little darling on my left is. Something decently familiar about the back of her neck. I wish she'd turn her face this way. By Jove! (Aloud.) Miss Miss Carhart! What a lucky duffer I am!

Miss Carhart (coolly)—Mr. Westend, I believe?

Reggy—You believe? Oh, say, that's good. Have you really forgotten me, or are you just angry because I haven't called? I couldn't, you know. I've been away—Been out west, across the pond, down the Mediterranean, Alaska, Calcutta, Buenos Ayres, Japan, Norway, all over the place.

Miss Carhart (languidly)—And why did you come back?

Reggy—Really had to; found I couldn't live without you. Even the desert of Sahara was a barren waste. I sighed for Plainfield's happy home and old friends, you know. Aren't you delighted to see me?

Miss Carhart (with forced politeness)—I am charmed. Tell me some more about Japan.

Reggy—You don't act charmed. That too maiden business reminds me of the first time I ever tried to kiss you. Ah, I'm coming up some evening this week to talk over those old Spoon River days.

Miss Carhart (biting her lip)—Well, really, I am out so much.

Reggy (cheerfully)—Oh, yes, of course, to other fellows, but you won't be to me, by Gad! I often think of Spoon lake. Never had such a jolly time since. Awfully gone little girl, eh? And I was head over heels in love myself. Never were engaged, though, were we?

Miss Carhart (raising her voice)—And so you spent six months in Italy? (In a lower tone.) I should hope not.

Reggy—Who said anything about Italy? You didn't "hope not" once. Neither did I. I was quite in earnest. Oh, you needn't lift your eyebrows! I was, I assure you.

Miss Carhart—Yes, I like "Americans Abroad" better than "Aristocracy."

Reggy—"Americans Abroad" or "Abroad" What's the matter with you, Mac? I don't know what to make of you. You used to be the sweetest and most friendly little girl. Never knew any one so affectionate. Awfully changed now. Perhaps you don't like my beard? I'll shave it off. If I could forget Italy and her—Mrs. Van Ogden knows what spoons—

Miss Carhart (desperately)—Do be quiet; I'm engaged if you must know it!

Reggy—Engaged! By Jove! And to whom?

Miss Carhart (bitterly)—To the man on the other side of me. And he has very good ears!

Reggy—Oh—er—I say, you know. Awfully sorry! All a joke; never met you before! Mistook you for Miss—Miss—Jones, Miss Wabash of Chicago. Deucedly pretty girl. Looks just like you. Beastly blunder!

Miss Carhart—A horrible blunder! (Guides are so careless. If he had let you fall into that conversation on the Matterhorn!)

Reggy (fervently)—By Jove, I wish he had!—Harry Romaine in Life.

A Story of Devotion.

They sat late by the flickering firelight.

The law takes no cognizance of this class of stealing.

Nobody does, if proper precautions are observed, except the two interested parties

Oh, love!

Oh, rapture!

He had told her the sweet words over and over again, and she had coyly cooed them back to him.

A step was heard in the hall.

That is to say, it was heard by the girl.

The young man heard nothing except the beating of a fond heart.

"George," she murmured, "what would you do to show your love for your little Edwinda?"

"Dearest," he responded fervently, "anything, everything. I would willingly, oh, so willingly, suffer any pain for you."

"Are you sure, George?" she asked, with the insistence of doubt.

"Sure as the stars do shine, darling."

Again that step.

"Then, George," she said, with a little sob, "get ready, for papa's coming."

And the craven coward skipped.—Detroit Free Press.

Not So Bad.

Among Dr. Mines' stories of old New York is one of a young artist who had presumed to fall in love with the daughter of the famous shipowner of that day. As Dr. Mines expresses it, this was "long before the dawn of aesthetic taste." The profession of artist was looked upon as merely an excuse for idleness.

When it became known that the rich shipowner's daughter had encouraged the suit of a penniless artist was shocked. The young man had talents no doubt, but they were talents of a sort that did not count in those days.

Among Mr. C. F. Briggs, then a widely known journalist, entered the shipowner's house, and the women of the family—the Misses Briggs—"were all there and sisters-" begged him to remonstrate with the obstinate Emily and save the family honor.

"The family honor?" said Briggs. "What has Emily been doing now?"

"Doing!" answered the full feminine chorus. "She's going to disgrace us all by marrying an artist!"

"Pooh, pooh!" was the quick reply. "The fellow isn't enough of an artist to make it anything of a disgrace."—Youth's Companion.

She Consented.

"You want me to marry you? Why have you singled me out from among so many girls of your acquaintance?"

"Because I made a vow that only the loveliest and most amiable girl in town should ever receive a proposal from me."—New York Press.

A Great Day.

"I am going to have a good time next week," said a Boston girl the other day. "My brother calls it a regular giddy swirl of frivolous dissipation. Monday I shall spend most of the day at the bazaar for the Home for Aged Couples at Horticultural hall, and I'll go in the evening to hear Carroll D. Wright speak on the influence of the factory system on intellectual development. Tuesday the fate for the Working Girls' Home will be left to Gentryburg building. Wednesday afternoon there's a lovely meeting in the interest of fresh water baths at Technology, and in the evening I'm going to Bulfinch chapel to see and hear a pretty girl's play in aid of the tenement house.

"Thursday I shall simply reside at the Home for Aged Couples' fair again, and Friday evening I shall go to Tremont temple to hear those charming Chinamen, Sam Ping Lee and Wong Chin Foo, talk again on the Geary exclusion law, and Saturday, oh, Saturday I do want to go to Springfield to the football game, but more I want to go to the banquet and ball of the Younger Minsters' association!"—New York Tribune.

BREVITIES

—"A Marriage Specter" will be the attraction at Music Hall to-night.

—Next Saturday will be sentence day in the Union County Court at Elizabeth.

—The next Philharmonic Concert will be held at the Casino, next Tuesday evening.

—The Crescent League bowling team will roll a game with the Arthur Kulls at Elizabeth, to-morrow night.

—All past post commanders of the Grand Army of the Republic are eligible to attend G. A. R. conventions.

—Next Saturday night the C. Y. M. L. team of this city will bowl a game with the Elizabeth Field Club, at Elizabeth.

—The Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist Episcopal church will meet Tuesday afternoon in Vincent chapel at 3.30 p. m.

—An entertainment will be given by the choir of the church of the Holy Cross, to-morrow evening, in the school building on Mercer avenue.

—The difference between doing business on the "blue line" plan and the "ox team" principle is what White tells you about in his advertisement.

—On Thursday and Friday evenings, Feb. 23 and 24, the ladies of the Foreign and Home Missionary Societies will hold a missionary tea in Vincent chapel.

—The regular meeting of the Young Ladies' Missionary Society of the First Baptist church will be held to-morrow afternoon at two o'clock in the lecture room.

—The shooting match at Morristown Driving Park, yesterday afternoon, between Charles Smith of this city and Frank Claes of Morristown, was won by Mr. Smith.

—The revival services in the Park place chapel were conducted last evening by the Rev. H. K. Carroll, in the absence of the Rev. Mr. Bascom, who will be present this evening.

—Water occupies three-quarters the area of the globe. It is composed of hydrogen and oxygen. If you want to see this proven go to the Y. M. C. A. rooms, this evening, at eight o'clock.

—The handsomest piece of sign work in Plainfield is the new sign that Mr. Edward White of 18 West Front street has had put on the front of his store. Vroom was the artist and it does him great credit.

—The fatal accident to young Staats, on the railroad track, should have been a warning to other young men who practice jumping on coal trains, but it doesn't seem to have had any effect on them, as four were seen to jump on a coal train at the same place yesterday.

—There was a large attendance at the Crescent League meeting last evening. The committee, that volunteered to solicit members to buy stock, made a favorable report, and allowed the league to be regaining solid footing. The league adjourned to meet Feb. 15.

—The Young Ladies Mission Band had a delightful time at its annual jug-breaking, in the First Presbyterian church, yesterday afternoon. It is hoped that any who are unable to get their gifts to yesterday's meeting will send them to the treasurer without delay.

—Considerable excitement was caused yesterday afternoon in a cottage on West Third street near Clinton avenue, where two small children belonging to a Swedish family were suffering from croup strangulation. They are attended by Dr. Nelson of New Market and are not yet out of danger.

—There will be a special musical service at the church of the Holy Cross next Sunday afternoon. This will be the last until after Easter. The choir will sing the Gloria from Gounod's Messe Solennelle, the Master Seth Bingham, the promising contralto, will sing the solo, "He was Despised," from the Messiah.

—Special delivery stamps will hereafter be light orange instead of dark blue as heretofore, the design of the stamp to remain the same. This change of color is made on account of the similarity in the general appearance of the blue special delivery stamps and one-cent Columbian stamp.

—A practical illustration of the value of advertising was given on the corner of Front street and Park avenue Saturday evening. In Saturday evening's News, Mr. Edward White, one of Plainfield's most enterprising merchants, had at the head of his advertisement the words, "Did You Ever Slip on the Ice?" As Mr. White was leaving the corner he slipped on the ice, and fell most emphatically. Some one passing laughingly remarked, "Did you ever slip on the ice?" Mr. White was not so much hurt that he did not quickly see the point, and joined heartily in the laughter which followed.

—A Plainfielder, who is interested in fancy poultry says the cleverest boxer could hardly equal in scientific dodging and fighting two trained game cocks. If the birds are young, their spurs blunted and the needle like steel "pin" let off, a "round" between them is usually as harmless as a friendly act to between men with boxing-gloves. The natural instinct of the "birds" is to fight. Like two prize fighters they come forward, with lowered heads, watching for an opening. Suddenly one bird, perhaps, will spring into the air, and, tilting backwards, bring its feet together with lightning-like rapidity on the spot where the other's head should be. Then there are two to one, however, the other bird, with equal quickness, will have either dodged and ran underneath or have sprang backward and then up, colliding with its opponent with sufficient force to roll each on the ground. Then how they cackle and crow their defiance.

PLAINFIELD'S COLUMBIAN EXHIBITS.

Some Facts Concerning the Shipment of Articles.

Plainfield manufacturers will exhibit several specimens of their handiwork at the World's Columbian Exposition. The Pond Machine and Tool Company will have the largest space in machinery hall. They will open a machinery repair shop there and do all kinds of work in their line.

Walter Scott and Company will also have an exhibit. They are now manufacturing presses that are to be done in time for the opening.

Chas. Potter, Jr., & Company will also have an exhibit there.

Several private individuals will have brica-brac and antique articles exhibited.

The rules regulating transportation of all articles for exhibition have been issued, and required the shippers to prepay all freight and to designate the routes for shipment of goods. A charge of one dollar per 100 pounds additional is made on all shipments for expense incurred by terminal switching. Valuable pictures, brica-brac, and other fragile goods should be sent by express. The shipper should demand of the railroad line express companies three receipts. One to be kept by the shipper, the two in duplicate, to be sent to the Director-General, Chicago, at the time the shipment is made.

[Paterson, N. J., Morning Call, Jan. 27, 1893.]

Last night was a musical one at the Market Street Methodist church. The Fisk University Jubilee Singers gave one of their famous concerts, and the auditorium and galleries of the great church were crowded to the doors.

The Fisk Jubilee Singers, like their songs, never grow old. It is over twenty years since they first organized, and no better proof of their capability exists than the fact that they remain before the public. At the Market Street church, last night, they delighted everybody.

The Fisk Jubilee Singers will be at Asbury Park to-night.

Warren Engine Company Still Leads.

At the fair of Warren Engine Co. No. 1, now in New York, the contest for the gold mounted whip to be voted to the most popular fire company, stands as follows:

Albert Hose Co. No. 1	6 votes
Charlie Engine Co. No. 1	19 "
Plainfield Engine Co. No. 1	37 "
Zephyr Hook & Ladder Co.	11 "
Warren Engine Co. No. 1	268 "

The contest for the ladies act, for the most popular fireman's wife or lady friend now stands:

Mrs. Seeber	81 votes
Mrs. McGann	14 "
Mrs. Fairchild	11 "
Mrs. Smith	5 "

Next Season's Base Ball.

There is a possibility that the Central New Jersey League may be reorganized, as a rumor is current that the New Jersey A. C. will enter this organization, though it is not believed that either Westfield or Somerville will be represented, and the recent experiences of the Crescents make improbable Plainfield's representation. THREE MRS. BULLOCKS.

ONE, A FORMER PLAINFIELDER, SUING FOR HER MONEY.

To win the Suit she Proves she was Never Bullock's Lawful Wife—The Matter has Been in the Courts Before.

The evidence in the case of Lydia P. Bullock vs. Thomas O. Bullock, for a partnership accounting, was tried before Vice-Chancellor Van Fleet in Newark yesterday and brought forth many startling facts. The petitioner claimed that she had given her husband money to invest and could not secure an accounting. The defense demurred to the petition on the ground that section fourteen of the act known as the "Married Woman's Act" voided a partnership between man and wife. This necessitated the introduction of evidence which revealed the relations of the parties.

Thomas O. Bullock was first married in Utah and secured a divorce which was not recognized by the courts of other States. He came East and married the petitioner in 1870, in this city. In 1875 she gave him $10,000 with which to engage in wholesale dealings in rice. They were to engage in a partnership under the firm name of Bullock & Co., and have a principal office in New York.

In 1881, the first Mrs. Bullock went to New York and secured a divorce. Mrs. Bullock, No. 2, who figures in the present law suit, then refused to have any marital relations with him because for ten years she had not been his lawful wife. Then Mr. Bullock made a matrimonial contract with the woman who is now the third Mrs. Bullock. The object of this evidence was to show that the parties to the controversy had never been husband and wife, and that the case, therefore, did not come under the "Married Woman's Act."

It was also claimed that Mr. Bullock had invested a portion of the proceeds of the partnership in a country place at Roxbury, Morris county, now worth $30,000 or $40,000. While the petitioner claims that Bullock had no capital to begin business, and that all the property he controls is the result of her investment, he defends the action by declaring that she drew out a part of her interest, that the Morris county property is not worth over $10,000 and that a large part of her $10,000 went for taxes and repairs on her property in this city.

PERSONAL.

A little child of Mr. J. G. Haberle of Harmony street, North Plainfield, is ill with pneumonia.

Mrs. A. L. Ross of Grant avenue gave a delightful afternoon tea yesterday to a number of friends.

Among the list of patents recently granted to Jerseymen is one for a multi-colors printing machine to Mr. Walter Scott of this city.

Mr. Charles Lyman won the pool tournament, and Mr. J. T. Scott the billiard tournament, at the Park Club. The prizes were handed out last night.

Messrs. Dobbins, Wills, Smith, Drake, and Afdaugh, of Winfield Scott Post, left this city this morning to attend the G. A. R. Convention at Trenton.

Mr. H. M. Morris of Bridgeton has accepted a position with the Pond Machine and Tool Co. of this city as draughtsman, and will remove here with his family this week.

A very pleasant evening sociable was held at the home of Mrs. Griffin, on Broadway, last evening. The evening was spent in dancing. Music was furnished by Prof. Carpenter.

The funeral services of Mrs. Mary A., wife of Rev. William Wallace, were held at the Baptist church, Elizabeth, yesterday morning at 11 o'clock, and were largely attended. Rev. Joseph Bailey and Rev. D. E. Robinson, of Elizabeth and the Rev. W. W. Johnson, of Plainfield, conducted the services.

Mr. W. H. Chapman, the Melopoia conductor, who had been confined to his house seriously ill, for several days, surprised the members of the Melopoia by appearing at the Casino Tuesday evening when the rehearsal was half over. Mr. Levy had been leading, most acceptably, but he immediately resigned in favor of Mr. Chapman who finished the rehearsal. He will, it is hoped, be able to lead at the concert this evening.

Mr. E. H. Holmes is a veteran of the late war. He is now a member of the Roanoke Association of New York. This association is composed of those who were soldiers in the 9th Army Corps. Any one with a good record who belonged to this corps can join the association. Every year the Roanoke Association give an anniversary dinner to commemorate the battle of Roanoke Island. The 31st anniversary was held last evening at Hotel Brunswick, N. Y. Covers were laid for eighty persons. Speeches were made in which the exploits of Burnside's expedition were recalled. Roanoke Island was the key to North Carolina and New Bern. With this island in their possession the conquest of New Burgh was assured to the Union troops.

Has Rector Jennings Been Removed?

It is reported that Rector J. B. Jennings of Grace Church, Westfield, who has recently been the subject of ecclesiastical inquiry on various charges, as reported in THE NEWS at the time, has received a letter from the Right Rev. Bishop Scarborough removing him from the rectorship of the parish. The time of removal is said to be Feb. 15. Rector Jennings is silent on the subject.

CHARGES HIS UNCLE WITH FRAUD.

The trial of the suit brought by William S. Hurley to recover nearly $600,000 worth of property which he alleges belongs to his father's estate, of which he says he has been defrauded by his uncles, William Miles and Jacob Miles of this city, mentioned in yesterday's News, was continued in the Supreme Court before Judge Barrett yesterday. Mr. Hurley testified as to the transactions connected with the settlement of the estate, and identified documentary evidence introduced. The uncles, both aged men, were in court all day. Mrs. Catharine A. Hurley, the widow, and children were also present.

Mr. Hurley testified "that he and his brother and sisters had signed a general release of further liability in 1883 in favor of William Miles, his father's former partner, and Jacob Miles, executor, under his father's will. The heirs received only $25,000. After he became of age he made an examination of the books and found that no counting had been made of certain property. He afterward found that the title to certain parcels was still in his father's name. He reported these discoveries to William and Jacob Miles. They put him off at first, but he finally got an accounting at which they refused to give it, saying that the settlement of 1883 was final." Hurley said he afterward found that property in Division street, in Fordham, in West Farms, a number of lots in Cypress Hills Cemetery and other property had not been properly accounted for. The trial was continued to-day.

Exhibits from Plainfield Schools.

The class work of Plainfield's schools to be exhibited at the Columbian exposition has been arranged to send to Trenton, where it will be placed with the State exhibit and so forwarded to Chicago. The exhibit consists of a book of papers of the scholars' work from each grade of the following studies: Arithmetic, language, drawing, and writing, and from five of the highest grades in geography and history. Also a book of papers of all the studies of the High school.

—Good Friday, which will come this year on March 31, is a legal holiday in Pennsylvania, but not in this State.

LATEST NEWS BY WIRE.

Under Our Flag.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 8—(Special)—The steamer Australia arrived off The Heads at an early hour this morning with news that Minister Stevens had established a protectorate over the Hawaiian Islands. The act was executed at nine o'clock on the morning of Feb. 1, when the Stars and Stripes were raised over Aliiolani Hall, and the Minister issued a proclamation.

The steamer also brings, besides its official Hawaiian advices, news of the death by drowning at Hawaii of Miss Stevens, the eldest daughter of the American Minister.

The flags on all the Consulates were flying at half-mast on account of this sad event.

WOMAN'S WORK AT THE EXPOSITION.

A Circular Issued by the Art Committee of Union County.

The following circular has been sent out by the Art Committee of Union County, which is in charge of the State Committee having in charge the exhibition of woman's work at the Columbian Exposition.

A committee for collecting works of art to be exhibited at the Columbian Exposition has been appointed by the county chairman of Union county. We hope you will take an interest in having New Jersey well represented, and that you will send as specimens of what you consider your best work. Framed pictures cannot be accepted. Work will be forwarded by us to the State committee at Newark. All works of art must be in the hands of the State committee by March 1, and in our hands not later than February 20th.

All expenses will be paid by the State of New Jersey. Pictures should have narrow frames, as the space is limited. If your work of art is for sale the price should be attached. Lists of articles should be sent at once, as the committee must report as soon as possible. Each contributor must send with her work full name and address. Works of art include painting in oil and water and on china. Illustrated books and tail pieces, book covers, music scores, modelling, wood carving, metal work, pen and ink drawing and original designs. Work of students will be accepted, and all works intended for exposition should be sent to Josephine E. Kenyon, chairman, 847 Rahway avenue, Elizabeth, N. J.

ICE GORGE IN THE RARITAN.

It Caused a Flood Yesterday, and Shut off New Brunswick from Points South.

An ice gorge in the Raritan river at the landing bridge, New Brunswick, has caused a flood that has shut off all communication between that city and all territory on the east bank of the Raritan river south Bound Brook to Raritan Bay. The ice there is now the highest the river near its source in the mountains north of Bound Brook.

The solid ice in the river drifted and formed a gorge nearly 15 feet high north of the landing bridge. In a few hours the water rose so that it was forced to the bridges became the basin of the river, and the approach of the bridge was cut off by a swift-flowing stream.

Did You Ever Ride Behind an Ox Team?

RATHER SLOW, AIN'T IT.

THERE IS JUST THE SAME DIFFERENCE BETWEEN OUR WAY OF DOING BUSINESS, AND THE WAY OTHERS DO IT, AS THERE IS BETWEEN A BLUE LINE FLYER AND AN OX TEAM.

Wouldn't you rather do business and buy your goods of a concern that believes in moving things on the fast line principle? Buy goods of us, and sell them to-morrow on a close, quick profit, or on the ox team principle—buy to-day and sell next year, or never, because they want big profits. We believe in close, quick profits, hence our great success.

EDITORIAL NOTES

To Rebuild Old Cities.

The worst, wickedest, most unhealthful part of a city is its older streets and buildings. Most of our large cities have been increased by taking on adjacent villages. Sometimes the village streets ran the same way as those of the big city, oftener not. In every old city of the Union and in many new ones there are miles of narrow, crooked streets and rotten old rookeries in which a rat ought to be ashamed to nest. In perhaps a majority of cases these foul old tenements belong to millionaire owners. In such dens last fall cholera found a breeding place in New York. In such dens typhus fever is at this moment raging in the same city.

Now, these old tenements are a disgrace to civilization, particularly American civilization. So are a large proportion of the business houses, shops and factories in which 1,000,000 men and women work day by day, ruining their health, imperiling their lives and gradually losing all sense of cleanliness and refinement. It would be a blessing not at all disguised if a square mile or two of nearly every city in the Union should be swept by fire and have every building it contained cleared off the face of the earth. Then we could begin over new and put up the tall, light, splendid fireproof palaces which are the sort of offices and factories in which civilized people should work.

In many cases the property owner is the man who stands in the way of the erection of the new style business house. With all the money he himself wants, he will neither erect a new house nor let anybody do it. He is the dog in the manger. Often this fossilized old hunks leaves a lot altogether unimproved in the very heart of a city, crowding people off it and merely waiting till he gets a fabulous price for it. A city business man has suggested the following way to deal with such a monopolist. It is to be considered that he has no right to stand in the way of necessary improvements. The municipal government should have the right to step in and say: "This city needs your ground for the use of its citizens. We are going to buy it of you whether you want to sell it or not. We will give you a good price for it, fully what it is worth, but sell you must. Or, if you prefer to erect upon your property a fireproof house with all modern improvements, do so, but one or the other you shall do in the interests of the people of this city."

If the old hunks preferred to sell his property to the city, then the city could lease it for a sufficient ground rent to a man who would erect upon it either one of the palace apartment houses in which poor people have a right to live or a palace factory or business house in which poor people have a right to work. Thus block after block of real estate now covered by disreputable old rookeries would pass into the hands of the city itself, to be leased by individuals who would transform it according to modern requirements. The revenues from these ground rents would gradually defray no small part of the city expenses, thus taking the place of taxes. In time the rents would be sufficient to more than pay the city back the purchase price. Slum cities would be transformed by degrees into cities of palaces.

It is now admitted on all sides that the great Chicago fire was the best thing that ever happened to the Lake City—alike from the commercial, sanitary and architectural points of view.

The plan proposed would be the means of rebuilding a great many from which the inhabitants of every large city suffer. The state has the right to condemn land for public improvements already. What public improvement is greater than that which betters the health and morals of a whole city?

Thus our cities could be reconstructed according to 20th century needs. Something of the kind has already been done in England.

The French Canadians are, many of them, eager to be annexed to this country and be under a republican government. Yet so strong is sentiment that on the day of the 100th anniversary of the execution of Louis XVI nearly all the members of the societies of French Canadians in Montreal attended a commemorative mass in the Cathedral of Notre Dame. Canada has been a British colony 130 years, having been ceded to England by France in 1763, yet today the descendants of the old Canadian French cherish fondly the memory of the days when their ancestors were subjects of France and were ruled by a king.

The absurd custom of devoting a day in congress to eulogizing a dead member made after his demise still continues. After most of the country has forgotten that Congressman Jiffkin ever lived his colleagues take a day to recount his many virtues. If it must be done at all, why not at once? The only explanation is that possibly it takes five or six months for his fellow-members to find out he had any virtues.

How times change and people change in them! Dec. 5, 1860, Mr. Lamar said in congress, "I raise the banner of secession, and I will fight under it as long as the blood ebbs and flows in my veins." Yet Judge Lamar lived to be an honored member of the United States supreme court.

AN ANNEXATION BILL.

One That Will Cover Any Incidents Likely to Arise.

AN EFFORT TO REDUCE PENSIONS

No Treaties Now Under Consideration, Fact Never Before Known—The Rivers and Coast—Measures Taken to Prevent Cholera From Being Imported.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—Mr. Morgan, the leading Democratic member of the senate committee on foreign relations, held a short conference with Secretary of State Foster and the bill introduced by him is the probable outcome of that conference. Mr. Morgan is an enthusiastic annexationist, and it will be seen that in his measure he provides not only for Hawaii, but any similar condition that may arise in the future. The full text of the bill, which is a very short one, is as follows:

That whenever the United States shall acquire dominion over any foreign country or place by treaty or annexation or otherwise, the president of the United States, with the advice and consent of the senate, may appoint a governor for the same and a legislative council, to consist of any number of persons not less than five nor more than 25—whose acts shall be subject to revision or repeal by congress, and unless the treaty of annexation or cession shall otherwise provide said governor and councils shall constitute and conduct all provisional government for such country or place until congress shall otherwise provide by law.

Secretary of State Foster, when asked whether or not Senator Morgan's bill was introduced in pursuance of any understanding of his, said that he had no previous knowledge of the senator's intention to propose such a measure.

Mr. Wilder, one of the Hawaiian commissioners, said it was exactly what the commissioners desired—if the Islands in annexation was decided upon. "We must have something of the kind, for the present at least. There must be some provision made by which the native population will be prevented from taking hold of affairs and returning to the condition which obtained before the revolution."

Trouble Ahead For Pensions.

A radical change in the pension policy is proposed. The change will be backed up by a majority of the committee on appropriations and will be fought tooth and nail by the Republican minority, assisted by Representative Holman, chairman of the committee, who is ordinarily the most strenuous advocate in the committee of a reduction of expenditures. The proposed change lies in view a considerable reduction of the pension rolls and of the enormous amount now paid out for pensions by changing the list of the names of some of those now on it, by making more difficult the procurement of a pension under the laws and by turning over the whole pension bureau to the war department.

At Peace With All Nations.

An interesting and significant fact was communicated to members of the cabinet by Secretary of State Foster. While the cabinet was in session news of the ratification of the Russian extradition treaty by the senate reached the White House. Upon learning this the secretary of state announced to his associates that there were no treaties pending before the senate, no state department business unacted upon, and the statement was made that such a condition of affairs probably never before existed.

Cholera Precautions.

The vice president laid before the senate a communication from the secretary of the treasury as to what rules and regulations are now in force to prevent the introduction of contagious or infectious diseases in this country. The secretary incloses a letter of the surgeon general of the Marine hospital service on the subject, and also says that two medical officers are now on duty in Europe to report all possible information relative to cholera infected ports and means by which there is danger of transmission of this disease to the United States.

Cleveland and Stevenson Elected.

The senate and the house joined in counting the electoral vote, and this passed off without any incident of importance. Grover Cleveland was declared to be the national selection of the people for the office of president and Adlai E. Stevenson for the office of vice president of the United States.

The Allegheny at Pittsburg Receding.

PITTSBURG, Feb. 9.—The rivers are again receding, with 20 feet 6 inches on the marks at noon. At the highest point many houses were flooded in Allegheny, Sharpsburg and the south side, and numerous mills and factories along the river fronts suffered from the water entering the fires. The damage, however, was slight, and all danger has passed. Trains on all the roads are running again as usual.

The Pennsylvania Purchases Real Estate.

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—The Pennsylvania Railroad corporation has purchased one-half of the square between Thirty-eighth and Thirty-ninth streets on the Hudson river front, and well informed men say it means the establishment of mammoth freight houses and yards at the foot of West Thirty-seventh and Thirty-eighth streets, where the railroad has already a good sized plant.

Riotous Sophomores Censured.

MIDDLETOWN, Conn., Feb. 9.—The faculty of Wesleyan university has made a thorough investigation of the hazing of Freshman Johnston. The guilty sophomores have been censured, evidently hoping thereby to be dealt with more leniently. The faculty is considering the matter of a penalty.

For Weekly Payment.

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 9.—The senate passed a bill requiring all corporations, firms and individuals, except railroad companies and farmers, to pay their employees at least once a week in cash. Contracts for other arrangements to pay wages are made invalid.

Colonel Cavanaugh Brevetted.

ALBANY, Feb. 9.—Colonel James Cavanaugh of the Sixty-ninth regiment has received the brevet commission of brigadier general. This is only the second time that such a commission has ever been conferred upon a colonel in active service.

The Indicted Brooklyn Officials.

BROOKLYN, Feb. 9.—The case of the aldermen and supervisors indicted in connection with alleged extravagant expenditures of money for the Columbian celebration was set down for a hearing next Wednesday.

A Pastor Ordained.

HAVERHILL, Mass., Feb. 9.—An ecclesiastical council ordained Rev. F. B. Eastbrook of New York pastor of the Haverhill North parish and Plaistow (N. H.) Congregational churches.

FALL RIVER REJOICES.

A City of 85,000 People With but One Railroad.

FALL RIVER, Mass., Feb. 9.—The principal subject of talk among business men and manufacturers has been the fact of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad taking charge of freight traffic to and from this city. The interest shown in the future of the Fall River line is not so great as that taken in matters of competition. Perhaps in no city on the main line of the Old Colony system has such a strong feeling been shown against its management as has been displayed here. Consequently while the New York, New Haven and Hartford management may not do, even as well as the Old Colony people have done for Fall River, it is undisguised fact that many local men of influence consider the change with great equanimity. A through road from this city to Providence and over the Vanderbilt system to New York and the south is thought in some circles to be just the one thing needed to expand the industries of the city by giving through freights and offering an easily reached market for fabrics so plentifully made here.

AMERICAN SHIPBUILDING.

Two New Vessels to Be Built Under the Subsidy Act.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 9.—The contract for the construction of two swift steamers for the International Navigation company was signed by William Cramp & Sons of this city. The steamers will be faster than either the Paris or New York, and the work will be pushed as rapidly as possible to enable the vessels to be placed on the new Southampton route.

The City of Paris and the City of New York are now under the American flag, and the new vessels are being built in compliance with the act of congress of July last, placing the two vessels named under the protection of the United States, the terms of the act requiring that double the foreign built tonnage admitted to American register must be built by the owner or owners of such foreign built ships in American shipyards.

The President Will Do the Honors.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—The preparations made for celebrating the raising of the American flag upon the Inman steamer New York are quite elaborate. The president, who regards the act of the City of New York and the City of Paris taking an American register and sailing under the Union Jack as the crowning act of his administration, will himself pull up the flag. He will be accompanied to New York by all the members of the cabinet and others. They will leave Washington for New York on the morning of Feb. 22.

A Pennsylvania Strike Imminent.

CINCINNATI, Feb. 9.—That there is discontent among the union men employed on the Pennsylvania system and that a strike is imminent is a fact, and it is well known to the railroad officials, despite their assertions that all is serene. The men bitterly denounce the company for indiscriminately dismissing union men. There have been alleged causes for all discharges, but according to the statements of the employees the railroad officials have made their employment a burden to brotherhood men, and when they complain they are given their discharge. Thus the picking out of union men has continued until now there are almost as many scabs employed on the system as brotherhood men.

Connecticut Probate Judges.

HARTFORD, Feb. 9.—The Connecticut probate assembly, composed of the judges of the 134 probate districts in the state, held its annual meeting at the capital and elected the following officers: President, J. H. Hurlburt White of Hartford; vice president, James Huntington of Woodbury; secretary, Donald M. Warner of Salisbury; treasurer, Joseph B. Banning of Deep River; business committee, A. N. Talmage of Bridgeport and Wilbur F. Davis of Meriden. The assembly debated the collateral inheritance tax law question and adopted a resolution favoring the retention of the present law.

A State Insurance Bill.

MADISON, Wis., Feb. 9.—A rather remarkable bill was presented in the senate by Mr. Koenitzer of Milwaukee. It provides for an insurance board, composed of the governor, secretary of state, attorney general, insurance commissioner and five members from the state at large, who virtually become an insurance company, doing business and taking all kinds of fire risks in the state.

Commissioner Donovan Wanted.

ALBANY, Feb. 9.—A warrant for the arrest of Florence F. Donovan, formerly a member of the state board of mediation and arbitration, who is wanted for being interested in the performance of an abortion upon Miss Maggie Manson of Brooklyn, was received by Chief of Police Willard. A visit to Mr. Donovan's boarding house here showed that he had left the city for the west.

Forty-four Deaths In Marseilles.

PARIS, Feb. 9.—Forty-four persons have died in Marseilles of a cholera-like disease. Nine of the cases were suspiciously like Asiatic cholera. The physicians appointed to make a special investigation of the disease have been unable so far to make a satisfactory diagnosis. The disease has been confined to the filthiest districts, where the sanitation is in a deplorable condition.

Meriden Strike Settled.

MERIDEN, Conn., Feb. 9.—The strike of the brass soldiers at E. Miller & Co.'s factory that began last Thursday has been settled satisfactorily to both sides, and the 18 soldiers will go back to work. The shops were worked on the Rochester lamps, and the strike was caused by a cut in wages. Fourteen of the strikers were girls.

A Philadelphia Failure.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 9.—Judgments aggregating $75,000 were confessed by Robert S. Spencer, who, trading as Charles Spencer & Co., controlled the Leicester mills, one of the largest woolen goods manufactories in the city.

The Pittsburg Trials Postponed.

PITTSBURG, Feb. 9.—The trial of Baner and Knold, the anarchists charged with being accessories to the shooting of H. C. Frick, which was filed for yesterday, was postponed until today.

Hanlan and Gaudaur Have Signed.

TORONTO, Feb. 6.—Hanlan and Gaudaur signed articles to row for the championship of America and $1,000 a side at Toronto on July 22.

HER SIDE OF THE STORY

Hawaii's Queen Is Heard From by Letter.

AMERICAN SOLDIERS AWED HER.

But For the Arbitrary Acts of the American Minister the Revolutionists Could Have Been Successfully Coped With by the Native Militia.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 9.—A letter has been received here from John F. Colburn, minister of the interior of Hawaii, in which he outlines the position of the deposed queen, of whom he is a supporter. The letter was brought to San Francisco by the very vessel which took the Hawaiian commission, now at Washington in the interest of annexation. A personal friend of Mr. Colburn, on a business trip to California, took passage with the commission. His sentiments were unknown to his fellow passengers, and he carefully concealed the fact that he had been intrusted with the important document. Had it been known he would have been denied passage upon the vessel. As soon as he arrived in San Francisco he mailed the communication of Minister Colburn to J. H. Dean of this city, whose wife is an aunt of the Hawaiian official. It is in part as follows:

Hopes to Have the Kingdom Restored.

"In view of the circumstances that surround the situation of this, our Hawaiian kingdom, I take the opportunity of writing you this letter, trusting, with your ability and influence with some of the leading statesmen of your liberal American country, you may be able to place the situation of affairs of this country in such an impartial manner to them that the Hawaiian queen, Liliuokalani, her government and her native population can receive such a hearing from your government that the American nation will cause to be restored the queen to her throne, the government to her power and this Hawaiian native population to their rights."

Mr. Colburn details the occurrences leading up to the revolution substantially as already published. He then says in connection with the abandonment of the queen of her purpose to force a new constitution, speaking of the reform party:

The American Minister Arbitrary.

"This party was not satisfied with this, but they, with the assistance of the American minister and the troops of the United States steamer Boston, enlisted a number of men to the extent of 200, and aided by the American troops took possession and declared by proclamation a provisional government, contrary to the constitution of the time in force and contrary to the rights of 100,000 people —the population of this country. The cabinet signified the American minister of what happened and asked him to assist this duly authorized government to suppress this revolt, or, if he did not want to do this, to call upon him to enlist the forces of the United States troops, to yield under protest. The queen and her cabinet are at present removed under protest, pending a hearing before the United States.

Refused Transportation.

"This action on the part of the American minister is degrading. He has upheld a mob and does not consult the wishes of the aborigines, who are capable of taking care of themselves. The provisional government has put the country under martial law. They are dispatching a messenger now to carry a report to Washington. They are sending ambassadors to Washington.

"We, the people of the country, also want to be heard. We want to send commissioners to assist to our defense. We ask the United States to assist us. Act promptly, and may God assist you and help you."

The letter has been forwarded to President Harrison by Mr. Ganz.

Father McGlynn Goes South.

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—The Rev. Dr. McGlynn has sailed for Savannah. The parishioners of St. Stephen's church, reprganized as the Anthony Wayne society and hamlets of Dr. McGlynn's friends were assembled on the pier when the steamer moved out into the stream and cheered their favorite busily. The doctor's stateroom was made a perfect bower of beauty by the numerous floral gifts of his admirers. When Dr. McGlynn's departure is was said that he had been invited to go to Rome after his southern visit. It was said that he might be made a bishop.

A Triple Murderer Acquitted.

PARIS, Feb. 9.—Luna de San Pedro, the Spanish artist who killed his wife and mother-in-law and wounded his brother-in-law, Senor Taverne, on Sept. 23, was acquitted of the charge of murder. When the acquittal was announced the audience cheered, and Luna was applauded. The accusation that the murders while half crazed by learning that his wife had been untrue to him.

Winnebago Reserve Are Disturbed.

PINE RIDGE AGENCY, S. D., Feb. 9.—Reports come into the agency that strolling bands of unruly Sioux are making preparations for a racket of some kind. The police are watching their camp near the scene of the murders. The Indians are dancing and singing war songs. The hostiles number 200. They are hemmed in by a well armed cordon of police.

Thieves Enter Amityville Postoffice.

AMITYVILLE, L. I., Feb. 9.—Thieves entered the postoffice at this place and carried off stamps and cash to the amount of $2,000. They were evidently the same gang that was fired at by Postmaster Bunkert at Central Park while trying to enter the postoffice Sunday night.

Seeking Oil In Massachusetts.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Feb. 9.—Engineer Marsh of Spencer will commence drilling for an oil well on land owned by Rev. C. H. Caton of Brookfield, as he still has faith in assayed and contains the best quality of petroleum oil.

An Ex-Assemblyman Indicted.

CAMDEN, N. J., Feb. 9.—The grand jury returned five bills of indictment against ex-Assemblyman Zebon Harris, a lawyer. He is charged with forgery, embezzlement and obtaining money under false pretenses.

Deaf for a Year
Caused by
Catarrh in the Head

Catarrh is a CONSTITUTIONAL disease, and requires a CONSTITUTIONAL REMEDY like Hood's Sarsaparilla to cure it. Read:

"Three years ago, as a result of catarrh, I quickly lost my hearing and was deaf for more than a year. I tried various things in vain, and had several physicians attempt it, but no improvement resulted. Finally I decided to use Hood's Sarsaparilla. I was listening quite attentively to the first bottle, and before I had taken one bottle and a half I could hear the ticking of my watch. I continued taking the medicine, and my hearing is now perfectly restored. I am confident that my hearing would have been entirely lost without the use of my faithful friend. I can recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla to all who have catarrh." HERMAN HICKS, 30 Carter Street, Rochester, N. Y.

POLITICS IN FRANCE.

Rumors That the Cabinet Will Again Resign.

PANAMA INDICTMENTS QUASHED.

The Government Attacked—Defended by M. Ribot—Rouvier, Although Admitting the Receipt of Money, Is Let Go by the Chamber of Indictments.

PARIS, Feb. 9.—The political situation is very intricate. The decision of the chamber of indictments that there was no case for the prosecution of Rouvier and colleagues has produced a detestable effect upon the public, and the sitting in the chamber proves that the government no longer has the confidence of the deputies.

The opposition press protests strongly against the acquittal of M. Rouvier and suggests that it is due to state reasons and that the authorities were afraid to put him on trial for fear that he would reveal secrets that would weaken the government in the public estimation.

Guilt Admitted, Yet Freed.

As Rouvier had admitted that he received money from the Panama company, M. Goussot said it was the plain duty of the government to see that he suffered the penalty of his action.

M. Ribot spoke at length in defense of the ministry. The government had done its duty, he said, however painful that duty might have been. Sovereign justice had delivered judgment. The government desired that full light be thrown upon the Panama affair in order that the falseness of the legends invented by the enemies of the republic might be shown clearly.

The Cabinet to Resign.

Everything shows that the debate greatly weakened the cabinet. It was rumored that the cabinet had resolved to resign and to recommend to President Carnot that he summon M. Cavaignac to form a ministry. Should Cavaignac consent to form a ministry he would probably select as colleagues men who are not in the present ministry.

The Railroads Repudiate Their Taxes.

CHARLESTON, Feb. 9.—The war between the federal court and the county sheriffs and treasurers, acting under the governor's directions, and which involves the question of the taxation of railroads in the hands of a receiver, has assumed another and more aggressive phase. The deputy marshals who were charged with serving the writs for contempt and injunctions on the sheriffs of Aiken, Abbeville, Anderson and Newberry counties have returned and report that the sheriffs refuse to surrender the property of the railroads levied upon by them under Governor Tillman's orders. In court an order was signed advancing the dates to which the original writs were made returnable. The first case to be heard is that in which the South Carolina railway is a party. This case will be heard on Saturday. The Richmond and Danville suits will be heard on the Monday following.

Chicago Whisky Paralyzes Him.

CHICAGO, Feb. 9.—Black Horse, a son of the famous Sioux chief, Young-Man-Afraid-of-His-Horse, came to Chicago and struck the best whisky he ever had in his life. It fascinated him at first, and later on it paralyzed him. In company with Captain Hutchins of the army and several Indians, who likewise wear the regulation blue, he strolled into the dining room of the La Grande to see if he can be the entire band is staying. The first thing he did was to let loose a few Sioux war whoops and then drew a revolver and began shooting promiscuously. Two policemen who had come in to stop his yelling promptly knocked him flat and took away everything but his raiment and his voice. And the howling warrior was locked up. Later on Captain Hutchins secured his release on the ground that he was a brave soldier and "good Indian."

Hon. C. R. Ingersoll For Attorney General.

NEW HAVEN, Feb. 9.—The Evening Register, which has been a strong and unyielding Cleveland paper since 1864, is out in double leads, calling the president-elect's attention to the fact of the state's loyalty to him and his political views, alone of the New England states, and urging him to look the field over more carefully before passing it by. One who is close to its editor is authority for the statement that the duty horse is none other than the Hon. Charles R. Ingersoll and the place that of attorney general.

The Madison Square Dog Show.

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—The seventh annual show of the Westminster Kennel club will begin at Madison Square garden on Monday, Feb. 21, and as there are some 1,400 entries, including some of the most noted dogs in the world, the exhibition promises to be a particularly interesting and successful one. Quite a number of recent importations will be exhibited for the first time in America.

Tournament Horse Cigars Will Be Sold.

CHICAGO, Feb. 9.—The union horse head cigar will not have its own way at the World's fair, as the committee appointed by the Cigar Makers' union had hoped. The World's fair committee informed the cigar makers that it was not advisable to restrict the sale of cigars to those manufactured by any particular body or organization.

A Clerical Swindler.

ST. JOHNS, N. B., Feb. 9.—The church court inquiry into the case of the Rev. Sydney Welton, charged with having swindled United States insurance companies, was finished. All good Baptists will be requested to withhold fellowship from Welton as a Christian minister.

New Brunswick Approaches Flooded.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Feb. 9.—Two large gorges have now formed at the landing bridge a mile from this city, and the road leading to the landing bridge is flooded with five feet of water. The nearest point for crossing the river now is at Bound Brook, seven miles distant.

A Coaster Collides With a Pirepling.

PITTSFIELD, Mass., Feb. 9.—A double runner ran into a fireplug at Stockbridge, and Annie Alabury, aged 18, of Great Barrington was probably fatally injured. John Grisbee had a collar bone broken, and three others were more or less injured.

Roman Buildings Collapse.

ROME, Feb. 9.—Several lofty built houses in Campolieto, province of Campobasso, collapsed during a high wind. Thirteen persons were killed and 14 injured.

EMERGENCY HINTS.

Some Valuable Information That Every Person Should Thoroughly Know.

If a foreign substance enter the ear, under no consideration use anything to poke in the ear. Pour a little sweet oil into the ear and hold it there. Should the foreign body be an insect it will float to the top and can easily be removed. Should it be a hard substance a stream of warm water from a syringe will soon drive it out, always holding the affected side toward the floor. Should these methods fail consult a physician. Never probe the ear. Many people are suffering from great affliction caused by thus injuring the ear drum.

To remove foreign bodies in the nose instruct the child to take a deep, full breath. The unobstructed nostril should then be held and the child told to breathe hard through the nose. Should this fail make a hook with a piece of fine wire, and if the object is in sight pull it out.

Never tamper with the eyes. It is always safer to put them in the care of the best oculist.

A sound slap on the back with the flat of the hand will often relieve the windpipe when obstructed. If not relieved after several slaps send for a physician. A child should be taken up by its feet and reversed. This seems heroic treatment, but it is nearly always effectual.

For convulsions strip the child as quickly as you can and put it into a hot bath. Use your elbow as a test. If your elbow can stand the temperature of the water you may safely put in the child. After the child is in the bath pour cold water gently on the head. This should bring the child out of the convulsions in a few minutes. In any event, an injection of warm soap and water should always be given. If no relief is obtained by these measures put a mustard plaster, made with one part mustard and three of flour, up and down the spine. Be careful not to blister. Vaseline the surface after taking off the plaster. Always send for your physician, because the child will need treatment after the attack passes off. A great point is to keep the child quiet.

After poison of any kind has been taken give an emetic at once, so as to induce vomiting. A dessert spoonful of ground mustard in a cup of warm water, part of it to be taken at once, followed by clear warm water, until free vomiting is started. A good way to provoke the vomiting is to tickle the back of the throat with a feather. In all cases send for a physician without loss of time.

An Artistic Tete-a-tete.

No article of furniture does better service or gives greater satisfaction than a settle. The one shown in the drawing can be readily upholstered upon the plainest of pine foundations, and will be found a charming retreat for either an afternoon with the last new book or an hour with a chosen friend.

The woodwork is stained old oak. The seat, back and sides are thickly padded and covered with brocade in the rich dull shades that are known as old blue, old pink and the like. From the sides hangs a fringe of the blended tones tacked on ornamental nails, and above the cushioned back are curtains arranged upon a frame.

A HOMEMADE SETTLE.

To each of the four posts is attached a standard of the requisite height, and between them runs a rod. Curtains of soft, old rose India silk are arranged in full and ample folds upon the rod and are then tacked firmly at the lower edge to the wooden back and sides.

The effect of the color is delightful. The settle makes a luxuriant seat and has sufficient dignity to add greatly to the room in which it stands.

A Needlework Oddity.

Something new in needlework is a piano key covering, designed to lay over the keys when closed and on the rack when open. It is an excuse for embroidery, as it is made of light cloth, upon which is worked some pattern emblematic of music. It cannot be said to fill a long felt want, just to be useful and so much needed as the embroidered bell pull or the decorated shirtbox which long suffering masculines are now asked to accept on gift days.

Useful Schoolbags.

Pretty schoolbags for little girls are made of gray fine ribbed corduroy, with initials outlined in Roman floss. They are in the shape of the old fashioned purses and draw together with silver and gilt rings.

Freshening Worn Upholstery.

The Bagdad curtains, whose stripes are pleasantly suggestive of a camel's hair shawl, are excellent freshmens of worn upholstery. A shabby sofa thus draped becomes at once an admired furnishing of an apartment. In a library the other day was seen a flat lounge which may have been a cot, as these often are, covered with a 5-stripe Bagdad. At the back, against a stretch of plain, rather ugly wall, was draped a second curtain, the stripes running the length of the lounge festooned in the middle and caught up at the corners. Against this were piled several cushions in plain coverings, a brick red, an old gold, a soft gray and a dull green with excellent effect.

Blue Linen Becoming Popular.

Dark blue linen is growing in favor for pillows, spreads and other pieces of needlework for which blue denim has been used. Sometimes both materials are used in a sitting room or sleeping room, where service and beauty are both considered. The very clear blue of the linen is most effectively worked with white silk or linen flosses.

CHOOSE!

We can sell you Imperial Flour for $5.00, or less, if you want it, but it won't be DULUTH IMPERIAL. The latter is made of spring wheat, and will make a much larger quantity of better bread than the former.

SAVED BY A SHIRT.

A Story of Daniel Webster's About a Man Named Barnaby.

One evening at a convivial party Daniel Webster and other distinguished lawyers were present, and the conversation happened to turn on the legal profession.

"When I was a young practitioner," said Mr. Webster, "there was but one man at the New Hampshire bar of whom I was afraid, and that was old Barnaby. There were but few men who dared to enter the lists with him. On one occasion Barnaby was employed to defend the title to a piece of land bought by a little, mean, cunning lawyer named Bruce. Bruce's case was looked upon as good as lost when it was ascertained that Barnaby was retained against him.

"The suit came on for trial, and Barnaby found that Bruce had worked hard and left no stone unturned to gain the victory. The testimony for the plaintiff was very strong, and unless it could be impeached the case of the defendant was lost. The principal witness introduced by the plaintiff was a red coat.

"In summing up for the defense old Barnaby commenced a furious attack on the witness, pulling his testimony all to pieces and appealing to the jury if a man who wore a red coat was, under any circumstances, to be believed.

"'And who is this red coated witness,' exclaimed Barnaby, 'but a descendant of Cain. It is an excuse for embroidery, as it is made of light cloth, upon which is worked some pattern emblematic of music. It cannot be said to fill a long felt want, just to be useful and so much needed as the embroidered bell pull or the decorated shirtbox which long suffering masculines are now asked to accept on gift days.

"Bruce's countenance brightened up. Putting both hands in his coat pockets he walked to the bar with great confidence, to the astonishment of his client and all lookers on.

"Just as Barnaby concluded Bruce whispered in the ear of his client, 'I've got him; the case is safe!' and approaching the jury he commenced his reply to the slaughtering argument of his adversary. Bruce gave a regular history of the ancestry of his red coated witness, proving his patriotism and devotion to the country and his character for truth and veracity.

"'Hist what, gentlemen of the jury,' broke forth Bruce in a loud strain of eloquence, while his eye flashed fire, 'what are you to expect of a man who stands here to defend a cause based on no foundation of right or justice whatever; of a man who undertakes to destroy our testimony on the ground that my witness wears a red coat, when, gentlemen of the jury—when—when, gentlemen of the jury'—here Bruce made a spring, and catching Barnaby by the bosom of his shirt tore it open, displaying his red flannel,—'when Mr. Barnaby himself wears a red flannel coat concealed under a blue one!'

"The effect was electrical. Barnaby was beaten at his own game, and Bruce gained the case."—Green Bag.

A MOUNTAIN HUSBAND.

Evidently a Very Loving Man in His Peculiar Way.

A short time since, while walking along one of the streets of Columbus, I met one of those tall, lank specimens of the backwoodsman that thrive in the mountains of Virginia and Tennessee. He was in the regulation clay bank jeans, and following him were two inhouside, a bull terrier and a stubtailed cur. Now, I had met this man once as a guide up Elk river and had visited his home, so I was not long in accosting him:

"Captain Claypool, how are you?"

"Middlin; how'dy?"

"What are you doing in this part of the country, eh?"

"Visitin a brothah in Wheelin."

"How are the folks at home?"

"Well."

"Children enjoy Christmas?"

"What children?"

"Why, yours. I should like to hear from them."

"Um—huh!"

"Got your dogs along, I see."

"Yes, sah (his eyes brightening), best kin o' dogs on Elk."

"How your oldest child ever get strong again?"

"Yes. That's thah with the blazed nose with also in the hind leg; Jed Thomas while 'twas trackin a deah."

"And your youngest child, little Zeke, how's he?"

"Middlin. That young dog, one o' the best singahs ye evah had. No use a fox shown up whah he is"——

"Pen the baby; how about"——

"I had his sake cropped an's he cud run through the brishs."

"And little Jane, how's she?"

"Peart. That Bull is got good blood in hah, ye kin bet. Her brothah killed the prize dog o' Kahtucky. Held his grip for an onah an a hair."

"And Mrs. Claypool, how is the good woman getting along?"

"Soah throat!"

"Bad weather?"

"Lose one of my new dogs, and she spent the night in the mountains a-huntin 'im. Caught cold."

"That's too bad"——

"Ho, but she found the dog."

"Any more sickness in the family, captain, since I saw you?"

"Wut, right smart, I reckon. Thah's Bull had the distemper, Sing snagged 'is foot, Lead wus shot in the hind leg, Cuff wus bit by a black bah, the new dog was bit 'his a rock by Jack Smith's boy Prince, the squ'hl dog was drowneded in Sandy, not to say nothin 'bout the boy Jim dying 'ith the measles"——

"Why, you have had lots of bad luck, captain."

"Yes, but I got these fouah left, an I'll put 'em up on high that weight in ceramonies."

He boarded a Norfolk and Western train and started home.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Ben Butler as a Wit.

Stories of General Butler are in order just now. Here are a few good ones. Once while he was in congress he divided his time with a fellow member when a question in which he was not specially interested came up for debate. The member talked more than his share, and on being called to order remarked, "Mr. Speaker, General Butler divided his time with me." "That's true," Butler replied, "but I didn't divide eternity with you."

The general was present one night at a dancing party, but contented himself with looking on. One of the belles invited him to waltz with her, and on his declining with a pretty compliment she inquired, "Don't you ever dance, general?" "No," he explained to her, "I make other people dance."

Undertaking to talk down a crowd of street rioters, he had an apple thrown at him. Putting out his hand in dexterously caught it and interrupted his remarks long enough to eat it. The incident pleased the crowd better than the speaking. The next day one of the newspapers of the city in which the riot occurred mischievously called attention to the matter, reminding him that it probably reached him from a very dirty hand. The general sent a card to the newspaper saying: "I pealed that apple before eating it. I always peel apples before eating them—don't you?"

When Butler was a young practitioner, Chief Justice Shaw of the supreme court of Massachusetts frequently felt obliged to call him to order. Gradually a little feeling grew up between the two men. One morning General Butler was seen on the train between Lowell and Boston, accompanied by a ferocious looking bulldog. Somebody asked him where he was taking the dog. "To court," he said facetiously. "What are you going to do with him there?" "Oh," he said carelessly, "I'll give him to Judge Shaw to have a companion when he growls."

Butler was absolutely without sense of fear. When he entered Baltimore, he and his troops were walking wet from a heavy rainfall. Recently Captain Farmer of Lowell reported, "General, I have been informed that this hill (Federal hill) is mined and that we shall be blown up." "Well, captain," said Butler, "then we will be one comfort in that. We shall at least get dry."—Chicago Tribune.

A Dangerous Experiment.

We have in our midst, so to speak, a young business man who is thrifty and active, but who has not yet made his pile. He has an account in the cash box to a millionaire, but that doesn't do our young friend much good. Not long ago he needed $5,000 and found some difficulty in borrowing it.

"Why don't you ask that old uncle of yours?" inquired one banker to whom he applied.

The young man instantly became profoundly solemn.

"My dear sir," he said impressively, "do you want me to become a murderer?"

"A murderer!" echoed the banker in startled tones.

"A murderer," and the young man became more earnest than ever, "

"Certainly not, my dear fellow, certainly not," exclaimed the banker. "What do you mean?"

"Why, sir, if I should ask that uncle of mine to lend me $5,000 he would drop dead on the spot."—Detroit Free Press.

Too Much For Pa.

"We had a lovely whist club," she said artlessly. "We made a rule that any girl who spoke should pay a penny into the treasury for every word she uttered."

"Quite ingenious."

"Yes, but I don't belong to it any more."

"Why not?"

"Pa says he can't afford it."—Washington Star.

Too Long.

"Don't you think," the mother said proudly, "that her playing shows a remarkable finish?"

"Yes," replied the young man absently, "but she was a long time getting to it."—Jury.

A Sarcastic Reply.

A certain doctor in northern Maine is noted for his love of hunting, and is reckoned a pretty good shot. During an epidemic not long ago a well known lumberman had the misfortune to have several of his men quite sick, and one of them being in a dangerous condition the lumberman started in haste for this doctor. Now our medical friend is sometime quite slow in getting ready for his trips, and on this occasion after being called he was unusually so. Suddenly the thought came to him that as he was to go so far into the woods he might as well, and, stepping to the door where the nervous lumberman was impatiently waiting, he inquired:

"Say, don't you think I better take my gun along?"

"Gun! No necessity!" was the excited reply. "The devil will be dead before you can get there."—Lewiston Journal.

MELOPOIA CONCERT.

THE SECOND ONE OF THE SEASON AT THE CASINO LAST NIGHT.

A Large an Appreciative Audience—The Society Surpasses its Former Efforts—An Excellent Programme Throughout.

The second private concert of the Melopoia's third season was given last evening at the Casino of the Union County Club on West Seventh street, beginning at 8.30 o'clock.

The Concert was conducted Mr W. R. Chessman, assisted by Mrs. Anna Mooney Barrb, soprano; Mr. Graham Reed, baritone; Mr. Joseph Hollman violoncellist.

The accompanists, Mr. Emile Levy, gave the same general satisfaction as on previous occasions.

A large and appreciative audience filled the hall and the programme was most cordially received throughout.

The concert was one of the best ever given by the Melopoia and began with the excellent and dashing

PART I.

SONG OF THE VIKINGS.

The wind is blowing from off the shore,
And our sail has felt its breath;
Our prow has turned forth over the crested waves,
As a will and restless bird,
Our gallant ship takes foley away;
And the dark lands fade away;
And they brightly dance on our way.
As island dots on the waves are we,
Lords of the waves are we.
Kings of the ocean foam!
Warriors bold, from the Northland cold,
For o'er the sea we roam;
Lords of the waves we are.

We have left our wives, and our sweethearts fair,
On the northern strand;
Yet we gaze on them to watch over their loves,
And to bring them back to land.
Each day they'll pray to the gods above,
For the ship with which our sturdy bark,
And will guide her home again.
Lords of the waves we are,
Kings of the seething foam!
Warriors bold, from the Northland cold,
For o'er the sea we roam;
Lords of the waves we are.

To my eyes be given with a right good will,
And all sorrow leave behind;
As the white winged gull which around us skim,
We are one with the wind.
And when our foes are vanquished
And we return once more
Oh, the welcome glad they will greet us with,
As we gain the longed for shore.
Lords of the waves we are,
Kings of the seething foam!
Warriors bold, from the Northland cold,
For o'er the sea we roam;
Lords of the waves we are.

The programme concluded with the humorous selection "The White Owl":

When cats run home and light is come,
And dew is cold upon the ground,
And the far off stream is dumb,
And the whirring sail goes round,
Alone, and warming his five wits,
The white owl, in the belfry sits.

When merry milk maids click the latch,
And rarely rouse the shyly bee;
And the cock hath sung beneath the thatch
Twice or thrice his roundelay,
Alone, and warming his five wits,
The white owl, in the belfry sits.

Mr. Hollman, the 'cellist was an artist. His appearance was as vivid as his playing. Some one was heard to remark, irreverently, that "he forgot to get his hair cut," but his Paderewski locks were forgotten when he played. He was warmly encored.

BREVITIES

—The regular policemen were sworn in by Mayor Gilbert last night.

—The Union County Board of Agriculture will hold a meeting in the Court House at Elizabeth, on Thursday, Feb. 16th.

—Mrs. Brown Potter and Mr. Kyrle Bellew appeared in "The Marriage Speculation" at Stillman Music Hall last evening. The audience might have been larger, and the play better.

—The Court of General Quarter Sessions of Union county adjourned, yesterday, before reaching the case of Bingham vs. Trustees of this city. The petit jurors were discharged until March 1st.

—In the New York papers of this morning are published articles of alleged trouble in the St. Mary's Catholic Parochial School of this city. The stories state that the parochial school is to be transferred to the public school under the Cahensly-Ireland plan, whereby all children of Catholic faith shall be permitted during school hours, to receive religious instruction in the Catholic faith twice every week, from a priest, in a hall set aside for that purpose. Father Smyth, Rector of St. Mary's church, says "the stories are without foundation and utterly false."

—The Jubilee Singers from Fisk University at Nashville, Tenn., appeared at Reform Hall last evening and were greeted by a fine audience and appreciative audience. Encores were frequent and willingly granted by the sweet warblers from the sunny South. The programme was in the main made up of slave songs, full of melody, pathos and spirit, and were rendered in a manner which can never be approached outside of their own race. The singers have appeared before the crowned heads of Europe and in their tours have raised over $150,000 for the building of their university at Nashville. So pleased was the audience last evening that we predict a crowded house for the singers should they appear here again.

PUBLIC SCHOOL LAWS.

THE CLASH OF OPPOSITE EXTREMES IN THIS LOCALITY.

Plainfield's Case on the One Side, and North Plainfield on the Other.—Evils in Both—Which is the Greatest?

In North Plainfield whenever money is required for additional school accommodations it must be voted for at a town meeting. A few years ago it was felt by some leading citizens that more accommodation was necessary.

The matter was brought before a town meeting.

The law required that accommodation must be provided to entitle the School District to a share of the State school funds. The object of this is, of course, to compel the school trustees to provide proper accommodations.

The North Plainfield trustees, at the meeting referred to, explained that the present school accommodations were inadequate.

In order to avoid the penalty of refusing education to pupils, the law requiring that they shall attend school between specified ages, and for specified periods each year, the trustees were compelled to have a class room fitted up in the cellar of the school building.

Even in this cellar the children could not all be accommodated at one time, so it was necessary to allow one portion of the children one part of the day, and the other portion another part of the day.

These happened to be the smallest children in the primary grades who ought to have the tenderest care, and were the least able to resent such an imposition. The bigger scholars would not submit to it.

Furthermore they were mainly the children of poor parents, and most in need of care and instruction to make them the better able to fight the battle of life.

All these things were stated publicly at the meeting, and yet the fathers of these very poor children were present with their friends in a large majority to oppose any measure to give proper relief to their own children.

The gentlemen who favored an appropriation to build either a new school building, or a wing to the present building, probably paid more in taxes than all their opponents combined who were present, and, it so happened, had no children attending the school, so that they could not be accused of acting from selfish motives.

But a few politicians got in among the poor men and deceived them by untruthful statements which aroused their hostility.

That was several years ago. Here is the result: The poor little children must still go to school in a cellar, for want of better accommodations. The men who were really the friends of the poor in this as in every other matter of the many they engaged in solely from a sense of doing good unto others, and almost always a considerable outlay of time and money, became so disgusted that they have never been seen at a town meeting, if even at a primary meeting, since.

Of course the men who opposed the measures for relief of their own children would not have done so had they not been misguided in the first place by the politicians. Could each father have reasoned the matter over with his wife, who is, for instance, would undoubtedly have been the better man of the two, the result would probably not be as it unfortunately is, and we have by no means referred to all the difficulty caused.

The whole thing shows forcibly the result of stirring politics up with public school matters, and the example may prove useful, at this time especially, to the people of Plainfield.

At the same time there is danger in the other extreme, and it is to avoid the other extreme that certain of our citizens are now seeking the adoption of a new law requiring the Plainfield Board of Education to have the concurrence of Common Council in the matter of expending money for new school buildings.

If we could always be sure of having Councilmen of character there would be no difficulty, but imagine such a gang as the old combine ruling in such matters. Again imagine the way the city could be bunched by having a similar gang get into the Board of Education. It will be said that that would be impossible. Before the combine people would have thought the same thing of Common Council.

So far, however, the Plainfield Boards of Education have been above reproach. The present Board is not a whit less so than its predecessors, and it has done no more than previous Boards have done in the exercise of its powers. It works for the necessities of the children as its judgment considers them. The Council must pay the bills and objects in the supposed interest of the tax-payers.

There will be friction until the law is more perfect. We do not think the proposed new law will entirely overcome the difficulty and point to North Plainfield as proof. Which is the greater evil?

Jumped into the Race.

James Scott, colored, was arrested last night on complaint of his wife, who said he was trying to kill her. When the officer attempted to arrest Scott he jumped into the race back of Franck's mill. The officer waited until he came out of the water and then took him to the lockup. He was fined three dollars this morning.

—"A Mad Bargain" is announced to appear at Music Hall next Tuesday evening.

THE MAYOR'S LETTER.

REPUBLISHED TO SHOW THAT IT DID NOT ATTACK

The Board of Education.—Considered a Very Logical Document, and Worthy of Consideration Especially by Quarrelsome Publishers.

So much has been said and written about Mayor Gilbert's message to the Common Council on Monday night that we reproduce it to day for the benefit of our readers.

It is a calm and dispassionate criticism of the law under which the Board acts, and is dangerous and dignified in tone, and reflects upon nobody.

MAYOR'S OFFICE.
Plainfield, N. J., Feb. 6, 1893.

To the Hon. the Common Council of the City of Plainfield:

Gentlemen—The recent purchase by the Board of Education of a Central avenue site for a sixth grade school district, attention to certain features of the law under which the Board acts which I consider wrong in principle and fraught with possible danger to the taxpayers of Plainfield. The law as construed by the Board of Education gives to it the power to expend for the current expenses of the Public School system of the city, an amount equal to one and one half of one per cent. of the taxable valuation, and in addition such further sum as the Board of Freeholders may apportion for the purchase of lands and erection of buildings for school purposes. This amounting as the Board of Education has added to the tax levy and assessed against the taxpayers of the city, presents a public question of the subject, the law as the Board administers its trust wisely and well, but if it is not well to allow such ideas should become entrenched, and in its plans and purposes it should fail to represent public opinion it would require but three years, under our system of electing one school trustee each year, to overthrow the evil. It is not of particular use any act of the present Board. The gentlemen who compose it are well known in the community as men of character; and I have no doubt were actuated by a patriotic purpose in purchasing the property already referred to. But I think the law under which they act is wrong in that it vests in the Board practically the right to assess and levy taxes. This power should reside alone in the Common Council—the body which represents the community in its fiscal affairs, the body which can be readily reached and made to conform to the opinions of the people in all important matters.

While this view to my mind seems indisputable, I am unwilling to advocate an immediate change so radical as to impair the efficiency of our school system. I do think, however, that the authority of the Board should be abridged to the extent of making its power to expend money for the purchase of lands and the erection of buildings without the consent of the Common Council.

The Common Council has no power to issue bonds or borrow money except to a very limited extent for one or two special purposes without the consent of the people; but the Board of Education can borrow money and create indebtedness for tax payers to pay without reference to public opinion.

Surely this is not right, no municipal Board in this respect should be clothed with greater powers than the Common Council.

The legislation of the past few years with reference to the power of School Boards to purchase lands and erect buildings for school purposes recognizes the principle that the final determination of power should reside in the Common Council.

I enclose herewith a bill relating to the subject which has been drawn for submission to the Legislature. Should I meet with your approval I recommend the adoption of a resolution requesting our representative for this Assembly District to introduce the same into the Legislature and to endeavor to secure its passage.

Respectfully submitted,
A. GILBERT, Mayor.

The Hurley-Miles Suit Still on.

William S. Hurley's suit against William and Jacob Miles of this city, was continued before Judge Andrew in the Special Term of the Supreme Court, New York, yesterday.

Alexander Bunnell, a lawyer, eighty-seven years of age, testified that he had never bought the property No. 809 Broadway, which Mr. Miles claimed to have sold to him. He had had some conversation with a Miss Gilman about the property—just what he could not remember—and he had collected the rents for some time, but his memory about the arrangements was very bad.

Mrs. Catharine A. Hurley testified that her relations with Jacob and William Miles had always been very intimate. While her husband, Samuel Hurley, was on his deathbed Jacob Miles said that it would be a good thing to have either himself or his brother William made executor. She had relied entirely upon Mr. Miles' accounts.

The trial is not finished.

The Report Confirmed.

The report that Rector Jennings of Grace church, Westfield, has received a letter from Bishop Scarborough removing him from the parish, Feb. 15, has been confirmed.

The letter has been seen by two of the vestrymen. They are well pleased with the Bishop's decision, and say they will pay Jennings' salary until the date fixed, and if he then insists upon remaining will decline to pay more. It is believed Jennings will appeal to the General Committee of the diocese.

—Owing to a leak in the water pipe, in front of Black's Hotel, the crevasse at that corner have been in a bad condition the last two days.

—Two electric lights on Willow avenue have not been burning for the past week and the residents of that vicinity are complaining about the matter.

—The Young Ladies' Sewing Society of St. Paul's M. E. church will hold an oyster supper in an unoccupied house belonging to Mr. P. J. Fowley, on Wednesday evening, Feb. 22.

GRAND ARMY VETERANS

HOLDING THEIR ANNUAL CONVENTION AT TRENTON.

The First Day's Business Consisted of Acting Upon Reports and the Placing in Nomination of the Names of Candidates for Offices.

The twenty-sixth annual encampment of the Department of New Jersey, Grand Army of the Republic, convened in Masonic Temple, Trenton, at ten o'clock yesterday morning. Each of the 118 Posts of this State was represented by delegations of from one to seven, and a large number of the Past Commanders of the various Posts were also present. After the usual routine of conventions was transacted the reports of the various officers were presented. The mortuary report showed the death of 148 members of the department since the last encampment. The inspector's report in condensed form is as follows:

Total number of Posts in the Department inspected...119
Total number of Posts represented and returning...117
Total number of Posts not represented...2
Total number of members now in good standing...7,023
Total number of Posts whose Camp Fires are regularly held...70
Total number of Posts whose Guards are not formed...49
Total number of Posts whose officers and quarters are partly uniformed...69
Total number of Posts whose members are uniformed and equipped...48
Total number of Posts whose officers are uniformed...60
Number of muskets owned by the Posts...903
Number of Posts owning no Posts by the State...217
Number of Posts whose records are complete and well kept...116
Total number of Posts having Relief Fund...45
Total amount in Relief Fund...$43,916.97
Total amount expended for relief to October 1, 1892...11,088 48
Total amount in hands of Quartermasters...24,828 98
Total amount in possession of Posts Quartermasters and Relief Funds...121,026 98
Number of Posts having Relief Corps...29
Number of Posts having Ladies Auxiliaries of the G. A. R...9
Number of Corps of Sons of Veterans...21

The work of acting on the various reports occupied nearly all day, the only other business done being the placing in nomination of the names of candidates for the various offices.

There is considerable rivalry for the office of Department Commander, but from all appearances Jacob White, of Post 35, of Paterson, is in the lead.

An adjournment was taken about 4.30 o'clock.

Y. M. C. A. State Convention.

The twenty-fourth annual Convention of the Young Men's Christian Association of New Jersey opened this evening in the First Presbyterian Church, Camden with a large attendance of delegates from all sections of the State.

The delegates were given a reception from five to seven o'clock, at the Camden Y. M. C. A. rooms, this city.

At 7.30, Walter M. Patton, President of the Camden Association, delivered the address of welcome, which was responded to by G. H. Demarest, President of the State Association.

The appointment of Committee on permanent organization followed, after which vocal selections were listened to. Hon. Elkanah Drake, of Newark, presented the report of the State Executive Committee.

The rest of the evening was consumed in listening to addresses on the "Relation of the Association to the Church."

A Banquet in Town.

A number of the political powers from this place and Plainfield were participants at a dinner given at Taylor's Hotel by Wm. J. Winges Thursday evening. Mr. Winges lost a bet on the memorable day of the State. He hosted ex-Gov. Abbett and lost, consequently the dinner. Among those who partook of the bountiful collation set before the hungry party were Postmaster Hetfield, Mr. Hankins, of the law firm of that name; Messrs. White, Drayton, Green, Rock, Hall and Plainfield, and a number of Dunellen's prominent politicians. Mr. Winges proved his generosity in making the dinner a delightful one and all present had a pleasant time.—Cal.

They all do it.

[From the Detroit Free Press.]

The streets were slippery, and two old friends met on Woodward avenue.

"Confounded these sidewalks," said one.

"The wicked stand on slippery places," quoted the other, laughing.

"I guess I've had enough of them, then, because I sat down on several yesterday. Did you break anything?"

"Yes, I did."

"No? Is that so? What?"

"About half the commandments."

EDITORIAL NOTES

Fifty years ago sugar was such a luxury that no workingmen in Europe could afford it.

"Honolulu is nearer to Washington than Alaska is," says Hon. George H. Bates, ex-commissioner to Samoa. It can also be reached from Washington in a shorter time than California could when it became United States territory. One reason that Hawaii seems so far from the United States is that there are no steamers on the Pacific as swift as the Atlantic fliers. Hawaii is 2,100 miles from San Francisco. It requires almost 10 days for the present line of steamers to reach it. The United States man-of-war Mariposa, however, can make the distance in 8½ days. The distance from New York to Liverpool is 3,017 miles, yet the Atlantic steamers do it in a week.

If the United States does annex Hawaii, it will come to us exactly as so many of Great Britain's colonies have come to her. First the missionaries went out with Bibles to convert the heathen. Then followed the opening of the country to the white man's trade. Then it became necessary to protect the trade interests. Then followed soldiers, annexation and possession. The men foremost in the revolution and annexation movement at Hawaii are the descendants of missionaries who went from the United States to the Sandwich Islands years ago. Judge Sanford B. Dole, president of the provisional government, is the son of missionary parents who went from Massachusetts to the islands in 1840. Hon. Lorin A. Thurston, president of the annexation commission, is the grandson of missionary parents who went from Massachusetts in 1819. It seems to be solid pilgrim father blood that is stirring up this rumpus again.

Not a Wealthy Man.

In summing up Mr. Blaine's career immediately after his death a New York paper said, "He would not have been considered a wealthy man by New Yorkers, his estate being worth no more than about $1,000,0000."

The writer of this sentence presumed to speak for the people of New York. Let us see. The census shows that there are some 1,000,000 inhabitants in that city. Of that number 1,200,000 live in flats, apartments and tenement houses. This is three-fourths of the whole population. So densely packed are these that with all its wealth, and counting all the beautiful homes of the multimillionaires, the whole average of houses and people in that city of skyscrapers are not less than four families to every house in the corporate limits.

But Blaine would not be considered a rich man by the people of New York. Are the people of New York the 400,000 who live in a house all to themselves, or are they the 1,200,000 who herd together like hogs on the way to market in a cattle car? In what is called the slum or tenement house district of the city 270,000 families are packed together. The deadly crowding, filth and wretchedness in which they exist are not equaled, it is to be hoped, elsewhere in the world. If each one of these New York families had $1,000,000, would they or would they not count themselves rich? Who are the people of New York anyhow?

Saxon and Sandwich Islander.

The main source of the trouble at Hawaii seems to have been that Queen Lilluokalani had visited Europe and got her head turned by the deference paid to royalty there. She had seen the mockbishness, the toadyism, the getting down and crawling of civilized white men before the sovereigns of Europe. The kings and queens treated her for the time as one of themselves. It amused them to do so, but it spoiled Lilluokalani for plain working life. She determined to be as absolute a despot as the czar of Russia. She hated the whites, particularly Americans, because they opposed this in the interests of their own lives and property. The constitution which she endeavored to fix upon the people abolished altogether the house of nobles, or upper house of the legislature, to which many of the foreigners belonged. The legislature consisted of two houses of 24 members each, representatives and nobles.

The new constitution which Lilluokalani intended to promulgate deprived all white men of the right to vote and left the appointment and dismissal of judges of the supreme court wholly in the hands of the queen, limiting them to a 6-year term besides.

There is no doubt that if the natives alone had been consulted in the matter they would have preferred to give Lilluokalani all the power she wanted, to the exclusion of "foreigners," as all the white men are called, though their ancestors have been in Hawaii for generations. But that is just what the white men would not endure. They had too many business interests at stake to permit it. Their lives would perhaps have been endangered besides from a drunken native mob. The Kanakas are given up to drunkenness in a frightful degree, and this and other vices of civilization are wiping them surely off the earth. So it comes about that Hawaiians themselves have really little say in the matter of whether they shall be annexed. They probably will not mind it much one way or the other.

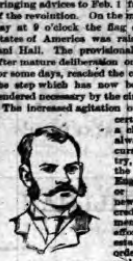
LATEST ADVICES FROM HONOLULU.

The Queen's Envoy Is Here and Will Proceed to Washington—Minister Stevens' Act Thought to Be Unnecessary—A Newspaper's Denunciation.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 10.—The steamship Australia has arrived from Honolulu, bringing advices to Feb. 1 from the scene of the revolution. On the morning of that day at 9 o'clock the flag of the United States of America was raised over Aliiolani Hall. The provisional government, after mature deliberation on the situation for some days, reached the conclusion that the step which has now been taken was rendered necessary by the circumstances.

The increased agitation on the part of certain whites of a class who have always been the curse of this country, coupled with the efforts of one English and one or two native newspapers to discredit the government, to block its efforts and retard the establishment of order and in general to bring it into disrepute and contempt, has been the chief agency in spreading through the town a feeling of uneasiness and distrust.



L. A. THURSTON.

The Stars and Stripes Saluted.

Just before 9 o'clock Lieutenant Rush read in a loud voice the proclamation, and amid the breathless expectancy of all present the flag, raised by the troops and by the cannon of the Boston, was raised above the town of Aliiolani Hall.

The following proclamation was issued by the representative of the United States to the Hawaiian people at the request of the provisional government of the Hawaiian Islands:

I hereby, in the name of the United States of America, assume protection of the Hawaiian Islands for the protection of the life and property and occupation of public buildings and Hawaiian soil, so far as may be necessary for the purposes specified, but not interfering with the administration of public affairs by the provisional government. This action is taken pending the said subject to negotiations at Washington.

JOHN L. STEVENS,
Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary of the United States.

Approved and executed by G. C. Wiltse, captain, U. S. N., commanding the U. S. S. Boston.

The Hawaiian flag still floats in the yard. The palace, barracks, police station and custom house remain in the hands of the government, which will be administered as usual. The volunteers, with the supplies of arms and ammunition, will be withdrawn from Aliiolani Hall, which, until definite intelligence arrives from the United States, will be guarded by a detachment from the Boston. The event of this morning is hailed with joy throughout the community.

power, the people having quietly and peacefully submitted, and everything lived in a new administration has abrogated the monarchy, proclaimed martial law and enforced it in a series of petty and vexatious restrictions of a wholly unnecessary nature. It has enacted nine new laws."

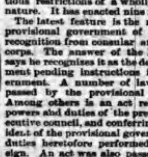
The latest feature is the receipt by the provisional government of certificates of recognition from consular and diplomatic corps. The answer of the British consul says he recognizes it as the de facto government pending instructions from his government. A number of laws have been passed by the provisional government. Among others is an act relating to the powers and duties of the president and executive council, and conferring on the president of the provisional government all the powers heretofore performed by the sovereign. An act was also passed making it treason to bear arms against the provisional government.

One of the new laws abolishes the lottery authorization act, provides for an extensive military force under pay, and a third aggressive measure establishes a press censorship only surpassed by that of Russia in oppressive possibilities.

Captain Wiltse is commander of the Boston; John L. Stevens, United States minister; Lorrin A. Thurston, chairman of the commissioners sent to the United States to ask for annexation, and Samuel M. Damon is chairman of the advisory committee of the provisional government.

The Queen's Envoy Talks.

Paul Neuman, a member of the ex-queen's cabinet, is on his way to Washington to lay the deposed Queen



G. C. WILTSE.

Lilluokalani's case before the state department. Mr. Neuman was not inclined to be communicative. He said that owing to the nature of his mission he must reserve his remarks until he reached Washington. "With Prince David Kawananakoa, a nephew of the late King Kalakaua, I am bearer of dispatches to the state department at Washington," said Mr. Neuman.

"These dispatches, the nature of which I cannot disclose, state the queen's position in a manner that I am sure will have considerable weight with the president and secretary of state."

"What is the queen's disposition toward the United States?" was asked.

"She is as friendly to the United States as anybody on the island. And if the United States wants to annex Hawaii she is perfectly willing if it is done properly. The statement that I have contradicted, promulgated by the queen, and which precipitated the present trouble, would discredit her with any nation. It was entirely without foundation. It is a matter," continued the queen's emissary.

"The whites on the island would simply have to become naturalized citizens the same as the Chinese have before they could vote. The queen and the natives objected to having a lot of foreigners, owing their allegiance to other countries, to come in and run their government for them. It is also untrue that the constitution was only the forerunner of an attempt to confiscate the property of foreigners and drive them from the islands. In these days a small country like Hawaii does not treat subjects of great powers like the United States and Great Britain in that manner."

"How do the queen and natives regard the action of Minister Stevens in raising the United States flag and establishing a protectorate?" was asked.

A Military Protectorate.

"The queen and her loyal subjects have no objections if the United States chooses to act in such a manner," said Mr. Neuman, with a significant shrug of the shoulders.

"Speaking for myself," he continued, "I can see no necessity for such action. The queen and natives were content to await the decision of the United States government, and there was no disposition on their part to make trouble. The financial interests of the island are in good condition. The merchants are fairly prosperous, and although the operations of the McKinley act have entailed some hardships upon us, they could have been overcome in the course of time. I shall telegraph Secretary of our arrival here to the state department at Washington and ask the government to wait until we get there before taking any action toward annexation."

Paul Neuman, the Hawaiian queen's messenger, is a lawyer and formerly practiced law in San Francisco for 20 years. Before the queen went to Honolulu and since then has practiced his profession there.

He was a warm friend of the late king and was made a noble by him. He was a member of the queen's cabinet, which was deposed by the provisional government, and was active in laying low the usurpers.

Prince David, the deposed queen's nephew, is a young man, well educated and has been in this country before.

Minister Bush Free to Passive.

Among the passengers on the Australia from Honolulu was J. E. Bush, editor of the native paper, called The Voice of the People.

Editor Bush, who is a native Hawaiian, was more outspoken than Mr. Neuman. He said the action of Minister Stevens and

CHART OF THE PACIFIC OCEAN.

Captain Wiltse in landing armed sailors from the Boston was entirely unwarranted. The lives of the people and of natives bitterly resented it. The trouble is that the natives wanted to govern their own country and were opposed by a lot of foreigners who wished to make their interests would be imperilled. There was no such danger. The native Hawaiians are civilized people and respect the rights of others. The action of Minister Stevens in raising the United States flag and declaring a protectorate was a high handed outrage and is in regard to the Hawaiian people. They are perfectly willing to hold close relations with the United States, but want to have a voice as to what those relations shall be and how they shall be brought about.

Roosting Waters at Brisbane.

BRISBANE, Feb. 10.—The flood has receded from the city districts, which are now covered with mud and slime. The stench is horrible, and unless the city is cleaned within a few days a fatal epidemic calamity is imminent. The gunboat Paluma was left in shoal water by the sudden receding of the flood and now rests high and dry in the Botanical garden on the bank of the river. Great misery prevails in the poorer parts of the city, and scenes of theft and robbery have doubled within the last two days. The total damage done by the flood is estimated to approximate $15,000,000.

Bought Votes at New Bedford.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., Feb. 10.—There is much excitement because the grand jury has found eight indictments against those charged with buying votes at the recent municipal election. A large number of witnesses testified before the grand jury. The names of the indicted persons will not be made public until warrants are issued and arrests made.

No More Fights in Kentucky.

NEWPORT, Ky., Feb. 10.—In the trial of Abe Lloyd for engaging in a prize fight before the Newport Athletic club, he was found guilty. Judge Heim fined Lloyd $500 and sentenced him to jail for three months. The sentence was a surprise to Lloyd and his attorney, as both expected an acquittal.

Donoghue and Hagen Are Matched.

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—Harold Hagen, the Norwegian champion skater, has accepted Joseph F. Donoghue's challenge for a series of races at Newburg. Hagen names Feb. 25 as the date for the contest. The races will be at one, three and five miles, and thousands of dollars will be bet on the result.

Don't Like Baron Fava.

FLORENCE, Feb. 10.—Louis Contocci, president of the Italian chamber of commerce, resigned in order to avoid meeting Baron Fava, the Italian minister, with whom he is at odds over matters connected with Italy's part in the recent Columbus celebration.

Bankers Empty Their Vaults.

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—The export of American gold coin to Europe has at last exhausted the resources of the government, and the private stores in the vaults of the banks have been drawn upon to the extent of $10,000,000.

FERDINAND DE LESSEPS

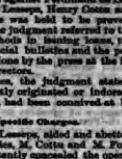
The Veteran Engineer Gets Five Years in Prison.

FOUR OTHER DIRECTORS GUILTY.

Charles de Lesseps Breaks Down Upon Hearing the Judge's Order Concerning His Father—The Charges Outlined in the Great Panama Scandal.

PARIS, Feb. 10.—Expectation that the sentences of the prisoners in the Panama trial would be delivered brought eager crowds to the court of appeals building. The approaches to the court were filled by the time the clock struck the hour of 9, and at 10 minutes after the doors were thrown open the room was packed to suffocation. Presiding Judge Poirier read the decision after having dismissed the prisoners' plea that they should be allowed a statement of limitations. Although the basis of the judgments rendered by the exceptionally minute detail, the audience listened to it with oppressive interest. The charge of fraudulently misappropriating funds of Lesseps, Charles de Lesseps, Henry Cottu and Marius Fontane was held to be proved. On this point the judgment referred to the company's action in buying bonds, the mendacious official bulletins and the persistent puffing done by the press at the instance of the directors.

Charles de Lesseps, the judgment stated when not directly originated or indorsed by the directors, had been connived at by them.



FERDINAND DE LESSEPS.

The Specific Charges.

Ferdinand de Lesseps, aided and abetted by his son Charles, M. Cotta and M. Fontane, had persistently concealed the operations of the Panama canal in order that the quotation of shares might not be affected unfavorably. The directors had dealt with underwriting syndicates, which, as far as their utility was concerned, were fictitious and were known to be fictitious. In underwriting loans these syndicates had taken upon themselves not risks, and yet they had received enormous sums from the company. The expenses necessarily attendant upon the issue of loans had been grossly exaggerated by the directors.

The plea of the defense that, despite these fraudulent acts, the directors were not essentials because the loan especially in question had not succeeded, the decision pronounced worthless in view of the evidence that the directors had not scrupled to expend the capital of the company to the risks involved in the fresh issue, and even reiterated their promises to complete the canal with the proceeds of the loan. Their promises were false, the judgment further set forth, because they never meant or not their purpose was carried out. This intent was proved by the fact that the names paid to Baron Reinach, Hugo Oberndorffer and others could not be regarded as having been subscribed for the purposes to which they were put.

In dealing with Arton's branch of the trust, the decision said that M. Eiffel had received 120,000,000 francs for the construction of 10 locks and had promised to complete them in four years. The evidence had shown that he had not even purchased the specified materials necessary in the construction of these locks. In fact he had bought in French all told, but 1,250,000 francs' worth of material. He had pretended furthermore to fulfill the obligations he had undertaken, while in reality he was simply misappropriating the funds.

The Sentences.

In conclusion Judge Poirier read these sentences: Ferdinand de Lesseps, five years' imprisonment and a fine of 3,000 francs; Charles de Lesseps, five years' imprisonment and a fine of 3,000 francs; Marius Fontane, two years' imprisonment and a fine of 3,000 francs; Gustave Eiffel, two years' imprisonment and a fine of 20,000 francs.

Immediately after the reading of the sentences M. Eiffel left the courtroom with his counsel, whom he has instructed to appeal to the highest court of cassation. Charles de Lesseps and Marius Fontane remained under arrest. Both looked haggard and disheartened as they departed with Henry Cottu to the office of the public prosecutor.

Charles de Lesseps was calm during the whole time of the reading, but burst into tears when he heard sentence passed upon his father. M. Fontane was protected. Charles de Lesseps sent a telegram to La Chemaye informing Mme. de Lesseps of the result of the trial. Mme. de Lesseps probably will not communicate the news to her husband unless compelled by circumstances to do so. The end and object of the sentence will never be executed against him.

The Judges Sneered.

Paris records this great judgment with a feeling of profound pain. Nobody would venture to maintain that the outdoor clamor has not invaded the supposed inviolable sanctuary of justice. If ever there was a case which appealed to the indulgence and pity of judges, it was that of Ferdinand and Charles de Lesseps and M. Fontane, whose main offense was that they followed a chimera, forgetting the reality of things, the passions of men and the insufficiency of the means at their disposal to overcome the most formidable natural obstacles.

The judgment is stamped with the cruelty which characterizes the present campaign against the old. A name so formerly was acclaimed as the representative of French genius, energy and greatness. Now all but a corpse, as it seemed on market, we may speak of him as if entombed. The judges thought that their scrap de theatre would appeal to the unrelenting imagination of the people. They have in fact secured unenviable immortality as the judges of Ferdinand de Lesseps. Pardon is certain to be granted to him, but if cognizance of events be worth either as much from clemency as from condemnation.

Why Rouvier Was Not Held.

PARIS, Feb. 10.—The chamber of indictments has had under consideration the charge for throwing out the true bill found by M. Franqueville against M. Rouvier. While committing case M. Rouvier received the following from M. Thiers, dated Jan. 13, 1888, from M. Vlaste, the chamber held that no connection had been established between the acceptance of the money and M. Rouvier's vote on the lottery loan bill.

A Mysterious Death.

SHAMOKIN, Pa., Feb. 10.—The mysterious death of W. H. Eby, a hotel keeper, is being investigated by the authorities.

Raised from the Dead

Long and Terrible Illness from Blood Poisoning

Completely Cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Mrs. Mary E. O'Fallon, a very intelligent lady of Piqua, Ohio, was poisoned while assisting physicians at an autopsy 5 years ago, and since terrible ulcers broke out on her head, arms, tongue and throat. Her hair all came out. She weighed but 78 lbs., and saw no prospect of help. At last she began to take Hood's Sarsaparilla and at once improved; could soon get out of bed and walk. She says: "I became perfectly cured by and am now a well woman. I weigh 138 lbs., eat well and do the work for a large family. My case seems a wonderful recovery and physicians say it is remarkable as the blood like one raised from the dead."

HOOD'S PILLS should be in every family medicine chest. Once used, always preferred.

DEATH OF LOUIS J. JENNINGS.

An Editor of the New York Times Has Overthrew the Tweed Ring.

LONDON, Feb. 10.—The death is announced of Mr. Louis John Jennings, Conservative, member of the house of commons for Stockport. Mr. Jennings, who was well known in the United States, was born in London in 1836. Between 1858 and 1859 he acted as special correspondent of the London Times in India and the United States. His subsequently became connected with the New York Times, and while acting as editor of that paper was chiefly instrumental in exposing and overthrowing the Tweed ring. With scarcely any encouragement or support he waged the battle against this corrupt organization, and finally his efforts resulted in the complete overthrow of the ring. In 1870 Mr. Jennings left New York and returned to England. In 1885 he stood for election in Stockport and was returned. He married in 1867 Madeline Lemire, daughter of David M. Henriques of New York. Mr. Jennings was the author of a number of works, including "Eighty Years of Republican Government in the United States," "Field Paths," "Rambles Among the Hills," "Mr. Gladstone—a Study," and "The Philadelphians."

FRICK'S ASSAILANTS GUILTY.

The Judge Instructs the Jury to Render Such a Verdict.

PITTSBURG, Feb. 10.—The trial of Carl Knold and Henry Bener as accessories to Berkman, the anarchist, in the attempted killing of H. C. Frick last July, was on before Judge Slagle yesterday. The prosecution had no difficulty in proving the charge, and the defense attempted to prove an alibi, but failed. In charging the jury Judge Slagle said he considered the evidence strong enough to convict and instructed the jury to return a verdict in accordance therewith.

The jury was out 10 minutes and returned with a verdict of guilty. While they were out Judge Slagle called Bauer up and fined him $50 and sentenced him to 60 days in jail for contempt of court in refusing to answer questions while on the witness stand. "I want it understood," said the judge, "that men coming to this country must abide by its laws and the rules of its courts. If they do not do so, they will have to leave the country or go to jail."

The same defendants will be on trial again today on another charge.

INSANE PATIENTS PERISH.

The County Asylum at Dover, N. H., Burned.

DOVER, N. H., Feb. 10.—The county insane asylum, four miles from here, was burned last night, and 46 lives were lost. When Watchman William Chevey made his 10 o'clock trip into the insane asylum, he found the fire coming out of the cell occupied by a woman and gave the alarm. William Discoll, the keeper, with his family lived in the building, and he at once broke the locks off the 56 cells and let out the inmates. Then he got his wife and two children out; neither of whom was dressed. Of the 48 inmates only 4 escaped. They were William Twombly, Ryse Sanderson, William Davey and Frank Donahon.

The latter walked two miles in a blinding snowstorm, with only his shirt on, to William Hornes' house, where he was taken care of. The smoking ruins show the charred bodies still lying on their beds. How the building caught fire is a mystery.

Panama Taxes an Oppression.

PANAMA, Feb. 10.—The interminable subject of town talk here—the prospects of the canal and the developments of the trial in Paris—has been varied during the last week or two by the disturbing taxes that are being sprung on the community. Besides the prohibitive duties on liquor and tobacco—$6 and $8 per kilo respectively on gross weight, including the packages—there is now a duty on playing cards of 20 cents per pack, and the law pertaining thereto calls for the stamping of each individual one of the 52 cards on the back with a municipal rubber stamp. Another "wind raising" tax is that on dogs, which has been raised from $1 to $5 and farmed out, the purchaser of the tax being allowed to protect his interests by poisoning all dogs whose owners protest against the imposition of the tax.

THE HOUSE FOR SILVER

The White Metallists Have a Majority of Nine.

PARTY LINES ARE OBLITERATED.

The Railroad Automatic Car Coupler Bill Takes Up a Day In the Senate—Gilbert Islands Belong to Great Britain by Right of Location—Treasury Gold.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—The whole session of the senate was devoted to a discussion of the railroad automatic car coupler bill. In the course of one of his passionate little speeches Mr. Wolcott (Rep., Colo.) had a somewhat angry interchange of words with Mr. Cullom, who has charge of the bill, and alluded to Mr. Peffer (Pop., Kan.) as one of those people who make use of the labor movement to reach public office.

It was silver day in the house, and the friends of silver were victorious in the fight. They were victorious by a majority of 9. They secured the demand for the previous question. Had not the previous question been ordered a cloture amendment would have been sprung upon the house, and the struggle would then have been continued. But when it was ordered the advocates of the repeal bill generally passed under the yoke and allowed the resolution to be reconsidered without making any strong objection.

This action, in the opinion of members, sounds the deathknell of any silver legislation in the present congress. The remainder of the day was devoted to the consideration of the legislative appropriation bill, which was finally passed.

No Claim to the Gilbert Islands.

The only interest the United States has in the matter of the seizure of the Gilbert islands by a British war vessel last spring, as reported in San Francisco dispatches, is the mistreatment of the consul of the United States at that time by the commander of the vessel. The consul reported that he had been assaulted by the British forces, whereupon a protest was lodged with the government of Great Britain by our minister in London under instructions from the state department, and assurances have been received that the officer responsible for the assault will be called to account for his action.

A map of the islands of the Pacific, issued by the hydrographic bureau of the United States navy, includes the Gilbert islands in the territory claimed by Great Britain.

Plenty of Gold.

At the present time the treasury holds $7,505,000 of free gold, and arrangements have been perfected for the coin of $6,000,000 legal tenders on hand gold can be secured. Some $8,000,000 more legal tenders will be available for this purpose within the next few days.

In the opinion of treasury officials, even if the constant drain continues, the treasury gold can be kept up to $12,000,000 or $15,000,000 of free gold.

How Stevens' Acts Are Viewed.

The news of the action of Minister Stevens became a subject of general comment in the house after the excitement of the silver vote had died away. It met with the approval of the Republican side of the house and with a mixed reception on the Democratic side, the prevailing sentiment being that side, however, being one of antagonism to a committal of this government to annexation or to a protectorate or to the committal of congress by the executive branch of the government. There were some members who sharply criticised Minister Stevens and thought his conduct unwarranted.

Ask to Have Pig Tin Released.

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—A petition, already numerously signed, will be shortly sent to congress asking that body to repeal the duty which, under the operation of the McKinley bill, is to be laid on all importations of pig tin arriving in this country on and after July 1. The petition, although emanating from this city, is signed by manufacturing concerns throughout the country who are consumers of pig tin. The petition declares that inasmuch as pig tin is subject to a duty of 4 cents per pound, the duty should be abrogated unless the production of the material in the United States is shown to be 5,000 tons per annum during the ensuing two years.

Mr. Cleveland Is Silent.

LAKEWOOD, N. J., Feb. 10.—Mr. Cleveland remained quietly at home and received no visitors. He expects to devote several days more to private matters, and, while he reads the daily papers and keeps fully informed on all public matters, he declines to discuss, or to confirm or deny the various cabinet rumors that are in circulation.

President Diaz's Leniency.

CITY OF MEXICO, Feb. 10.—President Diaz has signed a commutation of the death sentence passed on Colonel Nieves Hernandez to 15 years' imprisonment, this term being the shortest that at the presidential discretion could be inflicted. The charge against Hernandez was that of treason in having failed to capture Garza.

Kansas' Two Houses.

TOPEKA, Feb. 10.—The Populists have not yet passed the legislative appropriation bill, and it is now believed they will defer final action on the numerous bills of the closing days of the session rather than afford their opponents the opportunity to test its legality in the supreme court.

A Worcester Pastor Called to Ohio.

WORCESTER, Mass., Feb. 10.—Rev. David O. Mears, D. D., for 15 years pastor of Piedmont Congregational church, has received a call from the Calvary Presbyterian church of Cleveland at a salary of $6,000 a year.

American Silver For Europe.

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—Zimmermann & Forshay will ship 100,000 ounces of silver and Handy & Harman 150,000 ounces of silver and 25,000 Mexican dollars on the steamship Servia, which sails for Europe Saturday.

Relating to the City Treasure, and the payments of City money.

The Inhabitants of the CITY of Plainfield, by their Common Council, do ordain as follows:

Section 1. The Treasurer of the City shall, before entering upon the duties of his office, execute a bond in the sum of Ten Thousand Dollars, to the Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, conditioned for the true and faithful performance of all the duties of his office, which bond shall be approved by the Common Council and shall approve said bond, which bond shall be filed in the office of the City Clerk, and a duplicate thereof shall be deposited with the Comptroller.

Section 2. The Treasurer shall receive all moneys belonging to the City, and pay the same to the City, unless otherwise provided by law, and shall keep the deposits of the City only in such banks or trust companies in this state as the Common Council shall from time to time designate as the depositories of the City money, to be drawn by the Treasurer of the City of Plainfield."

Section 3. All moneys deposited in any depository of city money in the name of the Treasurer of the City of Plainfield shall be drawn therefrom or paid thereout for any purpose whatever in any other manner than by a check or draft (on such bank designated as such depository) signed by the City Treasurer and countersigned by the Mayor or Comptroller, or by the President of the Common Council of the Inspectors appointed by the Common Council of the Mayor or President of the Common Council or the Chairman of the Committee on Finance of the Common Council, except as hereinafter provided. Warrants on City Treasurer drawn in favor of the Board of Free Library and Reading Room, signed by the President and countersigned by the Secretary of said Board, and warrants on City Treasurer drawn in favor of the Board of Health, signed by the President and countersigned by the Secretary of said Board, and accepted by the City Treasurer, and designating the monetary amount of said warrant in words, shall be treated as checks or drafts and shall be paid out of the deposits of money at which they are made payable.

Section 4. The Treasurer shall keep in a suitable book or books in such manner as directed by the Common Council or by a joint or private committee, separate accounts of the several funds for which moneys shall be received or paid, and shall keep a true account of each and every sum received and credited to each fund, and also to the credit or debit of such fund.

The Treasurer shall also keep a detailed record of all assessments made or authorized to be made by the Common Council, showing the date of the same and purpose of each assessment, the names or persons assessed, the amounts assessed against each, and the date of the payment of the same.

Section 5. Whenever the Common Council shall authorize money to be borrowed on the credit of and in the name of the City by means of the collection of taxes, the Treasurer shall prepare and sign a list of the taxes to be collected and thereon, payable at such time as shall be fixed by the Common Council, which note shall be issued by the Mayor of the City of Plainfield, and countersigned by the Treasurer, and issue to those to be entitled to the same, and shall be credited to the account of the Treasurer of the City of Plainfield in such bank, and subject to the provisions in section 3 and always due the Public Library and reading room on account of their gifts of money collected, and moneys paid to the State and County for taxes, or school moneys thereof by law to be paid by the City Treasurer. Upon receiving from the City Clerk said written statement of the amount of money received and ordered paid by the Common Council, the Treasurer shall forthwith prepare checks or drafts in accordance with the same, properly signed and countersigned and pay said sums or so much thereof as shall be necessary in the manner herein provided.

Section 6. All checks or drafts shall be filled up by the City Treasurer regularly numbered and a detail marginal record of each kept by him.

The City Treasurer shall take from each institution [illegible] per cent or other interest as the Common Council, at the time of the delivery of the check or draft, in payment thereof, a receipt on the margin of the check or draft book for such interest, and also a receipt on each bill or claim so paid and for all other checks or drafts issued by him, a proper receipt on the stub thereof to be filed in regular order and safely preserve as vouchers all such bills or claims and receipts, which he shall at the end of his term of office deliver to his successor in office, and shall also file and preserve all checks or drafts drawn by him when paid and returned to him by the bank paying the same.

Section 7. The two Ordinances respectively entitled "An Ordinance relating to the Treasurer of the CITY," approved June 4, 1878, and "An Ordinance providing for the issue of Warrants on the Treasurer for current expenses against the CITY," approved June 4, 1878, are hereby repealed, but no Ordinance or parts of Ordinance repealed by either of said Ordinances shall not be revived by the repeal of said two Ordinances, and all Ordinances or parts of Ordinances, so far as they conflict with the provisions of this Ordinance are hereby repealed.

Adopted by the Common Council, February 6, 1893.

Approved by the Mayor, February 8, 1893.

[illegible] Mayor.

CORPORATION NOTICE.

At a meeting of the Common Council held Monday evening, Feb. 6, 1893, the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

WHEREAS the Supreme Court of this State has decided that the regular real estate taxes the personal property of the owners of such real estate in this city may not be collected, but that the delinquent taxpayers are not by law entitled to any relief from the payment of the personal property of such delinquents may be collected by the ordinary process of law for the collection of personal property, and that no statute of limitations bars the remedies for the collection of back taxes.

Resolved, That Vincent W. Nash, the collector of taxes for the City of Plainfield, be and he is hereby directed to proceed to collect the personal and execute tax warrants to and he hereby is directed to proceed to collect the personal tax warrants in the first instance by seizure, public sale and conversion into money of the personal property of delinquents, and that he be and hereby is hereby [illegible] the directors of the Corporation Yard.

Resolved, That upon failure to find property of the delinquents from which to collect the personal property taxes, said officer be directed to levy the said taxes upon the property of banks and trust companies, if to be found in the county, and that he be and hereby is hereby authorized and empowered to levy upon the property of banks and trust companies, if to be found in the county, and to sell the same in the manner provided by law for sales of personal property under execution.

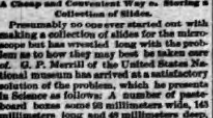
Science and Progress

BOX FOR MICROSCOPIC SLIDES.

A Cheap and Convenient Way to Store a Collection of Slides.

Presumably no one ever started out with making a collection of slides for the microscope but has wrestled long with the problem as to how they may best be taken care of. G. P. Merrill of the United States National museum has arrived at a satisfactory solution of the problem, which he presents in Science as follows: A number of pasteboard boxes some 93 millimeters wide, 143 millimeters long and 40 millimeters deep, all inside measurements, were utilized. The dimensions of our standard slides are 46 by 26 millimeters. By means of two wooden partitions, some 3 millimeters thick, running lengthwise, each box was divided into three equal compartments, the partitions being held in place by glass re-enforced by two small tacks at each end.



SECTION OF BOX.

Heavy manilla wrapping paper was then cut into strips 25 millimeters wide and as long as the sheet of paper would allow, 15 slits one inch 7 feet. These strips were then bent into a series of folds, as shown in the accompanying illustration, the spaces being rounded, not pinched flat. If carefully done, the folds when crowded gently together act as a spring. Two of these folded strips were then placed lengthwise in each compartment, and the slides introduced standing on end between the folds at the top.

Each slide is separated from its neighbor in the same row by a double thickness of manilla paper, which, owing to its manner of folding, acts as a spring and avoids all possible danger of breakage.

There is no difficulty in removing a slide or in getting at it to read the label without removal, since, owing to the yielding nature of the paper, the tops may be readily drawn apart. In this respect the box offers a great advantage over those with rigid wooden compartments, such as are commonly in use.

Egyptian Engineering.

In the quarries of Syene, according to the writer of "Cleopatra's Needle," may be seen an unfinished shaft adhering to the native rock and still clearly showing traces of the workmen's tools and the method employed in separating these immense monoliths. The edge of the block is marked by a sharply cut groove, containing holes evidently bored for wooden wedges. In completing the operation the wedges of dry timber were driven into place, and the groove was filled with water, when the swelling of the wood split the rock throughout the length of the groove. The block was afterward slid on rollers to the edge of the Nile. Here a large raft was built about it, and at the next inundation the finished stone was floated down to where it was to be erected and was pushed by thousands of hands on rollers up an incline plane to the pedestal prepared for it. The obelisks were cut from red syenite, a rock often miscalled granite.

Correcting Hot Underground Steam Pipes.

The Industrial World quotes the following from a well known engineer of important copper mines: "Formerly it was a custom at the mines to bury and cover in the ground underground without any noncon-ducting cover, and then the pipes was enormous, but now the pipes are covered with a layer of plaster of paris and sawdust 3/4 inches thick, 1 part of the plaster to 3 of the sawdust, and then when as covered conclusion nearly cease or is only 100 to 1° of what it was before. Gypsum and sawdust are both cheap, and the plan is worth a trial, but we would expect no such effect from its use."—Industry

Does Smoke Indicate Waste?

The supposition that smoke indicates great waste is denied by M. Scheurer Kestner, whose careful experiments are stated to show that when smoke is made as dense as possible the loss of combustible material is less than 1½ per cent. To keep smoke at a minimum he recommends a suitable mechanical stoker, or provision for mixing the smoke with hot gases.

Scientific Recreation.

A tub or basin of water and seven ordinary wine corks are the only apparatus needful for a little experiment which will serve the double purpose of furnishing an example of "cohesion produced by capillary attraction" and illustrating in an entertaining way the truth of the old adage, "Union is strength." It is purposed to make these seven corks float in the water, each retaining a vertical position. Everybody knows that the form of a cork, being that of an elongated cylinder in length about three times the diameter, compels it when it floats to lie prone on the water with the axis of the cylinder horizontal. How, then, are we to make it float in an upright position?

Place one of the corks upright upon the table and the other six around it in the same position. Raise the cork with one hand and plunge it under water as that each cork shall be completely wetted. Bring them again to the surface and leave them to themselves. The water, which by force of capillary attraction has penetrated between the wetted corks, will hold them bound together, and although each cork individually is in a condition of unstable equilibrium the general mass thus established will be stable, the width of our improvised raft being greater than the height of the single corks which compose it.

A Bright Boy's Mistake.

I heard a story of a bright boy who the other day went to New York with his parents. He was taken one morning to see a play, to the Eden Musee, where he feasted his young soul on horrors and waxworks until he was surprised to learn that everything were be encountered. He was deceived so often by wax figures and wax effects and tricks that when at last he came upon a bright green lizard he gently smiled, "Fresh Paint," he exclaimed: "Oh, you can't fool me any longer. You may be fresh, but I'm on!" and down he sat promptly. It was not a fake, and a new suit was necessary.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

A New Kind of Sign.

Benny is a little lame boy in Boston, the only son of his mother, and she is a poor widow. He had never been out of the city, and his mother's sister was Invited to the fine lawns with their signs, "Keep Off the Grass." One morning in June his mother took him for the first time to the great park on the outskirts of the city. The wide stretch of meadow with the signs "Common" on its border caught his eye at once, and shocked his mother's grown and hobbling on as fast as he could he cried:

"Oh! hurry, hurry, mamma! it don't say 'Keep Off the Grass,' here it says, 'Come On!'"—Wide Awake.

Disposing of a Rival.

The way in which a small boy of our acquaintance got rid of one, which, in the language of the nurses, was "to put his nose out of joint," showed a readiness to dispose of a troublesome impediment with a word.

The little fellow was taken into his mother's chamber to see for the first time a baby brother. The boy gazed fondled the infant over with a calmly critical regard, and then, turning to the maid who accompanied him, he said very decidedly, "Jane, you keep that in the kitchen."—Youth's Companion.

It Might Be Worse.

I'm glad that I'm a little lad
And not a piece of cake;
And sometimes when I'm feeling sad
Things do not really seem so bad
If I just think of Jake.

The Family of the State.

The true family is the type of the state. It is the absence of the feminine from the conduct of the governments of the earth that makes them more or less savage. The state is now in a condition of half orphanage. They are fathers of the state, but no mothers.—Rev. Samuel J. May.

CHILDREN'S COLUMN.

Tissue of Soap Bubbles.

Blow a large bubble on the top of the mug and then stop blowing. The air will rush out of the open end of the chimney as the bubble shrinks. If you point the chimney at a candle, the blast will be strong enough to put it out. Water film acts like thin india rubber in some respects, tending to become as small in area as possible.

Next dip a ring several inches across made of wire about as thick as a hairpin in the soap solution and place a thread across the film filling it. The thread must be 6 or 8 inches long, and must have been dipped in the solution. The ends must be tied together. Then break the film on one side of the thread with the finger or with a hot wire, and the part of the thread which was in the film will be instantly drawn over so as to lie against the ring on one side. Put the fingers of one hand in the deposit and, keeping the thread spread well, and then draw it away from the ring (Fig. 1). If carefully done, the thread will carry a film curtain with it, and refill the ring with film, which will remain as the string is drawn away over the edge of the wire ring.

Tie a thread loosely across the ring, dip the ring in the solution and break the film as before on one side of the thread. Across the loose thread is tightly drawn back the arc of a circle by the film on the other side of it (Fig. 2). Next break the other film, and the thread again is loose, but this time in the air. Before it was floating about in the film.

A pretty variation in this experiment is to tie a little loop in a piece of thread before fastening it to the rings. The loops can be made by tying a thread around the finger. The thread is tied across the ring so as to bring the loop into the center. Dip the whole into soap solution. The loop will swing about loosely in the film. Break the film inside of the loop, and it will spring open into a circle. Next the film on the farther side of the loop can be broken, and the thread across the ring will be drawn into the arc of a circle with the loop, circle shape, resting in the part of the film that is left, as in Fig. 2.

The Meaning of "Semaphore."

One of our boys wants to know why they give the name "semaphore" to the tall poles with crosspieces used by railroads as a means of signaling trains. Of course you have all seen the "semaphores." Near the top of a pole is a movable piece; if it be raised, the train may go safely by; if it be out at right angles over the track, the train must stop.

The word "semaphore" is from the Greek and means "to bear a sign." The idea that some people have, that it was derived from "semifore," on account of the curious, dried membrane to one-half of the figure four, is altogether erroneous, not to say absurd.—Philadelphia Times.

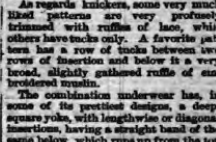
NECESSARY ARTICLES

THEY MAY BE OF MUSLIN, SILK OR FINE LINEN.

Made Plain or Elaborate or Dainty With Lace, Embroideries and Ribbons, They Are Things of Beauty and a Joy Forever For Women Young and Old.

In the illustration is shown a nightrobe of the latest style and such as is suitable to a trousseau or indeed to any fine outfit of underwear for home or travel. It has an extremely broad and flaring plaited ruffle, which starts at the neckband and extends to the shoulders. The front has a wide jabot of the same, and in equal width it is displayed on the wrists below insertion into which a couple of ribbon is run. The insertion appears on the ruffle at the top and on the front. The hem of the robe, which is not seen in the picture, has a wide ruffle and a corresponding insertion. Wide bows of the "windmill" shape finish the ribbon effect on the sleeves and in a band running around the waist.



FOR THE TROUSSEAU.

The knickers are made to correspond with other articles of underwear if desired. Usually the set consist of nightrobe, knickers, petticoats, corset covers, etc. The knickers shown in illustration are made of sheer linen and in new design, with coulisse in the center of the back—a coulisse of ribbon and a ruffle of lace.

As regards knickers, some very much liked patterns are very profusely trimmed with ruffles of lace, while others have tucks only. A favorite pattern has a row of tucks between two rows of insertion and below it a very broad, slightly gathered ruffle of embroidered muslin.

The combination underwear has in some of its pretties designs, a deep square yoke, with lengthwise or diagonal insertions, having a straight band of the same below, which runs up from the top of the bust to the shoulder. A very shallow sleeve is edged with the same narrow lace as that which runs along the top of the bands of insertion. The gathers below the lower band of this combination have darts below them which join this combination of chemise and knickers to the figure. The lower part of the knickers is of the Turkish style, very full at the knee—a model very comfortable and desirable. This full ness terminates in a band below the knee, and this consists of insertion with a rume or ness.

As regards nightrobes, the main feature is copious trimming, whether of lace or worked ruffles, while in the most elegant of the new styles the chemise is a sleeveless design, with all the front flat and carrying a flat effect as far as the garniture extends, is remarked.

Very narrow ribbon is used and of all colors as a coulisse under insertion of pretty and novel design, such as stars, wheels, crescents, flowers and leaves, and on the tinted swiss muslins or on mull decorated with figures, whether dots or circles, pin points or tiny blocks, velvet ribbon, most often black, is displayed. This forms knots on the shoulders of chemises and on the outside of the hems of knickers, ornaments the fretted lace on the flounces of silk, satin or cotton under petticoats worn with walking dresses, and also adorns corset covers.

Sweet Clothing.

A delightful mixture for perfuming clothes that are packed away, and which is said to keep out moths also, is said to be made as follows: Pound to a powder 2 ounces each of cloves, caraway seed, nutmeg, mace, cinnamon and Tonquin beans, and as much orris root as will equal the weight of the foregoing ingredients put together. Little bags of muslin should be filled with this mixture and placed among the garments.

Indian Pudding.

Sift 6 tablespoonfuls of cornmeal into 1 quart of boiling milk and cook 10 minutes, stirring all the time. Remove from the fire and add a cupful of finely chopped suet or half a cupful of butter, a level teaspoonful each of salt, cinnamon and ginger, 3 cupfuls of not too finely chopped sweet or sour apples (sweet preferred), 1 cupful of brown sugar, and at the last 1 egg or a cupful of cold water.

Of course water does not make the pudding so rich as when the egg is used, but, curiously enough, it produces the same golden color. Turn three layers in in a moderate oven, either pouring a cupful of milk over the pudding after it has been in an hour or else covering the dish with a plate or thick pasteboard according to the heat of the oven. This pudding is a great favorite with children and may be served with butter, maple sugar, syrup, molasses or cream.

Mr. George S. McGinnis will move into his new house on Somerset street, which has just been completed, next Tuesday.

The Rev. A. J. Martine of Dunellen will preach in the First Presbyterian church, on East Front street, to-morrow evening.

The Rev. E. E. Robinson, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church at Kingswood, will preach in the Park place chapel to-morrow evening.

Mrs. Mary Joy and her daughter Miss Alice of Groton, Mass., are visiting their son and brother, Mr. James E. Joy of Orchard place, North Plainfield.

Miss Helen A. Burr gave a progressive whist party at her home on LaGrande avenue, Thursday evening, in honor of her cousin, Miss Atkinson, who is visiting here.

Mr. Charles D. Tingley of Marcounter (Oak Tree) is dangerously ill with hemorrhages of the lungs. He is an old soldier and has been for some time a pensioner.

Messrs. Martin B. Cronce and W. H. Sprague, the evangelist, will go to Bayonne to conduct meetings in the Rescue Mission, at that place to-morrow afternoon and evening.

The Rev. Mr. Herring, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, and the Rev. Mr. Richardson, pastor of the Park avenue Baptist church, will exchange pulpits to-morrow morning.

Elder Hand of the First Church of Christ will speak on "Man's Immortality" to-morrow evening. This is the second of a series of talks to be delivered at the chapel. He requests all to take Bibles and pencils for reference.

At the Fourth Annual Convention of the Pennsylvania Retail Jewelers Association, at Philadelphia, Feb. 8th, and 9th, Mr. Caleb Dickinson of this city was elected a member, and Mr. Asa Collier also of Plainfield was re-elected second vice president.

The Beers Electric Fan and Motor Company was incorporated in Newark yesterday with a paid-in capital of $100,000. Erastus Hayes and A. R. Bradley, of New York, Wm. M. Tallmadge, of Plainfield and Frankling H. and W. m. P. Beers, of Newark, comprises the concern.

The department of the New Jersey Grand Army of the Republic concluded its twenty-sixth annual encampment at Trenton, yesterday, by the election of officers. Messrs. W. H. Smith, G. W. Moore and W. H. Moon of this city were elected members of the Council of Administration.

A "Ledgerdermain Exhibition" was given at the residence of Dr. Hurlbut on East Fifth street last evening. Master Jesse Hurlbut, Jr., was master of ceremonies, Master Wilbur Cornwell mystified the audience of adults and children by skillful sleight-of-hand tricks. Master Edward Kline first appeared, well disguised, as a legless Turk, and, through an interpreter, (Master Hurlbut) told a series of Manchausen tales of travel and adventure. Later he appeared, with his legs, and gave some interesting stereopticon views of Switzerland. An admission fee of ten cents was charged and the proceeds will be used for charity.

BREVITIES

—To-night a song service will be held in the W. C. T. U. rooms on Broadway.

—The next Philharmonic concert will be given in the Casino next Tuesday evening.

—There will be an auction sale at Carey's to-night of silverware and jewelry at 7.30 o'clock sharp.

—Cornelius Taylor, son of the proprietor of the Dunellen Hotel is seriously ill with quinsy sore throat.

—About twenty members of Bound Brook Hose Co. No. 1, attended the fair of Warren Engine Co., No. 1 last evening.

—The Park Club bowlers will roll a game with the Westfield Athletic Club team, on the former's alleys, next Thursday evening.

—Mark Lees of Pearl street captured a fourteen pound opossum in front of R. W. Rice & Co's grocery store, at 8.30 yesterday morning.

—It is rumored that the residents of the eastern part of the city intend to petition Common Council, at their next meeting, against the granting of a license to sell liquor in the building No. 93 Broadway.

—At the many receptions during the past week, Mr. Frank Hedden, of East Fourth street, has had charge of the carriages. That is one reason why there was no confusion in the arrival and departure of the numerous vehicles.

—It is reported from Trenton that there is no likelihood of the proposed amendment to the school law being brought up, as it affects the interests of Camden, Trenton and other cities, which are up in arms against it. It will probably be buried by the committee.

—Attention is called to the advertisement elsewhere of Varney, the London phrenologist, lecture and author who has just arrived in this country. He is advertised to lecture in Reform Hall, on Monday night. Admission free. An entertainment, including dancing and singing, will be given after the lecture. For further particulars see advertisement.

MR. MURRAY ELECTED PRESID ENT

Of the New Jersey Young Men's Christian Association.

The second days' session of the State Convention of the New Jersey Young Men's Christian Association, at Camden, opened yesterday morning in the First Baptist church, with a largely increased attendance of delegates. The report of the Hon. Elkanah Drake, of Newark, chairman of the State Executive Committee, was one of the most interesting and encouraging reports ever presented at a convention, and shows a prosperous condition of the associations generally, both as to membership and finances. There are forty-five associations, four in railroad departments, nine in colleges, and thirty-two in the various cities and towns throughout the State.

Of this number, thirteen own their own buildings. The running expenses for the year of the associations amounted to about $70,000. The total value of the Association property is estimated at $425,750.

The Committee on Organization reported the following as officers for the ensuing year, and they were elected:

President, William D. Murray, Plainfield; Vice-Presidents, T. Wayland Ayer, Camden, and John W. Nicely, of Princeton College; Secretaries, J. A. Sandford, Montclair, and L. A. Rose, of Pennington.

The remainder of the session was devoted to the reading of reports from the different associations. Plainfield reported having the largest building lot in the State.

Scarlet Fever in Dunellen.

CITIES AND COUNTIES.

THE STATE COMPTROLLER'S STATEMENT OF THEIR INDEBTEDNESS.

The Report Shows that the Aggregate of this Indebtedness is $54,-171,134.49—Union County's Debt is $584,000.

The annual report of State Comptroller Heppenheimer contains a detailed statement of the indebtedness of the counties and municipalities of the State, and the purposes for which the debts were contracted. The report shows that the aggregate of this indebtedness is $54,171,134.49. Of this amount $5,362,624.79 was contracted by counties, $45,070,516.19 by cities, and the balance by townships, boroughs, and villages. The most surprising fact is that $34,254,-176.18 of this entire indebtedness was contracted by the county of Hudson, and the cities and townships within its borders. Jersey City has a debt of over $18,000,000, and is paying 7 per cent. interest on nearly half of it. Essex county is in a better condition. Its entire indebtedness, county and municipal, is $14,504,698.37. Of this, $1,136,079.84 was contracted by the county; $12,257,500, by the cities, and the balance by the boroughs, townships and the towns and villages within its border. None of the other counties of the State rank with Essex or Hudson in the amount of debt. Union county stands next and has a debt of $934,000, of which $350,000 was spent on roads. Passaic county has an indebtedness of $982,000. The greater part of the debt is to pay war bounties and build roads.

INDEBTEDNESS OF PRINCIPAL CITIES.

The indebtedness of the principal cities of the State at the time of issuing the report is given as follows:

	Funded debt	Fl'ty debt
Atlantic City	$76,450	$16,500.00
Bayonne	1,490,500	98,998.56
Bordentown		30,000.00
Burlington	34,250
Bridgeton	65,000
Camden	1,337,500	41,000.00
Elizabeth	1,067,200
Gloucester City	180,000
Harrison	320,000	41,500.00
Hoboken	1,194,350	110,914.72
Jersey City	17,707,826	350,000.00
Long Branch	34,000	16,467.45
Millville	3,000	19,000.00
Morristown	1,000
Newark	10,854,600	474,000.00
New Brunswick	1,471,000
Orange	695,500	120,000.00
Passaic	272,500	169,251.97
Paterson	1,267,600	516,877.69
Phillipsburg	110,000
Plainfield	3,500	13,995.00
Rahway	76,250
Salem	66,000
Trenton	1,538,600	27,000.00

Since the above was compiled Plainfield has reduced its bonded debt to $6,500 and its floating debt to $176.

Music Hall Notes.

Concerning the production of "A Mad Bargain" in Plainfield, George Thatcher says:

"I wish to most heartily recommend to the theater-goers of Plainfield, James T. Powers and company in the big farce, comedy success 'A Mad Bargain,' announced to appear at the Stillman Music Hall on Tuesday evening next, Feb. 14.

"Mr. Powers is one of the most popular and clever of America's comedians, and his new vehicle of fun is one of the brightest, wittiest and most laughable performances of the season.

"He moreover has the advantage of an unusually strong supporting company in addition to the special scenery carried, illustrating the ludicrous side of life in a New York flat.

"That Mr. Powers is under the management of my business associates in Tuxedo,' Messrs. Rich & Harris, is of itself a guarantee of excellence.

"I therefore again cordially recommend him to the amusement-loving portion of my friends and neighbors."

—U. B. Crane, hatter, invites every mechanic and workingman to call and see him at his new store, 12 West Front street.

The Aston Seidl Company was at Music Hall last evening. The attendance was small. This may have been the reason for the listless, lifeless expression and actions of the soloists. "The Meister Singers," by a quartette, of which Miss Emma Juch was one, was entertaining and the best number on the programme. The instrumental music was, naturally, of a high order. The entire programme was rushed through in a little over half the time it should have taken.

Attractive Tours to the Near South.

The advantageous season of the year and the attractive destinations fixed for the tour to the near South on February 13th make it one of the most desirable of pleasure trips. The territory traversed is the most attractive and interested portion of the Union, embracing as it does a picturesque route, the military post of Old Point Comfort, the beautiful resort of Virginia Beach, and the cities of Richmond and Washington. The rates of $25.00 from New York and $23.00 from Philadelphia cover railroad fare, hotel accommodations, and all necessary expenses during the entire time of nine days spent on the tour. For an extended tour to Washington an exceptional opportunity is offered on February 16th. Seven days will be spent on the trip. The rates, including transportation, hotel accommodations, transfers, carriage ride, and a trip to Mt. Vernon, are very low. This tour affords ample time for thoroughly viewing the sights of the Nation's handsomest city. The Dangerous "Fun" of a Dunellenite.

A girl in Dunellen, the other evening, looked into a pool room where a number of young men were playing. One of the young men, an intimate friend of the girl's, in "fun" drew a revolver and fired a shot over her head.

The next day it was rumored that he had attempted to kill her. No arrests were made.

Such a "funny" idiot ought to be put in jail, or a lunatic asylum, or some other safe place. He is far too humorous to be loose.

A Body Found in the Woods.

While going to work yesterday morning Joseph Rosch came upon the body of a man in the woods between Bonhamtown and Metuchen. It had probably been in the woods two months. Beside the body was a revolver with four chambers empty, which indicated suicide. The body was attired in a brown-overcoat, dark coat and vest and blue trousers. All the clothing was good. So far as can be learned there was no papers on the body by which it might be identified.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Philanthropy and Business.

During the late terrible cold weather a number of philanthropic citizens in Cincinnati united their funds and purchased coal in large quantities for the poor, which was resold to them at the lowest rates or given to them outright. A benevolent Jewish gentleman in New York city did something of the same kind. He bought large quantities of coal and sold it at cost to the poor who buy their fuel by the scuttleful or by the 100-pound bag. It is the most wasteful possible way to buy coal, the dealers making from first to last a profit that would appall the buyer if he knew it. But to these misguided small purchasing individuals the benevolent New Yorker sold the scuttlefuls of fuel for just what he paid for it, himself defraying the cost of transportation to the spot where he retailed it.

It was a great service to the suffering this winter on the part of both the Cincinnati business men and the New York philanthropist. But there is one way in which they and others might be of still greater service not only to the poor, but to everybody. There are hundreds of wealthy men in every city who would like to do something to help those less favored than themselves. At the same time they would not be averse to turning an honest penny for their own behalf. Suppose a number of such first class citizens establish a fund of, say, $1,000,000, or $500,000 in a small city. With this they go into the coal trade themselves.

It should not be on a charitable basis, but on a strictly business one. Let them buy from the mines a great quantity of coal, enough to supply both rich and poor. Then let them say: We will count the cost of this coal in every particular. We will sell it to consumers at a price that will give us, say, a profit of 4 per cent on our money. We will have no selling on credit, not a cent. It must be cash or no coal. We will guarantee weights and measures.

On such a basis the saving to the public—a few dollars on the year to each family—would mount up into the millions to a whole city. The coal supply would be perfect, and the philanthropic millionaires would get a reasonable profit. Best of all, there would be no flavor of charity about the enterprise.

Hawaii.

The commissioners who ask for the annexation of the Hawaiian Islands particularly ask that the country be made a territory, not a state. This is on account of the mixed and incongruous nature of the population. Outside of New York city there is probably scarcely such another mix in the world. The native Sandwich Islanders do not constitute even half the population, which is 90,000. About 40,000 are natives and half castes. There are 18,000 Chinese, chiefly laborers on the sugar plantations. It is an odd fact that there are nearly as many Chinese and Japanese as natives. There are 20,000 Japanese.

The chief exports of Hawaii are sugar, rice, bananas and some hides. The realm over which Liliuokalani reigned numbers 15 islands, occupying a total area of 6,640 square miles. Only 8 of the 15 islands are inhabited. The capital of Hawaii, Honolulu, is on the island of Oahu and has perhaps 25,000 inhabitants. The great volcano, Manna Loa, with its many craters, is on the island of Hawaii. Lorin A. Thurston, head of the commission seeking annexation, is a live American Yankee, though born in Honolulu, and he has shown it by building a large hotel at the mouth of the great volcano. The United States harbor has already the exclusive right to a harbor on the islands. It is Pearl harbor, at the mouth of Pearl river, but it has never been properly improved.

Among the matters that claim the attention of the present British parliament besides home rule for Ireland are the shortening of the term of parliament, which is now seven years, the amending of the electoral system so as to limit each voter to a single vote and the extension of a method of local self government similar to that which has always obtained in the counties and towns of the United States. John Bull is beginning to learn from us that it is safe to let towns, cities and counties manage their own affairs. But the measure by which this parliament will make itself historic will be the passage of the home rule bill—that is, if it does pass. It will be Gladstone's second bill for Irish home rule. His majority will be 37 at the outside in parliament. The home rule bill, however, though it takes precedence of everything else, cannot finally be disposed of short of the 1st of April.

Of all politically prominent Frenchmen at this day there seem to be only three whose names have about them no shadow of suspicion in connection with the Panama scandal. Malicious tongues have even wagged concerning Sadi Carnot, the president of France, although unjustly. But the three white men in the army of black ones are Brisson, chairman of the committee of deputies investigating the scandals; Ribot, the premier, and Constans, head of a former cabinet.

Mary E. Lease, candidate for United States senator from Kansas, gives it as her opinion that the office should seek the woman as well as the man.

DISCUSSED BY CABINET.

The Hawaiian Question Nearing a Crisis.

NEUMAN DENIES A MONEYED RUMOR

Says the Queen Will Not Sell the Islands, but the Commissioners Believe That His Mission to the United States Has to Do With a Financial Transaction.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—The afternoon's developments in the Hawaiian matter were important. The commissioners from the Islands are hopeful, if not confident that to-day will see the practical, if not formal, conclusion of their labors. Secretary Foster held a conference with the commissioners at the state department. In the course of the proceedings the commissioners were informed that arrangements had been made for their reception by President Harrison. This announcement, of course, gave them great pleasure, as it marked the determination of the administration to recognize them officially and to enter upon formal negotiations regarding the object of their mission. In the previous conferences the whole situation had been considered orally, with only memoranda in writing of the points to be covered. The officials of the state department and the commissioners have prepared from these texts of agreements which may be exchanged.

That there is practical uniformity in these documents is shown by the state ment of one of the Hawaiians that he hoped to get through with their business today. The probabilities upon this latter point have been that it is too ambitious, for it is not considered likely that any determination will be reached by this government until the representatives of the deposed queen shall have presented their side of the case. This of course cannot be done until the latter part of next week.

The Commissioners Are Pleased.

The published interview with Paul Neuman, the queen's commissioner to the United States, gave the representatives of the provisional government much satisfaction. It disposed of the sentimental side of the question," said one of them last evening, "of which the opponents of annexation made so much.

"According to Mr. Neuman, he bears an agreement prepared in triplicate, in which the queen proposes to sell the islands to the United States. We propose to give them to this country, but the end aimed at is the same, and the natives will be in exactly the same position, whichever proposition is accepted. The published statement tallies precisely with what Neuman told me, half an hour before we sailed, the queen would do."

Mr. Castle, one of the commissioners, has for a client the victim of British aggression and outrage on the Gilbert Islands at the time of their annexation by Captain Davis of the Royal navy last summer. This man, who went to the Gilbert islands from Hawaii, was driven off by Captain Davis, who gave him no time to close up his business thereby compelling him to sacrifice all that he had. Mr. Castle said he had brought up the incident in order to "point a moral if not "adorn a tale."

Great Britain, he said, made no attempt to get possession of the Gilbert islands until a publication was made that the United States had declined to annex the territory or to establish a protectorate over it. She is now waiting. Mr. Castle said, for the United States to act on the application of the Hawaiian government, and "if nothing is done here," continued he, "I have no doubt Great Britain will take some steps to get control of the islands. And did you ever think," he asked, "when it was that Great Britain, Germany and Spain entered upon their campaign of seizing every available island in the Pacific?

"Look back over the history of their recent actions in this direction, and you will see that they began with the building of the new navy by the United States. Now that that navy is approaching a condition of effectiveness as compared with those of European powers, our group is the only important one left."

The Cabinet Meeting.

All the members of the cabinet were present at the meeting. The principal topic discussed was the action of Minister Stevens in establishing a protectorate over the Hawaiian islands. In view of the fact that the next steamer leaving San Francisco for Honolulu is scheduled for Tuesday, the 14th inst., it is not believed that any definite action will be taken in signing or disapproving Minister Stevens' action until the day before the departure of the steamer for the Islands. Secretary of State Foster intimated that the government had plenty of time to act in a deliberate manner, and while the approval or disapproval of Mr. Stevens' action was necessary, yet in view of the impossibility of reaching him otherwise than by mail communication, immediate action in the premises was not deemed necessary.

Neuman Denies the Statement.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 11.—Paul Neuman denied the statement published in a San Francisco paper that ex-Queen Liliuokalani will relinquish all claim on the abrogated monarchy of Hawaii for a valuable consideration from the United States. Mr. Neuman went on to say that he merely comes to the United States with full power to act for the ex-queen in presenting her case at Washington, and nothing more. Mr. Neuman, accompanied by Prince David, leaves for Washington today at 8 o'clock.

A Priest's Eloquent Protest.

MILWAUKEE, Feb. 11.—Brother Maurelian, secretary of the Roman Catholic exhibit at the World's fair, has written to the Roman Catholic clergy of Milwaukee asking their assistance in securing the banishment of nude pictures and statuary from the fair. Brother Maurelian has already filed a protest with the World's fair officials. The protest is based on these reasons: That such an exhibition as proposed, is reprehensible; that there is nothing elevating or ennobling in such a display; that art has never gained by an exhibition of the nude; that true art is of the mind mental, of the spirit spiritual, and he who drags it from its high place and makes it pander to the sensuous prostitutes alike his gift and himself.

Looking For One of Its Agents.

ROCHESTER, Feb. 11.—The American Express Company is looking for Charles Devens, its employee at Pulford on the Western New York and Pennsylvania railroad, who disappeared three days ago. It is said that Devens issued orders on the company for $1,800 and went away with the money.

An Amateur Skating Record.

HALIFAX, Feb. 11.—Brown and Carroll skated three miles, Brown winning in 9 minutes 36 seconds.

THE GOLD QUESTION.

The Increasing Magnitude of European Export Is Becoming of Serious Moment.

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—The continued exportation of gold by these houses which have been almost exclusively identified with the movement for months past, and James H. Keene, has aroused a great deal of comment and much indignation at the scandalous abuse of its rights and privileges which America affords to every foreign house doing business here.

It has been known for months that this export movement has been unnational at many periods. At these times the export has been palpably the result of an arrangement with foreign syndicates or agents of the banks of France, Germany or Austria to procure gold from America by every contrivance possible to secure the parties engaged in the business against loss. Slight limits have been frequently made as an actual loss, and the general expression in Wall street is that these operations have been made necessarily by opportunities which have been seized to sell stocks in activance, relying upon the fear of such exports to buy them in again at a profit.

A statement of the whole body and gold situation, so far as the government is concerned, prepared by a member of the clearing house committee, shows that by securing the currency authorized in the act United States 5 per cent 10-year bonds, or 4½ per cent 15-year bonds, or 4 per cent 30-year bonds, at the option of the United States to continue the redemption of legal tender notes in coin. While, according to this statement, the effect of restoring the threatened silver dollar to the full legal tender is probably such as to authorize the redemption of legal tenders by the secretary to either gold or silver coin, nevertheless since the Sherman act of 1890 established the policy of maintaining silver and gold upon a parity by the United States it appears, the statement says, to be the duty of the secretary of the treasury to retain the redemption of legal tenders in both gold and silver coin, and so long as he authorizes the coinage of silver bullion in redemption in either gold or silver coin he appears to have power to sell United States bonds in order to obtain the gold or silver coin needed for the purpose.

ACTING GOVERNOR GILL.

All the State Treasurers of Illinois Since 1870 to Be Prosecuted.

SPRINGFIELD, Ills., Feb. 11.—Acting Governor Gill last night started the politicians of the state capital by ordering the prosecution of all the state treasurers and auditors since the adoption of the constitution of 1870 for irregularities in office in pocketing the interest on the public funds and misappropriating insurance fees and other perquisites which should have been turned into the state treasury. Twelve ex-state officials and nearly 100 bondsmen, running through a period of over 20 years, are concerned in the prosecutions ordered, and the wires are busy with messages to all portions of the state notifying the parties interested of the legal contest that is about to be begun. The acting governor, in an official communication to Attorney General Moloney, declares that $2,000,000 has been illegally acquired from the public treasury and it is virtually a call to arms to all those who for many years have vainly protested against violations of the law and demanded that the treasurers of Illinois suppliating the interest. It is understood that Mr. Gill has called into consultation some of the leading jurists of the state.

A Dominie Sued For Slander.

JERSEY CITY, Feb. 11.—Rev. Charles Preyer of Kearney was sued for slander in the district court by Councilmen Tolan and Stillwell of Kearney, each claiming $200. The alleged libel grew out of a sermon preached by Mr. Preyer Jan. 8. Mossrs. Stillwell and Tolan alleged that Mr. Preyer accused them from the pulpit of taking bribes for granting a license to a man of the name of Whelan. In his own defense Mr. Preyer testified that he made no reference to Stillwell or Tolan. He preached on the temptation of Eve, the Panama scandal and other evils, and in conclusion spoke of the case with which a license could be procured in Kearney, citing Whelan's case as an illustration. He mentioned no other name. Later in the case it transpired that neither Tolan nor Stillwell heard Mr. Preyer's sermon. Mrs. Tolan, however, was in the church. At the conclusion of the service the Rev. Mr. Preyer offered to shake hands with her, but she refused and indignantly said, "Sir, I am Mrs. Tolan, and you will hear later from my husband."

Damage From High Water.

CLEARFIELD, Pa., Feb. 11.—The residents of the lowlands along the west branch valley between Curwensville and Clearfield are threatened with a second Johnstown horror. At the former place is located a large sawmill of the Curwensville Lumber company, and they control almost all of the timber on the extensive tracts of West Branch and all that on Anderson creek, which joins the river at the mill. In order to hold the logs that are cut during the cutting season a large boom is located at the mill and extends two miles up the river. At present there are over 5,000,000 feet of logs in this boom, and on top of these logs are piled as many more of logs. The ice gorge extends a distance of six miles, and the water is overflowing the banks all along the river for a distance of 10 miles.

An Educational Move.

ALBANY, Feb. 11.—The regents have granted charters for public libraries in Oneonta, Sing Sing, Addison, Catskill, East Chatham, Baldwin, North Parma, New Rochelle, Lockport, Yonkers, Albion, Hornellsville, Nassau, Belmont and Glens Falls. The public is responding to the excellent provisions of the new library laws passed last year, and scores of other towns have begun movements which will result in charters at an early meeting of the regents.

Afraid Iron Will Wreck the Road.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 11.—The officers of the Cleveland, Akron and Columbus railway company are of the opinion from investigation that Henry S. Ives, 46 Wall street, is contemplating a raid on the road similar to the one he made on the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton road a few years ago.

BURNING OF THE INSANE

Details of the Terrible Disaster at Dover, N. H.

FORTY-ONE UNFORTUNATES PERISH.

But Four Saved—Five First Discovered in the Cell of a Woman Who Was Regarding the Blaze With Glee—A Patient Restored to Reason by the Catastrophe.

DOVER, N. H., Feb. 11.—A more sad, depressing and dreary picture than that presented on the lonely knoll of the Stratford county farm, where stood the insane retreat for the country side of Rochester and Dover, can scarcely be conceived. New Hampshire has not known in this day and generation a more appalling holocaust. The fire conveys the sad lesson patent to all that the old fashioned custom of isolating the county workhouse miles away from the town center is something which cannot be longer tolerated in this enlightened age. The Stratford insane retreat was of the ordinary wooden type common to all country poor farms of 30 years ago. It building by itself, it stood in a wide pasture, and was three and quite near though distinct from the almshouse, in which were some 100 or more pauper wards.

The inmates were located in cells, and as most in such institutions, the greater majority were chronic cases. Keeper Driscoll was making his usual rounds through the building when he smelled smoke, and his attention was attracted to the crackling of the fire on the second floor. Mary La Fontaine, a Frenchwoman from Conway Falls, who has been afflicted with melancholia, became so violent recently as to be absolutely dangerous and was locked up in a small room by herself. She had not been let out for two days. The keeper found this woman in the mad enjoyment of a blazing fire, listening every moment in energy and in its scope. How it was kindled cannot be known, for the woman had been carefully searched and was allowed neither matches nor lamp.

Fire Falls the Only Protection.

The only means of protection were fire pails set in quarters along the corridors, each bucket filled with water. There was no fire pump, and the nearest efficient apparatus was four miles off by the lonely turnpike road. Here were upward of 48 persons, a third of whom were under lock and key, at the mercy of the fire, with which this mad woman was recklessly playing.

The keeper succeeded in opening 15 cell doors before he was obliged to fly for his life and escaped by jumping from a window. The fire spread through the corridors the whole length of the building—135 feet—and the smoke enveloped the stairway.

There was no escape except by the windows, and the lunatics on the second floor soon became frenzied. They laughed and sang and shouted, while some sat stupefied in despair with scarcely a thought upon the approaching flames. The building soon became a furnace. No sooner of the pictured "Inferno" ever approached this in awe inspiring realism. The county farmhouse was burned some 12 years ago, 13 persons losing their lives, probably because the then committee recommended no consent to the expense of a night watchman.

A new building of brick was erected on the same site, and the insane department of which was the scene of the last fire, was built near by.

Criminal Negligence of the Authorities.

Some 12 years ago the legislative committee of the county visited the county commissioners to the condition of the new insane asylum as regards facilities for escape in case of a fire. The only means of reaching the upper stories from the lower was a single staircase in the center of the building, blocked in, and every night both doors of this staircase were kept locked, so the committee recommended the addition of another staircase at the rear of the building, and it is said that this was added. The fire escapes were not added to the building. There was no provision for fighting the fire, and as the building was a regular tinderbox there was no hope of saving it.

The number of dead, as near as can be ascertained, seems to have become sane since the fire. It now appears that there were 44 inmates, 8 of whom escaped. Mrs. Annie Hale of Farmington, Me., has taken charge of the remains of her mother, Mrs. Jane Roberts, and will send them to Kingwood, N. Y. There will be many anxious friends and relatives endeavoring to identify the dead, and the number of visitors at the farm, many of whom came merely from curiosity, reached nearly 3,000.

The Value of Farm Animals.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—The report of the statistician upon the average values and numbers of farm animals, based on returns for January, is nearly ready for publication. It shows the average value of horses is $61.22; mules, $70.69; cows, $21.75; other cattle, $15.24; sheep, $2.66; swine, $5.41. The increase in aggregate value as reported of all farm animals is $21,730,926—from $3,461,795,678 to $3,483,526,604. The valuation of horses aggregates $963,285,185; cattle of all kinds, $805,181,984; swine, $225,426,620; sheep, $126,903,236; mules, $164,763,281.

A Wife's Dowry Given Up.

PARIS, Feb. 11.—Joseph Reinach, son-in-law of the late Baron Reinach, has sent to M. Monchicourt, official liquidator of the Panama Canal company, the sum of $7,500 francs which he had received from his father-in-law in 1888. Reinach had received the money as a dowry for his wife, but he gave notice some time ago that he would return it if it proved to have come from Panama funds.

To Keep Out Canadian Cattle.

BUFFALO, Feb. 11.—With a view of keeping Canadian pleuropneumonia out of the United States, the secretary of the treasury has instructed collectors of customs of the northern frontier that neat cattle can only enter the United States from Canada at this place after passing the inspection prescribed by the secretary of agriculture.

Snow In Northern New York.

SYRACUSE, Feb. 11.—One of the worst snowstorms in several years is raging in the northern part of the state. The Rome, Watertown and Ogdensburg railroad is practically blockaded and traffic suspended on account of trains being stalled in the cuts north of Richland junction.

THE PITTSBURG ANARCHISTS

The Judge's Charge Favored an Acquittal of Bauer and Knold.

PITTSBURG, Feb. 11.—Henry Bauer and Carl Knold, the two anarchists convicted of conspiracy to incite a riot at Homestead, were again placed on trial as accessories before the fact to the shooting of Chairman H. C. Frick of the Carnegie company.

Berkman, who would be assassin, was the guest of Bauer and Knold during his stay in Pittsburg before the shooting, and it was Knold who directed him to the Carnegie offices. When Bauer and Knold were arrested nearly a wagon load of anarchistic literature was found at their homes. When the case was called the court room was crowded with anarchists and friends of the defendants.

Berkman, who was brought from the penitentiary, was the principal witness for the defense. He said he came from New York to kill Frick, but denied positively that either of the defendants was acquainted with his mission. The day before the shooting, he said, he sent his satchel to Chicago, but declined to tell to whom he sent it.

A number of officers were examined, who told of the arrest of the defendants and conversations with them later. After short addresses by counsel the judge charged the jury, favoring an acquittal more than a conviction. The jury retired, and, it is expected, will return a sealed verdict. On Monday Hugh O'Donnell will be placed on trial for murder.

THE $80,000 FORGERY.

Nisbett and Sturgis Plead Guilty of Forgery in the Second Degree.

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—George M. Nisbett and James Sturgis, the young men who forged a check for $80,000, withdraw their pleas of not guilty and through their counsel entered a plea of guilty of forgery in the second degree before Judge Cowing in the general sessions court. They were remanded until Thursday for sentence. It is expected that Nisbett will be punished with a long term, as it is said that he was previously in prison. Sturgis will probably be let go on a suspended sentence or be sent to the Elmira reformatory.

Nisbett was a clerk for the Royal Insurance company. Last month he forged a check for $80,000 on the Merchants' National bank. He gave the check to Sturgis, and when the latter called at the bank the cashier refused to pay so large a sum, but his assistant certified it. Sturgis took the check to Albany and attempted to place it for a deposit and collection, but became frightened and tore the check into bits and returned to New York. Nisbett confessed to being the one who suggested the transaction and exonerated Sturgis from all blame.

THE FLOOD AT TRENTON.

People Taken From Second Story Windows in Boats.

TRENTON, Feb. 11.—The ice began working its way down the river in a solid mass and holding the great body of water behind it. The water in the pumping station of the waterworks, put out the fires and stopped all work. Unless the water recedes soon the city will be greatly in need of a water supply.

The lower part of the town is now almost deserted, and the occupants of the houses are moving their furniture, fearing the houses may be swept away. In Fair street the water came upon the people so suddenly that they had to be taken from the second story windows in boats.

High Water In the Ohio.

PITTSBURG, Feb. 11.—High water is playing havoc with the travel on the railroads centering here. The Panhandle has been compelled to use the Fort Wayne tracks for two weeks, and the Allegheny Valley was again blockaded. The Tuscarawas river is the stream that has proven the obstacle to travel on the Panhandle. Two piers of the railroad bridge at New Comerstown were washed away, and the bridge was left clinging to the one remaining abutment. On the main line of the Fort Wayne the tracks are inundated at several points, and the branches are badly knocked out by the high water. The Erie, Youngstown and Ashtabula is submerged by four feet of water at Warren, O., and at Nashville, on the same road, 22 inches of water covers the track, with the river still rising. Swollen creeks prevent slow running on the part of the Pennsylvania railroad, and all trains were late today. At Wheeling the Ohio river was 30 feet and 10 feet more expected. This will do enormous damage.

Rapid Firing Guns For the Navy.

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—The dispatch vessel Dolphin has received on board two 6-inch rapid firing guns in lieu of her 6-inch rifle recently carried amidships. The two 4-inch guns are carried on the bows and in positions admitting practically of a direct ahead fire. The Dolphin is the first ship in the United States navy to be given rapid fire guns of large caliber. The Bancroft will shortly be given four 4-inch guns, and the gunboats Machias and Castine will receive guns of the same pattern. The Cincinnati and Raleigh will be likewise provided.

No Politicians Approach Mr. Cleveland.

LAKEWOOD, N. J., Feb. 11.—Mr. and Mrs. Grover Cleveland were guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Freeman at a dinner party last evening. After dinner quite a number of cottagers and hotel guests, friends of Mr. and Mrs. Freeman, called and were presented to Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland. There were no callers at the Cleveland cottage. Colonel Rice of Albany, who was a secretary to Mr. Cleveland while governor and later a private secretary to Governor Hill, is at the Lakewood hotel with his wife.

An Incendiary Indicted For Perjury.

MOUNT VERNON, N. Y., Feb. 11.—The grand jury of Westchester county, at White Plains, has indicted Thomas McKenna, the self confessed incendiary, of East Chester, N. Y., a hamlet near this place, for perjury. McKenna, it is alleged, falsely testified that Michael B. Sullivan and his wife had insured household goods for $600 to burn their house in East Chester during their absence, so that they could prove an alibi and recover the insurance money.

An Ovation to Wade Hampton.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—An event in the senate was the appearance on the floor of ex-Senator Wade Hampton of North Carolina. He came in quietly and while seated on a sofa was immediately surrounded by senators from both sides of the chamber. Vice President Morton left his place in the chair to greet him, and during the brief time he remained in the chamber his reception was an ovation.

Belknap Elected In Michigan.

IONIA, Mich., Feb. 11.—The board of county canvassers has recanvassed the returns of Ionia county, and the returns to the state board of canvassers give Belknap 4,177; Richardson, 3,998, and Clute 364. This gives Belknap 29 more votes, electing him by a plurality of 19.

SHOOTS LOADED SHELLS

Success of the Dynamite Cruiser Vesuvius.

WOULD HIT A SHIP A MILE DISTANT

Five Gunpowder Shells Fired With Remarkable Results—Four Exploded and the Other Is Doubtless Destroyed—A Revelation In Naval Warfare.

PORT ROYAL, S. C., Feb. 11.—A clear day enabled the Vesuvius to resume the tests of her pneumatic guns. A stiff southwest wind made the harbor rather lumpy in the early morning, but before the first shot was fired the breeze was no more than fresh, and the water was fairly smooth. The Wahneta came down the river at 9 o'clock in the morning and drew up alongside the Philadelphia. She was sailed by Captain Barker and in the name of the board was ordered up the harbor, with instructions to take her station a half mile to the northeast of the target. The Philadelphia's steam launch crossed over to the Hilton Head shore, taking a position abreast of the target and in line with the shore flag station, at which the theodolite parties were.

The Vesuvius got under way at 11 o'clock and in less than 30 minutes had gotten into line and fired three projectiles. Promptly at 11:10 the Vesuvius hoisted signals announcing that she was ready to fire the first shot and would aim it from the 3,000-yard buoy. The board had gone aboard the Vesuvius early in the morning and watched the day's experiments from her decks. While her signals flying the Vesuvius steamed slowly up to the 2,000-yard buoy, heading slightly to the north of the target line. A momentary pause followed while she swung slowly into position. Then the signals dropped, and instantaneously almost there followed the white cloud of compressed air indicating the firing of a shot.

Saw the Projectile Go.

The observer's eye took up the projectile before it had gone 100 yards on its flight. It sailed gracefully, making a curve of perfect symmetry. The first shot fell 50 yards short of the target, but exactly in line with the buoy which marked the 3,000-yard range. The target itself had too much stray line and had drifted 40 or 50 yards away from its station. The Vesuvius was signaled from the Wahneta that the shot had fallen short, and in 12 minutes she was ready to fire again, indicating by her flags that the same range would be kept. The Vesuvius this time crawled close up to her buoy before firing. The shot was as pretty as its predecessor and more nearly attained its target. The observers on the Wahneta signaled back to the Vesuvius that the shell fell 10 feet short.

A third shot was fired a few moments later, falling short of the target, but practically on the buoy line. An interval of an hour followed, and then the remaining two projectiles were fired. The fourth shot fell on the buoy line, but the fifth and the last shot of the day fell so close to the target that the spray thrown up by the projectile obscured the target. An instant afterward an explosion was heard, and the water behind the target was disturbed.

So far as could be seen from the Wahneta, the fifth shell was the only one that exploded, though the officers of the Vesuvius and the members of the board said that they had distinctly heard the explosion of the fourth shot.

The Mardi Gras.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 11.—The city is already filling up with carnival visitors. The season has begun, and the balls of the Argonauts, Atlantans and Knights of Momus have already taken place, while the carnival of the Pickwick club is in progress tonight. On Monday Rex will arrive and be received by the militia and city authorities. On Monday night the Knights of Proteus will parade, and the display will be the finest in the history of the organization. The Proteus ball will follow. On Tuesday there will be a day parade, headed by Rex, and at night the Mystic Krewe of Comus will furnish another gorgeous spectacle. On Sunday there will be three excursions, with fully 1,000 people from the east. The railroads did not expect the usual number of visitors this year on account of the inauguration and the fair, but are agreeably disappointed.

Natural Gas Combine.

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 11.—If the plans do not miscarry, a great natural gas combine will be formed in Indiana. The amount of money it will handle is said to be immense. The first step in the proposed consolidation of the plants at Lawton, Crawfordsville, Thorntown and Darlington. These places pipe their gas from the Sheridan field, a distance of nearly 40 miles. Should the plants at Crawfordsville and the other places be purchased, negotiations will then begin with Anderson, Muncie, Kokomo, Marion, Elwood and Alexandria and other places in the gas belt, as well as Richmond and other places to which gas is piped. The syndicate is composed of wealthy men from Chicago, New York and Boston.

Exiled From Indiana.

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 11.—George Wallace, for five years a fugitive from justice, was placed on trial in the criminal court on a charge of forgery. By agreement between the prosecuting attorney and Wallace's attorney Judge Cox released Wallace on his personal recognizance, and imposed the condition that he remain out of the state forever, but he may make visits to his family with the permission of the court. The defendant accepted exile rather than imprisonment.

The Duke of York's Betrothal.

LONDON, Feb. 11.—Trustworthy advices from Copenhagen state that the betrothal of the Duke of York and Princess May of Teck will be announced formally today at a large dinner to be given them by the queen at Marlborough house. The dinner given by the Prince of Wales on Wednesday evening to Mr. Gladstone and the other ministers is believed to have been the official prelude of the announcement.

New Jersey Y. M. C. A. Officers.

CAMDEN, N. J., Feb. 11.—At the 26th annual state convention of the Young Men's Christian association these officers were elected: President, William D. Murray of Plainfield; vice presidents, Dr. Wayland Ayre of Camden and John W. Nicely of Princeton college; secretaries, J. A. Sanford of Mont Clair and L. A. Rose of Pennington.

Arkansas Bank President Arrested.

LITTLE ROCK, Feb. 11.—H. G. Allis, late president of the First National bank, was arrested on the order of Attorney General Miller for his actions while at the head of that institution.

DUSS IS NOT FRIGHTENED.

Two Suits to Be Brought Against the Society of Economists.

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., Feb. 11.—The filing of the bill in equity proceedings began against Trustee Duss of the Harmony society has created a commotion here, where so many of the important interests of the society are located. A number of the leading lawyers of this county who are conversant with the facts of the real situation have expressed themselves as skeptical of the struggle of the complainants' case. Many of the leading business men here take little stock in the proposed proceeding at law. They are inclined to believe it a move instituted by a few malcontents, who seek in this way to get a chance at the money by a short cut instead of the indirect and remote results that would be involved in the ordinary course of events. On the other hand, there are shrewd and well informed persons who believe the complaint is founded on fact.

Duss himself, who has been in ill health for some time, is not at all disturbed, or at least he does not appear to be over the opportunity developed to make a showing of the real status of the society's affairs. He says, without any suggestion of defiance or bravado, that he is fully prepared by indisputable evidence to the shape of proved books and figures to answer every charge in the bill. The weight of popular opinion hereabout is that the bill will effect nothing the plaintiffs desire.

A Pittsburg dispatch says the commonwealth of Pennsylvania has entered the legal battle for the possession of the immense wealth of the Economite society, based on established precedent of eminent legal authority, and an act of assembly forbidding the conduct of societies where principles are at variance with public sentiment and against the spirit of the constitution.

Mailed U. A. R. Orders.

ROCKLAND, Me., Feb. 11.—The state department, G. A. R., elected the following officers: Department commander, Wainwright Cushing of Foxcroft; senior vice commander, Timothy B. Elliott of Biddeford; junior vice commander, Henry O. Pierce of Monmouth.

Attacked by Union Men.

WHEELING, Feb. 11.—A mob of 200 people attacked a street car on the south side, manned by nonunion men. The conductor and motorman were badly beaten, and the former, whose real name is not known, will probably die. There is great excitement.

Superintendent Cook Asked to Resign.

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., Feb. 11.—The board of supervisors has demanded Ira S. Cook, superintendent of the poor, to return to the county $2,500 alleged shortage and resign.

CORPORATION NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that the following Ordinance has been introduced before the Common Council, read the second time and ordered engrossed preparatory to its third reading, and that it is the intention of the Council to adopt the same.

P. W. RUNYON, City Clerk.

GOOD HEALTH

THE MICROBE OF MALARIA.

Opinions About the Existence of Malaria as a Distinct Disease.

An active discussion of the subject of malaria, instituted by the London Lancet, has brought out the following conclusions:

Recent bacteriological research seems certainly to point to a micro-organism, a polymorphic haematozoon, being concerned in the production of malaria in most parts of the world. "At any rate, the researches of Laveran in France, of Marchiafava, Celli and Camillo Golgo in Italy, of Vandyke Carter and Hehir in India and Councilman and Osler in America all result in a common agreement that such is the case, and the examination of the blood of a few patients who have returned from various parts of Africa also points to the same haematozoon being at work in that country.

On the other hand, Popular Science News thinks it will not do to ignore the fact that there are observers, and observers of no mean order, who in India, in America and in Africa deny even that malaria exists as a disease sui generis, and who maintain that the phenomena witnessed in, for instance, intermittent fever are due either to errors of personal hygiene or to the action of "chill."

Malignant Growths.

The great point to attend to in estimating the probability of recurrence of malignant tumors is, according to Dr. Mollere of Lyons, the age of the patient. If he be young, the disease is so certain to return that it is doubtful if it is worth while to operate. After 30 there is a fair chance that recurrence may not take place; after 70 it is almost certain that the patient will remain free from the disease.

Dr. Verneuil of Paris has said that after the excision of malignant growths, while the morbid process is in abeyance, a profound course of alkaline medication should be adopted, such as may be obtained by the use of vichy water, magnesia, etc., together with acetic, with a view to neutralizing the gouty diathesis, which he believes to be the predisposing cause of cancer.

Wrinkles and Impure Air.

Some one writing on the subject of wrinkles advances the inconvenient theory that "the air in our rooms should be changed three times every hour. The skin owes its beauty to the nerves which control the fine invisible blood vessels of the surface, whose work lends glow and transparence to the face. The nerves, in turn, owe their sensitiveness to the air, which is our chief nutriment inhaled by gallons hourly, and which should be pure and invigorating. When the nerves are deadened by close air, the fine muscles lose their tone; the tissue of the face shrinks, and these shrinkages become wrinkles. A week's watching may write the face over with fine lines, and a week of rest will restore lost tissue, fat and fluids to fill the spaces and smooth the face again."

The Digestibility of Cheese.

In regard to the very generally accepted theory that cheese has the faculty of digesting any article that has been eaten before it, a physician is quoted as having said recently "Cheese is really about the hardest thing to digest that a man can swallow. The lightest kinds take four or five hours to digest, while the heavier varieties take eight and even 10 hours. Instead, then, of expediting the process and preventing indigestion, cheese gives the stomach exceptionally hard work to perform and is responsible for a large amount of discomfort and bad temper."

NEWEST RIDING HABITS.

The Jacket Bodice Made Very Long and Worn Over a Neat Fitting Waistband.

The considerable change that has taken place in riding habits is here illustrated. The habit of the young lady on horseback displays the close fitting back, which falls to the saddle, and in front is cut as made either single or double breasted. In either case it is worn over a neat horse cloth waistcoat, which opens to show a collar and tie.

NEW HABIT COAT.

A hunting coat affected by English ladies fits the figure, although it is cut with only three seams—the center back seam and one under each arm, and there are no seams in front. The fronts fall over the knees, to which point it is buttoned, and the falling over front affords great protection in wet weather. The collar will turn up and fasten around the neck, and often the sleeves are made with a piece to turn over the hands when wished. This long coat, reaching to the top of the boots, is sometimes worn without a skirt over leggings or with a short skirt.

Another useful and warm riding coat is the melton, which is long enough to cover the saddle at the back. The coat is not close fitting, hanging quite straight in front and falling open from the waist. There are three seams—center, back and under arms. It can easily be slipped on over the habit.

Another style of riding habit has a long, semifitting, single breasted coat, with strapped seams and pockets in the skirt set in on the slant. It is a very stern garment and shows no waistcoat.

Fashions in Jewelry.

Elsie Bee notes the following in the Jewelers' Circular:

Bells set in brilliants are the fashionable bangle.

A ruby like a drop of blood in a heart shaped locket is regarded with sentiment.

In marquises rings colored stones and pearls separated by and surrounded with white diamonds are among the handsomest rings shown.

The greatest number of stickpins were small diamonds representing bugs, animals, beasts, lacequins, clowns' heads and Punch and Judy are in the market.

Grandmother baskets of crystal are now highly prized. If they are heirlooms, so much the better. These are handsomely shaped and used to contain a photograph, a lock of hair or perhaps pressed flowers.

The most beautiful jewelry shown includes colored stones. Colored diamonds are mixed with diamonds. A round brooch will have a yellow diamond in the center and the outer rows of white diamonds guaranteed with yellow diamonds.

A change in trinkets is going on. Colored stones that used to be considered of secondary value, such as yellow topazes, chrysoprase, aquamarines, amethysts, garnets and chrysolites are now having their day. Opals in the rough have sprung into favor.

Bouquet For an Empire Costume.

The illustration shows an empire bouquet just brought out. It is not more than a third the size of the ordinary bouquet and is composed of a handful of flowers and their own leaves tied with a broad silk ribbon

Of two bouquets in this form, one was made of scarlet poinsettias tied with ribbon of the same color, and one of cream roses tied with pink ribbon.

Two Picturesque Gowns.

One of these was an empire dress of white flowered brocade, with a long white satin sash fringed with iridescent beads. The upper part of the bodice was of moss green velvet, with a bow of the same material at one side in which was fastened a bunch of blush pink roses. The shoulders were trimmed with wired lace arranged somewhat in the form of butterflies. The other gown—a dance dress—was of white accordion plaited crepe du chine, with a fancy black border round the bottom of the skirt. The bodice of this was very ornate. It had a sash of black velvet richly embroidered in gold and a set of collar almost as deep as a yoke of the same material, but still more elaborately embroidered.

GROWING PLANTS.

A Cheerful and Charming Adjunct to the Home Atmosphere.

Growing plants, especially those of brilliant foliage, are the most effective adjuncts toward completing the pleasantness of a room or enhancing its charm. It is not only their intrinsic beauty, but the actual life in them that seems to change the whole atmosphere of a house, where they have not only their accustomed place, but daily loving attention. It is so easy to keep them fresh, so pleasant to watch them putting forth new shoots in spite of dreary, dismal weather, as a grateful return for the few moments we bestow upon them. Flowering plants are of course desirable when they can be obtained, though as a rule their blossoms are more easily affected by the combined adverse forces of fire, dust and artificial light.

A hardy foliage plant, seasoned with that object in view, should last almost through the winter. These are placed in handsome jars or artistically designed baskets of wickerwork, on the high handles of which, often more than six, large bows of rich shaded ribbon reigns supreme and is chosen to suit its immediate surroundings.

In the disposition of the furniture the plants must have a thought, the skillful arrangements of screens and portieres plants can be saved from such a constant draft as would, for instance, be produced by their proximity to a door, nor must they be too near the fire. Attention to such apparent trifles goes very far toward the longer preservation of our favorites.

Knitted Cape In Two Colors.

KNITTED CAPE.

This cape is composed of wools in two colors, such as cream and pink for evening and cream and black for day wear. One of these colors is supposed to represent the lining, the other the outside, eight ounces of wool of each color being required. With No. 8 needles cast on 80 stitches. Begin with the darker wool, knit 8 rows alternately plain and purl, so that these 8 rows are quite smooth; then join the other wool, and beginning with a purl row still knit purl and plain for another 8 rows, and make this 8 rows purl. Knit in all 77 ribs—39 of one color, 38 of the other—as in a ribbed sock. Toe begin and end with the outside color. It is untidy to break off the wool for every stitch or rib, and therefore carry the other ball on by knitting in with first stitches when feasible.

Having finished all the aforesaid number of ribs, cast off 4 stitches, then drop the next stitch in a somewhat promiscuous manner, cast off 2 more, drop another, cast off 2 more, and so on until when in 11 stitches of the end. Simply cast these off. Now take the work lightly in your hands and slipall the dropped stitches right to the other end—or, in other words, to the first row—thus making the promiscuously dropped stitches into a pretty design. The next point to be considered is how to make a neck.

Plait the band of 8 stitches into the required size for a collar, letting the lighter and purled rib fall inside and pay attention to the graceful setting of the outside rib, and when the band has been carefully plaited you will observe that a good foundation for the collar has now been made, on which appears in the stitches a handsome ruching. This can be made three Cast on 9 stitches, knitting the first row plain; then wind the wool 3 times round your first and second fingers, knitting the loops into 3 stitch and so on at the end of 3 in that row, and with a plain row in between continue in this manner until a sufficient length for the collar alone has been completed. This, after being firmly sewn on with wool, may be lined with satin the same color as that inside. The ruching round the cape is made in like manner, with, however, only 3 cast on stitches, and may likewise be lined after the ruching has been sewn on to the cape. All the ruching should be of the opposite color and may, if you fancy it, have all the loops clipped, thus giving the effect of fur.

Old Fashioned Buckwheat Cakes.

The old fashioned rule for buckwheat cakes is undoubtedly the best, and, according to the New York Tribune, it calls for one quart of buckwheat flour, one cupful of Indian meal, an even tablespoonful of salt, a half cake of compressed yeast, 2 cupfuls of water and 2 cupfuls of milk, mixed together and added when luke-warm. These cakes must be mixed up over night and left to rise till morning. In the morning they should have risen and fallen back. This condition of the batter may be told by inspecting the sides of the dish, where the mark to which the batter has risen will be found.

This would not be a desirable state of things in the case of any other batter, as it would indicate that it was sour, but the slight acidity which would exist in a properly raised buckwheat batter, if it were not corrected by soda, is completely done away with when an even teaspoonful of soda, stirred in half a cupful of lukewarm milk, is put in in the morning, just before the cakes are baked. When the soda is added, the cakes should foam up like yeast. By the process given the cakes will be very tender and a rich brown. This is caused by the use of milk.

Orange and Tapioca Jelly.

Soak 6 tablespoonfuls of tapioca for three hours in 3 cupfuls of salted water, and let it boil faster and fast, adding 4 teaspoonfuls of sugar and a little boiling water if too thick. When like custard, add the juice of 7 oranges. Cover the bottom of the dish with sliced oranges, and when the jelly is cool pour it over the fruit.

THE VISITING CARD.

Proper Inscription and Social Usages of This Convenient Bit of Paper.

The social usages of the card are many—in fact, society recognizes the importance of the card in every civilized country. This tiny piece of paper has a strong hold on the public and private life of every man and woman, and it is one of the great factors in the world of fashion. Mrs. Oliver Bell Bunce, in her little handbook on "What to Do," gives the following advice to those who would have the card "en regle:"

Visiting cards should be engraved in a plain, neat script. For ladies' use they should be of medium size, the color white, the address of the residence on the right hand corner at the bottom of the card and the reception day in the left hand corner.

Gentlemen's visiting cards are comparatively small and narrow, and the name printed in full is now greatly in vogue. If there are three names, each is given—for instance, John C. Smith becomes John Cotton Smith. According to the best usage, a gentleman's name is prefixed with Mr. (with exceptions mentioned hereafter). Bachelors can have the name of their clubs on their cards in the left hand corner. This is more convenient for many men who have their letters addressed to their clubs instead of their residences.

A lady's card should be engraved and the name prefixed with Mrs. or Miss. A lady's visiting card should under no circumstances refer to her husband's profession. Mrs. Dr. Smith, Mrs. Colonel Brooks or Mrs. Judge Beach is in bad form.

Officers of the army and navy prefix their title—as, Captain Charles Trost, United States army; Lieutenant James Wood, United States navy. Clergymen use the prefix Rev.; medical men, Dr., or they may append M. D. The legal profession has no special designation. Courtesy titles are sometimes used, as Hon., and in the case of members of congress M. C., but it is in better form not to do this.

A very young lady just entering society should have her name engraved on the same card with her mother's.

A widow after her period of retirement may have her cards engraved as "Mrs. Julia Robinson," instead of "Mrs. William Robinson," if preferred. In all legal business she should use her Christian name, but on her visiting card she may with propriety retain her husband's name, as it will give dignity to her position.

The oldest married lady member in a family should by right of precedence be addressed as "Mrs. Carroll" instead of "Mrs. Thomas Carroll," the younger married members of the family retaining their husband's Christian name.

Cards or notes should be sent early in the season by post, whenever residences are changed, with business and day of receiving, as a strict observance of social etiquette is necessary in matters of this kind. Changes and new directions in large cities prevent any continuance of acquaintance unless cards are moved with one's address.

She Took the Contract.

When the tramp came around the corner of the kitchen, he observed a pile of snow in front of the door, but as it was not large he thought a breakfast might be worth it, and so he knocked, and a woman responded.

"Can I get a bite of breakfast, ma'am?" he said very humbly.

"There's a pile of snow there," said the woman significantly.

"I know that, ma'am. It is a small back yard indeed these days that don't have a pile of snow in it."

"Well, I don't want this yard to have one," she remarked.

He knew he had said the wrong thing then and made no effort to escape.

"It might be moved, ma'am," he suggested.

"Of course it might. If you want your breakfast you'll move that pile first."

He did want his breakfast, and he tackled the pile, and the woman went back into the warm kitchen. The pile was icy and hard, and after five minutes of unequal struggle with it he knocked at the door.

"Well, what is it?" she asked. "Got the snow away already?"

"Madam," he replied with severity, "that ain't snow; it's ice, frozen solid and stuck to the ground. It'll take me at least a week to get it moved, and I'll be bound to move it, else I have said I would, but I want to know before I commence if a Christian woman like you are to gain to let me work here for seven days for the grub as much as a breakfast to stay my stomach?"

He got his breakfast, and the snow pile isn't any smaller.—Detroit Free Press.

EARLY MORNING FIRE.

A BRICK BUILDING ON SOMERSET STREET GUTTED.

The Firemen's Quick Work.—The Building was Occupied as a Pool Room, Tailoring Establishment and Colored Meeting Room.

The three-story brick building, No. 13 Somerset street, (two doors from THE NEWS office), was gutted by fire early yesterday morning.

The first floor of the building was occupied by George Albert as a tobacco store and pool room. In the second story was Mantz Bros'. tailoring establishment, and the upper floor was used as a meeting room by colored people under the leadership of the Rev. Mr. Mitchell.

The fire was discovered by Policeman Kiely who sent in an alarm from box 12 at twenty minutes past two.

Gazelle Engine Co. No. 1, Plainfield and Engine Co. No. 2, Alert Hose Co., and Zephyr Hook and Ladder Co. responded. The engines were not used, as water was taken from the hydrants. One stream was procured from the hydrant at the corner of Park avenue and Front street and two more from the hydrant in front of Cowperthwait's carriage factory.

It was one of the hardest fires to fight that the firemen have had to contend with for a long time. It started in the pool room underneath the stairs, and when the firemen arrived the flames had eaten through the stairs and roared up the stairway to the top of the building. The beams were on fire between the ceiling and floor above. All the ladders were brought into play and the firemen climbed to the second and third stories, where they broke into the windows and so got at the flames.

The ceiling of the top story was of tarred paper and the instant the flames reached this they shot from one end to the other.

The flames got between the ceiling and floor, and necessitated considerable chopping with axes to get at the fire, but the firemen went at it with a will, and although nearly suffocated with the dense volumes of smoke, which belched forth as soon as they made an opening, succeeded in extinguishing the flames. One hour after the alarm was given the fire was out. This speaks well for the efficiency of the firemen.

The cause of the fire is supposed to have been either a lighted cigar or cigarette butt, as it started under the stairs, near a card table, around which men had been smoking and playing cards the night before. One of them might have carelessly thrown a lighted cigar or cigarette butt there, which smouldered, and finally ignited some kindling wood that was piled there. The store was on the opposite side of the room.

The building is owned by Mr. John J. Heidelhof. He estimates his loss at $1,500; insurance 1,500.

Mr. Albert, the proprietor of the pool room, places his loss at $600; insurance 400.

Mantz Bros. are unable to estimate their loss as they have not had an opportunity to ascertain the damage to their goods.

BREVITIES

—The Lenten season begins on the 15th inst.

—The fourth assembly will be danced at the Casino to-night.

—The First National Bank of Westfield will be opened next Wednesday.

—Are you interested in scientific experiments? If so, read Caleb Dickinson's advertisement in THE NEWS.

—There was no school in the Stillman and Franklin buildings to-day. The Stillman was unable to get steam up, owing to a slight accident to the boiler.

—Why don't the Water Company stop that leak on Somerset street? It is a nuisance. Several complaints have been made, but it still continues to flood the streets.

—The snow-choked gutters were inadequate to carry off the water from the streets to-day, and the continual down pour of rain made several of the crosswalks ankle deep with water and slush.

—Mr. S. R. Bacon of Westfield will hereafter represent Messrs. Fulper & Bingham, the proprietors of the United Tea and Coffee Growers' Association, in the Westfield, Garwood and Cranford routes.

—The attendance at the Church of the Holy Cross yesterday afternoon to hear the special Lenten music was so large that many chairs had to be called into requisition and many had to stand during the service.

—Thomas Shelly of Fanwood, who, as mentioned in THE NEWS several days ago, went to an undertaker's in this city, and, representing that his child was dead, ordered a $6 casket, pleaded guilty Friday and was sentenced to the county jail for three months.

—The illustrated sermons by Rev. Dr. Hurlbut in the Methodist church are attracting large audiences. Dr. Hurlbut has traveled in much of the country he describes, and is therefore able to make his subjects unusually interesting with the aid of the stereopticon.

—St. Valentine's Day and Shrove Tuesday this Year coincide, which is something to be observed, as it has not happened before since 1820. The date of Shrove Tuesday, like all the movable feasts and fasts, depends upon Easter. When Easter falls on April 24, as it does this year, this coincidencemust necessarily happen.

—A man, who is said to be an impostor, has been working the Union County towns, by going from door to door with requests for contributions saying he wants to send his blind brother to Yonkers for treatment. His story is that he is just from England and has a poor mother and blind brother who live on Plainfield avenue, this city.

"THE IDEAL WOMAN."

THE SUBJECT OF A SERMON BY THE REV. J. W. RICHARDSON.

"Love of God," he Says, "is the Magnaisne of Power Back of all the Virtues in True Womanhood.—This is the Mainspring of Character."

OMAN—the Characteristics of an Ideal Woman—was the subject of an earnest and interesting sermon by the Rev. J. W. Richardson at the Park avenue Baptist church last night.

The spacious auditorium of the church was filled by a very attentive congregation. The text was Proverbs 31:30.

The following is a synopsis of the sermon: "Love of God is the magazine of power back of all the virtues in true womanhood. This is the mainspring of character, which produces a womanly independence of false customs. There has been something in public sentiment which implied that if a young woman was employed in some commercial vocation she was a menial not capable of entering refined society. The time was when only those who could play a piano and chatter in two or three French were called ladies. Practical industriousness, that which adds to the worth of the young man, was supposed to detract from feminine dignity and loveliness. But that false conception is passing away. The unreasonable idea that a young woman employed in office or store cannot be a real lady should be assisted out of our civilization on the double quick. Refined young women should have enough independence of character to have true worth, though it walks in dollar shoes and lives in a tenement. Let independence of thought, and chaste manners, and a pure life be the mark of a true lady, and make her eligible to your respect. It is a duty which every young woman owes her Creator, that she shall so cultivate her character, and augment the power of her influence, that from her very life God shall derive glory. Young women should not have any artificial estimate of their importance in society. We live in a real world, and a young woman is valuable, and a blessing to those about her, only as she gives them out of her life something substantial and inspiring. The times are demanding clear brains and throbbing hearts—not parlor ornaments. How much importance to society and how high is that ideal which consists in reading novels and dragging a little dog around the street by a string?

"The ideal woman has a reverence for personal purity. A very large section of society, those whose opinions and characters entitle them to the rank of ladies and gentlemen, demand modesty and purity in a young woman. There is not anything so pitiable as a pert, forward, conceited young woman who exhibits an unbecoming familiarity in the presence of young men. It is an axiom that in proportion to the weakness of the principles of purity will there be a lack of modesty. Modesty does not make a recluse of virtue. Modesty is a disposition in action, and which leads a young woman to resolutely will to keep her soul and body pure. Young women may mingle with those about them in parlor, office, and store, and yet increase that dignity of virtue which repels anything that verges on boldness and indecency. O young women! Suffer social ostracism rather than stain the white of a pure womanhood. Avoid any reading, any conversation, any association that will draw black lines on the pure snow. Much of the current literature is too trashy for a clean mind! Much of society gossip is flavored with the suggestive and impure! Many of the customs and costumes of modern society are awfully compromising! But the ideal woman is brave enough to defy any custom or costume that would compromise womanhood. One young lady said to another, 'why did you not take my brother's arm last night?' And the second lady, in reply frankly replied, 'Because I knew him to be a licentious man.' And the first with a sneer, responded 'Pooh! if a man undertake to refuse the attentions of all licentious men, you will soon refuse all our attentions at all.' And with the color rushing through her cheeks, and a bright sparkle in her eye, the lady left her rather plain face looked majestic, she replied, 'Then I will good without the attentions.'

"God bless her! She is an ideal woman! In society society is yearning for a host of true women like her—who will rise to the tall stature of a true womanhood. Only virtue commands respect, and thus purse the parlor and public hall of the presence of immoral men."

Rector Jennings will Still Hold the Fort.

Rector Jennings, of Grace church, at Westfield, announced yesterday that he would hold the fort in spite of Bishop Scarborough's order removing him Feb. 15th. Eighteen persons attended service in the morning besides the choir of sixteen voices. Mr. Jennings said that next Sunday evening the four Episcopal clergymen and Dean Rodman, of this city, would be present. He referred in his sermon to his troubles and said he knew all would come out right for him.

An Old Fortune Teller Dead.

Charlotte Roules Charlier, a French fortune teller, died on Friday at Roselle. She was seventy-six years of age. Mme Charlier was a widow. She had lived in Union county for the past thirty-seven years. The fortune teller was a distant relative of Cardinal Taschereau of Montreal. Her estate is estimated at $60,000.

A GREAT GRANDFATHER

CELEBRATES HIS EIGHTY-FOURTH BIRTHDAY ANNIVERSARY.

Mr. William C. Ayers, of West Second Street, who has Lived Here Since 1823, and Sees the Locality Grow from 300 to Nearly 18,000.

Yesterday was the eighty-fourth birthday anniversary of Mr. William C. Ayers of 23 West Second street. He was married in 1838, his wife dying in 1875. He married his present wife—a most estimable woman—in August 1876.

He has four children: Mr. David D. Ayers of Kansas, Dr. Samuel Ayers and Mrs. Lydia Atkinson of New York, and Mrs. Sarah Robinson of Peace street, this city.

There are eight grand-children, four (two boys and two girls) belonging to David, two (one son and one daughter) to Mrs. Atkinson, and two (one son and one daughter) to Mrs. Robinson. There is one great-grand-child, Fred Atkinson, a young man, of Brooklyn. The children, excepting David, and two of the grand-children, met at the family home yesterday to celebrate the birthday anniversary.

When the supper bell rang, Mr. Ayers, leaning on one cutting, started with the others for the dining room, and was astonished and pleased to see it lit up with eighty-four wax candles, one for each year of his life. About his place at the table were numerous mementoes of the past, gifts from his kindred, including gifts from a niece in Illinois. There was general rejoicing in that family for the remainder of the evening, and when the time for retiring came the guests all wished happy old great grandfather Ayers many more returns of the day.

Mr. Ayers was born at Liberty Corner, Somerset county, Feb. 19, 1809.

He located in Plainfield in 1823, and in 1826 built his present home, where he has resided ever since, continuously a period of nearly sixty years. He remodeled the house in 1876.

He has seen opened and improved every street in Plainfield excepting Madison avenue, Prospect street, Watchung (now Broadway, William street (now Plainfield avenue) and Mountain Road, (now called Somerset street.)

In 1823 Great Grandfather Ayers could tell every family there was in the town, the whole population numbering about three hundred souls, and the only one of that number now living who was married at that time is Mrs. Warden of Somerset street, who is ninety three years old, and was bustling along the sidewalk this morning, regardless of the snow storm and blizzard.

DAVID. Tilsworth, for many years President of the First National Bank of this city, was married at that time, and a resident, but he has since become a resident of Dunellen.

Mr. Ayers is a member of the First Baptist church, in this city, joining it in 1823, by letter from the First Baptist church at Samptown.

The First Baptist church then had about two hundred members. Of that number there is only one other besides Mr. Ayers known to be living, Mrs. Stead, wife of Deacon Thomas Stead, and now residing in Washington Valley. She occasionally comes down from the mountain to attend her church here, although she is ninety-one years old.

She is the mother of the wife of farmer Aaron Allen, with whom she lives.

Mr. Ayers was again in 1840 Mr. Ayers voted for William H. Harrison for President, and voted for the grandson, Benjamin, in 1888, and again in 1892.

In 1822 Mr. Ayers indentured to Anson Thorne, of New Market, to serve a seven years' apprenticeship at the carpenter's trade. He served it faithfully, the time expiring six months before he became twenty-one years old. He remembers Mr. Thorne as a good man. When the time expired he took indenture papers certified to that the service had been mutually satisfactory. Mr. Martin, the notary, signed in addition that he knew Mr. Ayers for seven years, and could vouch for his honesty and integrity.

Plainfield, he says, began to grow in 1826, but had a terrible set back in 1827, on account of the shinplaster fever, by which the country was flooded, and the hard times generally.

The Jersey City and Jersey Central railroad was built, and in 1840 the town again began a steady growth, which has continued since.

In 1841 Dr. Stillman located here, and being of an investigating turn of mind, looked into the water, which he found of such remarkable purity, that he had the analysis published in the Plainfield Union, the only paper here then. The fame of the locality, in consequence of Journalistic Education.

EDITORIAL NOTES

De Blowitz, the London Times correspondent, wants a school for educating young journalists. There is a great amount of bosh in the De Blowitz plan, which requires the young aspirant to spend eight years in learning how to run to a fire or interview a distinguished man. Some of the ideas are excellent, however, and among the best are the requirements that the young journalist shall understand at least two languages other than his own, and that he shall know how to draw both a landscape and the human figure. A better thing yet, which De Blowitz, with his poky, old fashioned methods, has forgotten, is that the aspirant shall be a thoroughly good photographer. Then even if he does not know how to draw he can take a snap shot at anything on earth or in the sky and bring down a picture that an artist can readily make into a newspaper illustration.

Another excellent requirement in the De Blowitz plan is that the journalist shall make himself acquainted with the political constitution and history of all nations; that he shall learn of the "means of communication, the armed forces, the budgets and the public debts of every nation." But De Blowitz leaves out the most important qualification of all, the lack of which is bringing journalism of of this day more and more into disrepute. That requirement is common honesty, the conscience which will not tell a lie to the public which trusts the newspaper. "Never fake a news story."

There is yet one other small matter which De Blowitz does not mention, and that is the use of good grammar. If he himself had been properly drilled in this little branch of learning, he would have known better than to write, "He would be given the documents." He would have said instead, "The documents would be given to him."

For Public Speakers.

Mr. A. P. Burbank, writing in Godey's magazine on the subject of reading aloud and public speaking, says that the basic principle of success is sincerity—always sincerity. Affectations, self consciousness, conventionality, are so many obstacles in the way of the perfect reader, and they must be got rid of. "Printed words are only the pigments with which we produce word pictures."

Other public speakers than preachers may also learn much from this paragraph:

Have you never had a clerical friend, a boon companion, jolly good fellow, who, after dinner on a Saturday night, in the library or smoking room, was the center of conversation, the merriest man of the company, and who, if you got him over the latest joke or story his eye lights up, his face beams; voice, hands, body, features, all seem unconsciously to lend their aid to the interpretation. Delsarte could at this moment teach him nothing. The climax reached, the story told, the comedian quitted the power of his effort, or it may be that in a tender and reflective mood he unfolds some touching tale of sad experience among his flock, to the picturesque and pathetic strength of which the sympathetic murmurs and moistened lids of his hearers are the testimony.

"But, oh, what a difference in the morning." With jaunty step and sidelong air he mounts the pulpit, drones out a hymn, which the author meant for a glad paean of joy, as if it were a funeral dirge, then with hard, dry voice and stiff manner delivers his sermon for the day, the last words of which are greeted with a deep, if concealed, satisfaction. Why should this be so? It cannot be that the preacher is indifferent; that he does not believe the truth message that he is so badly giving. Where is the animation, the enthusiasm, the desire to please of a few hours before? All sacrificed to a stupid conventionality which greater, perhaps more devout, men nobly and properly set aside. Let it be understood that the first, the great, the all important thing is to tell the story.

Health on the Congo.

It has been observed that among the white men who have invaded the Congo region in Africa the death rate is not more than half so great as it was six years ago. Draining the swamps, clearing up the forests and importing the white man's physicians and medicines, with sanitary supervision, have produced the change. It is the same story that is told in the settlement of every new country. Within the memory of persons not yet old a trip down the Mississippi was attended often with real danger to life from the "chills" and "breakbone" fever so commonly known along the marshy banks of the great river a generation ago. There were places where the experiences of Mark Tapley and Martin Chuzzlewit would really not have appeared greatly overdrawn.

Yet who hears much about these terrible fevers now? The "malaria" of today is an ailment quite different from the ague that once haunted all the low lying region of the Mississippi and its tributaries. Drainage, cultivation, clearing up the forests and observing sanitary laws produced the change, just as it did in the great marshes outside of Rome, just as it will do in Central America and in Africa. It is part of civilized man's conquest over nature. The children are living today who will see magnificent civilized states along the Congo.

The Neue Freie Presse of Vienna expresses the sage opinion that the Irish home rule bill is the first step toward the Americanization of the whole British constitution. Dear, dear, how dreadful! But a much greater step toward the Americanization of the British constitution is the bill which will give local self government to the counties and extend it still further in the cities.

The present British ministry will try to give home rule to both Ireland and London.

THE HAWAII SITUATION.

President Harrison's Message Will Be Ready Wednesday.

THE COMPLICATIONS OF THE CASE.

Forecast of the Congressional Work Previous to the Adjournment—The Bond Question—Preparations for Mr. Cleveland's Inaugural Going Merrily On.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—But 16 working days remain in the 52d congress. Only one of the annual appropriation bills—the army bill—has become a law, and from this time until March 4 both houses of congress will bend every energy to the completion of the remainder of these important measures. For this reason it is uncertain whether the senate will be able to carry out the programme of legislation, short as it is, arranged by the Republican caucus. The Nicaragua canal bill is the unfinished business, but as it promises to provoke a long debate, it must from time to time give way to the appropriation bills and conference reports. Next to the Nicaragua bill on the caucus programme is the omnibus statehood bill. Senator Carey, who is in charge of the bill, does not propose to lose any opportunity to advance it, and whenever recourse is had to the calendar, on which the bill now occupies a favorable position, he will endeavor to press the measure without waiting for action on the Nicaragua bill.

The Question of Bonds.

It is possible that the senate may be plunged into a financial discussion any day in the week should Mr. Sherman call up the amendment to one of the appropriation bills, of which he has given notice, authorizing the secretary of the treasury to sell bonds to maintain specie payments under the resumption act.

Now that the silver question is definitely shelved for this congress, the leaders in the house do not see anything should intervene now and March 4 to cause trouble except the appropriation bills and the antioption bill. It is purposed to keep the house continuously on the appropriation bills, with but little intermission, until the last one of them is sent over to the senate. Those still remaining before the house are the pension (now under consideration), the postoffice, the Indian, the agricultural and the naval bills. Monday is District of Columbia day, and as the district lost its day two weeks ago it will doubtless be conceded the floor.

The remainder of the week will be occupied mostly with the several appropriation bills, though there is some prospect that a special order may be brought in on behalf of the New York and New Jersey bridge bill, for which measure a cloture petition has been presented to the rules committee.

Preparing For the Inauguration.

The work of the committees having charge of the ceremonies incident to the inauguration of President-elect Cleveland is progressing satisfactorily. General McMahan and Colonel Sanderson, in supervision of the arrangements of the parade, are daily receiving applications from military organizations all over the United States for positions in the line, and already 100 civic organizations (including Tammany) have thus far reported a probable strength of over 17,000 men to form in line on March 5.

The governors of the following named states have notified the committees that they will be represented by the commanders of their respective staffs and in many instances by independent military companies: Delaware, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Connecticut, Georgia, Massachusetts, Maryland, North Carolina, South Carolina, Virginia, Ohio, Louisiana and Wisconsin. Pennsylvania will send its full national guard of 8,000 men. New York will send its crack organizations—the Seventh and Sixty-ninth regiments—and probably Company A of the Thirteenth regiment, Brooklyn.

The Hawaiian Commission.

The Hawaiian annexation commissioners and Secretary of State Foster have made substantial progress toward an agreement upon a basis for bringing the islands within the territory of the United States. It is believed that most if not all the points under consideration were incorporated in the text of the protocols. These points are more numerous and perplexing than might be imagined at first, and they present several questions which have never before been considered even in the history of this country. Hawaii has a full fledged government in existence, and the disposition of the several branches thereof, with their attendant infinite ramifications into the life and business of the country, is a problem that requires patience and research for its solving.

The revenues of the country are derived from various sources. There are the customs dues, postal revenues, the tax on real estate and personal property (the levy amounting to 1 per cent on the assessed valuation, without distinction to class) fees for dealers' licenses, rents of government land and of the wharf and dock privileges of the several ports. These comprise the principal items.

Two Methods of Annexation.

How to divide them between the general government and the local government is a difficult question. In case the annexation of the islands be recommended by the executive, the method of accomplishing it remains to be decided. The question has been discussed by some most interested, and it is understood that only two modes of procedure are deemed feasible. One is by treaty, which, of course, may be ratified; the other is by ordinary act of congress, requiring joint action of the senate and house. It is believed that the former method will be adopted, if favorable action upon the proposition of the Hawaiian commissioners be determined on.

To make the treaty effective, of course the house would have to appropriate the necessary money, so that while the ratification of a treaty of annexation by the present senate is a possibility, the execution of the terms of treaty will be a heritage for the next congress and administration.

The president has no intention of leaving this matter for the next administration to settle. His message to congress, now under preparation, will be completed probably tomorrow and by Wednesday will be before both house and senate. President Harrison is devoting much consideration to this message, intending to make it the strongest state paper of his term and a fitting close to the administration he has given the country. There will be no lack of "vigorous American" tone in every line.

What congress will do with the question is another matter altogether. While there is unquestionably a very strong sentiment in favor of annexation, there is the danger of the question becoming a party one, and if it does it will have to go over to the next session.

CLEVELAND'S SUNDAY VISITORS.

The Repeal of the Silver Bill and the Cabinet Discussed.

LAKEWOOD, N. J., Feb. 13.—Josiah Quincy, who has been in Washington looking after silver legislation, came out from New York on a special train and had a long talk with Mr. Cleveland and Don M. Dickinson. Mr. Quincy will probably not go to Washington and make a final effort for the repeal of the Sherman silver purchase act at this session of congress. Mr. Quincy declines to say what will be done to get a vote on the silver bill in the house or to say what prospect there is of any definite action being taken before adjournment. It was evident, however, that he does not consider the silver repeal hopeless at this session.

Mr. Dickinson remained at Mr. Cleveland's cottage over Sunday. Among the callers at the cottage were Nathan Straus, George F. Parker and ex-Mayor Hugh J. Grant.

Mr. Cleveland will remain at Lakewood all of this week unless private business calls him to town. He will invite such men as he desires to confer with regard to cabinet or high positions to visit him here, and in all probability the composition of his cabinet will be definitely known before the end of the week. As yet no official announcements have been made regarding any one of the portfolios either by Mr. Cleveland or by the gentlemen who have been asked to enter the cabinet. All reports have come from friends of the men whose names have been mentioned, and exceptional Mr. Cleveland probably no more than these three men know definitely who have been asked and who have accepted cabinet positions. It is practically settled, however, that Walter Q. Gresham has been offered the portfolio of state and has accepted, and that John C. Carlisle will be secretary of the treasury. These gentlemen have assisted Cleveland greatly on all doubt so far as they are concerned. As to the rumors concerning Mr. Wilson S. Bissell of Buffalo, Mr. Isaac Seward Sheppard, Daniel Lamont and H. A. Herbert of Alabama, nothing positive can be learned. These men may be set down as probabilities.

FATHER SHERMAN'S STATEMENT.

President Lincoln Suspended General Sherman Because of Insanity.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 13.—Father Thomas Sherman, the Jesuit, delivered a lecture before the Sherman Memorial association on the domestic life of his distinguished father. He made one statement which will be received with surprise by a great many people in this country. He said that when Mr. Lincoln suspended his father from a military command during the war, it was purely on the ground that the general was insane. The general's friends went to Washington to protest against the suspension. Among them was the general's father-in-law, Mr. Ewing. Mr. Lincoln frankly told them he could not restore the general, as it was evident from papers before him that the soldier was undoubtedly insane. Mr. Ewing asked to see the papers. After reading had he looked at them when he declared that they were not the original copies, but garbled extracts. Mr. Lincoln was induced to reopen the case, and as a result the general was restored within a few hours.

Ohio Oil Field Extended.

TOLEDO, Feb. 13.—There is considerable excitement in the oil fields over another big gusher which was drilled in what was thought to be a dry territory. The well is on the Hoagland farm in Middletown township, 20 miles south of Toledo. It is now flowing over 100 barrels a day and cannot be shut in. The oil is running all over the country. The pressure is so strong nothing can be done to save it. No tankage or pipe line, and the owners present did not expect such a well. A well almost as great was drilled a few miles south of this point. Those wells extend over the field to an extent sufficient to keep the drill going all the summer.

Will Form an Antilynching League.

NEW YORK, Feb. 13.—"The time has come when the colored people should take action against such outrages as the lynching of poor Smith at Paris, Tex.," said the Rev. G. H. N. Smith (colored), once minister to Hayti, in the American Union Methodist Episcopal church, a chorus of amens went up from the many colored people present. "All those in favor of forming an association for that object will rise," said Mr. Smith, and everybody stood up.

Confirmations at Dr. Bartsell's Church.

ROSDOUT, N. Y., Feb. 13.—Archbishop Corrigan administered the rite of confirmation to between 500 and 600 persons in St. Mary's church. The parish is the largest along the Hudson, and its present pastor is the Rev. Dr. Richard Lalor Burtsell, who was ejected from the Church of the Epiphany, New York city, for his relations with the Dr. McGlynn controversy a few years ago. The class confirmed was the largest in the history of the parish.

The End of the Scandal.

NEW YORK, Feb. 13.—The congressional select committee which is looking into the American end of the Panama canal enterprise will meet in the postoffice building today. Colonel Robert G. Ingersoll read the statement of Representative Geary that he had been examining the blotter, and had discovered, as he believed, that $10,000 instead of $5,000 was paid the colonel as counsel fees.

A Defaulter's Suicide.

BELLAIRE, O., Feb. 13.—Harry G. Wilson, the defaulting superintendent of the city waterworks, who disappeared Nov. 18, was found by two small boys in a chicken pen 8 miles east of Wheeling, where he had killed himself. He had destroyed every means of identification, but was easily recognized by his friends when brought back to Wheeling.

Jealousy Causes Murder.

CONNING, N. Y., Feb. 13.—E. G. Hamlin, 60 years old, was shot by G. W. Morey, 45 years old, in a bowling house on East Erie avenue. Hamlin came to this place four years ago from Sandwich, Mass. It is said that Morey was jealous of Hamlin's attentions to his young wife.

Young Widowoff In Jail.

EXETER, N. H., Feb. 13.—David E. Collins of Kingston, owner of the West Newbury tenement recently burned with two occupants, was put in jail here for alleged complicity in the burning. He hanged himself in his cell with a bed sheet.

Verdi Dabio's Life Has Ebbed.

ROME, Feb. 13.—Verdi has telegraphed to Signor Martini, minister of education, concerning the title of marquis conferred upon him by the king. He gratefully would be far greater had I been spared this honor."

Jeweler Caproni Leaves Bridgeport.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Feb. 13.—James B. Caproni, the jeweler, whose failure last week caused so much surprise, has left town.

NORVIN GREEN IS DEAD.

The President of the Western Union Dies In Louisville.

EARNED MONEY BY CHOPPING WOOD.

A Man In Whom Jay Gould Had Confidence—On a Military Faculty With Blaine—Physician and Politician—From a Small Beginning to Affluence.

LOUISVILLE, Feb. 13.—Dr. Norvin Green, president of the Western Union Telegraph company, died in this city Sunday.

The Western Union wires quickly flashed the news of Dr. Green's death all over the land, and telegrams of condolence began pouring in from all directions. General Thomas T. Eckert and all officers of the Western Union sent telegrams of sympathy. The funeral services will be held at 10 o'clock. Dr. Green's serious illness is only of 10 days' duration, though for six weeks he has been confined to the house and since last fall has not been well. Dr. Bidwell described the disease as a catarrhal diarrhea. A similar attack caused him suffering last summer while at Saratoga. Last fall he was a victim of the grip. Christmas he returned home from New York feeling indisposed, but he kept up his work, though remaining indoors the greater part of the time.

Chopped Wood to Educate Himself.

Dr. Norvin Green and his wife three years ago celebrated their golden wedding at their residence in this city. He married in 1840, his wife being Miss Martha English, a daughter of Captain James W. English, who fought in the battle of Tippecanoe, and was a member of the 19th under General William Henry Harrison. The English family then lived in Carroll county, and after the marriage Dr. Green, who had not sufficient money to educate himself by contracting to cut cord wood in Hunter's bottom, moved on the Kentucky side of the river, opposite Madison, Ind. He had been forced to do labor because of the bankruptcy of his father, who lost his all by becoming surety on a guardian's bond.

For the past 30 years the greatest part of his time has been spent in New York, but he has retained his citizenship in this city. In 1879 he removed his family to New York, bringing them back in 1885.

Dr. Norvin Green was born in New Albany, April 17, 1818. While a child his family removed to this state, so that his early life was identified with and fashioned by his residence in Kentucky. His education was thorough, rather than broad—studies which were suited to the professional life which he had mapped out. His preferences were in the direction of solid knowledge rather than of showy attainments. With such tendencies, and after a thorough course of study under the able faculty of the medical department of the University of Louisville, he graduated in 1840 with honor. He soon entered upon a successful practice. Not long afterward he became physician of the Western Lunatic asylum at Dreuen's Springs, Ky., of which the late James G. Blaine was at that time one of the junior instructors.

As a Kentucky Politician.

Like almost all young men of spirit in Kentucky, Dr. Green early connected himself with the politics of the state. He was elected to the lower house of the Kentucky legislature and in 1853 was appointed commissioner of the United States in charge of the construction of the national building in Louisville. While engaged in the duties of his appointment he became one of the lessees of the United Morse and People's Telegraph lines between Louisville and New Orleans, and becoming president of these interests, united in the name of the Southern Telegraph company, he became identified with the history of that telegraph.

In 1856, when the American, United States and Western Union lines were consolidated, Dr. Green was chosen vice president of the latter company, a position that office until January, 1875, when he returned to duty as vice president of the Western Union Telegraph company. It was during this period of three years that he afterward entered the politics of the state and was waited upon by a delegation of the legislature and urged to accept the nomination for United States senator. It is said that he could have been elected but for a clerical error in the count of the balloting returns. Dr. Green was elected president of the Western Union Telegraph company April 17, 1878.

His Personal Appearance.

Dr. Green's form was over 6 feet tall if he had stood perfectly erect. Years of work, however, over his desk had given his shoulders a studious stoop. His frame was large and muscular, and he carried his aged years as lightly as many a less vigorous man does his double score. The doctor's head was large and massively shaped. His hair was iron gray in color, and a mustache of the same hue covered his upper lip and shaded a mouth whose chief peculiarity was its firmness and strength. He personally managed the affairs of a corporation with a capital stock of over $80,000,000 and controlling wire enough to belt the earth 31 times.

Dr. Green left an estate of $700,000.

The National Skating Races.

RED BANK, N. J., Feb. 13.—It has been decided to hold the National Amateur Skating association races here at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning instead of in the afternoon in case the ice shows signs of thawing. All contestants are requested to be in town early. Johnson is a favorite over Donoghue.

Started Out to Kill Indians.

ALBANY, Feb. 13.—William J. Kearin, a 29-year-old boy who ran away from his home on DeKalb avenue, Brooklyn, was arrested in the Union depot while en route west. He said his object was to aid in the general massacre of the red men.

A Confirmation to Be Knighted.

GLOVERSVILLE, N. Y., Feb. 13.—The order of knighthood will be conferred on Companion Thomas H. Brown of Fish House chapter, No. 77, and A. M., by Holy Cross commandery, Knights Templar, Tuesday evening.

Dakota Republicans Claim a Victory.

HURON, S. D., Feb. 13.—The leaders of the Republican party in the legislature concur that the deadlock is broken and that at the joint session Henry F. Miller of Fargo will be elected on the second ballot.

Earth Continues to Quake.

ATHENS, Feb. 13.—The island of Zante has been shaken badly by several earthquakes, and the panic among the inhabitants is increasing.

Great Suffering
After the Grip
Tremendous Roaring in the Head as Pain in the Stomach.

"To C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.:

"Two years ago I had a severe attack of the Grip, which left me in a terribly weak and debilitated condition. I tried all I had patent medicines, was easily very badly off, my health nearly wrecked. My appetite was all gone, I had no interest, never felt like doing anything, miserable roaring noises in my head, like a waterfall. I also had severe headaches and in my stomach. I took medicines without benefit, finally I received a circular from Hood's Sarsaparilla, I concluded to try it, and the result is very gratifying. All the distressing effects of the Grip are gone, I am free from pains and aches, and believe is surely curing my catarrh. I recommend it to all." GEO. W. COOK, St. Johnsbury, Vt.

PRESIDENT HARRISON'S PASTOR.

He Says the General Assembly Cannot Promulgate New Doctrines.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—Rev. Tennis Hamlin, pastor of the Church of the Covenant, where President Harrison attends, preached a very significant sermon on the "Inerrancy of the Bible." He declared the statement of the general assembly of 1893 that the church holds no such a declaration as a standard of the church is without ground, and further says:

"If the inerrancy deliverance stood upon the same footing, it would be a simple and harmless matter, but the resolution carefully stalls this opinion to the level of a doctrine. It asserts that our church holds it. It assumes that every minister assented to it at his ordination. It calls upon him if he does not now believe it to leave the church. It embraces in this summons all ordained officers, elders and deacons as well as ministers, and if they do not withdraw it 'enjoins' the courts of the church to 'speedily' discipline them and eject them.

"In other words, this deliverance, under the guise of an interpretation of the standards, sets up a totally new doctrine, which it declares the church 'holds,' and makes it a test of ministerial and official standing.

"Now I deliberately and solemnly pronounce this an act of gross usurpation, to resist which is the urgent duty of every Presbyterian who loves his church and cherishes her historical stand for liberty, both personal and ecclesiastical. The general assembly is as much bound by the constitution as is the humblest minister or member of the church. It has no more authority to impose the opinion of a majority of its members upon us as a doctrine than it has to declare that its views about lynching shall have all the force and weight of a federal statute, and to send a district attorney or judge to prison because he fails to prosecute and convict accordingly."

THE GRAND OLD MAN.

He Is Ready For the Battle For Home Rule Which Begins Today.

LONDON, Feb. 13.—Mr. Gladstone's friends were much opposed to his speaking in the house Saturday, as they wished him to save his strength for today. Their fears that he would exhaust himself by speaking, were groundless, for Mr. Gladstone was feeling as well as ever and went to church twice.

Thirty-seven questions which are to come up in the house are to likely to delay the introduction of the home rule bill. The whips are urging members to postpone their questions until later, so that Mr. Gladstone may be able to begin his speech as early as 4 o'clock. There is every prospect that a great street demonstration will be made during Mr. Gladstone's progress from his house to Westminster. In expectation of this demonstration a special police escort has been detailed to accompany Mr. Gladstone from Downing street to the house of commons.

A MONETARY PROPOSITION.

The Belgian Delegate's Plan Which Could Be Easily Dropped.

BRUSSELS, Feb. 13.—M. Allard, Belgian delegate to the monetary conference, has addressed to his fellow delegates a pamphlet explaining the compromise plan which he submitted on Dec. 8. He advocates the purchase of silver at the market price and the issue in exchange for it of treasury notes expressing gold units, the notes to be of constant value and to circulate at par with gold, which is to remain the only international standard. This proposal does not countenance the use of silver certificates or warrants. He urges that the experiment be tried for a short time, as it would not interfere with any existing monetary system and might be dropped without inconvenience if found impracticable.

Whisky Peddlers Get Lo's Money.

GUTHRIE, O. T., Feb. 13.—During the past week the Kiowa and the Comanche and Apache Indians have been receiving a payment of $38,000 pasture money from the government. The payment has been made at Anadarko, and a large majority of the three tribes have been encamped about that place all week. Many of them suffered greatly during the extreme cold weather which prevailed. Gamblers and whisky peddlers have been thick about the camp, and few of the Indians retain their money more than a few hours.

Delaware Over Its Banks.

TRENTON, Feb. 13.—The Delaware river is again higher, and further damage to property is feared. The ice moved slowly until the return tide set in, when it became badly jammed. It is the talk of the use of dynamite to scatter the huge, solid cakes which form a field of ice fully three miles long. The gorge at Perrivig bar attracted thousands of spectators. At that point the ice raised 30 feet high. The lowlands below Trenton are completely submerged. Telegrams from Easton state that the ice moved there.

The Miracle Performing Teacher Sane.

COLUMBUS, Kan., Feb. 13.—David Deem, the "inspired teacher" who has been on trial here all week for insanity, was discharged by the jury and pronounced a sane man. The followers who look upon Deem as inspired by God to teach the Scriptures were all in court when the jury returned the verdict. When the probate judge summoned Deem to hear the verdict, he was apparently the most disinterested person in the courtroom.

New York's Spook Priestess.

GENEVA, Ills., Feb. 13.—Vera P. Ava, alias Da Debar, was indicted by the grand jury, charged with the larceny of $75 from Irene Mitchell of Elgin. Another count charges her with obtaining money by representing that she was in league with spirits. Vera Ava has been in jail here for several months.

Pilgrims Approaching Rome.

MILAN, Feb. 13.—The Irish pilgrims who are proceeding to Rome to celebrate the pope's episcopal jubilee left this city for Rome, where they will be met by Cardinal Logue. They will be conducted by him to the shrines of Assisi and Loretto and afterward to Rome.

BISHOP WIGGER ON TOP.

Satolli Stands by Him In the Bayonne Case.

FATHER AHNE GETS GAHENSLYIEM.

Father Killeen Is Silent—He Evidently Is Surprised at the Turn Affairs Have Taken—It Had Been Announced Semi-officially That the Priest Had Won.

BAYONNE, N. J., Feb. 13.—The first official announcement as to the lines upon which the difficulty between Bishop Wigger and Father Killeen was adjusted was made in the two Catholic churches of this city—St. Mary's and St. Henry's—Sunday. The announcement was hardly complete at either church, and it was necessary to have attended mass at both churches to get at the full scope of Bishop Wigger's directions in regard to the matter, as there was a slight difference in the bishop's letter to the two priests. The principal parts of the letters were the same, but to Father Killeen's letter was attached a postscript that Father Ahne's letter lacked. Virtually the decision is a defeat for Father Killeen, because St. Thomas' church is not to be reopened except in an informal fashion at the discretion of Father Ahne or the will of the united parishes of St. Mary and St. Thomas, and then only on secular days.

The bishop's letter, as read by Father Ahne, after describing the limits of the parish, was as follows:

The Bishop's Letter.

The Rev. Father Ahne will be rector of the new parish, and the congregation will worship in St. Henry's church. On Sundays the rector will preach in English at the first mass and in English and German at the second mass, as he has done in the past. On feast days. If the congregation so wish, the rector will at his discretion say mass in St. Thomas.

St. Thomas will henceforth be used exclusively for divine service, except of course the four class rooms which are on the first floor. Please read this notice to your congregation at every mass next Sunday. I send a similar notice to the Rev. Father Killeen.

W. M. WIGGER.

"The bishop," said Father Ahne, "would not have sent this letter unless the statements it makes were correct and in accordance with Archbishop Satolli's decision.

Cahenslyism Defined by Father Ahne.

"Our Bishop will probably be accused of Cahenslyism, since German will be allowed to be spoken in this church. Now, what is Cahenslyism? It is the earnest endeavor of bishops and priests to keep children who cannot speak English from straying away from the church by giving them instruction and exhortation that they can understand, which means in their mother tongue. It is their duty to do this, for if they do not the immigrant, by the time he has learned English, has fallen away from the church.

"My Irish and American parishioners lose nothing by the short sermon I preach in German, for they have their own sermon in English, nor do they make any complaint. It is the outsiders who do that. But there is a false Cahenslyism, or rather in charge of that kind, which is called a tendency to maintain foreign customs and speech. We have no sympathy with that and do not advocate it."

The letter read by Father Killeen was the same, with the substitution of the name of one priest for the other, as that read by Father Ahne except for the postscript. It read thus:

"N. B.—The bishop also promises that in case of the death or removal of Father Ahne he will appoint an English speaking priest to the place."

Father Killeen then said, "I have read the bishop's letter as is my duty. I shall make no comment."

The Call For Peter's Pence.

BALTIMORE, Feb. 13.—In all the Catholic churches of the archdiocese a paper issued and signed by Cardinal Gibbons was read relating to the annual collection for the Peter's pence fund. It said: "The approaching celebration of the golden jubilee of the episcopal consecration of our holy father, which occurs in February, renders the moment opportune for manifesting our sincerest affection and deepest loyalty to our blessed Lord's vicar.

"We take up the collection a little earlier than usual that we may not be without some gift which will be the bearer to his holiness of our high appreciation of his exceptional ability, of our admiration of his piety, of our recognition of his beneficent influence in the world's affairs, of his prudent words and wise counsels, and above all our gratitude for his particular interest he has in many ways manifested for us, his spiritual children, in these United States. He loves our institutions, admires our character, sympathizes with our aspirations, believes in our destinies and blesses our efforts, like the Saviour whose chief vice regent he is. His fatherly solicitude knows no limits, and he never rests while act or word of his might aid us in our zealous labors for our social and spiritual betterment."

The Wedding Presents.

The publishing of long lists of marriage presents is considered by most people in questionable taste, but the following, quoted from an exchange, is unique of its kind:

From father and mother of the bride, one Jersey calf; from bride to groom, hair wreath, made from hair of her entire family, and also six white shirts; from Brother Elias, one book of poems, one dreambook, one polite letter writer and a dog; from Aunt Harriet, six hens and a rooster, also a jar of tomato catchup; from Cousin Sarah, one poem made up by herself on the bride and groom, 15 verses in all.—Youth's Companion.

ODD THINGS IN FUR.

Jackets on the 1830 Models and Like a One-Button Cutaway.

Such odd things one sees constantly in furs! If there is not method in the madness which puckers and flutes, frills and plaits the precious seal and glossy lamb, thinks the New York Sun, there is determination in the way the furriers encourage it. Some of the newest coats appear with the 1830 cape ruffle and enough fur in the sleeve puffs to make a small garment. The skirts, too, are flared out to great fullness, and plaited collars, with ruffled muffs, complete a garment that is about as good an investment as a corner lot on the avenue, judging by the prices.

An odd little coat of English origin is cut in the style of a 1-button cutaway coat and shows a waistcoat of Persian lamb which may be exchanged for a still smarter one of heavy vesting with a fleck of color, or a heavy brocade richly colored and showing a thread of gold. The old fashioned tippets appear in great variety, from the small plaited collar to the broad sloping cape setting well over the sleeves and extending well down toward the bottom of the gown. There never was a winter when fur formed so indispensable a feature of every toilet, from tea gown to dinner dress, appearing on the airy ball costume as well as the cozy sleighing outfit and jaunty skating dress.

WOMAN AND HOME.

IN CHOOSING GARMENTS CONSULT THE WEARER'S TASTES.

A Word For the Shopper—Dressing on a Small Allowance—Many Inventions by One Woman—Use of Fan Names.

A great many good people in the world are inclined to look slightingly upon childish tastes and childish preferences, as though they were in themselves something so frivolous as to be unworthy of all notice. Yet there are few grown-up people today who cannot recall acute suffering in childhood because of a total disregard of these same tastes and preferences. The tastes of the child are quite likely to be the tastes of the woman, modified only by years and experience.

A story to illustrate this is told of Queen Victoria's eldest daughter, whose queenly mother kept her under somewhat rigid discipline, even after she had arrived at the age when young ladies usually have somewhat of their own way in the matter of dress and surroundings. The marriage of the princess royal had already been agreed upon, and the princess, when visiting an attractive lingerie shop, ordered a large amount of dainty, attractive garments, which were entirely different from the staff old fashioned linen which the queen had always insisted upon for her family.

No sooner were the garments sent home than the royal mother returned them in a spirit of indignation and ordered for her daughter a duplicate of the queer old fashioned trousseau which she had had made for her wedding so many years ago. These the princess must be content with, though, if report says true, she shed many tears over them, and after her marriage she disposed of them as quickly as possible and bought dainty clothes to suit her taste, which had something of the French chic and air about them.

The old fashioned idea that there was something sinful in pretty clothes, or that one was pandering to vanity and folly in consulting the taste in matters of dress, has passed away. There is no possible harm in allowing a little girl who has ideas of her own to express considerable freedom in the choice of her belongings. She should be guided of course by the means at hand and by the judgment of older people as to the utility of what she chooses. But it is a cruelty to compel her to wear anything which she instinctively dislikes as old fashioned and ugly or when it is just as easy to get her something that will please her fancy and in which she will never feel ill at ease.

The proverbial ease of manner of the dweller of the city may be, after all, but a consciousness of appearing well, while the awkwardness of his country brother may just as naturally be due to a consciousness of ill fitting attire. The term urbanity, which originally meant city bred, has in its natural sequence come to mean a tranquil and polished demeanor. Now, if you wish to make a little girl awkward, dress her against her own protests in clumsy attire. Not one of the teachers of deportment can overcome the shyness that will be bred of her round impressions. No wise person can fail to appreciate the value of ease and polish of manner. It takes years sometimes to overcome the self consciousness which begins in childhood as the result of this kind of petty household tyranny, which utterly overlooks the childish rights and tastes of the child and consults only the convenience of the moment.

Let the little daughters and sons of the house have rooms or their own as soon as they are able to appreciate care of them. Let them be consulted in the furnishing of the room. Yield something, where it is not inconsistent with economy, to their tastes, so that the room may be their very own. Let them bring their friends there. Do not buy clothes for any girl of an age to have tastes of her own without consulting her. Even boys sometimes have decided ideas in the matter of dress, though they are proverbially more indifferent than girls. The daughters and sons in such a home usually find home the sweetest place.—New York Tribune.

A Word For the Shopper.

While the professional wife brim over with such unbridled raillery about the women who spend much of their time in shopping there is quite another view of the subject, full on one side of the plainest prose, and on the other of a simple poetry and small pathos which should also be recognized. Most shoppers are women of narrow means, who have to make a little money go a great way, or who on a great deal of money have more expected of them than their income is equal to doing.

The rich woman who steps out of her carriage and orders what she wants at first glance, responsible to no one, and with no ambitions and wishes beyond her means, or who has the shopkeeper go to her house with samples, is not what is meant by a shopper. That luckless woman is obliged to look and look, and look again, to haul over piles of things fruitlessly, and tempted by this, yet unable to do without that, to go home and think it all over and try again.

If she gets this affair for which her heart longs, she must go without that other, which is absolutely needed, and she is not only shopping for herself, but for all the requirements of the household behind her, and is a work of time and patience to overcome the self consciousness which begins in childhood as the result of this kind of petty household tyranny, which utterly overlooks the childish rights and tastes of the child and consults only the convenience of the moment.

THE OPERATION PERFORMED ON ANDREW MANTZ THIS MORNING

He Sat Outside His Home Helpless Through a Bitter Cold January Night—Forty Eight Years Old—Crippled for Life.

Andrew Mantz, of Dock Watch Hollow, a hamlet situated between Mt. Bethel and Mt. Horeb, nine miles from this city, had the fingers of both his hands, and both feet, midway between the knees and ankles, amputated this morning.

Tuesday night, Jan. 17, during the bitter cold weather, he went to a party, and on the ride to his home became benumbed and helpless, as mentioned in THE NEWS of Jan. 20. He was unable to get in the house, which he had crawled a quarter of a mile on his elbows a knees, because his hands and feet being so frozen as to useless. He then crawled to the barn some distance to the rear of the house and sat all night on a keg. He managed to attract attention in the morning and was cared for. Two days later he was brought to the home of Mrs. Jacob Voehl, his sister, on Somerset street, and placed under doctor's care. It was found that the frozen members would have to be amputated to save his life, and the operation was performed this morning by Dr. Zigler of Mt. Bethel, Dr. Pettit of this city and Dr. Anderson of Bellevue, N. Y.

The frost-bite leaves a distinct line where it ends and the amputation had to be made nearly an inch beyond. The unfortunate man will be a helpless cripple all his life in consequence.

Though Mr. Mantz has been aware for several weeks that the amputations were necessary, he bore up bravely during the interval. The operation was delayed as long as possible.

At half past two this afternoon it was reported that the patient had rallied and would recover.

The unfortunate man is forty-eight years of age, and will be helpless for life.

BOTH CARRIAGES WERE WRECKED.

A Drunken Coachman's Wild Driving Causes a Collision.

At about half-past twelve last night Policeman Frederickson saw a horse, drawing a closed carriage, coming along Park avenue on a wild run. He stepped out into the road to stop it but saw a man driving and let it pass.

In a few moments the horse came back again from Front street, at the same pace. This time Mr. Frederickson stopped it and asked the driver what he was driving so fast for. The man, who seemed sober, said he was John Dougan, coachman for Mr. Wm. Sanford of Front street, and that he had to be at the Casino and was in a hurry. He promised to drive more carefully and was let go.

He drove easily for a block and then the wild race commenced again. The carriage careened from side to side and from one side of the road to the other.

As they neared Sixth street, "Doc" Vail, a driver for Mr. Bedden, drove into Park avenue and close into the gutter to avoid a collision. The two carriages, however, collided with terrific force, the wheels locking. Both horses sprang loose from the shafts on the instant and galloped wildly in different directions.

Mr. Bedden's horse was found at Evans at about four o'clock this morning.

At eight o'clock Mr. Sandford's horse had not been found.

Both drivers were hurled over the dashboards, but were uninjured. Dougan was so befuddled with drink that he did not know which way his horse had gone, and staggered along toward Front street for a couple of blocks, then turded and wandered out Park avenue.

Both stories agree.

Policeman Frederickson met Dougan staggering along Park avenue at half-past three o'clock this morning, covered with mud and water, his coachman's coat over his shoulder. He was arrested, and this morning sentenced to pay a fine of $10, or spend ten days in jail. He paid the fine.

ARRESTED ON SUSPICION.

The Supposed Fanwood Incendiary Committed to the County Jail.

Lawrence Wallace, of Fanwood, was arrested at noon to-day by State Detective John Keron of Elizabeth on complaint of Dr. Frank Westcott, chief of the Fanwood Fire Department. The young man is about twenty-one years of age and is suspected of having set fire to two barns and Smith's lumber yard.

He was brought before Justice of the Peace V. W. Nash this afternoon and committed to the county jail, without bail, to await the action of the Grand Jury.

The Turn Verein's Masquerade Ball.

The fifth annual masquerade ball of the Plainfield Gesang and Turn Verein was held in the society's hall on Somerset street last evening.

The hall was handsomely decorated for the occasion with flags, bunting and evergreens. In the midst of the decorations was the German word "Willkommen," meaning "welcome."

The hall was well filled with merry masqueraders dressed in gay costumes. Mr. Henry Baumann was Prince Carnival, and Mr. Chas. Meyer and wife led the grand march at the head of fifty couples.

Dancing was continued until early morning.

A POINT FOR THE CITY.

IN THE SCHOONMAKER CLOISSONNE COLLECTION CONTEST.

If Mayor Male Owned it, as the Heirs Claim then the City Wants Some $4,000 or $5,000 in Taxes—The Heirs Must Surrender or Pay.

Recently Mr. F. X. Schoonmaker of Broadway feeling that he was assessed too high on his personal property, and supposing it was due to a mistake, called on Assessor Hubbard to rectify it.

He said he supposed the assessor had been assessing him on what has become known as the "Schoonmaker Collection of Cloisonne," over which there is now litigation between the city and the executors of the Job Male estate.

The assessor told Mr. Schoonmaker he had not been assessed as owning the collection referred to, and gave him some further information.

When the late Mr. Male had the collection in his possession, Assessor Hubbard it appears undertook to assess it as Mr. Male's personal property.

The late mayor told the assessor that he had bought the collecton for the city.

The assessor desired to know if Mr. Male had already given the collecton to the city, as otherwise it would be necessary for him to hold Mr. Male for the taxes, which on the valuation placed on the collection would amounts to $550 per year.

Mr. Male said he had already given the collection to the city, but had it in his possession only because the rooms provided in the Job Male Art Gallery were not yet ready to receive it.

Under these circumstances the property, being considered city property, was not assessed.

The books of record confirm the assessor if confirmation were necessary, considering the man.

The heirs claim that Mr. Male never gave the collection to the city, and, it appears, have tried to get an order from the Vice Chancellor permitting them to remove it to New York City, on the ground that better prices could be secured there than here in selling it. Could they have got the collection out of the State they would be beyond its jurisdiction.

The Vice Chancellor refused permission pending the litigation.

Now, if the heirs, in the face of this evidence, can sustain their claim of ownership, then the city has a claim of about six years' taxes, plus ten per cent. and costs, say, in round numbers $4,500. Mr. Carey has a claim which will probably be not less than $500, and if Mr. Schoonmaker can win his suit of $8,000, the heirs will fidd that their pursuing a course which is considered so contrary to Mr. Male's well known wishes is going to prove rather costly business, saying nothing about the court expenses and lawyers' fees. If they get off for less than $12,000 or $13,000 they will be lucky.

They may take either horn of the dilemma and find it very interesting, since they elect to fight the city.

It is not yet too late for them to do the graceful thing. The heirs may admit that there was a mistake, and give the collection over without any more ado, and they will be better off in the end.

The Board of Directors of the Library as a body are said never to have surrendered possession of the collection. One Director, on his own responsibility, allowed it to be removed to Mr. Carey's and the Board are now taking legal steps toward recovering possession. Now, as they have such able lawyers on the Board as Rowland Cox and J. Evarts Tracy, it is reasonable to presume that the Board knows what it is about.

The case, though not returnable until March 17, was brought before the court yesterday and indefinitely postponed.

PERSONAL.

Mr. Joseph Bosterli of Chatham street, North Plainfield, is lying dangerously ill at his home. His recovery is doubtful.

Mr. Richard E. Seaman of Brooklyn was the guest yesterday of Mr. Harry Werner. Mr. Seaman formerly lived in this city.

A surprise party was given to Miss Maggie Flannagan at her home No. 13 East Front street last evening by a number of her friends.

The fourth "assembly" dance of the Union County Country Club was held in the Casino last evening. The affair was similar to the previous "assemblies" and was very enjoyable.

Mr. David French, who is at present visiting his parents on Somerset street, will return to the west the latter part of this month. He will be accompanied by Mr. Fred Obitz, who expects to locate there.

How We Got the Bible and its Great Triumphs.

The Rev. Dr. Baum's second illustrated lecture on the Bible, which was to have been given last night was postponed on account of the storm to Wednesday evening at eight o'clock, in Grace church chapel. It will give the history of the Bible and its great triumphs and be illustrated by about one hundred views of great artistic beauty. On account of the lecture being given on Ash Wednesday evening, no admission will be charged, but a collection to meet expenses will be taken as on Sunday evening.

—The Borough Council will hold an adjourned meeting on Friday evening.

THE CHORAL SOCIETY.

SECOND PRIVATE CONCERT AT MUSIC HALL LAST EVENING.

The Slush and Storm Did Not Deter Many, Although the Livery and Hack Men Found it a Bonanza—The Programme.

The Plainfield Choral Society gave its second private concert last evening, at Music Hall.

The subscribers usually go in carriages. Many who had no private carriage and could get no hack, last evening, stayed at home.

The slush was ankle-deep on the level, and a few inches higher elsewhere. There were few levels.

Then it rained for awhile, snowed a bit and then rained again, for a change. Each pedestrian was a little concert all by himself, with the music chiefly staccatto, crescendo, fervent and impressive.

Under such circumstances it is not to be wondered at that the seating capacity of Music Hall was not strained last night.

The programme is given below.

It was noticed that the tenors seemed to lose or two of their number attack, when, to give the proper effect, all should have come out full and strong. The next time in one part, was what might be termed, "ragged."

When Miss Wernig was singing a steam radiator, in the rear of the hall, commenced to leak and the sizz-z-zing was becoming uncomfortably loud, when Mr. George Griffin kindly tied his handkerchief over the leak.

A Small Fire Yesterday.

A house on the Railway road belonging to Mr. Henry Clay Randolph, and occupied by one of his workmen, caught fire from an overheated stove pipe yesterday afternoon. Mr. McNab, who lives nearby, saw smoke issuing from the windows and ran into the house.

The workman was absent.

Mr. McNabb kept the fire in check until the arrival of Mr. Randolph and his men when the fire was put out by water from hand pails.

The loss is slight. The family is, however, said to be in a destitute condition.

BRICK OR MACADAM, WHICH?

Those Were the Two Kinds of Road Material Discussed Friday Night.

[From the Hunterdon, Pa., Monitor.]

Burgess J. C. Blair was gratified last Friday night to see such a hearty response to his hasty call for a meeting of citizens interested in street improvement. Upwards of 100 persons had assembled in the Arbitration room at the court house.

Mr. Blair announced that the object of the meeting was to give our citizens an opportunity of hearing something in regard to the construction of streets, and he then introduced Mr. F. A. Dunham, of Plainfield, N. J. This gentleman is an engineer of good repute and has had large experience in road making. He supervised the construction of the famous roads in Union and Essex counties, N. J., and in a practical way told those present of the manner of construction, cost, etc., of those roads. "In those two counties," said Mr. Dunham, "we have built about forty miles of macadam road, with Telford foundation, sixteen feet wide, at a cost of $1 a square yard, and I presume it will cost about $250 per mile each year for repairs. At that figure, of course, the foundation is not cemented." While Mr. Dunham has built all kinds of roads he strongly advocated trinidad brick for streets of this size, and especially on the business streets. Brick streets cost from $1.80 to $2 per square yard. Macadam about $1.20 per square yard. At these figures, in either case, the foundation would be cemented, which seems to be the only proper way to construct a street. Mr. F. G. Barber, of Rochester, Pa., also interested in road construction, is a friend of the vitrified brick plan.

Several of those present at the meeting were opposed to brick because of the cost, but could see the way clear for the borough authorities and property owners jointly to macadamize the entire town and at least half a mile of every country road leading to town. Perhaps a greater number favored the plan of brick for the business streets at least, and something less expensive for thoroughfares where traffic is not so extensive.

The enthusiasm and interest displayed on this occasion leads one to believe that we will have better roads sooner or later.

EDITORIAL NOTES

When a man worth $100,000 wears celluloid cuffs, he is an individual to be ware of.

One of the sad features of the Panama scandal is that it will give the monarchists of Europe opportunity to say, "This is what might be expected from a republican government."

The Medical society of New York city asks congress to pass a bill placing the whole business of quarantining unqualifiedly and unreservedly in the hands of the national government.

Will Hayti beg us to take her in next? The United States has earned the reputation of being what both every nation and every individual ought to be—at once peaceful and powerful.

An imaginative individual in an eastern state has evolved out of his own head a magnificent scheme for flushing this whole country through and through the streets of all its large cities with salt water. The Atlantic and Pacific oceans are to be connected by canals, through which the tides shall ebb and flow, and thus the whole country can sniff salt air without paying twenty dollars a week in a board shanty by the seashore. He believes the Twentieth century will witness the realization of this idea. Great head, that.

The advocates of opening the grounds and buildings of the World's fair on Sunday propose to move on those who are opposed to it by new tactics. They now claim in a resolution which has been laid before the national house of representatives that the congressional act of Aug. 5, 1892, is unconstitutional. The claim is based upon that clause of the United States constitution which declares that congress shall make no laws respecting an establishment of religion or prohibiting the free exercise thereof. They say that closing the exposition buildings on Sunday will be making a law respecting an establishment of religion.

The Pennsylvania legislature has before it a bill requiring secret beneficial orders to make full annual reports to the state insurance commissioner. It is a good move. The swarm of so called benefit orders that have buzzed up all over the country have been as tempting a bait to the poor and ignorant as a lottery and as disastrous. The heads of the order give it a romantic name, have a mummery of grip and password, so that the public will not look too closely into it, and then proceed to fleece the hard working out of their earnings without any ceremonies at all. The bait held out is always a rate of interest and dividends for their investments that is two or three times as high as can be got in legitimate business operations. It is exactly the same old gag that has been played on humanity since the time of Adam and Eve, and it fools them nine times out of ten. Schemes that promise immense financial returns for an infinitesimal outlay are generally frauds, especially if they have the word "benevolent" tacked to them.

What England Would Do.

The constant petty warring of the Soudanese tribes on Egypt and the constant internal dissensions in the Nile kingdom endangered the commercial interests of Great Britain there, which were very large. This was a dozen years ago. What did England do? She sent her sturdy Anglo-Saxon soldiers to Egypt, made war on the obstreperous Arabi Bey, defeated him and put an end to the rebellion against a government that was too weak to take care of itself. Then England put upon its legs a government that suited herself and held it there with good British bayonets. That was 11 years ago. Mr. Gladstone was at the head of the government then. In 1882 he declared in the most solemn manner in his speeches throughout Great Britain that the occupation of Egypt by English troops would end with the putting down of the revolt. But it did not end. It has not ended yet.

The prompt action of Lord Rosebery, minister of foreign affairs, recently in compelling the resignation of a cabinet which Khedive Abbas had had the hardihood to choose for himself without consulting the British government shows there is now no expectation even on the part of Gladstone himself that the British occupation of Egypt will terminate for many years—if at all. The reason is very simple and final. British commercial interests in Egypt are too powerful to jeopardize by leaving them to the ignorance and incapacity of the native Egyptian government. England must take care of the money of her Egyptian bondholders.

Now, then, the interests of Americans in Hawaii are exactly what the interests of British citizens are in Egypt. This country controls 90 per cent of all the trade with Hawaii. The value of the sugar plantations there amounts to $60,000,000. Shall the United States see these American interests sacrificed? Under British rule in Egypt the government of the country has been reconstructed and industrial reforms instituted that have benefited the common people as much as such a run-to-seed race can be benefited. Just such a run-to-seed race are the natives of Hawaii. Let England ask herself what she would do with Hawaii herself under the circumstances and keep her hands off.

HOME RULE FOR IRELAND

Gladstone Expounds the Doctrine In Parliament.

SPEAKS TWO AND ONE-HALF HOURS.

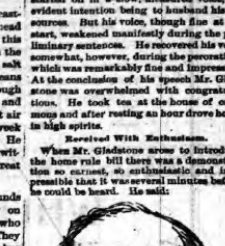
Enthusiasm Awakened at Every Point by the Eloquence of the Grand Old Man. Main Features the Same as Those of Previous Bills, but Conditions Are Different.

LONDON, Feb. 14.—Mr. Gladstone, in a masterly oration of over two hours, introduced the home rule bill in the house of commons. All the galleries were packed to their fullest capacity. Justice Harlan of the United States supreme court had a seat in the diplomatic gallery with Minister Lincoln. Scores of other noted strangers were in the gallery.

On the table by the premier's lectern pot—the first of all his long career. The presence of a lamp to aid his failing sight aided pathos to the scene. Mr. Gladstone started off in a slow, measured voice, his evident intention being to husband his resources. But his voice, though fine at the start, weakened manifestly during the preliminary sentences. He recovered his voice somewhat, however, during the peroration, which was remarkably fine and impressive. At the conclusion of his speech Mr. Gladstone was cheered with great enthusiasm. He took ten at the house of commons and after resting an hour drove home in high spirits.

Received With Enthusiasm.

When Mr. Gladstone arose to introduce the home rule bill there was a demonstration so earnest, so enthusiastic and irrepressible that it was several minutes before he could be heard. He said:



WILLIAM E. GLADSTONE.

"I may without impropriety remind the house that the voices which usually pleaded the cause of Irish self government in Irish affairs have, within these walls during the last seven years, been almost entirely mute. I return, therefore, to the period of 1886, when a proposition of this kind was submitted on the part of the government of the day, and I beg to remind the house of the position then taken up by all the promoters of these measures."

Previous Efforts For Home Rule.

Mr. Gladstone dilated upon the circumstances under which the act of union was passed, the promise of equality in the laws and of commercial equality under which union was effected. It was then proposed confidently, he said, that Irishmen would take their places in the cabinet of the United Kingdom, that in behalf of the Irish people, which had been his honored destiny to sit in cabinet with no less than 60 to 70 statesmen, of whom only one, the Duke of Wellington, was an Irishman, while Castlereagh was the only other Irishman who had sat in the cabinet since the union.

Changes In English Sentiment.

Alluding to English feeling toward Irish home rule, Mr. Gladstone said he would refrain from urging that England would find herself exhausted and her work made unprecedented by resistance to Irish demands. He could well conceive England maintaining, if so minded, resistance to Irish demands, but England's conversion to home rule had been rapid. In 1886 England's majority adverse to home rule was 81. It had now declined to 71. In face of such a fact who would question the permanence of the opposition of the remainder? [Cheers.]

Features of the Bill.

Mr. Gladstone then proceeded to give the salient points of the home rule bill. He said:

"The bill reiterates the five propositions laid down as the cardinal principles in 1886. The first object of these is to establish a legislative body sitting in Dublin to conduct both the legislation and the administration of the Irish distinct from the imperial affairs, exacting only the conditions:

"First—That the Irish do nothing inconsistent with imperial unity as far as the convictions and intentions of the government are concerned.

"Second—That the equality of the kingdoms must be borne in mind.

"Third—That equitable reparation must be made to the imperial charges.

"Fourth—Every practical provision for the protection of the minority must be adopted.

"Fifth—The plan that we propose should be such as in the judgment of the promoters would present the necessary measures to bring about these desired results.

Freedom as Practiced In America.

"Other incapacities are imposed similar to those contained in the bill of 1886. These provide for the security of religious freedom, the safeguarding of education and for the security of personal freedom, in which we endeavored to borrow one of the modern amendments to the American constitution.

"Then, coming to executive powers, we retain the vice royalty of Ireland, but we divest it of the party character hitherto borne by making the appointment run six years, subject to the revoking powers of the crown.

The Legislative Council.

"The question arises, Shall there be any legislative council? All decided that there ought to be such a council. It has appeared to us to be highly inconvenient to alter the numbers of the legislative assembly. We therefore leave the number at 103, and we fix the terms at five years.

"We have also proposed an elective council, believing it to be the only form wherein we can give any great force to the vitality of the institution. The council constituency must in the first place be associated with a ratable value of £20 whereby to secure an aggregate constituency approaching 170,000 persons, including owners as well as occupiers, but subject to a provision that no owner or occupier has a vote in more than one constituency."

The Executive.

Mr. Gladstone concluded: "I have tried to convey the fundamental conception and spirit of the scheme. I submit that the plan must be inspected, but I hope it will receive impartial consideration. Although there may be friendly and unfriendly criticisms, I hope I shall not give offense when I express my deep conviction that a plan closely resembling this should be passed. I must say, for my own part, that I never will and never can be a party to bequeathing to my country the continuance of this heritage of discord which has been handed down from generation to generation, with hardly momentary intervals, for more than seven centuries—this heritage of discord, with all the evils that follow in its train.

"I wish no part or lot in that process. It would be a misery for me if I had foregone or omitted in these closing years of my life any measure it was possible for me to take toward upholding and promoting the cause which I believe to be the cause not of party or one nation, but of all parties and all nations. To these nations, viewing them as I do, with what vast opportunities under a living union for power and happiness to these nations, I say: Let me entreat you. If it were my latest breath I would so entreat you—let the dead bury their dead, and cast behind you forever recollections of by gone evils. Cherish love and sustain one another through all vicissitudes of human affairs in times that are to come."

NEW ORLEANS' MARDI GRAS.

Opening of the Great Festival—Reception of King Rex.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 14.—The crowd in attendance was larger than it has ever been before. The city is gaily decorated with the carnival colors, and preparations have been made to illuminate the exterior of all premises by electricity. The chiefaries of the carnival court, with a number of guests, left the city on the royal yacht Galvestes to meet His Majesty Rex at the jetties. The steamer returned with the royal party at 3 p. m., and the king went at once to the city hall, attended by his retinue, where the keys of the city were delivered to him by Mayor Fitzpatrick. The king afterward held a levee. He was received by household guards on horseback and afoot, the state militia, the Uniformed Rank of the Knights of Pythias and Knights of Honor, the house of peers, the Grecian guard, the Turkish bodyguard, the trained courtiers and the royal council and dukes of the realm.

Last night Proteus and his "krewe" appeared in one of the most magnificent pageants ever seen for years. The subject was Kalevala depicting the mythology of Finland. The first car was the chariot of Proteus, and then followed the Banner car, the Rival Minstrels, the Daughters of the Sea and the Moon, the Hidden Treasure, the Rainbow Maid forging Sampo, the God of the Deep Courts of Honeydale, the Pleiades, Dusthland, the Magic Barge, the Evil Principle, Daughter of the Fog, Maiden of the Honeyfields, Birth of the Harp, the Water Castle, the Sky God and the Polar Star. The effects of light were made as much use of as the art of the painter and the wealth of costume and decoration, and the entire pageant was a triumph for the youngest of the great carnival organizations. After the parade a ball was given at the French Opera House, and the maskers were grouped into tableaux. The queen was Miss Virginia Nicholls, the daughter of ex-Governor Francis T. Nicholls, who is now chief justice of the supreme court.

CHARGES AGAINST BURNHAM FARM.

Instead of Being Reformatory, Its Practices Are Said to Be Corrupt.

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—An investigation is to be made as to the way in which Burnham Industrial farm at Canaan Four Corners, N. Y., is being conducted. It is charged that the boys living on the farm are abused and ill treated, and that their morals, instead of being corrected by reformatory influences, are still further corrupted.

Governor Flower received a communication from Mr. Charles C. Morton, the mail broker at 17 Broadway, in which the writer told how his son had been forced to run away from Burnham farm, and to escape capture had shipped on a sailing vessel for a port 4,000 miles from New York. Governor Flower sent the letter to the state board of charities, and the subject was referred to Chairman William R. Stewart of the standing committee on reformatories for investigation.

There are now 60 boys at the farm, and they come from 12 different states. About 40 of the boys are from New York and Brooklyn, and some of them are the sons of wealthy parents. No boys convicted of crime are taken at the farm, for it is not a penal institution nor a reformatory in the legal acceptance of the term.

The Kansas Legislature.

TOPEKA, Feb. 14.—The Republican house took action which, it is contemplated, will bring the house squabble to the courts. It ordered its sergeant-at-arms to go to La Bette, Comanche county, and arrest a witness who refuses to appear before the Republican electors' committee and bring him before the bar of the house. The Populist house passed no appropriation bills, and the taking of the question to the supreme court in injunction proceedings has been delayed.

Supreme Council of the Red Cross.

ATLANTIC CITY, Feb. 14.—The supreme council of the legion of the Red Cross in its annual session here. Among those in attendance are Supreme Commander Charles H. Ellis, Jr., Supreme Recorder John B. Trafler of Wilmington, Supreme Treasurer J. H. Livingston of Baltimore and Supreme Medical Examiner Patterson of Wilmington.

Reconsidered His Declination.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Feb. 14.—The senate passed the house joint resolution recognizing the eminent ability and distinguished services of the Hon. Joseph Wheeler of Alabama and recommending him for appointment as secretary of agriculture in Mr. Cleveland's cabinet.

Congressman Belknap's Mandamus.

LANSING, Mich., Feb. 14.—The counsel for Congressman Belknap made application to the supreme court for a writ of mandamus compelling the state board of canvassers to issue a certificate to him as congressmen-elect from the Fifth Michigan district.

CLEVELAND IS ANNOYED.

Letters Relating to Offices Go Into the Wastebasket.

HARRISON EXTENDS COURTESIES.

The Feeling Senator of Kansas Calls, as Does Senator Vest of Missouri—They Have Cabinet Recommendations to Offer—The Annoyance of the Mails.

LAKEWOOD, N. J., Feb. 14.—Mr. Cleveland has been overwhelmed with letters directed to him here instead of being addressed to his office in New York, and as his private secretary is in the city the heavy correspondence has been added to his time and caused him great annoyance. He received 4 half dozen letters from men who asked personal interviews. In an interview Mr. Cleveland said: "There is one thing in connection with my retirement to Lakewood that has annoyed me very much. A number of people have sent letters here instead of directing their correspondence to my office in New York, where I have arrangements made for their disposition and for the early attention to me of all letters that require immediate attention.

Cannot Give Time to Letter Writing.

"Notwithstanding this and the fact that people generally must understand that I have many things on hand of passing importance, I am fairly deluged with letters of all descriptions directed to me here. So far as they relate to office, I suppose their writers expect they will gain some advantage by presenting their applications at this time. But the pressure must cease to be relieved from such importunities. If this is their calculation they are certainly much mistaken, for I feel in perfect liberty to consign to the waste basket letters of this description, which if sent to New York would be filed for future reference."

Visitors at Lakewood.

Senator Vest of Missouri came out on the early train and had a long talk with Mr. Cleveland. He urged the claims of Ex-Governor Francis of Missouri for either the interior or agricultural portfolio. Senator Martin of Kansas and Dr. S. P. Rusty of the same state arrived in the interest of Ex-Governor G. W. Glick of Kansas for secretary of agriculture.

Mr. Cleveland received a letter from President Harrison, couched in the most friendly terms and proffering the hospitalities of the White House before the inauguration. Mr. Harrison also offered to assist Mr. Cleveland in every way in his power in regard to public business and matters of state.

PARKHURST'S DETECTIVE RESIGNS.

The Society Does Not, However, Believe In Gardner's Guilt.

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—Charles W. Gardner has resigned his position as chief detective of the Society for the Prevention of Crime, of which Rev. Dr. Parkhurst is president. The resignation was promptly accepted at a meeting of the executive committee shortly after Gardner's conviction. In the absence from the city of Rev. Dr. Parkhurst, Rev. Dr. Mines, a member of the executive committee, said:

"Gardner was a marked man, and even if he should get a new trial and be cleared of extortion, to keep him on the payroll will be only a matter of charity. Understand, however, that the acceptance of his resignation in no wise carries with it a belief in his guilt. He was what might be called rash and injudicious. He had no regard for his own safety, but would rush into things with the full belief that he could carry them out successfully. His conviction was not justified upon the charge brought against him."

The World's Greatest Drawbridge.

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—The award for the 4-track drawbridge to be built by the New York Central Railroad company over the Harlem river has been made to the King Bridge company of Cleveland. This bridge will be 400 feet in length, carried upon a center pier of granite masonry 36 feet in diameter, resting upon the solid rock which underlies the thirteen feet. No drawbridge in the world will equal this structure in dimensions and capacity when it is completed, as it is intended to make connections for four trains drawn by the heaviest locomotives.

Proving Gresham's Supremacy.

CHICAGO, Feb. 14.—The Journal prints an elaborate article to show that Judge Gresham might have been nominated at Minneapolis if the Republican national convention for president. It appears that Gresham was suggested as a compromise candidate between Harrison and Blaine. Governor Rusk's delegation offered to put him in the race. Ex-Judge Jamieson of Chicago sounded Gresham on the proposition. He absolutely declined the honor, as his political views were opposed to Republican ideas.

A Servant Girls' Combine.

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—It was officially reported to members of the Central Labor Federation that 19 servant girls of Hempstead, L. I., have organized a union and made a demand for $14 a month. This action resulted in five of their number being discharged and the members of the federation held in which they worked determining to do their own work.

The Wyoming Senatorship.

CHEYENNE, Wy., Feb. 14.—One fruitless ballot was taken for senator. It is conceded that the Democrats and Populists cannot and will not unite on a candidate, and it is very probable that if ex-Governor Baxter is not elected there will be no election. There are only four members to which to ballot, as the legislature will adjourn Saturday night.

Pastor Loucks Falsely Accused.

CAMDEN, N. J., Feb. 14.—The committee appointed to investigate charges of immoral conduct against Rev. Wallington E. Loucks, late pastor of the First Presbyterian church of this city, made a report at a meeting of the West Jersey presbytery declaring he was innocent of the charges. The report was unanimously adopted.

Dr. Clarke Quietly Whitewashed.

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—At a meeting of the presbytery in the Scotch church the resignation of Dr. Clarke was again taken up and finally accepted without debate, this being according to his wishes. Dr. Clarke was also given a recommendatory letter to the Association of the West Suffolk Congregational Ministers.

President Van Norden Resigns.

ELMIRA, N. Y., Feb. 14.—President Van Norden, of the Elmira Female college, has resigned on account of a disagreement between him and the trustees.

Rev. Mr. Williams Heartily Endorses Hood's Sarsaparilla.

We are pleased to present this from Rev. A. A. Williams, of the Silsbee street Christian Church, Lynn, Mass.:

"I see no reason why a clergyman, more than a layman, who knows a thing to be good, should hesitate to approve an

Article of Merit

and worth, from which he or his family have received benefit. I have used Hood's Sarsaparilla, and know from my own experience and observation that it is a good medicine. I have for the many years been a sufferer from severe for which one small bottle has done me more good than all the medicine I have ever taken for the relief. The effects of which I used in my family, with the general health has been much improved. I shall take pleasure in calling attention to the merits of Hood's Sarsaparilla from our experience with

Nervous Headache

Hood's Sarsaparilla

I have no hesitation in endorsing its merits."

HUGH O'DONNELL ON TRIAL.

A Jury Obtained and the Case Opened by the Prosecution.

PITTSBURG, Feb 14.—The jury selected in the Hugh O'Donnell Homestead case is considered favorable to the defense. The limited space in the courtroom was thronged with spectators. Mr. Patterson occupied an hour in his address to the jury, opening the case for the prosecution. He reviewed the circumstances leading up to the riot at great length, giving every detail up to the surrender of the barges on the evening of July 6. Closing, he said the prosecution would prove that P. J.

HUGH O'DONNELL.

Connors came to his death from a gunshot wound fired by some one of a crowd of persons on the river bank at the Homestead mills; that the common purpose of this crowd was to kill, and Hugh O'Donnell formed one of their number. As a member he aided, abetted, assisted and encouraged the work which went on there and therefore was guilty of murder.

MONTANA LEGISLATORS MAD.

Charges and Counter-charges of Bribery Are Freely Made.

HELENA, Mon., Feb. 14.—Contrary to expectations the senatorial controversy was not settled yesterday. The 10 Democratic followers of Daly and 2 Populists stuck by Judge Dixon. The Republicans selected a committee to investigate charges of crookedness or bribery and declared that they will continue to hunt out and expose anything of the kind should it occur.

Serious trouble is expected on the floor of the joint convention, as betrayals of party are making men desperate, and bloodshed is threatened as a sequel to political dishonesty.

In an article The Herald, under the caption, "Three-Seven-Seventy-seven," the sign of early day vigilantes when a bad man was to be hanged, says: The warning is "for the miserable tools who handle the hoodle and try to tempt honest men to sacrifice their self respect, their honor, good name and everything that makes life worth living."

The Herald further claims that evidence of bribery and fraud already secured will be presented to the grand jury of Clark and Lewis counties, now in session.

Democrats are confident that ultimately they will elect their senator.

TRENTON WITHOUT WATER.

The Rising Delaware Does an Immense Amount of Damage.

TRENTON, Feb. 14.—The authorities here are alarmed over the condition of the river. No water for drinking purposes has been obtainable for four days, the pumphouse at the reservoir being disabled by the ice. This afternoon the board of public works held a meeting and determined on an attempt to start the ice out of the river by the use of dynamite. There is but little hope of accomplishing much, as the ice is piled up there 30 feet above the surface of the river. It is solidly imbedded in the stream, and the jam extends many miles. All the bridges across the Delaware between Trenton and Lambertville are now in danger, as the ice is pressed against the abutments and is gradually undermining them. The flour mills of the city all came to a standstill, and altogether there are now 6,000 hands out of employment. The Delaware is higher than ever before in its history, and the submerging of the business streets in the heart of the city is probable.

Father Killeen Awaiting Developments.

BAYONNE, N. J., Feb. 14.—Father Killeen, when asked regarding the report of his contemplated visit to Washington, said: "There is absolutely no truth in the report. Dr. Burtsell and I have no intention of going to Washington unless we are summoned by the apostolic delegate. I have not forwarded any copy of Bishop Wigger's letter to Archbishop Satolli, and I have no new charges to prefer against my bishop. I am satisfied that within a few days Mgr. Satolli will favor the public with a statement giving his own interpretation of his recent decision."

Lord Stanley's Son Dying.

OTTAWA, Feb. 14.—Lord Stanley's second son, the Hon. Arthur Stanley, is dying in England. The news created great consternation at the government house. In the event of Lord Stanley's death the state of affairs would leave for England immediately to attend the funeral. This would mean that a new governor general—probably Lord Aberdeen—would assume the duties of office in Canada at once.

Final Dividend of the Franklin Bank.

PROVIDENCE, Feb. 14.—The master in chancery has made his draft report to the depositors of the Franklin Institution for Savings, one of the banks brought down by the Sprague failure. Up to date the depositors had received 86 cents on the dollar. The master decided that they should have a final dividend of 2 9-10 per cent, amounting in the aggregate to $77,294.

Goddard's Modest Claim.

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—Billy Madden, Joe Goddard's manager, reached here from the west. Madden will be on hand to challenge Charley Mitchell when the latter arrives on behalf of his protege. Madden unhesitatingly says that Goddard is champion, and that if Mitchell wants to secure the coveted title he must fight Goddard first.

Corbett Ready to Fight.

ST. PAUL, Feb. 14.—James J. Corbett wrote his personal check for $10,000 here for a fight with either Mitchell or Jackson. Mr. Brady left for New York with this check and will make an effort to get on a fight with Mitchell in December. If he should fail in this a match will be made with Peter Jackson for a fight for $10,000 a side.

Says Cleveland Will Veto Sunday Opening.

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—In a sermon the Rev. R. R. Tyler, minister of the Church of Disciples of Christ, said he had it on good authority that should the next congress pass a law requiring the opening of the Chicago World's fair on Sundays, President Cleveland will veto the measure.

TOPICS AT WASHINGTON

The Nicaragua Canal Bill Receives Consideration.

HAWAIIAN BRIEFS EXCHANGED.

Secretary Foster Holds a Conference With the Monetary Delegates—The American End of the Panama Scandal Does Not Develope Anything, as Was Thought.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—The District of Columbia committee, notwithstanding the protest of the committee on appropriations, held the floor in the house. Half a dozen measures of entirely local import were passed.

The bill which is intended to secure the construction of the Nicaragua ship canal occupied the attention of the senate. It provides that 2 per cent bonds of the company to an amount not exceeding $100,000,000 shall be guaranteed (principal and interest) by the government of the United States, these bonds to be issued according as money is actually paid out and expended by the company in the construction of the canal.

The Government's Share In Nicaragua.

The government is then to own the capital stock of the company, with the exception of $12,000,000 of it, which is to be retained by the company, and except the shares to be delivered to the governments of Nicaragua and Costa Rica. The importance of this guarantee by the government was demonstrated in a speech by Mr. Frye (Rep., Me.), who undertook to show that the work would, with the guarantee, be fully completed at a cost of $100,000,000, and that the fixed charges would be only $5,000,000 (outside of a sinking fund), whereas without the guarantee the cost would be not less than $200,000,000 and its fixed charges $10,000,000 a year. Mr. Morgan (Dem., Ala.) discussed the diplomatic features of the measure, which went over without action.

The Hawaiian Negotiations.

There was no conference between the Hawaiian commissioners and Secretary of State Foster. The secretary was engaged with the delegates from the United States to the international monetary conference, who are in the city to complete their report to the president. Each side has received from the other a draft of the basis of the proposed treaty of annexation, and the harmonizing of details, upon which there is a difference of opinion, can proceed without a personal conference.

No Scandal Here.

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—The house committee, of which Colonel Fellows is chairman, is holding sessions here. Two witnesses connected with the Panama company were sworn, but nothing was elicited tending to show any illegal use of money.

WALDRON DENIES THE CHARGE.

He Never Took a Cent of New Haven's Public Money.

NEW HAVEN, Feb. 14.—Ex-Clerk Waldron of the board of public works appeared in the city court to answer to the charge of embezzlement from the city. The case went over to the next term of the superior court. Bonds for the release of Waldron were fixed at $5,000 and were furnished promptly. Mr. Waldron stated after court that he had never knowingly taken a cent of the city's money.

She Puzzled the Lawyers.

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—Mrs. Lizzie H. Perkins had no use for lawyers, and when she died in Paris in November, 1891, her will was found in her own handwriting. She had drawn it unaided. Her estate amounted to about $150,000, nearly all in stocks, bonds and other personal property. Her executors were unable to understand parts of the will, and turned that instrument over to a lawyer to direct them in their duties. He was not clear about it and passed it around. No two opinions agreed about it. Up to this time, in one way and another, 35 lawyers have become mixed up in it.

National Association of Builders.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 14.—The annual convention of the National Association of Builders of America opens here today. There will be about 200 people present. The presiding officers will be Anthony Ittner of this city, president; Ira C. Hersey of Boston, first vice president; H. Sisson of Baltimore, second vice president; W. H. Baywood of Boston, secretary, and George Tapper of Chicago, treasurer.

Blood Poisoning From a Chicken Scratch.

JERSEY CITY, Feb. 14.—George C. Buckingham of Jersey City, a member of the firm of Judd & Buckingham, is dying of blood poisoning. He was wringing the neck of a chicken which struggled to get free, when one of the fowl's claws caught in his hand and tore the flesh. The hand began to swell, and medical aid was summoned. Mr. Buckingham is 70 years old.

Held Up In Cleveland.

CLEVELAND, Feb. 14.—William Brooks, a milkman, while driving along Giddens avenue, in the central part of the city, was held up by highwaymen and ordered to hand over his money. He refused, and one of the robbers shot him in the side. They then took what money he had and made good their escape. Brooks' wound will probably prove fatal.

Assets of F. V. Rockefellow & Co.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Feb. 14.—The court appointed Messrs. Darling Reynolds and John M. Crane appraisers of the defunct banking house of F. V. Rockafellow & Co. It is rumored that sufficient assets have been found to pay off the depositors in full.

Nowvin Green's Successor.

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—It is stated on the authority of a prominent director of the Western Union Telegraph company that General Thomas T. Eckert, first vice president and general manager, will succeed Dr. Green as president.

Was Shot by His Dupes.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., Feb. 14.—George Appo, the New York green goods swindler, who was shot in a hotel here on Sunday last, is better, and there is a possibility that he will recover.

A Royal Betrothal.

SOFIA, Feb. 14.—The betrothal of Prince Ferdinand of Bulgaria and the Princess Marie Louise, daughter of the Duke of Parma, is announced officially.

No 2-cent Postage For Canada.

OTTAWA, Feb. 14.—In parliament the government announced that Canada will not adopt 2-cent postage.

BEAVER FALLS' ECONOMY BANK.

Depositors Make a Run and Are Paid Promptly.

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., Feb. 14.—A big run on the Economy bank on Saturday was only a slight warning of what was to follow. Monday before the bank opened the stone steps leading to the building were crowded with people, all with anxious faces, waiting to draw out their money. The published statements of Cashier Reeves regarding the solidity of the concern only appeared to increase the fears of those who had money in the bank. All the morning the entrances to the bank was jammed. The cashier, assistant cashier, teller and clerks were settling accounts, while perspiration streamed down their faces. In the midst of the rush Cashier John Reeves stated, as before, that all accounts would be paid and that they had more than enough money for all depositors. As on Saturday, the greater part of those drawing out their accounts were women and children. At noon the crowds still continued. Despite the run, many of the larger depositors have no fears. One person deposited over $10,000, and others deposited large amounts. They say that they have no fears and would deposit all the money they have without the least hesitation.

LADIES' GLOVES.

Interesting Information Regarding This Important Part of the Wardrobe.

Gloves play a most important part in the feminine wardrobe; nothing denotes a woman's caliber so quickly as her gloves and boots. A shabby dress and bonnet are often redeemed and made almost elegant by neatly fitting gloves and boots. They are an expensive luxury, but frayed finger tips are the height of vulgarity. Many women ruin beautiful gowns by wearing gloves inconsistent with their toilet.

WALKING GLOVE. EVENING GLOVE.

A tailor made gown or walking costume worn in the morning should be accompanied by a glove of Russian leather, in shades of red or tan. These harmonize with almost any costume. The walking glove is heavy and is decorated with narrow stitching, with large brass buttons or clasps, and the prices range from $1.50 to $2.50.

A really economical and good wearing glove for the woman whose means are limited is the button lisle lace mc glove. These are especially nice for shopping and can be had for one dollar a pair.

In the afternoon the fashionable woman wears suede mousquetaire gloves to match the gown.

For receptions, when the glove does not match the gown, "mode color" is now the fad, and is worn with all gowns. This glove is a pale pink. In length these are from four to eight button mousquetaire.

The recent fashion of wearing white glace kid with slack or white stitching is not so prevalent. They are expensive gloves to wear on account of their delicacy of color, as they can rarely be worn on more than three occasions, when the only resource is the cleaner.

For evening wear the pale tints of suede or pure white gloves are always permissible. Gloves, however, in the shades of evening gowns are more desirable. The usual length is twenty buttons, which, when worn with short sleeves or simple shoulder puffs, shows a portion of the arm.

It is seldom that an evening glove is made of one piece of kid, glovemakers claiming that no skin is perfect and much must be cut away, in consequence of which there is a joining in the very long pairs of gloves.

A clever girl says she economizes in regard to her dancing gloves by wearing white gloves, and when the fingers and hands of the glove show wear-outs it off at the wrist, buys a fresh pair of short gloves and joins them on the seam, which is hidden in the wrinkles at the wrist.

Black gloves are the prettiest on the hand, but they are the least endurable and always more expensive.

There is no economy in cheap gloves.

The Knot.

A Little Washington girl unconsciously made a very forcible appeal for distinct enunciation by public speakers. She had returned from church, where the minister had chosen for his text the sentence, "Behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy!"

"Now, you tell me what the text was!" said her father when she reached home.

"Course I can," was the confident reply. "What was it?"

And the little one confidently replied, "Behold, I give you tidings of Lake George."—Washington Star.

DAY IN AND DAY OUT.

THE APPARENT CEASELESS ROUND OF A WOMAN'S DAILY LIFE.

How the Hundreds of Little Things About the House That Must Be Attended to Oppress One Woman—The Real Secret of a Woman's Life Is Not to Worry.

Will there never be any end of it, my dear friend? I mean won't we ever get through? Have we got to go from one thing to another forever? I am not grumbling, not even am I one of the discontented, but somehow I do wish we could just see the chance for five minutes to sit down and say we have nothing that really shouts after us, "Mary Jane, ain't you coming to fix me?" or, "Mary Jane, ain't you ready to make me up?" I am cheerfully walk or folks, you know, but it's thing that bothe me—washing things, scrubbing things, touching up things, putting things in shape. As I had all the furniture in new when we married, and do you know how furniture gets scratched, and the seats give out, and the varnish spilt, and the joints give way, so that I dread a new chair awfully, because, I say, who knows now where the thing is going to give out? Crockery was an invention of the devil, I am sure. Why was anything of the kind ever thought of? The very instinct of crack-and-go is in the best of it.

Just you take the item of lamp chimneys. I don't mean the constant expense of buying new ones, but the fact that you never, no, never, have a complete set of lamps about the house in full order. One or the other always wants a wick, or a chimney, or a burner. I wish I could afford a load of the lampericks, with duties of no other kind but just to see to those fragile illuminators. How I long for natural gas or electric lights down this way, but haven't the least idea they take care of themselves—oh, dear, no! Not anything takes care of itself! Dust! Now that is the one thing that makes the woman's life as near miserable as she will allow it to be. Insignificant, impalpable, nothing; too small to scold about, and yet it is the most conquerable, never-expressible foe of rest.

I want to see before I die just one day when things won't have to be dusted. Sweep it up? That is just it. Sweeping brings it up out of its hiding places and lands it on and in everything. And when we are through with brooms and dusters in one direction we find it in full force somewhere else. It is our irrepressible conflict. How much dust do you suppose a woman has to breathe, and how much to eat in the course of a year? I am not complaining of the work, you know, only I just want to see a gap in it somewhere. It's the same with mending clothes for our children and husbands. Rips and tears and holes worn through one after another, I suppose through eternity, if we should live so long. Just think of darning the socks for 50,000,000 of years!

I want to see our folks, just for once, without a button off. I've taught my best to get the buttons all on for six children and my blessed Tom—every one on—on every pocket, vest, overcoat, pants, but I can't. I never saw the day when there wasn't a button off something. Now, mind you, friend Mary, I don't complain, only it would be so delightful to get through one thing. I like work. I would not be without something to do for the world, but what fun it would be to have to look it up—just have a hunt for a job!

You know what they say about no use being so much more wholesome than carpets and saving of work. Well, we have rugs in six rooms—library, dining room, reception room, family room and two chambers. That makes just six days a week for taking up rugs and having them beat and the floors scrubbed. We don't beat rugs Sundays. Between you and I, what a terrible unjust fashion is! It would do to say much about this, but did you ever think of what fashion is—say in bonnets? Well, it's never fixed, not for one blessed minute. It's a sliding scale—just moves along slowly every minute. You can't be in style—not exactly quite—if you do anything but have your hat trimmed. Of course you can't wear it if it's being trimmed all the time. Mrs. Langtry is no better off with 50 hats and 50 dresses. It must be horrid to have so many, all going, going, going out of style every blessed minute. "Blessed be she that has nothing." Well, not quite, I suppose, but ain't it blessed that we can't have but one husband?

Polyandry is just 10,000 times worse than polygamy. I hope there won't ever be a Utah that starts up that notion. I think the world of Tom, and that is just where the pinch comes in. I want him to be all right every where and just a model, and the blessedest old perfection he would be. And he is, but he wouldn't be without me—no, he wouldn't, and it takes just a continuous watchfulness. It is a match with your John, I'll warrant. There is no end of sewing to his things and putting them to rights. Did you ever know a man that could pick things up and keep them in order? Did you ever know one who could shut drawers and closet doors? They don't like to be bothered about little things. The fact is, I presume, they feel just as we do—they want to see the end of something. Their way is to skip over small affairs and leave them to us. I'm glad they do, for I hate pottering myself; but, worse yet, I hate pottering men.

I am glad they do leave the drawers in a muss and their shirts on the floor. I can see that woman has her mission—if we only could—well, it is. I don't want to see the end of some bothers. What a blessed thing it is to wear ourselves out for those we love! Could you imagine a tolerable life or a tolerable world with children left out? Making a home and keeping a home in order and making it grow in goodness is such a wonderful power and gift!

The secret of a life of cheerfulness I do what we have to do and borrow no trouble of the future. I think a true woman's strength will generally match her trials.—Mary E. Spencer in St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Some Popular Women.

Some of the most popular women and belles of today are not especially beautiful. It is an old paradox that many of the most famous beauties are not beautiful. Skobeleff's sister, who is married to the czar's cousin, is as far removed as Cleopatra or Salome from the type of classic purity, but she is the cynosure of all the grace, and her physiognomy is eloquent in expressing poetry of feeling. Anne Boleyn had many plastic defects.

The Duchess of Burgundy, who lit up, in the old age of Louis Quatorze, the court of Versailles and neutralized the morose influence of Mme. de Maintenon, had a grotesque neck and decayed front teeth, yet she was proclaimed a beauty, even by the libidinous and censorious Saint-Simon. Margaret de Valois, with whom each of the prominent Frenchmen of her day were at some time or another desperately in love, had heavy cheeks, like a monkey's, too prominent eyes, which were often congested, and a thick, hanging under lip.—New York Commercial Advertiser.

BONNETS AND HATS.

THE NEWEST THINGS IN HEADGEAR BROUGHT FROM PARIS.

What Fashion Will Demand For the Spring Season—Many Novelties In Shape and Color—Yellow Will Be Much Worn, and Wide Strings Will Be In Vogue.

The first importations of French millinery show the tiny capote bonnets and the large hats which have been worn during the winter in a variety of new shapes in straw and lace. The toque and bost shapes have almost entirely disappeared, and the small bonnet is now a compact affair, fitting closely the head. In the new shapes it is often quite long and pointed, covering the ears and peaked high above the forehead or flaring from it in order to give room for face trimming. The 1830 poke, which already has anticipated in fall, appears in chip and fancy straw. It is a modification of the coal scuttle bonnet worn at the beginning of the century, though the crown is very much lower and smaller.

The square crown is chiefly seen in the new shapes, but it remains low, and there are many flat plateaus of straw of large size which are to be shaped by the deft fingers of the milliner into the fashionable poke bonnet, the crown being indicated merely by the arrangement of the trimming. For misses there are flat crowned shapes with brims broad and projecting in front and narrow in the back. These bonnets may be tied down with strings at the sides to form pokes, or they may be worn as they are, flaring from the face. All bonnets now are worn far enough back to leave the front hair exposed and require a facing of velvet and usually a face trimming.

NEW AND ODDISH.

The new bonnets and hats are almost exclusively made of chip or fancy braid. Milan straw seems to be completely superseded for substantial wear by chip. There are many fancy braids in mixed and amber effects. The "amour braid," which is of fine straw with a beaded edge, is extensively used with chip.

The New York Tribune says: "The first trimmed bonnets which have been sent over from Paris show the prevalence of the dahlia and cactuslike purple hues, of the rose and magenta colors, and of the castile yellow colors, which have a pinkish tinge and verge on the salmon. The trianon pink, a dull 'fade' shade of old rose, in amethyst tones is a new color which is shown in two shades. Yellow, which promises again to be a fashionable color because it combines so well with black, is shown in straw color, pale corn color, bis d'or, and in the deeper Cleopatra yellows, which were made popular last season. A touch of yellow is very often introduced on hats in dahlia colors.

"There are many tiny little bonnets in black lace, with full trimmings of yellow flowers and huge butterfly bows of black lace and yellow lace caught down by jeweled buckles directly over the forehead. A dainty little French bonnet is shaped in two distinct curves over the forehead and faced with corn lace, with a tiny plaited fall of ecru lace over the hair at the back. The bonnet is trimmed with trianon pink velvet ribbon, with ornaments of gold, set with Parisian jewels.

"It seems quite certain at present that a black hat, brightened by a touch of color, such as that imparted by a large rose with foliage, a cluster of yellow snowdrops or an orchid in dahlia tints, will be more often seen in general wear than anything else. The certainty of the complete return of black gowns to fashionable favor, street wear as well as for elaborate occasions, seems to make this assured.

"For mourning bonnets there are now long veils of black silk grenadine with wide bands, imported to take the place of the veils of nun's veiling which are worn on ordinary occasions when the crape veil is considered too cumbrous and elaborate. The advantage of silk grenadine is that it is much lighter than nun's veiling.

DAINTY FRENCH SHAPES.

"There are strings of liberal width on many of these spring bonnets. They are fully 2 inches wide. They are of velvet or of heavy sap satin. Later in the season, when summer weather comes, they will no doubt be committed, as nothing is more uncomfortable in warm weather than strings of heavy satin or of velvet under the chin."

Zouave Jackets.

Among the prettiest of the zouave jackets is one of Irish crochet. It looks like lace, but is much more durable. This fascinating work, by the bye, is becoming very popular, and women with beautiful hands display them well in making the ivory shuttle fly to and fro with marvelous quickness and causing the looker on to wonder at the intricacy of the pattern.

THE JONES FAMILY.

Mrs. Jones Gives Mrs. Jones a Lesson In Style.

"Maria," said Mr. Jones as his wife came in with her street suit on, "I wonder at you wearing a train to your dress. Seems to me you need to have more sense."

"It isn't my fault, Jeptha," said Mrs. Jones in a discouraged way. "Dressmakers know I don't want to go about dragging the hem of my best gown in the mud. It's the dressmaker's fault. She would have it so."

"H'm! I'd likes to see that dressmaker. I'd give her a piece of my mind. What right has she to dictate what you should or should not wear?"

"Oh, she said it would ruin her business to make a short dress when trains were worn. She wanted it ever so much longer, but I insisted on a moderate length. You don't know anything about the trial a woman has to get a dress made in the way she wants it done," said Mrs. Jones breathlessly.

"That's where you're weak. I'd smile to see a man giving up that way to his tailor," said Mr. Jones. "I just would. I've ordered a coat made to suit me. Keep your eyes peeled, Maria, and see if my tailor puts in any frills or furbelows I didn't order. I think I see him!"

It was Sunday morning when Mr. Jones received his new coat, much to his chagrin, as he had spent all Saturday evening lying in wait for it at the front door. He got into it in a hurry, for he wanted to wear it to church.

"How does it fit?" he said anxiously as he struggled into it.

"Well, I should say, though best to sight, to memory dear. Why, that collar is above your ears, and the cuffs are over your hands. Jeptha, that coat was never made for you."

"Don't fit?" snarled Mr. Jones. "Perhaps you'd likes to wear it yourself, Mrs. Jones? What's the matter with this coat?" asked Jones defiantly as he seized his tail hat and pulled on his head. But the tight coat collar rose up and floored the hat, and Mr. Jones said a word that had several consonants in it, and Mrs. Jones laughed till she cried.

"Nice conduct for Sunday morning," sneered Jones, rolling his coat collar down and his sleeves up in a pugilistic way. "If you think this coat is a misfit, you're mistaken, that's all."

"I suppose it's the fashion to have coat sleeves trail," remarked Mrs. Jones as she stuffed her handkerchief into her mouth to keep from laughing.

"Oh, you think it you're smart," said Jones in a rage. Then he took the coat off and kicked it into the closet. The next morning he interviewed his tailor, and the coats in the second and history case which the tailor owed would have kept Maria in pin money for a year. But Mr. Jones says no tailor can monkey with his clothes and live to brag of it.—Detroit Free Press.

And kick up a row in the beautiful snow! Shiver and shout Although you may, Blinding the eyes of collectors you meet, Making them think of a thousand of ills, While kicking over your beautiful hills! AN UNKNOWN SUICIDE.

THE BODY OF A WELL-DRESSED MAN FOUND NEAR METUCHEN.

A Metuchen Citizen Told to "Notify the Montgomerys of Plainfield if Anything Happens."—The Clue as Yet Unfruitful.

Dr. Edward B. Dane of Metuchen, Coroner of Middlesex county, was in this city this morning to inquire as to the identity of the suicide, whose body was found near Metuchen, as told in THE NEWS Saturday.

The body had evidently been lying in the woods about three weeks, and on account of the cold weather, was very little decomposed.

The dead man has been identified as a stranger who stopped a Metuchen citizen about four weeks ago and asked that if anything happened to him to notify the "Montgomerys of Plainfield." The stranger acted in a queer manner and was thought by the citizen to be drunk or insane.

Investigation by Chief of Police Grant about the city to-day for the family named Montgomery who might have known the man was unsuccessful in its results.

There are two families of the name of Montgomery in the city who had not yet been seen at three o'clock this afternoon.

Will Rector Jennings Vacate?

The order of Bishop Scarborough requiring Rector J. B. Jennings, of Grace church, Westfield, to vacate the parish, went into effect to-day, but it is not likely that anything will be done until Sunday. The rector says no power on earth can drive him out of the church. He has given out the usual notices for the regular services next Sunday, and the vestry have telegraphed to the bishop asking for instructions in case Mr. Jennings refuses to obey the order. The vestry fear they will have to use force in order to restrain him from preaching.

Charged with Assault with Intent to Kill.

John Hickory of Westfield, an old man aged sixty-three years, was taken to Elizabeth Saturday night and lodged in jail. The charge against him is that of assaulting with intent to kill a fellow townsman named William Marsh.

THE PHILHARMONIC CONCERT.

A Large Audience at the Casino Last Evening.

Last night the New York Philharmonic Club gave the final concert of its second series, under the direction of Eugene Weiner, and the management of H. O. Newman.

The audience was large and very appreciative.

The soloists—Miss May Lyle Smith and Mr. William H. Reiser—have both been heard here before, and were warmly welcomed. Both artists had to respond to enthusiastic demands for an encore.

Of the selections given by the club, three numbers were especially enjoyable.

The sextette of Chas. Korth, which throughout its four movements, was pastoral in character and suggested Springtime and the unfurling leaf.

The Idyl nocturne—Le Doppler—was truly idyllic, and was delicately rendered.

The Barcarolle of Lo Brander's, a dainty bright composition, and one with which was fittingly closed a very enjoyable musical evening.

PERSONAL.

The Rev. Dr. Langford will preach this evening in the church of the Holy Cross, at 7.45 o'clock.

Mrs. Cortiss entertained a few friends at her home, on Central avenue, yesterday afternoon.

Mr. John Brooks of this city, has been granted a patent on a bed and cylinder printing machine.

Knights of Pythias in Session.

The twenty-sixth annual session of the Grand Lodge, Knights of Pythias of New Jersey, convened in Masonic Hall, at Trenton, this morning at ten o'clock. Representatives are present from the one hundred and forty or more lodges in the State, and these, together with the past officers, who are entitled to sit in the Grand Lodge, and the visitors present, make a very large assemblage.

Hon. John Ulrich of this city, is the Past Grand Chancellor.

There is now in the Grand Lodge one Past Supreme Chancellor, 20 Past Grand Chancellors, 3,628 Past Chancellors, and 9,922 Knights. The Knights of Pythias are noted for the excellent work they do in relieving sickness and distress, and during the year just closed the sum of $62,354 28 was paid out in relief. Of this large amount there was paid out for the relief of brothers, $42,712.85; for watching the sick, $851.95; the relief of widowed families, $1,102.88; of members of other lodges, $4,500; for the burial of the dead, $13,113.14. Supreme Chancellor Blackwell will be present and assist in the exemplification of the new ritual

No. 277, Mr. Smith, provides that cities may acquire lands for its uses by condemnation.

CELEBRATED HIS FIRST MASS.

St. Teresa's Church Crowded Last Sunday when Rev. F. J. Murphy Read Mass.

(From the Summit Record.)

"Every seat in St. Teresa's church was occupied last Sunday morning, when Rev. Francis J. Murphy, who on the Sunday previous had been ordained into the priesthood, for the first time celebrated solemn high mass. Shortly after 10.30 o'clock Father Murphy entered the church and marched up the centre aisle to the altar preceded by Sub-Deacon Doyle and Deacon Stanislaus. The two latter with the pastor Rev. G. A. Vassallo assisted the young priest with the celebration of the mass and they were attended by eight altar boys.

The young celebrant manifested no evidence of that nervousness which usually attends the reading of the mass for the first time by a priest. The sermon was preached by Rev. G. A. Vassallo. At the evening service Father Murphy delivered a short lecture on "Devotion to the Sacred Heart" and the manner in which this sermon was delivered indicates that he will become one of the most eloquent orators among the priests in the diocese of Newark. The remainder of the services were conducted by the pastor."

Father Murphy is the priest appointed by Bishop Wigger to assist Father Smyth of St. Mary's, this city.

W. C. T. U. Notes.

[Contributed.]

Rev. Dr. Edward Everett Hale says: "I like to put myself on record as saying that all the poverty, all the crime and all the vice which attract public attention in Boston among what we call the poorer classes, may be ascribed to the free use of intoxicating liquors. I have said a hundred times, and I am willing to say it again, that if anybody will take charge of all the poverty and crime which results from drunkenness, the South Congregational church of which I have the honor to be the minister, will alone take charge of all the rest of the poverty which needs outdoor relief in the city of Boston. If that church could satisfy its conscience with as small work as that, it would certainly relieve its visiting forces and its treasury of a very considerable part of the demands now made upon them."

The New Jersey Temperance Gazette says: "If prohibitory laws are wrong in principle, then all license laws are wrong in principle, as every license law implies prohibition; all are prohibited who do not obtain license. If it is right to prohibit 200 men from selling rum why is it wrong to prohibit the 200th man? The principle of prohibition is the same under the license system to all except licensed venders, as it is under a universal prohibitory law, inasmuch as all are prohibited from selling except those to whom license is granted."

Half-Rate Tickets for Clergymen on the Pennsylvania Railroad.

Pursuing the policy inaugurated last year, the Pennsylvania Railroad Company is supplying regularly ordained ministers of the Gospel with clerical orders entitling the holders to tickets at half-rates over the entire system. These tickets are purchasable by any clergyman exhibiting a "clerical order," and they are good for use at any station on the Pennsylvania system. both east and west of Pittsburg, at one-half the regular rates. Hence, the Pennsylvania clergymen may secure half-rates to Chicago during the World's Fair, and there can be no doubt that a great many of them will avail themselves of the opportunity. This liberality in the matter of rail privilege by the Pennsylvania Railroad company last year met with hearty appreciation at the hands of the ministers of all denominations, and its continuance this year will be especially appreciated by reason of the advantages it carries in connection with the World's Fair.

A Decision by Vice Chancellor Pitney

The following important decision has been recently made by Vice Chancellor Pitney:

"1. A bona fide mortgage given by a debtor upon lands devised to him, and executed before suit brought against such devisee upon the debts of the testator, is an incumbrance prior to any of the lands, and will take precedence over a judgment against the devisee upon the debts of the testator.

"2. Notwithstanding the reversal, in part, by the Court of Errors and Appeals, of the judgment of the Supreme Court, reported in Zee v. Jones, 1 Hal., 353, the law as declared by the latter has been in accord with the declaration of the Supreme Court in that case with regard to the effect of such mortgage."

A Rich Man.

Thousands of men with nothing in their pockets, and thousands of others with empty pockets are rich. A man born with a good, sound constitution, a good stomach, a good liver, a good brain, a good heart, good bandpieces, is rich. Good bones are better than gold, tough muscles than houses, and lands, and a free and vigorous circulation better than bank stock and government bonds. Good digestion is to be preferred to great estates, and a sound conscience is the corner stone of character and of all that is valuable in human institutions. He who has health has hope, and he who has hope has almost everything. He who has neither is poor indeed.

No Longer Quarantined.

The house of Mr. John T. Odam of West Fifth street, which has been quarantined for some time on account of scarlet fever in the family, has been fumigated by Health Inspector Dunham, and the quarantine removed. No new cases have been reported to the Board.

A Political Fight in Kansas.

TOPEKA, Kan., Feb. 15, (Special.)—At 10 o'clock this morning Gov. Lewelling called out the State militia to eject the members of the Republican House from the Hall of Representatives.

They had effected forcible entrance by means of sledge hammers through doors barred by the Populists. Serious trouble is imminent.

A Small Pox Epidemic Feared.

NEW YORK, Feb. 15. (Special.)—There is considerable excitement in Long Island City over a threatened epidemic of small pox. It became known this morning that there were five cases in the city, and that George R. Crowley, Mayor Sanford's private secretary, is one of the victims.

Wants to Reform Primaries.

Gov. Werts is trying to have our methods of holding elections simplified. The Governor is doing many things that is winning him friends from the ranks of even those who voted against him. He is a most agreeable surprise. If he succeeds in this undertaking he will win more friends probably than from any other act he may do. In the Evening Express of Morristown which is supposed to speak by authority in the Governor's old home is a column article on the subject, the gist of which is contained in the following paragraph:

The first place where reform is needed is in the primary. That is the source of our political life. It may be possible, but it is highly improbable, that the people have any better person to represent them than is presented by one or the other of the primaries of the two great parties. Nominations by petition is practically a dead letter—third parties and political rebellions are merely a diversion for the average voter, who seldom regards them seriously. Every effort should be made to prevent the candidate of a primary or convention being any other than one fairly selected by the party really to prefer. The candidate should not be some person who is simply clever enough to capture the nomination by trickery or fraud, and force of party discipline. He should not be a man that political cliques have thrust forward, through party loyalty the same as a child receives its dose of medicine—because it is good for it, and not through any pleasure it gives. With a properly regulated method of holding primaries and conventions the people would never have to ask the question, which is the greater evil? but, which is the greater good?

Literary Note.

The latest and probably prettiest song now being sung on the stage, is entitled "The Indian Summer Time." It is by the popular author, Will L. Thompson, of East Liverpool, Ohio.

My ankle is sad—my knee is aching,
I stay in bed all sunshiny hours
When I go to perfect health I'm taking
Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

Half the world would be wiser, healthier, happier if it followed our advice and "had some H-O for breakfast." In that one sentence is the secret art of living.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Warming Country Houses.

If the traveler in England cares to investigate the remains of any of the ancient Roman villas found in various parts of that country, he will find the modern American way of warming a house by furnaces, register and hot air pipes passing through it was understood nearly 2,000 years ago probably better than it is now. The Roman villa had a furnace underneath, with hot air flowing in pipes up the walls and under the floors. Further than this, in every Roman country house there was a Turkish bath arrangement. The hot air pipes passed into a small, tight room. There the bather shut himself up and remained till he was ready for the plunge bath, which was attached in all cases to the hot air rooms.

Now, how many of the houses of even our wealthiest agriculturists are heated in any way except by the old fashioned barbarous method of a fireplace in a few of the rooms, while all the rest are left cold enough to chill the chance visitor to the bone? At no great expense every farmer's house can be thoroughly heated from top to bottom by just one fire, the furnace in the cellar. The construction is not difficult. The system has been brought to such perfection that fresh air for ventilation can be drawn in by the furnace drafts and spread evenly through the house. There will only be one fire to attend to instead of three or four, and everybody will be warm, which few are now in a country house under the present dusty, ash flying, wasteful method.

The Americans gave to the modern world the art of heating houses by hot air furnace and by steam. We certainly ought to have among our own intelligent farmers as comfortable houses as the old heathen Romans had.

Preachers of the Ideal.

Among the numerous distinguished persons who have died within the last year are three whose loss brings painfully to mind the question, Who will take their places? There remain gifted men not a few, in their fields as great as the ones gone before, but they are not the same, for these three in particular presided and sang of the moral ideal—of the life of noble exaltation and aspiration. The three were Tennyson, Whittier and Phillips Brooks.

In the preaching of Bishop Brooks, in the songs of Tennyson in all his best years, and of Whittier all his life, there was that thrilling, exalted quality which for a little time lifts a man out of the dusty, hurried atmosphere of every day and shows him how mean and commonplace our ordinary thoughts are, how lofty and kindly our human life may become when each soul is moved by noble aspiration. Humanity would destroy itself and perish off the earth without such teachers and such inspired singers to keep before its view the best and grandest side of its nature.

The world is never quite left without these marvelous teachers and singers. Man's fate would be too dark if that were so. There are still preachers, more or less widely known, who strive without ceasing to lift their hearers up to the plane of the perfect humanity. But where are the poets of the noble ideal?

Mr. John E. Lewis, a private star gazer of Ansonia, Conn., suddenly made himself famous without intending or at all expecting it. He is the one who, for the first time in history, has been able to photograph the path of a meteor across the sky. Meteors pass so quick that it has never been possible to even mark the track of one exactly with the naked eye, but once more photography has shown that it can do for the astronomer what not even the largest telescope can accomplish. Mr. Lewis saw a glare of brilliant light while his eyes were fixed upon the telescope that carried the camera with which he was trying to photograph the comet in the constellation of Andromeda. But others saw the meteor itself, and it was one of the largest. When Mr. Lewis developed the photograph, there, across the plate, full length, was a heavy, black line. He could not account for it at first; then he recalled the flash of light that had appeared around him. The meteor itself was seen over eastern New York and in Massachusetts and Connecticut.

The women's board of managers for the World's fair have done themselves great credit and set an example for promptness and economy to both men and women. The fund at their command embraced millions of dollars, which has been so carefully expended that at the close of last year Mrs. Potter Palmer had still left $7,765.61, to the credit of her board for that year. So quickly was the mechanical work that fell to the women's management performed that the Woman's building was the first of these position structures under roof.

Probably the conquest of Dahomey by the French has finished the story of women warriors in Africa. The amazon regiments of Behanzin were nearly all wiped out in their desperate fights, and the French, having now the upper hand, will most likely see to it that there are no more women soldiers. They were splendid creatures, too, these women warriors, being said to fight as a tigress and apparently valuing their lives at not a farthing when it comes to battle.

SHERMAN AND TELLER HAVE A TILT

The Senate Committee Favors 3 Per Cent Bonds In Case a Gold Crisis Shall Materialize—A Socialist Bill of Considerable Magnitude Introduced In Congress.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—After a short conflict between the Democrats and Republicans of the house the Democrats were obliged to yield gracefully and to agree to the terms which the Republicans presented, whereupon the general debate on the invalid pension bill should be continued until the minority was accorded six hours for debate. Then the debate continued, but it was without special interest.

The Nicaraguan canal bill was before the senate for a couple of hours and was then laid aside so that the sundry civil appropriation bill might be proceeded with. The canal bill was the subject of two speeches and of a running discussion, in which Mr. Sherman, who is in charge of it, took a leading part. He explained why it was that $12,000,000 of stock (already issued) was left outstanding. At one point in the discussion Mr. Teller (Rep., Colo.) referred to a statement of Mr. Sherman as a misrepresentation, whereupon Mr. Sherman exclaimed that that was false, as he had misrepresented nothing.

United States of the Earth.

Forty-six bills were introduced in the house by Mr. Miller (Dem., Wis.) to promote socialism. These bills were drawn by James S. Cowdon of Virginia and provide for the government control of pretty much everything that can be controlled and some things that cannot be. The author provides for a secretary of fluids, forces, fairs, lectures, amusements, etc. The comfort of the general public is to be provided for by a department of public health, their cleanliness enforced by a department of public baths and their clothing washed through the medium of a department of public laundries.

Mr. Cowdon further, by means of general legislation, regulates the limit of wages and labor, establishes a new system of taxation, creates a civil and criminal code commission, regulates marriage and divorce, provides for public improvements in Washington that would bankrupt the government for years to come, and lastly abolishes the army and navy, wipes out the prison laws and changes the name of the United States of America to that of United States of the Earth.

There were three absentees in the committee on finance, not counting the vacancy occasioned by the resignation of Mr. Carlisle, when the committee met and began the discussion of the proposed amendment of Mr. Sherman, which provides for the issue of 3-year 3 per cent bonds at the discretion of the secretary of the treasury. When the vote was taken there were six for the favorable report of the bill and only one against. There was no difference of opinion between Mr. Carlisle and the majority of the committee as to the wisdom of the issue of the bonds.

The Annexation Message.

It is stated that President Harrison may send the treaty annexing Hawaii to the United States to the senate today. By the terms of the treaty Hawaii comes in as a territory. The present provisional government is continued, however, until the treaty is ratified by it and until congress can pass legislation for a territorial government. It is also provided that pensions shall be paid to the ex-queen and to the Princess Kaiaulani. It is probable, however, that there will be considerable discussion in the senate as to the amount of these pensions, although it is thought they will ultimately be fixed at $25,000 annually.

Minister Stevens' Action Sustained.

Secretary Foster has telegraphed to Minister Stevens at Honolulu approval of his action in affirmatively responding to the request of the provisional government of Hawaii for the establishment of a protectorate over the islands pending negotiations for the annexation of the islands to the United States. Instructions for the guidance of his future action were also included in the telegram. These instructions will leave Sub-Francisco for Honolulu today by the steamer Alameda of the local line between those points.

Clemency For Claassen.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—The president has exercised executive clemency in the case of Peter J. Claassen, convicted of embezzling funds of the Bank of Commerce of New York and sentenced March 18, 1891, to six years' imprisonment in the Erie penitentiary.

The president says he does so because of the bad health of the prisoner. He commutes the sentence so as to give the prisoner the benefit of the two years he spent in jail before conviction. The commutation is that he will leave Claassen only two more years to serve, with the benefit of the usual deduction for good conduct.

Panama Receivership Postponed.

ALBANY, Feb. 15.—Attorney General Rosendale announced that the hearing in the matter of the application for the appointment of a receiver for the Panama Railroad company, which is incorporated under the laws of this state, which was to come off before him today, had been postponed with the consent of the parties to another date, to be hereafter fixed.

Asking a New Trial For Coy.

PITTSFIELD, Mass., Feb. 15.—A motion for a new trial for William Coy, the convicted murderer of John Whalen, was filed in the superior court. The grounds are that the murder was without premeditation and that a juror had during the trial expressed the opinion that Coy should be hanged.

Parson Downs Fails to Get a New Trial.

BOSTON, Feb. 15.—Judge Sherman, in the superior court, overruled the motion of Rev. W. W. Downs, formerly of the Bowdoin Square Baptist church, for a new trial in his case against Deacons Joseph Storey and Sydney A. Wilber for alleged conspiracy.

Caught In a Revolving Shaft.

SYRACUSE, Feb. 15.—Frederick W. Brown, in charge of an electric light works at Elbridge, was caught in the machinery of the power house, whirled around the shaft and instantly killed. His body was discovered by his 9-year-old boy.

Chicago's Great Antispitatious.

CHICAGO, Feb. 15.—Preliminary steps have been taken to establish in Chicago a great medical school, one which shall rival and possibly outclass the best institutions of the kind in Europe.

O'DONNELL'S TRIAL FOR MURDER.

Pinkerton Detectives Testify in the Homestead Case.

PITTSBURG, Feb. 15.—Captain Cooper of the Pinkertons testified that he saw O'Donnell twice—once when the barges backed and again when the surrender occurred. He said O'Donnell promised him and his men protection if they would surrender.

W. H. Burt, who had charge of the Chicago contingent of the Pinkertons, testified that O'Donnell called out: "Don't land. If you come ashore you will be killed."

Joseph Mallory, another Pinkerton, testified that O'Donnell gave orders to armed men on the bank and replaced one man with a pistol with one who had a shotgun. He then came to the bank and called to Captain Cooper that he wanted to talk to him. Cooper went inside, and O'Donnell said to him with an oath that they would be killed because they would not listen to him.

Frank McQuiston, a newspaper correspondent, testified that he was up in the cupola with O'Donnell during a part of the battle. A number of other correspondents were present, and O'Donnell warned them not to see anything which could be used as evidence."

George Campbell, editor of the West Elizabeth, said he was standing on the river bank when the rioters were pumping the oil at the barges, and he heard someone behind him say: "That is no way. Build a raft, load it with oil, set fire to it, and let it float down against them." He turned around and saw it was O'Donnell.

Harry Goehorn of the Pittsburg Dispatch was up in the cupola and corroborated the other witnesses. In conversation with O'Donnell about the matter he said, speaking in general men: "Gentlemen, this is no longer a riot. It is a revolution."

SPLENDOR OF MARDI GRAS.

A Wealth of Glint and Color Dazzling to the Eye.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 14.—The weather changed for the worst after the day parade, and the "Mystic Krewe of Comus" had a misty night for its street display. The theme was Belshazzar, and the book was illustrated with a wealth of color, brilliant effects, lovely costumes and bright illumination, as became a dream of the orgies of his majesty Rex. Her robe was of the Elizabethan era, with a high ruffle of gold and pearls distinguishing it from the modern coronation robes.

THE CRESCENT MILLS.

A Treasurer Magnifies the Assets So as to Keep His Place.

FALL RIVER, Mass., Feb. 15.—Recently at a special meeting of the stockholders of the Crescent mills the capital stock was reduced from $300,000 to $200,000 and afterward increased to $400,000 for the purpose of liquidating the debt of the corporation. Old stockholders were asked to contribute $100,000 on a basis of three shares of new stock for five shares of the old. They did not respond freely. A recent investigation into affairs has disclosed the fact that the assets of the concern were largely exaggerated by the treasurer, who was deposed about two years ago. According to another meeting has been called, and the stockholders will take action regarding the continuance of business. This deposed treasurer has stated that he magnified the earnings so as to keep his position, which he would have lost had the true state of affairs been known.

THE BUFFALO JURY DISAGREES.

The Election Fraud Case Will Have to Be Tried Again.

BUFFALO, Feb. 15.—The jury in the Duggan election fraud case reported that they could not agree. Judge Titus charged that if the jury found that Duggan made page 2 with wrong intent, no matter whether he made it election night or next day, he was guilty, but if the entries were not made with wrong intent he was not guilty. Mr. Sheehan was not in court at all, having gone to Albany.

Stones Thrown at the Minister.

EAST HADDAM, Mass., Feb. 15.—This village is full of excitement occasioned by another attack on Rev. David Chambers, the Methodist clergyman who was assaulted last August. This time a stone was thrown at him just after he came out of his boarding house in the dark last evening at 7:30 o'clock. It narrowly missed his head, breaking the window sash, breaking one pane of glass and also breaking the stone, pieces of which fell inside the room. The assailant is unknown.

His Rise Was Short.

WATERTOWN, N. Y., Feb. 15.—Thomas Gardman, a tramp, during the incarceration of John McDonald in the penitentiary, planned to occupy the absentee's place in Mrs. McDonald's affections. Last night they celebrated the husband's departure for prison by getting drunk. Gardman's clothes caught fire, and before help arrived he was burned to death.

The Vermont G. A. R. Encampment.

RUTLAND, Vt., Feb. 15.—The sixth annual encampment of the Department of Vermont, G. A. R., convened in the city hall. The roll calls showed nearly 300 delegates and representatives in all. Department Captain George W. Doty of Morrisville was presented for the office of department commander and was elected without opposition.

The Reading Shortage Grows.

READING, Pa., Feb. 15.—The shortage of ex-City Treasurer John Obold now exceeds $17,000, and new irregularities are coming to light. Expert Accountant Farr, who is investigating the ex-official's accounts, has thus far only gone over two years of the Obold served. It is expected that the other years will show a greater discrepancy.

Held Up a Train and Got Nothing.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Feb. 15.—Freight train No. 3 on the Missouri Pacific road from Kansas City was held up between Little Blue and Pleasant Hill by a gang of masked robbers. The robbers obtained nothing for their trouble.

The Buggy Upset.

LIMA, O., Feb. 15.—A buggy containing Mrs. McCreary, Miss McCreary and a 3-year-old child was upset. The two women received fatal injuries, but the child escaped.

A Cable Car Loses Its Grip.

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 15.—A serious cable car accident happened on the grades leading to the depot. Five persons were hurt.

OFFICIALLY ANNOUNCED.

Mr. Cleveland Names Four Members of His Cabinet.

WALTER Q. GRESHAM IS PREMIER.

Carlisle Will Be Secretary of the Treasury, Lamont of War, and Lear Partner Bissell of Buffalo Will Succeed Wanamaker In Superintending the Mails.

LAKEWOOD, N. J., Feb. 15.—Mr. Cleveland officially announced the names of four members of his cabinet through the United Press last evening. They are Walter Q. Gresham of Illinois, secretary of state; John G. Carlisle of Kentucky, secretary of the treasury; Daniel S. Lamont of New York, secretary of war; Wilson S. Bissell of Buffalo, postmaster general. On making announcements Mr. Cleveland said: "There is to me not any mystery in regard to the cabinet, and it is useless to speculate and indulge in guesswork. I shall make no secret of the matter, but shall announce the names of gentlemen against whom I have positively no room to receive their acceptance and persuasion to make the matter public."

Mr. Cleveland would say nothing in regard to the other positions or the men who have been mentioned in connection with them. It is evident that Hoke Smith, Hilary A. Herbert and others who have been mentioned are still under consideration. A conference which will probably settle Mr. Smith's chances one way or the other will be held at Mr. Cleveland's residence this week. Senator Gorman and other southerners will be present. Mr. Cleveland does not care to say what day he will visit the city, as he desires only to meet the men who have an appointment with him, and thus be able to dispose of important matters without interruption.

Newspapers and Monopolies Thrown.

Mr. Cleveland had a social visit from Mr. J. Cadwalader of Philadelphia. This is Mr. Cadwalader's second visit inside of a week. It is supposed that he had influence in the selection of a Philadelphian whose name is carefully guards from the public. Senator John Martin of Kansas and Dr. S. D. Nicol of the same state had a long talk with Mr. Cleveland. They put in a strong claim for a representative in the cabinet from Kansas. Senator Martin is the first Democratic senator ever sent to Washington from his state. He urged the selection of ex-Governor G. W. Glick and left Lakewood in a happy frame of mind as to the chances of his candidate. He said that Mr. Cleveland informed him that Judge Gresham had not been selected to temporarily fill the place of secretary of state until Minister E. J. Phelps finishes with the Behring sea controversy, but has been selected for good.

Connecticut Claims a Place.

HARTFORD, Feb. 15.—A Times Washington special says that it is stated there that the secretaryship of the navy is to go to Connecticut and that ex-Congressman Charles Brush of Seymour is to be a member of Mr. Cleveland's official family.

REASON FOR HILL'S ABSENCE.

It Is Alleged He Has Been Stealing $200 a Week From the Erie.

WESTWOOD, N. J., Feb. 15.—The mystery attending the disappearance and prolonged illness of Theodore Hill, cashier and paymaster of the New Jersey and New York railroad, who escaped to Canada ago, is solved. When Mr. Hill left the company's office at the foot of Chambers street on the morning of Jan. 26 and did not return to his home in Hackensack it was suffering from overwork, and since his return to his home in Hackensack on Feb. 1 it has been given out that he was suffering from trouble with his head, but was improving. It is now asserted that Mr. Hill's disappearance was caused by the fact that he was defficient in the company's accounts and had been doing it for two or three years.

Fall River's Mysterious Murder.

FALL RIVER, Mass., Feb. 15.—The body of Mrs. Bridget McCabe, who was murdered or drowned in Somerset Friday night while in company with Patrick Welch, now under arrest, was found this afternoon under the water where the barge William H. McClave had been moored. By what means she came by her death is not known when she left the train in company with Welch Friday night was found just where several persons saw her place it. There were no marks of violence on the body. It is understood that Welch's chances of proving his innocence of the charge of homicide are not now better than ever before. The prisoner received the news of the finding of the body with many signs of satisfaction.

Senator Carlisle's Successor.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Feb. 15.—The joint legislature today elected Judge William Lindsay to succeed Mr. Carlisle in the United States senate. Judge William Lindsay is about 55 years of age, has been on the supreme court bench, and is at present a successful practicing lawyer. He is in thorough sympathy with Mr. Cleveland at all points and will be a valuable aid to him in the senate in carrying out his policy as president. He has served as a state senator for many years and is Kentucky's commissioner to the World's fair.

Queens County Wants to Be Annexed.

LONG ISLAND CITY, N. Y., Feb. 15.—The Queens county board of supervisors will hold a special meeting Feb. 20 to discuss annexation to New York. A caucus of the board shows that five of the seven members are in favor of consolidation. Supervisor Denton of North Hempstead is opposed to annexation, as it interferes with a plan he has for making Long Island a separate state.

Chivalric Law Students.

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—The class of 1894 of the law department of the New York university elected the following officers to serve during the time to an office. Miss Florence H. Bumgardell of Auburn, N. Y., was elected president; Miss Ruth B. Richard son of Ohio was chosen second vice president, and Miss Emma Voce of this city historian.

The Monterey In Commission.

MARE ISLAND, Cal., Feb. 15.—The coast defense ram Monterey was formally placed in commission under command of Captain Louis Kempff. Her complement of 193 men was marched aboard, and the work of hoisting stores was immediately commenced.

One Boy Kills Another With a Revolver.

LOCKPORT, N. Y., Feb. 15.—Ernst Sternbach, aged 16, living near Somerset, was shot and instantly killed by a revolver in the hands of Herman Haas, another boy. The shooting was accidental.

Both Had Eczema
In Its Worst Form

After Physicians Failed, Hood's Sarsaparilla Perfectly Cured.

Great mental agony is endured by parents who see their children suffering from diseases caused by impure blood, and for which there seems no cure. Little is turned to joy when Hood's Sarsaparilla is resorted to, for it expels the foul humors from the blood, and restores the diseased skin to fresh, healthy brightness. Read the following from grateful parents:

"In C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.:

"We think Hood's Sarsaparilla is the most valuable medicine on the market for blood and skin diseases. Our two children suffered terribly with the for two years. We had three physicians in that time, but they did more harm than good, using them or even in giving them a little relief. At last we tried Hood's Sarsaparilla and in a few weeks the children were perfectly cured. We recommend as a standard family medicine, and would not be without it." Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Bailey, 1423 2nd Avenue, Altoona, Pa.

KANSAS' MERRY WAR.

Republicans Arrest a Populist, Who Is Rescued by His Associates.

TOPEKA, Feb. 15.—The Republican house of representatives took a new departure in the endeavor to bring matters to a crisis in the legislative muddle. Sam C. Rich, clerk of the Populist house, was, on the adoption of a resolution to that effect, arrested by the sergeant-at-arms of the Republican house and his assistants for contempt of court. The arrest took place in a restaurant, and had no sooner been effected than Rich was at once surrounded by about 20 Populists and forcibly taken away from the Republican sergeant-at-arms and escorted to the governor's office.

There is likely to be a conflict which may end in riot and bloodshed. Republicans are determined to arrest Rich, and the Populists say they never will submit to it. Both speakers have sworn in 100 sergeants-at-arms and they are all armed. It is firmly believed that the Populists will bar the doors of Representative hall against the Republicans, and the Republicans say that if they do they will batter down the doors. Speaker Douglass of the Republican house said that the end of this revolutionary business must come and that the law should be upheld, no matter at what cost. Governor Lewelling is advising the Populists to resist by force all attempts to arrest. Sergeant-at-arms Clevenger of the Republican house will be here today with a Populist witness whom he arrested in Labette county, and it is believed that the Populists will attempt to rescue him when he reaches here and another fight will ensue.

CORRIGAN FAVORS PAROCHIALS.

The Views of a Manitoba Bishop Please Him.

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—Archbishop Corrigan has received an open letter from Archbishop Taché of St. Boniface, Manitoba, which he has made public. It is an exhaustive exposition of the school question, and the fact that the archbishop is wholly outside of the present controversy is pointed out as lending weight to his words. He insists that the church maintains that she is the divinely established power to teach truth and morals, and that she prescribes the necessity for religious instruction in schools, dreading greatly the consequence of neutral instruction in public schools. He also insists that the church acknowledges the right of parents and indicates their duties with regard to the education of their children; that the church is not antagonistic to the civil power, but at the same time repudiates the idea of purely secular education.

LOVES HIS MOTHER-IN-LAW.

His Wife Sues For $1,000 In Consequence of the Complication.

NEW HAVEN, Feb. 15.—A daughter bringing suit against her mother for alienating a husband's affections is a rarity, but such a case was brought to light in court here. Frederick W. Prior and his mother-in-law, Mrs. Mary Gorham, were in the city court on a rather serious charge, but because of a lack of evidence were discharged. The judge intimated that all was not as it should be between the pair. The unusual feature of the affair is that Mrs. Prior, wife of one of the defendants, has brought suit against her mother, the other defendant, for $1,000 damages for alienation of her husband's affections. The case will come to trial shortly. Mrs. Gorham's husband, it is said, will sue for divorce.

FATHER ADAM DOES PENANCE.

The Miracle Working Priest Is Restored by His Bishop.

BROOKLYN, Feb. 15.—Father Thomas Adams, the suspended priest, who achieved considerable celebrity by cures of sick and disabled people, which he claimed to effect by the use of holy relics, was restored on Monday last to the priesthood with full faculties by Bishop McDonnell of Brooklyn. It was made by the bishop on condition that Father Adams before being restored to the priesthood should do penance for a short time in some religious institution or other quiet place outside of Brooklyn. Father Adams complied with this requirement by spending 10 days in seclusion at the monastery in Hoboken.

Gladstone Pleased the Irish.

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—The following cablegram has been received at the office of the National Federation:

LONDON, Feb. 15.

Dr. Emmet, President, New York:

I am glad to inform you that Mr. Gladstone's new home rule bill offers Ireland a better and more democratic constitution than that contained in his measure of 1886. The National party has given a hearty acceptance to the constitutional provisions of the bill, and the feeling here is that the Liberal government is strong enough to carry its proposal through parliament. JUSTIN MCCARTHY.

Yager May Be Insane.

HELENA, Mon., Feb. 15.—The grand jury returned eight indictments against H. C. Yager, formerly public administrator of this county. The indictments are based on his management of estates that came into his control and in which his shortage is about $8,000. Yager's friends say he is insane, and before the indictments were returned he was on trial before a jury as to his sanity. Four persons testified that he is at present insane.

Presbyterian Liberals Win.

ROCHESTER, Feb. 15.—The presbytery of Rochester met in the First Presbyterian church, this city. The report of the committee on revision of the confession of faith was presented. Rev. A. J. Hutton moved that the report be rejected, and an attempt to throw out Mr. Hutton's motion was lost by a large majority. The liberals who wish a shorter creed thus won a decided advantage.

Earthquakes Continue.

ATHENS, Feb. 15.—The island of Semothraki in the Ægean sea was shaken by an earthquake and all buildings on the island were destroyed. The ironclad Pharsalia will take provisions to the island within the next three days. Several severe shocks were felt in Zante last night and this morning.

THE PANAMA SECRETS.

American End of the Scandal Being Investigated.

FELLOWS COMMITTEE IN SESSION.

A Railroad Director Upon the Strength of Two Shares of Stock—Mr. Appleton Receives a Salary For Doing Nothing—Colonel Ingersoll Obtains Lawyer's Fees.

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—The congressional committee investigating the Americus end of the Panama scandal learned that over $1,000,000 was placed to the credit of the American committee, whose duties are still wrapped in mystery.

In reply to Colonel Fellows, M. Boyard said that, besides being American agent for the liquidation of the canal company, he was also a director of the Panama railroad. The officers of the railroad company were General Newton, president; Charles Coudert, vice president, and Mr. Oppenheimer, secretary.

Director and Owned Two Shares.

M. Boyard admitted that he only owned two shares of Panama railroad stock, and that one of these had been given him by the liquidator to qualify him for a director. The other he had subsequently bought.

Nathan Appleton could not remember when he had been officially notified of his connection with the canal company. He received his first salary in Paris. Then Mr. Geary asked:

"Don't you think it was mighty indelicate to draw money from a corporation you had no official connection with?"

"Well, not if they were willing to pay it."

Hayes' Message Meant Security.

He produced the original cable message sent by De Lesseps to Paris after he had read President Hayes' antisanal message. The message assured Charles de Lesseps and the French people that the utterances of President Hayes meant the "political security" of the canal. After admitting that he had a draft for his salary and had devoted himself to other business the witness was excused.

Colonel Ingersoll's Fees.

Charles Colne explained that the item on the stub of his book as secretary of the American committee, where the figures 444, 11,000 and 2,500 opposite the name of H. G. Ingersoll appeared, meant that Ingersoll had been counsel for the committee. He had been paid $2,500 through the banking house of Seligman, and the other figures indicated that interest for 411 days was due the firm on that sum by the committee. He admitted that a special deposit of over $1,000,000 had been made by the canal company to the credit of the American committee, and did not seem clear why, with that sum in the same bank, they should pay the banker's interest on the payment.

LYNCHING IN TENNESSEE.

A Suspected Negro Hung From the Arches of a Bridge.

CHATTANOOGA, Feb. 15.—The whole city is in a furore of excitement over this lynching of a negro. At 10:30 o'clock last night an infuriated mob battered down the outer doors of the county jail and finally forced its way into the cell where Andy Blount, a suspected rapist, was confined. Despite the protests of the jail officials and many leading citizens, the mob took the negro down to the bridge which crosses the Tennessee river. His lifeless corpse now dangles from one of the arches.

Sentiment here is almost evenly divided as to the man's guilt. The mob was composed largely of railroad men, the brute's victim being the mother of one of their number.

Dedication of Cornell's Law Library.

ITHACA, N. Y., Feb. 15.—The new law building of Cornell university was dedicated with very interesting and entertaining ceremonies. The new building was christened Boardman hall and is a memorial of Judge Douglass Boardman, the first dean of the law department of the university. The occasion was made doubly interesting by the presentation to the law school of a library of about 13,000 volumes, the collection of the late Nathaniel C. Moak. This library is the gift of Mrs. A. M. Boardman and Mrs. Ellen D. Williams, the widow and daughter of Judge Boardman, and will henceforth be known as the Moak library.

Sheriff Called to Subdue Strikers.

FAYETTE CITY, Pa., Feb. 15.—The attempt of the coal operators to start their mines with nonunion men was met with great opposition on the part of the strikers, and threats of violence were made. The operators called upon Sheriff Wilhelm for protection, and the latter came to Fayette City and admonished the strikers to keep the peace. There was no outbreak, and the sheriff does not apprehend any trouble.

A Larger Appropriation For Niagara.

ALBANY, Feb. 15.—Niagara Reservation Commissioners Andrew H. Green and John Hodge, Superintendent Welch and Engineer Radford appeared before the assembly ways and means committee and argued for an increase in the appropriation for the park from $30,000 to $50,000. They claimed that a larger amount would be needed this year because of the increased attendances caused by the World's fair.

Rockefeller's Wreck Nearly Total.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Feb. 15.—There was no little excitement here among the 700 depositors of the broken bank of F. V. Rockafellow & Co. when it became known that the total liabilities will reach $262,000, while the assets would scarcely foot up $30,000. It looks now as though the wreck was a complete one and that the depositors will be lucky if they receive over 5 per cent of their money.

TELEGRAPHIC BREVITIES.

The Harmonists at a meeting in Economy resolved to support President Dean in the suit for a receiver.

Measles in a malignant form are epidemic at Pocomoke, Del., more than 300 cases being reported. The schools are closed.

In the town of Madison, N. Y., the Myers-voting machine was used. The result on 60 candidates was declared 15 minutes after the polls closed. A test was made, and 215 men voted in 210 minutes.

In Binghamton Gee ge R. Green, the Republican candidate for mayor, was elected by a majority of 53 over Mayor B. S. Curran, the Democratic candidate.

THE VESUVIUS' TESTS.

The Success of the Fuses Used Is a Matter of Doubt.

PORT ROYAL, S. C., Feb. 15.—Three projectiles were fired from the Vesuvius' guns, two loaded with 20 pounds of gun cotton and the third carrying merely a powder primer. In no instance was there a positive explosion. Captain Rapieff himself acknowledged that neither of the gun cotton shells exploded, but he thought that the powder primer was exploded by the fuse. The two first projectiles fell close to the target, while the third fell short possibly 700 yards. The second shell could not have missed the target by half a dozen yards. All of the shots were fired from the 8,000-yard buoy, and their lateral course was practically perfect. The day's work will result in rendering still more problematic the question of the efficiency of the Rapieff fuse. The inventor, who has heretofore declined nothing further than a test with gun cotton charged projectiles, says that he has no explanation to give of the failures. He continues, however, to express his entire confidence in the fuse.

OF INTEREST TO LADIES.

New Fads In Table Decorations to Suit the Most Fastidious.

Claret glasses are to be cut intaglio. The favorite decoration for them is the head of Queen Isabella, although many show a fine bust of Columbus.

The accepted flower vase is of glass. Around the neck there is tied a big bow of ribbon corresponding in color with the table decorations.

Very gorgeous table lamps have a base of pale green glass with enamel flowers upon it. The lamp shade carries out the color of the glass, and the whole is a symphony in pale green.

The handles of pie knives have appeared in the form of Spanish daggers—not very sharp of course, nor very pointed. When the Spanish dagger is not used the handle of a Turkish scimiter holds sway.

Glass salt cups are covered with silver wire traced in a pretty pattern.

The fashion for salt and sponge are of gold, with Dresden china handles. They are so pretty that the admiring housewife finds an excuse for placing odd ones upon her table in addition to putting them at every plate.

A bonbon dish of gilt wire, with a spoon of twisted wire, is a pleasing novelty for a luncheon table.

Crackers are henceforth to be kept in a silver jar instead of a china one. The jar closes with a clasp and stands upon four legs of its own. It is decorated with designs of wheat, oats and barley.

Instead of a doily underneath each plate very delicate mats of gold wire are to be used by those who are always on the lookout for something unique. These delicate openwork affairs are not at all like the trays familiar to childhood days, nor would they be distinguishable at a casual glance from doilies of heavy yellow cord.

Bedroom Slipper.

First set up chain for as many stitches as the tip of toe requires. Crochet back and forth on the inside row of stitches—side toward you—widening in the middle each time until you reach the top of the instep. Crochet only one-third way across, backward and forward, as before, until you have a piece finished long enough to pass behind the heel of the foot and back to meet the broad piece over the foot, when you crochet it together on the wrong side. Then crochet round and round the opening to any height you require the boot top. Sew the sock on to a cork sole after making a shell scallop at the top.

Nothing but Gowns.

By the way, do you say "dress" when you mean your outside garment? You mustn't do it. "Gown" is the proper word. No fashionable woman has anything but gowns.

Comfortable Seats.

Low chairs with cretonne cushions and low, short benches, also cushioned, are "slipper seats" that short women, or indeed any women, find especially useful.

Attractive Corner Piece.

Nothing economizes space more perfectly and at the same time gives a better effect in the room than the corner cabinet. The very roomy one shown in the sketch is simple in the extreme. Yet it provides some ample book shelves as well as a resting place for many a bit of china or fine pottery. Its foundation may be any wood you please, but simple yellow pine, well rubbed and treated with shellac, is as good as need be. Line the back with dark red velveteen or with any deep toned material having a surface well suited to use as a back ground and put upon the upper shelves your choicest bits of faience.

CORNER CABINET.

Make some curtains of India silk and finish each with a velvet band. These hang them from small brass rods, as the drawing shows. Fill in all the open shelves with books and leave the two supplied with hangings for such odd trifles as are sure to collect. You will have a convenient, the New York Recorder thinks, that no other arrangement of the space can give and will besides have added a striking feature to your room.

Preservation of Rings.

"Don't wear your rings under gloves unless you remember to have them thoroughly examined twice a year," is the advice given by a jeweler. The constant friction wears out the tiny gold points that hold the stones in place, and unless strict attention is paid to them they become loose in a very short time.

Small purses of suede leather are made on purpose for rings, or any soft pouch of skin of chamois may be used to place the rings in when desiring to carry them around with one. They should never be put into an ordinary pocketbook, as the rubbing against coins is also bad for them. Diamonds can be cleaned at home to look as well as when done by a jeweler, if only a little trouble is taken. They should be thoroughly cleaned in alcohol and then dried in boxwood sawdust. Pine sawdust is too oily for this purpose.

Lemonade.

Lemonade, according to an authority, is best and most full of flavor when made with freshly boiled water, covered in a close jar and allowed to cool.

Hints on House Decorations.

First decide upon the design and general scheme of color, and it is then easy to select the wall paper, the furniture and curtains, which should be done with reference to the original plan and color scheme. The amount of light and the size of the room are perhaps the chief factors in determining its color. In rooms facing north the north light, which is whitish to bluish in color, requires it to be decorated in tints ranging from orange yellow to warm red. Rooms with a southern exposure should be decorated in tints ranging from greenish yellow to blue, because the south lights has yellow and purple. Rooms facing west should be decorated in yellow tones, as east and west lights have yellow and purple in their composition.

The character of the rooms themselves often determines their coloring. For example, we may consider the various rooms of the house, beginning with the hall, as the radiating branches of a tree, the hall being the trunk thereof. The hall, therefore, should be treated with strong dark colors, while the other rooms may range from low, strong tones of the library to the gayest tints of bedrooms and boudoirs. A good color for the hall would be either a Pompeiian or Damascus red. These reds, having yellow in their composition, will naturally harmonize with the yellows and browns of the woodwork. Other colors, such as the varying tints of dull yellows, russets, browns and tans, are suitable for hall decoration.—Decorator and Furnisher.

Ventilation of Bedrooms.

The proper arrangement of drafts for the ventilation of sleeping rooms has perplexed all. One thing, however, is certain. It has been proved by actual experiment that a layer of air flows against the walls which is subject to very little movement, even when there is a strong ainulation in the middle of the room. It is therefore important that a bed should not be placed close to the wall. If kept there during the daytime, it should be moved at least several inches from the wall, to ensure a night. Alcoves and curtains should be avoided. In an alcove inclosed on three sides a lake of air forms, which may be compared to the stagnant pools often observed along the margins of rivers. A few yards away a rushing tide may be moving swiftly along, but these placid pools are unruffled by the current.

While placing the bed, especially the head of it, where it will be shielded from the draft, care should be taken that there should still be enough motion to the air in that vicinity to insure fresh supplies constantly throughout the night. The prevailing lack of appetite for breakfast, as well as many cases of anæmia and worse diseases, are due to the breathing over and over again of the same air in ill-ventilated bedrooms, where beds are too often placed in alcoves or are shielded by curtains, which are far too seldom shaken out in the fresh air.—Her Point of View in New York Times.

Girls as Public Speakers.

But a very few years ago in the rhetorical exercises of our schools and academies in which girls participated they were supposed to "read" only, and that in a very shy and unassuming manner, holding manuscripts or book in hand and referring to it kindly, as if dependent on it. Recited declaim! make gestures like the boys! Such a suggestion would have been looked upon as the height of impropriety, and few if any female hearts would have been bold enough to attempt it.

Now, after a few years of pushing forward all along the line of woman's emancipation, go into any large grammar academy and hear the young women declaim, who one suffices the boys in grace and force and naturalness 9 times out of 10, and nobody thinks of their being out of place. The unanswerable word here is woman's right, and the girl of the new era "speaks her piece" with every freedom of manner, voice and gesture as her companions. She knows that her right to be there is its reason, and he will have to look to his laurels very sharp or she will soon get way ahead of him.—Lewiston Journal.

Soot Tea For Plants.

One of the best fertilizers for pot plants is soot. It not only nourishes the plant, but keeps the soil sweet, will destroy all worms and insects and even mint the grass fly. It is best used in a liquid form.

Use independent of soot to two quarts of warm water to a simple way of making the tea. If one desires to make it in larger quantities, put about one bushel of soot and one-half peck of lime and stir twice a day for a week. Probably the better way is to tie the soot securely in a canvas bag, which the large enough to let the soot swell and move about inside it. Throw the bag into the water and allow it to soak, moving it about occasionally or pressing it with a stick to the strength desired. As the water is used out fresh can be added as long as any soot remains. Give the plants light doses of tea at first, gradually increasing. Dilute it if too strong, because if used in too thick a state it will make the surface soil too hard and dry.—Home Magazine.

A Practical Hint.

A little woman with more ingenuity than cash devised a covering for some worn chairs which has been much admired, and justly so, as it is exceedingly pretty. The frames, which had been a long time in her family, were of handsome carved ebony, and for this reason the ordinary way of resorting to cretonne or enveloping furniture linen was not to be considered. A tour of the shops revealed to the ever active little soul need for art embroidery, which, while artistic, is a cheap material.

On a square of this fabric large enough to cover the seat of a chair she had stamped a bowknot tying a cluster of corn flowers. The bowknot she outlined in blue rope floss, with touches of black, and the flowers she worked partly in outline and partly in solid embroidery in different shades of dull blue. When these covers were tacked securely and firmly drawn with blue gimp, they presented a really elegant appearance.—Exchange.

A Hint For Housewives.

If in doubt whether you are using butter or oleomargarine, boil a tablespoonful of each. The butter will foam without much noise, the oleomargarine, on the contrary, will sputter and hiss, as does melted lard, but it will not foam so decidedly. Butter has a waxy appearance when cold, and will remain solid in summer without melting very much is to be suspected. A well known chemist is credited by the Boston Herald with the following: Take a spoonful of butter and a spoonful of lard, and put them in separate vessels. Then add a spoonful of sulphuric acid to each. The lard will turn a purple color, while the butter will remain unchanged. Another test is to put a piece of butter the size of a pea in a teaspoonful of alcohol and heat it. If it is pure it will dissolve entirely, while oleomargarine will not.

A HEATED ARGUMENT.

A Load of Free Coal Leads to Internationes and Hostilities.

Within a stone's throw of the business portion of the city, in a narrow alley worthy a visit from the health commissioner or any social worker, one can find a perfect exhibition. Investigation revealed the fact that within three small rooms lived three wives with their broods of little ones. Under the American flag Ireland jostled Italy in the close quarters, and Africa touched elbows with both. There was no need of words to tell the story of want—the scene was eloquent in its mute appeal for help. In silence three piles of coal were unloaded before the door, and the waggon rolled off. The inmates were then informed that the coal was for them.

"Which pile's mine?" came from the feminine representative of Ireland.

"Is dis hyah pile for me, misteh?" broke in the negress.

"I take dis," said the Italian woman.

It was perhaps unfortunate that they each selected the same heap as being a trifle the largest, and for a few moments the chances for a general European war loomed upon the horizon with startling distinctness.

"Mary, you can't sell her dat same pile," said the driver of the waggon. "Git out o' dat!"

"Who's dat yer's talkin to, misteh? I clean dis pile!" and the coloured woman made a rush for the large pile and planted herself upon the top of the heap, like "Liberty" frightening the world," or rather that portion of the representation in the woman of her neighbors from St. Patrick's green isle and fair Italia's sunny land.

"Ah will you get out of that porch, ye spalpeen!" said old Ireland as she reached for a lump of coal and prepared for hostilities.

"It's mesilf as wants that poile, d'ye see!" she added, in explanation, as she flourished the lump of coal and squared around for an aim at the negro woman.

"Here, Jim, Jim, load up the coal and take it to the widow at the next corner. If she asks you for a quarter, don't hurt the old lady's feelings by refusing her."

At the mention of handing up the coal there was an immediate cessation of hostile demonstrations, although it could be easily seen that it was only an armed truce.

"I'se on me own coal," said the coloured woman in a conciliatory tone. "I don't want nobody to touch me or me coal, or I'se gwine to do dis, I is."

"Di'n not saying a word, am Oi? but a divil a one of yes had better git me roiled."

"I says nothing, dos nothing, but de cole mine, and my hosts modern blood make me die for whats mine."

The driver descended from the coal waggon, shovel in hand. "Here, come off the dirap, all of you. What's the matter with yous?" he asked as he advanced.

The children of the respective families had now gathered on the scene, and 20 or 30 from the neighborhood also appeared. The coloured woman was still on the crest of the largest pile, and on one side stood the Irish woman, in a half defiant attitude, her arms akimbo and one hand still clutching the large lump of coal, while on the other side the daughter of Italy stood in a menacing position. A jar defying the lightning could not have assumed a more aggravating pose than the ebony statue as she stood with calmly folded arms awaiting the outcome of the situation.

"How many children have you?" was asked of the colored woman.

"I dunno; I spec I hev six."

"And you?"

"I have got her three or four children av ever drew breath off'n their old sod." Come here, ye spalpeens, an show yursils to the gintlemin. Mikel, Larry an Bridget Mary Ann Jane!"

"And you?" to the Italian.

"Eights me have."

"An she's hoyn to you, now," said the Irish woman as she began to suspect the point of the inquiry, "she has only two an ther nagur was."

But it was proven that the negro woman had six children, the Italian four and the Irish lady three. So the colored woman was allowed first choice, and she promptly selected the pile upon which she stood, and deliberately exposed the "nagur" which her offspring had handed her. "I'm count," I'se take dis one, an misseby yer can have de rest."

The Italian was not slow in making a selection, and the last one was left for the crestfallen representative of Ireland.

"It's delighted I am to yez, sor, but it's a shame that a foine gintleman loike yersilf, sor, should be taoken in by the loikes of thim, wich isn't fit to unite yez shoes. It's lonely I was, an I'm marrid three toimes, but yez niver saw foine peojuny from easy mastry-mony-al-a-lys-sez."

It was thought best, neither man permit any further intimacy, so even up matters by giving a little more coal to both the Irish woman and the Italian woman, and when the coal waggon departed peace reigned

Bad Hit.

Compliments made at random are apt to go wide of the mark at times. A distinguished artist had painted a picture of a farm girl in the act of milking a cow, and a connoisseur who had come in was observing the picture and making flattering remarks concerning it to the artist and his wife.

"What I like most about this picture," said the connoisseur, "is the fact that you haven't painted here a woman of good society disguised as a milkmaid, but a real milkmaid."

"Ah," said the painter, smiling, "do you think so?"

"Yes. I am positively certain now that you had a real milkmaid for a model."

"Thank you!" exclaimed the painter's wife. "I was his model, if you please!"—Youth's Companion.

Kept Him Busy.

The young man had opened his law office with plenty of hope and nothing else, and about a year later a relative of his visiting in Detroit called him at his office.

"Well, my boy," said the kindly kinsman, "how are you making it?"

"The best I can," he replied.

"Ah, I suppose you have all you can do," and the old man chuckled a little.

"I do, indeed," was the confident response.

The old gentleman was rather taken aback, and he looked at the young fellow with surprise.

"Is that really so?" he asked.

"Indeed it is," and the young man wasn't so cheerful. "I have all I can do to keep from starving."—Detroit Free Press.

A WRIT OF CERTIORARI

SERVED THIS MORNING TO STOP THE EXTENSION OF BROADWAY.

At Least Until the Whole Township is Assessed to Defray the Cost of the Proposed Improvement.—The Special Law to be Tested.

A writ of certiorari was served upon North Plainfield Township Clerk Horace J. Martin by Lawyer Wm. A. Codding-ton this morning. It was served at the order of Judge W. J. Magie and requires that all papers connected with the opening and extension of North Broadway or Peace street shall be produced in court for examination.

The writ is returnable on Feb. 21, but as the law allows twenty days notification it is likely that the time will be extended by lawyer Chas. A. Reed, who is counsel for the township.

The plaintiffs are: Adeline Brock of Mountain avenue, Henry B. Loane-tury of Grandview avenue, Ira Mundy of Summit avenue and Firman A. Long of Grandview avenue.

The plaintiffs, though among the first to favor the opening of the street, objected to the assessments and brought suit to test their constitutionality.

When applications for the opening of the street were made to the township officers some time ago, it became their duty to act in the matter, and went ahead acting under a special law passed in 1872 for this very street which was then to be opened but was crushed because the money was not forthcoming from the property holders.

The opening of the street now, has been delayed for similar reasons and the township authorities have been patiently waiting until the matter could be brought into the courts and the law tested before taking any further steps in the matter.

Nothing has been done with the Madison avenue extension which was stopped by the protests of twenty-six property holders, pending the decision in the North Broadway matter. If the law is proved to be constitutional new commissioners will be appointed in the Madison avenue extension matter and the work will be likely to proceed them.

A writ of certiorari, returnable Feb. 7, was presented some time ago in reference to the North Broadway matter. The writ was served at the request of Mr. Miles of Somerset street who objects to paying his assessment of $1,000 unless the street shall be opened to Johnston's Drive. He owns several acres of ground and will pay the highest assessment of any property owner on the line. He does not object provided the street is opened to Johnston's Drive.

The estate of Samuel Hudson is assessed altogether $1,400, as is also the property of ex-Sheriff Coddington.

The estate of William Allen is assessed the most of any, but will receive damages which will offset the amount.

When the law was passed and the attempt made to open the street twenty years ago the North Plainfield township was part of it, was expected to spend $3,000, and township money will have to be used again by the Township Committee for acting in the township's interest in a manner directed by law.

By far the majority of those interested in the street are in favor it.

Regarding its being opened beyond Grandview avenue it is said that cannot be done under the special law but can be under the regular township road law, which requires application shall be made by twelve freeholders, and it is positively stated that if the street is opened from the boundary to Grandview avenue it will surely be opened to Johnston's Drive, and whenever benefits are derived and the property owners can be assessed.

BREVITIES.

—Borough Council meeting to-morrow night.

—There will a fox chase from Benner's road house on Washington's Birthday.

—Messrs. Hallock & Davis have received their new styles of spring hats.

—The brick side walls of Warren engine house are said to be bulging in a dangerous condition.

—Louis Callman requests special attention be given to the hosiery and unlaundried shirts mentioned in his advertisement.

—The City Common Council will meet in adjourned session next Monday night. The liquor applications will probably be acted upon.

—The King's Daughters, the Willing Workers of Hope chapel will give an entertainment in the chapel this evening at eight o'clock.

—The rains of last week have pretty generally cleared the land of snow and the streams of ice. It has been done quietly and without the destruction of property that was feared.

—A novel and interesting bowling game will be played at the Park Club next Saturday evening between ten of the Republicans and a like number of the Democratic members.

—An effort was made at Trenton Monday to have the Race Track Bill pass the house, but it has been held by the Committee on Engrossed Bills because of alleged errors, though it is claimed that these errors were designed for delay.

—The Methodist young people will give a novel entertainment in Vincent chapel Friday evening. A "Conundrum Supper" will be served from half past six to eight, and an art gallery and museum of curios will be opened all the evening.

FIGHTING A CANCER.

A YEAR'S BATTLE WITH THE TERRIBLE DISEASE.

Hopes that a Permanent Cure will be Effected by Means of the Recent New Discovery, as Published in "The News."

Henry M. Goodwin, a Scotch Plains farmer and a member of the Free Deliverance Lodge, Knights of Pythias there, a year ago had a cancer appear on his chin, which the doctors said was caused by chewing tobacco. He went to the New York Cancer Hospital and had the cancer cut out. In came back again, and was cut out a second time. Again it returned, and for the third time he went to the hospital. That was a few weeks ago. This time the cancer was fenced, the object being to bring on erysipelas, in which the doctors succeeded.

It left the patient very weak, but he is now out of danger, although still confined to his house.

It is hoped that the erysipelas microbes will destroy the cancer microbes and make a permanent cure.

This is in accordance with the new discovery, published in THE NEWS a few weeks ago.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. Griffin of Broadway is visiting friends at Tarrytown, N. Y.

Miss Mary B. Rich of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., is visiting Mrs. Seely Edsall of Sanford avenue.

Miss Emily Arnold of Philadelphia is visiting Miss Winnie Wilson of "Tumlau," North Plainfield.

Mrs. Joseph Schultise of Manning avenue is recovering from a severe attack of grip, with which she has been prostrated for nearly a month.

The reception to Governor Werts, Senator McPherson and Senator-elect James Smith, Jr., by the Democratic League, Trenton, will take place this evening.

At Trinity Episcopal church, in Trenton, last evening, the first of the Lenten course of sermons was delivered by Rev. E. M. Rodman, rector of Grace church, of this city.

The Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis of this city is in Harrisburg, Pa. He is to preach here next Sabbath. At the request of the W. C. T. U. his sermon will be on "Temperance."

Mr. William White, formerly with Zimmerman & Rampf of West Front street, has accepted a position as bookkeeper and salesman with a hardware firm in Newark. Mr. and Mrs. White will move to that city next week.

Rector Jennings's Makes Further Announcements.

Rector Jennings of Grace church, Westfield, has further signified his intention of fighting the Bishop and ignoring his order by giving notice that another meeting will be held to-morrow evening and that next Sunday evening he will conduct the services.

The sermon on Sunday will be preached by the Rev. Mr. Rodman, of this city. The Revs. Murphy, Simpson and Dr. Taylor, of this city, and Dr. Malcolm, of Roselle, will assist at the services. These ministers formed the commission which recently took testimony in the inquiry on the charges of lying and drunkenness, and by unanimous witnesses reported that the evidence was insufficient to warrant an ecclesiastical trial.

It is said that Rector Jennings will be aided by the Episcopal churches and the choir of the Holy Cross church of this city and St. Luke's church choir of Roselle, will assist at the Sunday evening service. It is announced that Rector Jennings will be assisted from time to time during Lent by his brother clergymen.

The vestry is determined to get rid of Mr. Jennings, and some have even threatened to lock the church and nail up the doors.

Cut an Artery by Falling Against a Window Pane.

Mr. Jacob Field, a brother of Dr. C. M. Field, resides in the Miller flats corner Park avenue and Fourth street. About seven o'clock last evening while leaving an oyster saloon near by he slipped and fell striking and breaking a large window pane. The main artery of his left wrist was seriously cut, and he was taken to Dr. Long who dressed the wound. The wound bled profusely and left the unfortunate man very weak. He was later assisted to his home.

Varney at Reform Hall.

Varney gave an excellent lecture last night to a large audience at Reform Hall and examined heads upon the stage. The examination was pronounced wonderfully correct. See advertisement for particulars.

—Special lecture by Mr. Varney to-night at Reform Hall for ladies only.

—The boilers of the Oil Cloth Factory are being moved from one side of North avenue to the other to make room for the new freight house. The factory will remain shut down for several months.

—The suit of Kart Hutter of New York vs. Chas. Bock of this city to recover $70 for bottles bought by Bock in 1892 was tried yesterday before Justice Nash. Bock claimed that the bottles were defective and claimed under oath that he lost $70 worth of beer thereby. The jury awarded Bock a verdict for $15.90.

THE CRESCENT LEAGUE.

AN ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING HELD LAST EVENING.

Plans Adopted for the Payment of All Debts.—Base Ball Matters Favorably Discussed.—There Applications for Membership.

The Crescent League held an adjourned meeting in their club house on East Second street last evening. President Leggett presided and there were between sixty and seventy members present. The meeting was enthusiastic and encouraging, and three cheers were made for the club's success.

The most important event of the evening was regarding the club's debts which it was decided to pay in full, though but fifty cents on the dollar will be paid at present.

The club also considered the base ball question, and it is said there will surely be a Plainfield team next season, and it may probably be under Crescent League management.

A new pastor has recently been placed in charge of the club house, and the place is kept clean and warm.

Messrs. Reed, Leggett, Sangston, Kline and Stevens were appointed a committee to arrange an entertainment to be given in the Crescent Rink next week.

Three applications for membership were presented, but not acted upon because they had not been posted the required time. They will come up again at the next meeting.

The outlook of the club is becoming very encouraging.

The Society of Friends and the Liquor Traffic.

The Society of Friends, through the following memorial to the Legislature, adopted by the Temperance Committee at a meeting held in Plainfield, protests against the continuance of the liquor license system:

To the Senate and Assembly of the State of New Jersey:

The Temperance Committee of the Shrewsbury and Plainfield half-year's Meeting of the Religious Society of Friends, records its deep conviction of the great evil of the liquor license system, and especially protests against the infamous County Commission law, and hereby earnestly asks for the repeal of these laws, and for the legal prohibition of the manufacture and sale of all intoxicating liquors for drinking purposes.

In behalf of the Committee,

JOHN H. SHOTWELL, } Clerks.
FRANCIS C. WARNER. }

The Pastor's Return Requested.

Regarding a former Plainfield pastor the Dover, (N. J.) Iron Era has the following:

A SUCCESSFUL PASTORATE.

At the closing quarterly conference for the year held at the First M. E. church on Monday evening last, the following statement was made, which clearly indicates much prosperity during the three years pastorate of the Rev. Wm Day. Received on probation 121, received into membership 147, leaving a net increase of members 110, with 65 on probation, after deducting for removals, deaths, etc. On last Sabbath six were received per letter, ten from probation in full connection, fifteen admitted on probation. The meeting on Monday evening strongly requested the continuance of the services of Mr. Day, which we are sure the community will heartily endorse.

THE BISHOP'S ORDER

ABOUT PAROCHIAL SCHOOLS, OF INTEREST TO PLAINFIELDERS.

Priests Dissatisfied, are Trying to Have Monsignor Satolli's Views Carried Out.—Opinions of Monsignor Doane and Father Smyth.

A statement appeared in Newark yesterday that the priests of the Newark Diocese, who were opposed to Bishop Wigger in the recent controversies, are making an effort either to induce or to oblige the Bishop to issue a letter on the school question in accord with the views of Monsignor Satolli. It is said on one hand that the Bishop some time ago ordered that the sacraments be denied to all parents who refused to send their children to the parochial schools, and that the Bishop should now take action to nullify this order, because it is not in harmony with the Papal Abiegate's views. Monsignor Doane, of St. Patrick's Cathedral, said:

"I have not been very actively engaged in hearing confessions of late, owing to ill health, but Father Carew tells me that the Bishop directed the priests to admonish parents who send their children to public schools when there are parochial schools in the neighborhood, or the decree of the Council of Baltimore on the subject, and also to request these people to explain their reasons for sending their children to the public schools. If the reasons were satisfactory, permission would be given the parents to send their children to the public schools, but if the parents paid no heed to the admonition and did not go to see the Bishop, then they were to be treated as excommunicated."

The St. Mary's Parochial School of this city is in Bishop Wigger's diocese and is affected by the order.

If the Bishop issues another letter on the school question the Plainfield parochial school will be seriously affected, as much of the support it now receives from St. Mary's parishioners will not continue unless an act of Legislature be passed whereby the parochial schools may receive a share of the State School Fund to which all Catholics as citizens and property-holders contribute.

Father Smyth states that an effort to pass such an act is now being made. He entertains a similar opinion to that of Monsignor Doane asstated above regarding the denial of sacraments to Catholics who did not send their children to the parochial school.

K. OF P. ELECTION.

Mr. Rutan Succeeds Mr. Ulrich as Supreme Representative.

The twenty-sixth annual session of the Grand Lodge of Knights of Pythias, of New Jersey, convened in Masonic Temple yesterday morning at 11 o'clock, with Grand Chancelor Kilbourn presiding. There were fully two hundred Knights in attendance at the opening, and during the day two hundred and forty Past Chancellors reported their Past official rank. The report of the Grand Chancellor was a lengthy document, and set forth the condition of the Order.

The officers chosen for the coming year at the election held in the different lodges are as follows: P. G. C., Charles W. Kilbourn, New Brunswick; G. C., Walter F. Hayhurst, Lambertville; G. V. C., ex-Senator Dr. Geo. H. Cromber, of Ocean county; G. P., Ralph Donath, Jersey City; G. K. of R. and S., George E. Pierson, Woodbury; G. M. of E., C. V. N. Nelson, Long Branch; G. M. at A., W. E. Hitchcock, Newark; G. I. G., D. S. Rockafellar Somerville.

The committee to canvass the votes cast by the lodges were John H. Hyell, No. 29, Newark; Robert J. Smith, No. 20, New Brunswick; Stephen A. Nelson, No. 88, Long Branch. There was no choice before the Lodge of Supreme Representative and Grand Outer Guard. The ballot for Supreme Representative resulted as follows: James R. Rutan, 28; John Ulrich, 181; Dewitt C. Bolton, 125. In accordance with the usage of the order the lowest name was dropped and the contest was then between Rutan and Ulrich. Mr. Ulrich rose and stated that Mr. Rutan having an apparent majority of the Grand Lodge he withdrew, and Mr. Rutan was declared the unanimous choice of the convention.

The reports of the various committees were received and acted upon.

The Grand Lodge continued in session to-day. Supreme Chancellor Blackwell, of Kentucky, was present. The officers were installed and other unimportant business pertaining to the order was considered by the Grand Body.

The following is a brief extract from the report:

"The order of the Knights of Pythias, founded just after the close of the war, by Justus H. Rathbone, with four others, was only intended as a mutual benefit association for a few employed in the government service at that time. They had no idea that it would extend to the four quarters of the globe and rank as one of the most powerful secret organizations of the age.

"Commencing February 20th, 1893, the Pythian order will enter upon its thirtieth period and the occasion will certainly be an eventful one in the fraternal world. No other organization ever experienced the remarkable growth that has blessed the order of Knights of Pythias.

"The cardinal principles are: Friendship, Charity and Benevolence; and he who does not live up to these three precepts is not worthy to be called a Knight."

LATEST NEWS BY WIRE.

AS WAS DONE DECADES AGO.

A Ferry Established at New Brunswick.

NEW BRUNSWICK, Feb. 16. (Special.)—New Brunswick is showing progress. A ferry has been established between this city and the village of Highland Park, across the Raritan. Two boats make slow trips from bank to bank as did a hundred years ago. From the river bank the passengers have to wade several hundred feet through mud.

LAST night a boat, loaded with people, upset. Fortunately no lives were lost.

The temporary bridge was swept away by the ice recently and the new bridge is only about two-thirds finished.

Mitchell Not Allowed to Land.

NEW YORK, Feb. 16. (Special.)—Charles Mitchell, the English pugilist and ex-convict, arrived on the White Star steamship Majestic, which reached her dock at 8.30 o'clock this morning, but he found the doors of America closed to him.

Acting under instructions from Washington, Col. Weber, of the Immigration Bureau, detailed Major George G. Wanser, Chief of the Quarantine Division, to board the Majestic at quarantine and prevent Mitchell from leaving the ship. The instructions from Washington were to "hold one Charles Mitchell, a passenger, who had recently emerged from an English prison."

Mrs. Harris Still Hunting Evidence for Her Son's Defense.

Mrs. Frances MacCready Harris, the mother of Carlisle H. Harris, who has been residing in this city, was in Asbury Park yesterday endeavoring to procure affidavits favorable to her son on his appeal for a new trial. She sought out Leonard Sheppard and Caesar Reilly, both of whom were formerly employed in Dr. Kinmouth's drug store.

Sheppard denied all knowledge of Carlisle Harris or his young wife. With Reilly, Mrs. Harris was more successful, although he made no affidavit. He said he knew Harris well five years ago when he worked at Reed's drug store. At that time he constantly met Harris, he said, in the street, and on quite every occasion he was in company with a young woman. Reilly said further that it was his intention to go to New York to day and that people might look for some startling developments as a result.

Little credence is given to the stories told by Reilly as at the time he speaks of Carlisle Harris was unknown in Asbury Park and Ocean Grove. Besides Helen Potts must have been little more than a child at that time.

Detectives have been working diligently for an interview with Mrs. Potts, mother of the dead girl, and has made repeated but fruitless efforts. Miss Mollie Meeker, a friend of the dead woman, declares she thinks Harris will speak something which would help her son in his fight for life. Miss Harris was again unsuccessful yesterday as Miss Meeker left Ocean Grove for New York on an early train. Mrs. Harris was to continue her inquiries to-day.

—A dozen members of the Plainfield Camera Club attended the annual meeting of the New Jersey Division of the American League of Amateur Photographers at Newark last evening. President Oscar S. Teale of the Plainfield Camera Club was unanimously re-elected President of the State Division. A coaching trip of the State Division through Northern New Jersey will take place in May. A supper was served after the meeting.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The national house has done a good thing in so speedily appointing a committee to investigate the Panama scandal in America, if there is any. That is what we must find out.

An art critic in Harper's Magazine praises without stint the architectural effect of the World's fair buildings at Chicago. He says there is only one "discordant architectural note," and that is the United States government building in Jackson park. He does wish, as it were, that it might be possible for our government authorities to employ architects to plan the public buildings.

Nearly 300 years ago Guy Fawkes tried to blow up the British house of parliament. Parliament has been blown a good many times since then, though not in the same way. But every time that august body assembles anew, ever since the days of Guy Fawkes, a stated ceremonial search is made among the vaults, cellars and crannies of the old building to see if some more Guy Fawkeses have not been putting some more barrels of gunpowder under the seats of the British conscript fathers.

British editors are of opinion that the well declared policy of the Monroe doctrine would keep the United States from annexing outlying colonies and islands. But the British editor takes hold of the Monroe doctrine wrong end foremost. Boiled down, the Monroe doctrine is "not to interfere in the internal concerns of any of the powers of Europe," and "to regard any attempt on their part to extend their system to any portion of this hemisphere as dangerous to our peace and safety." But if the United States, for the protection of her commercial and naval interests, sees fit to annex peaceably a set of islands that desire to be annexed, or otherwise peaceably extend her power in places where the pre-existing rights of other nations are not interfered with, it is her own business and that of no country in Europe. This is the Monroe doctrine that is good enough for us just now.

Dolgeville.

Dolgeville, N. Y., has had its annual banquet and distribution of profits. Dolgeville is the village occupied by the factories and workmen of Alfred Dolge, the largest manufacturer of felt goods in the United States. There has never been a strike or any quarrel between labor and capital at Dolgeville.

"Manufacturers cannot prosper if laborers are not consumers," says Alfred Dolge. On that basis he has built up his business. An exact system of bookkeeping is one of the sources of the company's prosperity. The amount of added profit on each pound of wool is taken note of as it passes through one machine to another. The profits shared by the firm with the workmen are divided into three classes—life insurance, pension and endowment. A man who has worked for the company five years gets a premium of a life insurance policy worth $1,000. This is increased till in five years more it amounts to $3,000. Every man knows that at his death his family will get this insurance. Further, aged or disabled workmen are retired on half pay. That is the pension. The endowment part of the plan depends more on the individual himself.

If a workman discovers any improvement in machinery, or if by his care and diligence he work to add to the profits of the business, this is duly set down to his credit, and at the annual banquet he gets the benefit of it. The village has a handsome clubhouse belonging to the workmen, and it is here that the festive board is spread, the speeches are made and the money is distributed.

The New World's Warning to the Old.

W. T. Stead regards the anti-immigration agitation in the United States as the preliminary move toward a total change of policy in regard to foreign settlers in this country. It is practically a serving notice on the old world that this country will no longer receive her degraded, illiterate surplus population. "Then what will Great Britain do?" asks Stead. The has already 40,000,000 human beings penned up in her small islands. What measures of relief against still more overcrowding and underfeeding have British statesmen to offer when America is no longer open? He commends this question to their consideration. He remarks still further:

> There is nothing in Panama scandals, or in German army bills, or in the commotion in the home rule camp, that approaches in importance this ominous notice from the new world—that America can no longer be used as the dumping ground for the surplus human progeny of Europe. If this warning be fulfilled, it will seem to many millions as if the doors of hope had been closed upon mankind. For them hitherto the prospect of an escape to America, where wages were high and where the world was wide, has been one of the most essential equivalents for their waning faith in a celestial paradise. Skepticism and materialism have closed the doors of hope on the heavens. There was hope of betterment, the only terrestrial direction, by means of the Atlantic. And now the gates of the transatlantic Eden are being barred before them.
> Behind them, like the angel with the flaming sword, denies them access to the promised land. What are they to do? Cut each other's throats in the land struggle for subsistence? Nicolas another way out. Last year the deaths outnumbered the births in France by 24,000. In Belgium the births exceeded the deaths among the Walloons and Belgians of 4,000 each and 8,000 among the Flemings, while the decrease of French Canadians would have been 19,000 in the 12 months. The French cradle is not being filled, but every year 80,000 babies born in France are added to the population. Last year there were only about 100,000 deaths. That number would be increased if the ban any year since 1883, but not more than even.

WAR IN KANSAS.

The Republicans and Populists Both Armed.

THE MILITIA CALLED OUT.

The Sheriff Takes Issue and Orders the Men Back.

Recruits Gather From Remote Parts of the State—The Republican Speaker Leads His Forces With a Battering Ram. Doors Broken and Guards Roughly Handled—A Show Made of Doing Business—Camped In the Hall and Lunch Served Through the Windows.

TOPEKA, Feb. 16.—The most disorderly scenes yet enacted in the dual house of the Kansas legislature were witnessed, and the capital city is in a state of excitement bordering almost on civil war. The arrest of Benjamin C. Rich, clerk of the Populist house, and his rescue from the officers has served to augment the feeling of hostility between the rival factions. Following the encounter on the streets, the governor and the speaker of the Populist branch addressed communications to the sheriff of this (Shawnee) county.

Sheriff Wilkinson, who is a Republican, declined to interfere in the controversy.

The Republicans Force Their Way.

Yesterday the Republicans were not challenged until they reached the foot of the main stairway leading to the hall, when a Populist exclaimed, "You cannot get in here," and further progress was disputed by five guards, who flourished their weapons and continued to shout, "You can't get in here." The crowd pressed forward, however, and the guards were driven back, but the main door was found to be securely locked.

Speaker Douglass ordered the guards away, but they replied, "We are instructed by the attorney general to allow no one to go in here."

The guards resisted and again tried to intimidate the Republicans with a display of weapons. The crowd rushed forward with irresistible force.

Speaker Douglass Uses a Sledge Hammer.

Speaker Douglass had provided himself with a sledge hammer and proceeded to break the panels, assisted by Representatives W. R. Swan and A. C. Sherman.

A Populist drew a Winchester to his shoulder and was about to fire on the crowd, but desisted on finding himself covered by two revolvers.

With wild cheers the Republicans entered and took possession of the hall.

Prayer by the Chaplain.

Five minutes after the Republican house had organized, called the roll and listened to the prayer of the chaplain. Business proceeded as though there had been no disturbance. No adjournment was taken, but during the afternoon the Populists turned off the water, heat and electric lights. Forty students, ready for a fight, joined the Republican forces.

Fully 5,000 people were congregated on Capitol square. Information was given that 1,000 Republicans were on the way from Leavenworth, 500 from Kansas City and 200 from Ottawa.

The Governor Calls Out the Troops.

Governor Lewelling, through General Artz, immediately ordered out the militia force of the state, which consists of less than 2,000 men. Three companies of volunteers were organized at the request of the governor, armed with carbines from the state arsenal.

After the arrival of the troops the state house and grounds were placed in their control under the direction of the adjutant general, no one being allowed to enter the building without a pass. A file of soldiers paced up and down in front of the capitol, and squads marched back and forth around the building.

The Republicans Get Their Rations.

The Republican members of the legislature remained in Representative hall, but all communication with the outside was practically shut off.

The Populists refused permission for provisions to be taken to the Republicans. Their supper was conveyed to them at chance moments by means of ropes suspended from the hall windows to the ground. From all that can be learned the Republicans intend to hold their present position until relieved by the militia. The more radical element wants to resist force with force, and the latter sentiment finds considerable support on the outside.

A Populist Bill Rendered Ineffective.

The first bill which has passed the senate and the Populist house received the governor's signature and was officially published. It appropriated $5,000 for legislative expenses, and provided that vouchers for per diem and mileage shall be attested by Speaker Dunsmore and Chief Clerk Rich of the Populist house, and the Republicans secured an injunction restraining the state auditor and state treasurer from auditing bills or paying money on such account.

The Populists have possession of the entrance to the state house, and the Republicans are resting quietly in Representative hall. In anticipation of an extinguishing of the electric lights they have laid in a supply of lamps and candles.

A Slight Conflict.

The first conflict between soldiers and members of the Republican house took place late in the corridor leading to Representative hall.

Representatives Davis and Breidenthal, who had escaped to get lunch, were challenged by guards on the way back. Breidenthal drew his revolver and told the guard if he did not lower his bayonet that he would blow his head off. He went in.

The Sheriff Takes a Hand.

At midnight Sheriff Wilkinson informed Governor Lewelling that he was the peace officer and demanded that the latter turn over to him the situation. Colonel Hughes of the state militia then went into the Republican hall and informed Republican members, amid great enthusiasm, that if the governor asked him to eject them he would resign his position and wait for orders from Wilkinson.

BOSTON, Feb. 16.—Hans Nelsen was found wandering about the north end suffering from typhus fever.

HUGH O'DONNELL'S CASE.

"I Have No Use For Any Other Than a Loaded Gun."

PITTSBURG, Feb. 16.—Captain C. F. Pearow of the steamer Jenkins testified that as his boat was passing during the riot he was hailed by the men on the barges, who requested him to take them away. He turned in to pull them off. The shooting became so heavy from the shore as to drive him off. His then went on down the river. Richard Collins, a reporter, heard O'Donnell's speech to the crowd, in which he appealed to them to let the Pinkertons go. He said: "We have lost men. So have the Pinkertons. Let's cut the boats loose and float them down the river. This will put an end to the bloody work."

A man in the crowd shouted: "No! Shoot the bloody rascals!"

O'Donnell replied: "You go down and do it if you want to, and we will wait on you. We have tried this all day." The crowd then agreed to O'Donnell's proposition.

Mr. O'Donnell's wife was present in the courtroom for the first time during the trial. Several newspaper men were examined, the general trend of their evidence going to show that O'Donnell interfered to protect the Pinkertons at the time of the latter's surrender. Richard O. Cherry, a reporter, testified that at midnight on the night of the fight the interviewed O'Donnell at the labor leader's home. There was a rifle lying on the table which O'Donnell said the Pinkerton chief had given him. Witness asked if it was loaded, whereupon the defendant replied, "I have no use for any other kind."

The prosecution finished and court adjourned until today, when the defense will open.

GOVERNOR PATTISON RECEIVES.

The Sabbath Convention Makes Colonel Shepard a Member.

HARRISBURG, Feb. 16.—Rev. T. A. Fernay of Philadelphia presided at the morning session of the Sabbath convention. Colonel Elliot F. Shepard, president of the American Sabbath union, was elected to full privileges of a member of the conference. Senator Quay and the congressmen who opposed the World's fair opening on Sunday were given a vote of thanks.

Dr. Robinson and Rev. Dr. McCrory of Pittsburg delivered addresses. There were 400 delegates present. Governor Pattison received the delegates yesterday.

PARIS CITIZENS WILL MEET.

An Evident Dislike of Governor Hogg's Message on Smith's Murder.

PARIS, Tex., Feb. 16.—A mass meeting of Paris citizens and of citizens of the county has been called to meet at the courthouse in this city today to give public expression in regard to the message of Governor Hogg to the present legislature denouncing the people of Paris as murderers for the burning of Henry Smith on the 1st inst. The meeting will be attended by the most prominent citizens of the county.

Sons of Revolutionary Heroes.

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—Over 150 delegates of the two societies known as the Sons of the American Revolution and the Sons of the Revolution from all parts of the country arrived in the city to attend the national conventions of their respective organizations. The two societies were originally under one head, but a split occurred in 1889. General Horace Porter is the president of the Sons of the American Revolution, and ex-Governor John Lee Carroll of Maryland is the president of the Sons of the Revolution. General S. B. Buckner and General Isaac Trimble, both the two famous Confederate generals, will be present, together with many other prominent southerners.

General Campo Dead.

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—General Julio Campo, the South American who was arrested Nov. 5, 1891, charged with having robbed the dead body of Mrs. Charles H. Traiteur, died at East Orange, N. J., of ulceration of the stomach. General Campo was arrested and confessed that he had taken $700 in cash; two certificates of deposit for $1,000 each and a chamois bag containing diamonds and other jewelry. He was indicted, but the indictment was dismissed Dec. 28 last upon the recommendation of Assistant District Attorney Weeks.

Hacked Bullets From His Body.

CHATTANOOGA, Feb. 16.—The coroner held an inquest over the body of the negro lynched. The verdict says that the deceased came to his death at the hands of persons who were not known to the jury. After the inquest persons who were standing around took their knives and hacked the bullets from the negro's body to keep as souvenirs. Among the negroes there is some excitement.

New Tunic Armory Bids Opened.

ALBANY, Feb. 16.—Adjutant General Porter opened the bids for the erection of the Cohoes and Utica state armories under appropriations of $82,000 and $90,000 respectively made by the last legislature. Ten bids were received for the Cohoes work and eight for the Utica armory. The bids will be submitted to the board of armory being laid before the armory board for a decision.

Receiver Asked For the Home Protectors.

FLINT, Mich., Feb. 16.—A committee appointed by Equity lodge No. 99, Fraternal Order of America, Home Protectors, has filed a bill in the circuit court for Genesee county asking for the appointment of a receiver to wind up the affairs of the organization. The complainants allege that the supreme officers have wrecked the order by bad management.

HOKE SMITH.

He remained at his office in the Mills building all day and saw only those who called by appointment.

Mrs. Cleveland accompanied him to and from the city. The selection of Hoke Smith, with those of Walter Q. Gresham of Illinois for secretary of state, John G. Carlisle of Kentucky for secretary of the treasury, Daniel S. Lamont of New York for secretary of war and Wilson S. Bissell of Buffalo for postmaster general, fills all of the positions except the portfolio of the navy, the attorney general and the secretaryship of agriculture.

Mr. Smith Was Originally For Cleveland.

Hoke Smith of Georgia is the proprietor of the Atlanta Journal and is known as the original Cleveland man in his state. He favored the nomination of Mr. Cleveland, while the Atlanta Constitution and other influential papers were booming David B. Hill. Mr. Smith is not yet 50 years of age. He is a native of North Carolina. He is a lawyer and is said to have the largest practice of any lawyer in his state.

His fortune is estimated at $300,000. Mr. Smith is tall and athletic in appearance, with a smooth shaven face and thin traits that of the late Henry W. Grady. He is a good speaker and has a deep, musical voice. His wife is a niece of Howell E. Cobb, who was speaker of the national house.

The Other Possibilities.

Mr. Cleveland declined to discuss any other cabinet position. He admitted, however, that he had other names in mind and was only considering whom best to assign them.

Although Mr. Cleveland does not openly admit that Hilary A. Herbert of Alabama will be the secretary of navy, in interviews with several politicians this week he admitted that he was considering Mr. Herbert. Congressman Herbert has been the head of the naval house committee for some time.

Don Dickinson For Attorney General.

There has been no change in the agricultural department, and the fight still lies between ex-Governor Glick of Kansas and ex-Governor Francis of Missouri, with a good show for a dark horse to walk off with the prize. A report freely circulated at the Lakewood hotel last night was to the effect that Don M. Dickinson was Mr. Cleveland's choice for attorney general. Mr. Cleveland declined to affirm or deny the story.

Refuse to Indorse Gresham.

SPRINGFIELD, Ills., Feb. 16.—A Republican member threw a bomb into the legislature into an uproar by moving to suspend the rules for the introduction of a resolution congratulating President-elect Cleveland upon the selection of Judge Gresham as a member of his cabinet. The Democrats opposed the consideration of the resolutions, but the Republicans demanded the yeas and nays on the motion, determined, of course, to embarrass the Democrats as much as possible by forcing them into a position of withholding their approval of the president-elect's action. Amid great disturbance and the vain attempts of several gentlemen to explain their votes the roll was called, resulting in the defeat of the motion to suspend the rules by a vote of 56 to 98.

The Almshouse Victims Buried.

DOVER, N. H., Feb. 16.—Funeral services over the remains of the victims of the recent burning of the poor house were unclaimed were held in the almshouse chapel. There was a large number of people present, many of them drawn by morbid curiosity. The remains were all incased in plain stained coffins. The interment was in a big trench dug in the cemetery lot on the farm.

The Thief's Sister Was Honest.

BOSTON, Feb. 16.—It has been learned that D. Lancaster Drew, arrested in New York for embezzlement in Philadelphia, left $6,000 of the money with his sister in this city. The sister turned it over to the superintendent of police, who forwarded it to the Philadelphia company from which it was stolen.

Lieutenant Morse Promoted.

HARTFORD, Feb. 16.—Quartermaster General John P. Harbison has appointed ex-Lieutenant Everett L. Morse of the Hartford City guard assistant quartermaster general, with the rank of colonel, in place of Sherman, deceased.

The New York Gas Schemes Denied.

BOSTON, Feb. 16.—It is officially denied that J. Edward Addicks of the Bay State Gas company is organizing a $10,000,000 consolidation company to control the entire gas interests of New York.

Simply Awful

Worst Case of Scrofula the Doctors Ever Saw

Completely Cured by HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA.

"When I was 4 or 5 years old I had a scrofulous sore on the middle finger of my left hand which got so bad that the doctors cut the finger off, and later took off more than half my hand. Then the sores broke out on my arm, came out on my neck and face on both sides, nearly destroying the sight of one eye. Also on my right knee. Doctors said it was the they ever saw. It was simply awful! Five years ago I began to take Hood's Sarsaparilla. Gradually I found that the sores were beginning to heal. I kept on till I had taken ten bottles. Now I am well. Just think of what a return I got for that investment! A sound and perfect boy. Yes, many thousand. For the past 4 years I have had no sores.

Work all the Time.

Before, I could do no work. I know not what to say strong enough to express my gratitude to Hood's Sarsaparilla for my perfect cure." GEORGE LAKE, Parnell, Oakway, Saratoga county, N. Y.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.

Annexation Considered Behind Closed Doors.

MR. CARLISLE TALKS ON FINANCES.

An Extra Session Will Be Called if the Sherman Act Is Not Repealed—The Prospective Secretary Has No Fear of a Gold Crisis—The Government Is Prepared.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—The Nicaragua canal bill, though having the advantage of being the unfinished business, had to give way in the senate to the sundry civil appropriation bill. All the amendments to that bill reported by the committee on appropriations (including the World's fair items) were disposed of, with the exception of the series relating to river and harbor improvements, and these were in the fall tide of debate when the president's Hawaiian message was delivered. Then, without the delay of a minute, the senate on Mr. Sherman's motion went into executive session.

The invalid pension appropriation bill monopolized the attention of the house. The general debate was enlivened by Mr. Boutelle (Me.), who made one of his vigorous and characteristic speeches, but the house at large looked upon the controversy without excitement, and it ended without any gain on either side. Against the amendments changing the existing pension laws points of order were made, the determination of which was postponed until today.

The President's Message on Hawaii.

The president sent a message to the senate recommending the annexation of the Hawaiian islands to the United States. It is accompanied by a treaty of annexation, concluded between the secretary of state and the Hawaiian commissioners, and a mass of correspondence relating to the question at issue. The treaty is brief, providing merely for the annexation of the islands under the present provisional government, and leaving the details of the permanent form of government, etc., to the action of congress. The correspondence is very voluminous, going back many years, and gives a complete history of the islands so far as negotiations with the United States are concerned. Contrary to general expectation, the senate in executive session declined to make the treaty public immediately, but decided to first have the message and documents printed for the confidential information of senators.

$30,000 Annually to the Queen.

The laws of the United States which are in force in Alaska are extended to Hawaii. The deposed queen is to receive from the United States $30,000 a year, and the royal family, and especially the heires apparent to the throne, are to be fully cared for. The Chinese problem is disposed of by making it impossible for any of the Chinese now on the islands to come into the United States.

As far as the debts of Hawaii are concerned, the treaty proposes that the United States shall assume them, but shall receive in return the various crown lands of the islands, amounting, it is said, to about $10,000,000 a year.

Minister Stevens' Recommendations.

Following are some extracts from Minister Stevens' dispatch: "The annexation sentiment has constantly increased since the departure of the commissioners for Washington. The sugar bounty to be paid to the Hawaiian sugar planters should be limited to 6 mills per pound. It would be fortunate to have such a man as Sanford B. Dole, the present head of the provisional government, the first American governor of Hawaii. As to liquidation of all political claims, I suggest that $150,000 should be allowed—$75,000 to the family of Queen Lilinokalani and $70,000 to the Crown Princess Kaiulana and $5,000 to each of the two young princes."

Foster and Carlisle Confer.

Mr. Carlisle has been in conference with Secretary Foster. It is understood that Mr. Carlisle has received instructions for a bond issue and is now getting pointers from Secretary Foster. Mr. Carlisle said that he could not see any occasion for apprehension in financial circles, as the government would not allow gold to go to a premium.

"My course as secretary is perfectly plain," he said to a friend. "One of my first official steps will be to issue bonds, and this will be followed by a special session of congress. The Sherman act will then be repealed."

It would surprise no one familiar with Mr. Foster's plans to see a bond issue made as soon as the Sherman enabling act passes both houses. The Sherman enabling act will probably be passed as an amendment to the sundry civil bill in the senate.

Pastor Jennings Defies the Bishop.

WESTFIELD, N. J., Feb. 16.—Pastor Jennings did not obey the order of Bishop Scarborough to the contrary, he held services as prescribed by the ritual, and the feast was observed as though the minister was in good legal standing with his superior. Some time ago charges of untruthfulness were made against Mr. Jennings and the bishop on receiving the report of a committee ordered the minister to cease his ministrations on this date.

Marital Unpleasantness at Pittsburg.

PITTSBURG, Feb. 16.—Otto Price and his wife Lizzie, aged 18, residing on Boyle street, Allegheny, have been married about one year. During that time they have had many quarrels. Last night Otto accused his wife of unfaithfulness, and a quarrel resulted, during which the husband fired a shot into his wife's head, inflicting wounds that will doubtless prove fatal.

Killed by a Runaway Motor Car.

PORTLAND, Or., Feb. 16.—A frightful accident occurred on the City and Suburban Electric railway, in which three persons were instantly killed and a dozen seriously injured. The motorman lost control of the car, and it plunged down two blocks at a terrific speed and overturned.

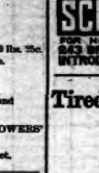
Tired from Head to Foot.



FROM HEAD TO FOOT

That's what's the matter with the most of us. What's the reason? Poor circulation of the blood. The cause? The neglect of the feet. We have known severe cases of so-called rheumatism, neuralgia, lumbago, weak joints, backache, (so familiar to females) disappear in the shortest time by the use of ANTI-TIRE. Get up good circulation, healthy action, see how quick pain, ache and aches will vanish. One foot bath of ANTI-TIRE will do it. Trial size, 15c. Family size, 25c. All druggists. THE CURIOSITY SHOP

THE PICTURED ROCKS.

A Series of Sandstone Bluffs on the South-ern Shore of Lake Superior.

These bluffs rise in many places abruptly out of the water to a height varying from 50 to 200 feet and are situated about 70 miles west of Whitefish Point. Two features impart to the scenery its remarkable appearance—the one, the strange style of the cliff excavations, worn away by the action of the lake, and the other, quite as strange, the way in which large portions of the surface of the bluffs have been colored by bands of brilliant color. It is to this latter circumstance that their name is due. The Grand Portal is the most imposing feature of the series. It is 100 feet high by 208 feet broad at the water level, and the cliff it is cut in rises above the arch, making the whole height 185 feet.

The great cave, entered through the portal, extends back in the shape of a vaulted room, the arches of the roof built of yellow limestone, and the sides fretted into fantastic shapes by storm driven waves. About a mile west is Sail Rock, a group of detached rocks which bear a resemblance to the mainsail and jib of a sloop. The height of this is about 40 feet. The Chapel is a vaulted apartment in the rock 30 or 40 feet above the lake level. An arched roof of sandstone rests on four columns of rock so as to forge an apartment about 40 feet in diameter and the same in length. Within are a pulpit and altar.

West a short distance from the Chapel is Chapel river, which falls over a rocky ledge 15 feet high into the lake. Miner's Castle, five miles west of the chapel and just west of Miner's river, is the western end of the pictured rocks, and resembles an old turreted castle with an arched portal. The height of the advanced mass in which the Gothic gateway may be recognized is about 70 feet, and the height of the main wall wall forming the background is 140 feet.

The Black Forest.

This is a noted wooded mountain chain, situated in Baden and Wurtemberg. Two of its passes—the Knieble and the Halle—acquired considerable celebrity during the wars of the French revolution. The first, situated on the borders between Baden and Wurtemberg, at the source of the Murg, was taken by the French in 1796 and 1797. The Halle is known in connection with Moreau's retreat in 1796. The Black forest attains its greatest elevation in the bare and round topped Feldberg, which rises near the source of the Werra. The great mass called the Kaiserstuhl (emperor's chair), situated near Breisach, is quite isolated.

Among its numerous valleys the Murg thal is the most famous for its natural beauties. Summer rye, oats and potatoes are cultivated in some parts of the Black forest, but it is with difficulty, and the rearing of cattle is prosecuted with much greater success. The manufactures of wood en clocks and other kinds of timepieces and music boxes is an important industry of the inhabitants. The Black forest is rich in mineral waters, as the baths of Baden Baden and Wildbad.

as are the possibility of inert matter existing, speaking of Mercury, said that though the heat from the sun there was more intense it might be tempered by the character of the atmosphere. Venus was yet more akin to our world in every respect, so that life there, as we know it, was yet more possible. The conditions of the atmosphere, indeed, were such that the whole globe might be habitable.

The character, substance, atmosphere and other features of Mars made the existence of creatures if not of man quite possible. People were slowly losing their former notions that there were nothing and nobody in the universe except the world and man. There were other worlds, how ever, which, so far as human intelligence could judge, were not yet suitable for habitation, but were gradually assuming conditions which might ultimately make life possible. The lecturer held the opinion that many years hence some means of mental communication with the denizens of the other planets might be established.

How They Do Things in Japan.

I see a man planing. He pulls the plane toward him. I notice a blacksmith at work. He pulls the bellows with his feet while he is holding and hammering with both hands. He has several irons in the fire and keeps his dinner pot boiling with the waste flame. The cooper holds his tube with his toes. All of them sit down when they work. How strange! There is an important difference between a European and an Asiatic. One sits down to work, and the other stands up to it.

Why is it that we do things contrary wise to them? The Japanese say that we are reversed. They call our writing crab writing because they say it goes backward. In a Japanese stable we find a horse's flank where we look for his head. Japanese turn screws the opposite way to us. Their locks are thrust to the left, ours to the right; notwithstanding, they are a wonderful and promising people. The Japanese have availed themselves of the progress of industrial civilization and customs quicker than any other nation, says The Industrial World.

A Woman's Age as Told by Herself.

The inaccuracy of women with regard to their age is the subject of some curious testimony by a French president of assize. The only instances in which he finds correct dates given by women are when they are under 25 or over 65. At these periods of life, he says, they are to be trusted. At all other periods the same controlling tendency is to understate. The magistrate has been able to give a rule for guidance. He finds that female prisoners invariably state their ages as 29, 35, 40 or 70, and from this remarkable circumstance he deduces his rule. If their ages are in the forties they boldly set them down in the thirties; but, conscience asserting itself, they keep as near the truth as they can and fix them at 39.

One of the Newer High Explosives.

A writer on the subject of the different explosives now in use thinks that "roselite," the invention of Professor Ilasell of the patent office, is likely to prove the safest of high explosives yet produced. It is claimed that it will not explode by fire or any shock less than percussion with a fulminate of mercury caps; it does not pulverize rocks, but splits them in the line of natural cleavage; it is smokeless, preventing loss of time by laborers awaiting for smoke to clear away after a blast, and it is remarkably cheap, being merely a mixture of chlorate of potash with asphalt oil, which is a hitherto unutilized byproduct in the manufacture of asphaltum.

CHARLES DICKENS.

A Boy's Christmas Offering to His Memory—His Picture When a Lad, Etc.

On the Saturday evening before last Christmas day a little fellow apparently about 10 years of age was seen to enter Westminster abbey shortly before evening prayers. Going straight up the main aisle toward poets' corner with a directness that showed his knowledge of the position by custom, he stood bareheaded and reverently over the grave of Charles Dickens. Then, looking around in evident doubt as to whether his action might give offense to the authorities, he produced a tiny bunch of violets with an envelope attached, and kneeling down placed his tribute tenderly upon the tombstone. The little fellow arose afterward and quietly rou the spot for a few moments, and glancing round to see that his tribute remained undisturbed went with a happy, satisfied look and took his place for the service.

CHARLES DICKENS AS A BOY.

NOT A RUNAWAY PAIR.

They Were Just Two Loving Hearts Bound to Be Made One.

They were one of the "loviest" couples as they appeared before the clerk's window in the office of the probate court.

They were from the region of Tosdvine or McCalla Bend. The "sturdy oak" was about 65 years of age, hale and hearty for a man of his years. The woman appeared to be not more than 35 years old.

The prospective groom was as jolly as jolly could be. His Baptist collar and flaked called up days long ago, and his homemade suit of jeans called to mind the farm where hog and hominy abound.

The intended was as pretty and sweet as the wild rose of the prairie, and her dress bespoke independence of French fashion plates, but indicated solid sense and genuine comfort.

The young old man was a little flushed about the face, as if he had been taking a small one, but his mind was as clear as a bell on the matter in hand. He squared himself before the clerk and said:

"Is this yeare the place where license is given to them that wants ter marry?"

The clerk informed him that he was in the right pew, and the old man placed his arm about the figure of his blushing bride and said:

"Do you think we come within the law on age?"

"Oh, yes," replied the clerk. "You seem to be old enough."

"You doan't think that we look like er run ez way pa'r, do ye?"

"Well, I would not put you down on that list if I had a guess at it."

"Then make out the credenshals, my fr'en, and you then proceed to tie the Gordian knot. We ain't no stuck up people, are we, Rebecca?"

And so saying the ancient gallant drew the almost fainting form of his intended a little closer to him and actually planted a broadside square on her quivering rosy lips.

The papers were made out, and the obliging clerk conducted the couple into the next room for further instructions into the mysteries of the order. They were introduced to the venerable prelate, Judge Porter, who requested them to stand before him and join hands.

The long whiskered groom was prompt in taking the hand of Rebecca in his, but did not forget to slip his other hand around her waist, and he inadvertently said: "Judge, was you ever married? I'll tell yer that's nothing like it in this country. You start talk about your gurnment and congressmen, yer presidents an all that, but I tell yer that's nuthin like gettin tied up to one purty woman, what loves yer an bein a husband."—Exchange.

Better Looking Girls at Home.

It is narrated of a distinguished American journalist that when he visited Egypt for the first time he rode out one morning to take a look at the pyramids. Mounted upon a bony Assyrian mule, he had inspected these mammoth chefs d'oeuvre of the last era, when suddenly he was brought face to face with the sphinx.

"Gosh!" said he in tones of astonishment. "What's this?"

"That," explained Hassan Ben Ali, the faithful muscalus guide, "that is the famous sphinx—emblazoned in song and illumined in story."

"Humph!" said the journalist, after a critical review of the placid dame's features, "so this is the sphinx, eh? Well, I don't think she amounts to very much. We've got girls in our office 100 per cent. better looking than she is!"—Washington Hatchet.

Well Caught.

"There's lots of horses that git pretty lame tryin ter keep up with the procession," said Uncle Ezra to the boys as they sot before the fire. "An it don't pay ter git too darn and sassy with yer jokin."

"There was no one to gainsay the truth in this remark, and the old man continued:

"Now there was Aaron Jaques. He was goin ter git lots of fun cuten that poor ole cripple, Miss Jones, that lives up in the woods. She ain't an uncommon neat puson, an if truth be spoke her cheese ain't invitin ter look at nor yet ter taste.

"Well, Aaron he went over there one day and thought he'd git a piece ter take ter school and fool the girls with. He went up and made a tolerable fine call—tiptoed round like a dancin master. Jist before he come away hosses, mighty perlite:

"'Miss Jones, do give me a piece of yer nice cheese. I've jist b'en a-hankerin for it,' sez he.

"Well, she went into a kind of dark lookin closet under the stairs an come out with a piece 'bout's big as a bowl, an she looked at Aaron kind o' cur'us an sez, smilin a little, 'You've b'en a-hankerin, her yer?'"

Here the old man threw his head forward and attempted an imitation of Miss Jones' smile.

"'There, yer can cease a-hankerin, an set right down here an eat it, an don't yer carry it away an make fun of it, same's yer brother Amos did.' An she jist stud over him while he minced the whole of it down. Boys, don't be too brash with yer foolin."—Youth's Companion.

How She Caught Them.

They were talking of the vanity of women, and one of the few ladies present undertook a defense. "Of course," she said, "I admit that women are vain and men are not. Why," she added, with a glance around, "the necktie of the handsomest man in the room is even now up the back of his collar." And then she smiled, for every man present had put his hand up behind his neck!—Drake's Magazine.

THE HOME OF GEO. T. GALPHIN BURNED.

The Firemen Respond Promptly and Save the Building from Total Destruction.—A Very Cold Night.—No Hot Coffee for the Workers.

An alarm of fire was sounded about 12.30 o'clock last night from box 16.

The frame house at 92 Richmond street was found to be burning. The house is owned by Mr. Isaac Vail of Basking Ridge and was occupied by Mr. George I. Galphin, a New York bookkeeper.

Mr. Galphin had not been home since the previous night, and there was only a colored woman in charge of the house.

Mr. Galphin's wife is confirmed invalid, and is in the South with her mother-in-law.

It is not positively known how the fire started.

The fire department responded promptly, and though the night was bitterly cold, they did excellent service and saved the house from total destruction.

A house next to the burning one, also owned by Mr. Vail was not even scorched.

The roof and back portion of the house was deluged with water, and the furniture and carpets were badly damaged.

This is the second house of Mr. Vail's that has burned in a year. Last summer his home at Basking Ridge together with all the furniture and a large sum of money was totally destroyed while he was absent from the premises.

He speaks very highly of the excellent work of the firemen in saving so much of his property.

The firemen worked for three hours in putting the fire out and greatly missed the W. C. T. U., coffee cart.

The building and contents were fully insured.

To-day the insurance companies had representatives on hand making estimates for repairing the building.

BREVITIES.

THE JOB MALE ESTATE.

A PORTION OF THE JERSEY CITY PROPERTY SOLD YESTERDAY.

Under the Direction of Special Master Williams.—Five Properties Bring $40,100—The Sale Adjourned for Two Weeks.

A portion of the Job Male estate was sold in Jersey City yesterday by Special Master W. B. Williams, upon order of the court.

A part of the property, located at 81 Montgomery street, Jersey City, brought $34,075. It is a four story brick building with a store on the ground floor and is well rented.

Another piece, sold yesterday, consisting of five three story brick tenements and two attr lots situated at 107 and 109 Morris street, Jersey City, brought $6,075.

The sale of the balance of the property was adjourned for two weeks.

MARRIED IN A HOSPITAL.

Wouldn't Let His Broken Leg Postpone His Wedding.

George Colloid, a brakeman in the employ of the Jersey Central Railroad, who had his leg broken last week, was married Wednesday night at the Elizabeth Hospital to Miss Mary Redmond, to whom he was betrothed. The wedding date had been fixed, and neither of the parties wished the ceremony deferred; so the Rev. F. B. Cobb of the Second Presbyterian church was sent for, and in the presence of the hospital staff of physicians, nurses and orderlies, who gathered around the groom's bedside, the two were made man and wife. Miss Helen E. Francis acted as bridesmaid, and Dr. J. T. Miller, house surgeon, was best man. The patients in the hospital surgical ward were interested spectators of the unusual scene, and raised themselves up in their beds the better to view it.

Do You Want to See the Exhibit?

Specimen papers reserved from the exhibit for the World's Fair will be exhibited in the Assembly Hall and class rooms on the third floor of the High school to-morrow (Saturday) and Monday from two to five in the afternoon, and from seven to nine o'clock in the evening.

Each grade in each of the school buildings will be represented by papers in arithmetic, language, writing and geography.

The drawing will be represented by a series of papers intended to show comprehensively the progressive plan of the work in the various grades.

All interested in school work are cordially invited to view the exhibit.

Stole Clothes and Clothes-Line Too.

Some thieves visited the home of Edward Vanderweg on East Third street last evening about nine o'clock and helped themselves to all the clothes and the line too. The clothes were missed soon afterward and Mr. Vanderweg and his son immediately started after the thieves. They traced them to the tank on the railroad beyond Dunellen and there caught two tramps whose they brought to the Plainfield station house in a wagon. None of the stolen goods were found on the men but they were in the jail over night.

The tramps gave their names as James Flynn, Duluth, Minn., and Michael Toney, Elizabeth. They were taken to court this morning and charged with riding on coal cars and of being otherwise disorderly. Judge Codrington sentenced them both to the county jail for thirty days.

PERSONAL.

A little lady came to brighten the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Martin of Dover street this noon.

A very pleasant evening sociable was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Connett, on Broadway, last evening. About a hundred guests attended and enjoyed themselves dancing.

The Rev. Dr. Lewis will preach at the Seventh-day Baptist church to-morrow on "Temperance" by request of the W. C. T. U. The other Plainfield clergymen will preach against license of the liquor traffic on Sunday.

The Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis One of the Speakers.

The New York Committee for the Prevention of State Regulation of Vice and the Promotion of Social Purity will hold its seventeenth annual meeting and 40th scription anniversary in the parlors of the Isaac T. Hopper Home, No. 110 Second avenue, on Tuesday evening, February 21, at eight o'clock.

Among the speakers for the evening will be Rev. Dr. W. T. Sabine, Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis of this city, Elbridge T. Gerry, Esq., Dr. Emily Blackwell, Rev. Antoinette Brown Blackwell, Samuel C. Blackwell and others.

—There is a story told of a tricky Englishman who offered to explain for a very small consideration, how a great deal of money might be saved, and when the unwary had transmitted the fee, he received in reply: "Never pay a man to look after your shadow, while you climb a tree to look into the middle of next week."—Tribune Tid.

MINISTERS HOLD A MEETING.

To Lay Plans for Combating the Liquor Traffic.

A meeting of the ministers of this city and persons interested in temperance work was held in the W. C. T. U. rooms on Broadway last evening.

Mr. A. M. Powell acted as chairman. The Rev. Mr. Herald spoke of the aggressiveness of the liquor power everywhere. He said already 30,000 barrels of beer had been contracted for to use at the World's Fair, and that the liquor dealers defied the public opinion here and everywhere.

Rev. Dr. Hurlbut favored some action that would be permanent. He said the temperance people failed in 1874 and should try now to accomplish something.

Rev. Dr. Yerkes believed in moral suasion, and didn't rely much on laws. He referred to the evil as a terrible one.

Mr. Elias Lansdowne thought that those interested in temperance should unite and not split up into factions. He said he saw one night 500 persons go into Plainfield saloons. Mr. Frank Harder praised the work of the Salvation Army with drunkards and deplored the fact that so many church members drank beer.

Rev. W. E. Honeyman said the evils of intemperance were conceded, and now work was in order. Talking would not close the saloons. Something more must be done. Good speakers ought to be secured from abroad to talk here more frequently in order to continue the process of education.

Councilman Case advocated an organization of some kind to consider the question fully.

It was voted that Mr. Pond, Mr. Case and Rev. Mr. Honeyman be appointed to nominate a committee of ten to consider the whole subject and report at a future meeting the advisability of forming a league to combat the liquor evil in Plainfield.

CRINOLINE WORRIES LEGISLATORS.

Some Prominent Ladies Think it Better than Trains.

The world at large concerns itself mightily about woman's dress and recently to such an extent that even mighty State legislative bodies who make laws for millions of people have undertaken to dictate to women what they shall not wear.

Pretty nearly everybody has been heard from on the crinoline question excepting the women themselves. As they will have to wear hoops if hoops are to be worn, an effort has been made to find out just how they feel about the subject.

"There are hoop-skirts and hoop skirts," said Mrs. A. M. Palmer when asked about it, "and why not give the modified hoop-skirt its due? A little hoop-skirt isn't such a terrible thing. It is positively a sanitary blessing in comparison to the heated sweeping trains which our street gowns have recently possessed."

The old-fashioned hoop skirts of twenty-five years ago may be considered by some to be preferrable to the street sweeping trains, but they would not do as much general good to the public.

The style of dress recently worn with trains is certainly far more graceful and artistic than any balloon style ever was or could be, and the trains are becoming much shorter.

It is woman's right to be "a thing of beauty" and "a joy forever," and they would be courted just as much in crinoline or hoop-skirts as in anything else.

Our Boards of Health Should be Vigilant.

What is being done here to guard against cholera next Summer?

Some of the Marseilles has been regarded with suspicion. It has been alleged that there were cholera cases there and the charge has been promptly denied.

It is important that the truth be known in this regard. For if the cholera becomes epidemic in Marseilles every country in the civilized world will be menaced. Therefore the knowledge that such a competent investigator as Dr. Albert Robin of the Paris Academy of Medicine, has been to the city and looked into everything, will be taken as authority in the matter for the time being.

The doctor saw the patients in the cholera hospital and he assisted in four post-mortem examinations. He concludes that there is cholera in Marseilles, real cholera, "but up to the present time there is no epidemic, in the real sense of the word." It is enough for the world to know that cholera is truly there. Its danger will depend, of course, upon the amount of sanitary vigilance displayed by the authorities and the people generally. In some places a single cholera case is worse than a score in other places. Robin finds no difficulty in saying, "I foresee more danger for the end of Spring or for Summer than I do at the present time." Of course all sanitary experts agree on this point. It is easy for cholera to get from Marseilles to New York. Every precaution should be employed to keep it out.

Forty Hours' Devotion.

"The forty hours' devotion" will begin in St. Joseph's church, Manning avenue, next Sunday at the 10.30 o'clock high mass, and will continue until Tuesday morning, when it will close at the half-past nine o'clock mass. The first mass on Monday and Tuesday will be at six o'clock a. m.

—An adjourned meeting of the Borough Council will be held this evening.

MATCH BOWLING GAMES.

THE NORTH PLAINFIELDERS WIN; THE PLAINFIELDERS LOSE.

The Park Club Defeats the Westfield Club, by a Score of 1,503 to 1,395—The Crescents Defeated by 19 Points.

About one hundred persons were present at the Crescent League club house last evening to witness a league bowling game between the Elizabeth Field Club and the Crescent League team.

The game was a very close one and exciting throughout. The Crescent team took the lead at the start and held it until the third frame when the Elizabeth team were only one point behind. In the fourth frame the visitors were 39 points ahead and continued in the lead throughout the game, winning by a total 1502 against 1483.

The highest score of the game was made by the last player on the Elizabeth team, Mr. Dimock who made two strikes in the last frame increasing his score from 130 to 155.

The highest score of the Crescent team was made by Mr. Tyrell who totaled 186. He played a very uniform game throughout. The score was as follows:

ELIZABETH FIELD CLUB.		CRESCENTS.
Davis	170	Wood	130
Tucker	135	Barnes	147
Morrell	129	Dodge	127
Woodward	127	Van Alstyne	160
L. Meyers	139	Barkie	169
Kline	147	Tyrell	186
Baur	125	Petrie	143
Barber	130	Vail	164
Lane	175	Davis	147
Dimock	165	Van Winkle	159
Total	1502	Total	1483

A bowling game was played on the Park Club alleys last evening between the Park Club and the Westfield Club. The home club won by a score of 1503 to 1395. The detailed score was as follows:

PARK CLUB.		WESTFIELD CLUB.
Lyman	162	Howe	170
Theirs	179	Rice	131
Reed	128	Townley	120
Sandford	132	Sandford	130
Hegeman	124	Whitehead	133
Henricks	125	Mangin	118
Murphy	149	Arkell	111
Worth	125	Stone	127
Darling	134	Foster	127
Matthews	249	Jackson	143
Total	1503	Total	1395

Park Club winning by 108 pins.

Umpire—W. A. Barnaby.

As this makes the second game the Park Club has won, a third game will be unnecessary.

A Big Electric Railway Scheme.

The certificate of incorporation of the New England Street Railway Company was filed in Jersey City at noon yesterday and two hours later in the office of the Secretary of State of New Jersey in Trenton.

The New England Street Railway Company is nothing more or less than a syndicate which will at the outset connect the street railways in all the principal towns and cities in Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont, and sooner or later cover all of New England with a network of electric railways.

One of the members of the new corporation said that he was of the opinion that within five years it would be possible, if one desired so to travel, to go from New Haven to Boston by electric railway.

While this would seem to be a blow at the steam roads, the latter are, strangely enough, strongly in favor of the move.

Several members of the Board of Directors of the big scheme are also interested in the electric railroad which will connect Plainfield and Elizabeth, and, if the electric road between New Brunswick, Bound Brook, Plainfield and Somerville goes through, it is possible that in the future some such gigantic system as that of the New England Company may extend through New Jersey.

Knights of Pythias Convention.

The Grand Lodge, Knights of Pythias, had a very large attendance of representatives and Past Chancellors present at the opening of the session yesterday morning, and a large volume of business was transacted during the day.

The Plainfielders were appointed yesterday on standing committees. Mr. John Neagle is on the Committee of Law and Supervision and Mr. Lewis E. Blackford is one of the Committee on Printing and Supplies.

Theatrical Notes.

Not only does the ladies club policy at Proctor's seem popular, but its extra convenience for the shopping women and the unattended sight seeing visitor to the metropolis are so many and so well arranged that the management has been unable to accommodate the crowds that flock there every afternoon and evening, even in the most inclement weather. The standing room only sign was often required.

To Lecture at Music Hall.

On Wednesday evening, Feb. 22, the Rev. Duncan MacGregor, B. D., D. D., of Philadelphia, will lecture at Music Hall, on "The Grip and Grapple of Great Men and Great Nations," under the auspices of Queen City Lodge, No. 298, Independent Order of Odd Fellows. The committee in charge of the affair consists of Messrs. L. E. Blackford, L. S. Pocock, C. H. Sage, Rudolph, J. E. Mosher, F. Vreeland, D. DeHass, R. O. Hance and D. P. Hicks.

THE WILL BROKEN BECAUSE OF FORGERY.

A Jury Finds a Verdict for the Plaintiff on the Ground of Forgery.

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 17. (Special.)—This morning the jury in the McDonald will contest returned a verdict for the plaintiff. This breaks the will of the late Senator McDonald, on the ground that it was a forgery.

Two Brothers Frozen to Death.

DENING, N. M., Feb. 17, (Special.)—Mark and Mart Wilson, freighters employed in hauling ore from the Cooks Peak mining district, Grant County, to Florida Station, on the Santa Fe, were found frozen stiff within a few miles of their home at noon yesterday.

The men, who were brothers, had evidently abandoned their teams and attempted to reach the mining camp by riding on mules, but, being overcome by the terrible cold, sought refuge under an embankment near the road and froze to death.

Mark Wilson was actually frozen while standing upright, and the body was in a position which looked as if he had started to walk. A Mexican who accompanied them narrowly escaped a similar death and reached camp only after great hardship.

Political Peace in Kansas.

TOPEKA, Kan. Feb. 17. (Special.)—All indications tend to show that hostilities have been suspended. The Governor is said to have accepted the propositions of the Republicans.

White Caps Within Twenty Miles of Plainfield.

The little old-fashioned village of Old Bridge, about eight miles south of New Brunswick, is alarmed by White Cap threats. On Sunday night a notice to go to work or get ready to be whipped was posted upon one man's door, and since several other notices have been posted on the doors of those who have for some time past led an idle life. One of these notices read, "Work, leave or take a licking within forty-eight hours." All the notices are signed White Caps.

Steps are being taken by the authorities to ascertain the perpetrators who if caught will be summarily dealt with.

"On Probation."

One of the most thoroughly enjoyable comedies in New York city is "On Probation" which is now being played at the Star Theatre on Broadway by Wm. H. Crane and an excellent company.

Not only is the story a good one and laughable throughout but it is well acted. The scenery is handsome and the actresses young and very pretty. Large audiences crowd the theatre every evening.

—Atlantic City Council practically adjourned at its last meeting to witness a catfight in one of the anti-rooms.

—The death of Harvey Carley, a contractor of Summit, revealed that he was twice married. Carley got a divorce from his first wife, but she intends to collect a $5,000 insurance on his life in the Royal Arcanum. He neglected to keep up his payments, but the divorced wife kept him square, and the officers of the lodge say she is entitled to the money. The present Mrs. Carley is destitute.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The person who will not be kept down never is kept down.

Take notice that on Feb. 22, Washington's birthday the American flag will begin to float, and will float thence on over two of the fastest ships that ever rode the waves—the Inman Atlantic liners City of Paris and City of New York.

The system of plural voting under which the people of Great Britain suffer amounts to this: A man may vote in every electoral district in which he possesses certain real estate interests. It follows from this that a rich man may have several votes, a poor man only one or even none at all. This is perhaps according to the dictum of a well known American political orator that "property and intelligence should rule the country" but the effect in Great Britain was that it made property rule, whether intelligence had anything to say or not. Rich Englishmen are rather inclined to be Conservatives in politics, so that the plural voting system helped Tories more than Liberals. For this reason the present liberal parliament will undertake to abolish the system.

Our Annexation Policy.

The United States is not going out of its way to grab any countries for annexation purposes. Neither will she execute any island or country by force. But if any people come to us asking to be taken in out of the cold and to become one of our fair sisterhood the United States will just grant their request that is all and let them come in. This is the true annexation policy for us. It is to be particularly observed, how ever that the outlying districts want to be annexed to us in preference to becoming part of any other nation or even remaining independent. We do not need to seize forcibly any territory, as England and Germany sometimes do. We need only accept it, and the thanks are curiously enough on the side of the territory to be annexed.

Just now it seems to be the Gilbert islands, not far from the Caroline islands that want us to take them. Teburiemoa is king of Butaritari, one of the Gilbert islands Teburiemoa, through Commissioner Charles E. Dalley protests to the American government against the seizure of the Gilbert group by Great Britain and a time, too, when negotiations were in progress looking to unite them with this country The aggrieved king of Butaritari therefore respectfully asks that the United States assume control of the islands either through a protectorate or by annexation.

That is one straw Another is that at a meeting in a town in Ontario lately the wishes of those present were ascertained by vote Twenty persons wanted Canada to remain just as it at present. 12 wanted independence out and out. 3 were in favor of imperial federation whatever they are pleased to understand by that while 413 voted for "political union with the United States." Take a glance at those figures.

Italy's Bank Scandal.

While not so great in quantity, Italy's pet scandal is in quality quite up to the mark of the Panama disgrace in France The embarrassment of several Italian banks one after another, particularly the Bank of Naples, then the Bank of Rome, called the attention of the Italian government to ugly rumors in connection with the cause of these failures. Later too the Banca Associamone of Florence went the wall among others.

The trouble is that Italian banks seem to be this Six banks of Italy were permitted to be banks of issue. The law allowed them to have a certain number of their notes in circulation but all of them issued bills largely in excess of the legal amount. This was known to members of the Italian house of deputies, and even it is claimed to ministers of King Humbert's cabinet, but was permitted to continue. What it was allowed to continue is evident in the general public washing of linen that is now going on in Italian government circles

As the price of their silence in the matter of the overissue of notes, also as the price of passing laws favorable to the banking institutions the deputies gave their notes to the banks for large amounts, which notes the banks discounted in good money, keeping the deputies' paper which never was redeemed and never was meant to be redeemed The Bank of Naples, for instance has 16,000 000 lire of politicians' unpaid paper A lira is equal in value to a French franc 20 cents. The burden at length got so heavy that the banks could not carry it any longer, then they failed.

The meanest looking feature of the ugly affair is that a large number of deputies, and even Prime Minister Crispi himself, opposed with the energy of desperation an investigation into the turpitude by the national parliament. Their plea was that its reputation and dignity would suffer it was the greatest mistake they could have made. If it was a mistake. There are times when nothing short of a grand government housecleaning looks dignified in the eyes of the rest of the world. Meantime the legal investigations that have been made implicate three or certainly seven deputies and two ex-ministers. Once more we find there is only one safe way to go through the difficult journey of life and that is open to the public at the end.

A TRIBUTE TO HARRISON

The Gold Exportation Not at All Alarming.

NOBLE STANDS BY THE CLERKS

General Carr Retired—Turpin and Waugh Nearly Come to Blows in the House—Senator Carlisle Is Given a Farewell—Democrats to Camp at the Arlington.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—The session of the house was almost entirely devoted to the consideration of the pension appropriation bill. The new legislation proposed by the committee on appropriations was, so far as it was material, ruled in order by the chairman, Mr. Wilson (W. Va.). His decision was sustained, but the amendments were rejected.

The feature of the day was a personal collision between Turpin (Ala.) and Waugh (Ind.), which but for the bodily intervention of friends might have resulted seriously, but as it turned out any injuries that were received were received by the peacemakers.

The senate session was occupied in the consideration of the sundry civil appropriation bills. The various amendments recommended by the committee on appropriations to reduce the amounts inserted by the house of representatives for some of the great internal improvements were discussed and voted down.

Vest Scores the Republicans.

During the discussion Mr. Vest (Dem., Mo.) arraigned Republican statesmen for a course of policy which had resulted in dissipating the treasury surplus of $100,000,000 four years ago, and in bringing the treasury in a condition which would in the case of a corporation or individual result in an application for a receiver. The proposed annexation of the Hawaiian Islands came in for a large share of Mr. Vest's comments and criticisms. He ridiculed the inconsistency of Mr. Chandler (Rep., N. H.) for proposing the unconstitutional annexation of these islands—Kanakas, Chinese, lepers and all—immediately after proposing legislation for the exclusion of European immigrants and Asiatic cholera. An amendment involving the continuance of the office of supervisor of elections gave rise to a long and heated political discussion.

Retired Against His Wishes.

By direction of President Harrison the adjutant general of the army has prepared an order placing Brigadier General E. A. Carr on the retired list on account of age. This action was taken against the protest of General Carr. In recommending General Carr's retirement Major General Schofield requested that Colonel Carlin be promoted to the vacancy and immediately retired and that a younger colonel be given the position. General Carr has served with great distinction. He carries into retirement the well earned record of soldierly devotion to his profession and of faithful and patriotic service to his country.

Democrats Will Quarter at the Arlington.

Chairman Harrity has notified the members of the national Democratic committee that the headquarters for members during the inaugural season will be in the reception parlor of the Arlington hotel. The committee will participate in the parade to the Capitol and from it as far as the reviewing stand in front of the White House, upon which seats for the members of the committee and their families will be provided.

Hawaiians Want to Get Home.

The members of the Hawaiian annexation commission desire to leave San Francisco for Honolulu on the steamer due to sail on Friday, March 3, and hope to have copies of the treaty ratified by the senate to carry with them. Should their desire be fulfilled they will take to the islands the first information respecting the text of the document.

The Gold Situation Improved.

Secret ry Foster said that as far as he was advised the shipment of gold for the balance of the week would not reach more than $2,250,000. "The treasury," he said, "has on hand something over $8,000,000 in free gold. The situation shows a slight improvement, the receipts being larger."

Secretary Noble Stands by the Clerks.

Secretary Noble expressed himself as strongly opposed to the Dockery bill requiring clerks in the government departments to work eight hours a day and limiting their annual leave to 15 days a year instead of 30. The secretary said that in his opinion nothing would be gained by increasing the hours of labor. After an experience covering the last four years he was thoroughly convinced that the clerks in the departments earn their salaries. It was his experience, too, that in cases of emergency the clerks were always ready and willing to work overhours, and they performed this extra service cheerfully and well, and he did not believe that any good could result from an attempt to exact increased hours of service.

A Dinner to Senator Carlisle.

The parting dinner given to Senator Carlisle last night by his late associates in the senate at the Arlington hotel was a memorable occasion in more ways than one.

The company included almost the entire senate. As Mr. Vilas jocularly remarked at the commencement of the proceedings: "We have been long trying to divide the Republican party, and we seem to have succeeded in doing so tonight." President pro tem. Manderson of Nebraska presided in the absence of Vice President Morton, who later in the evening appeared and made a happy little speech. Mr. Manderson's right were Mr. Carlisle, the guest of the evening; Mr. Allison, Mr. Harris, Mr. Jarves and Mr. Voorhees, and to his left Mr. Sherman, Mr. Morgan, Mr. Hoar, Mr. Gorman, Mr. Hiscock and so on through a list of over 60 senators. The speeches both of the chairman and of the guests were exceedingly clever all through the evening, and, while there was no very direct political turn given to the oratory, the sentiments sufficient and pointed to be quite interesting.

Vilas Eulogizes the President.

At the Carlisle banquet Senator Vilas, in responding to the toast "The Members of the United States," passed an unexpected eulogy upon President Harrison, saying that he had known him about 40 years; they had practiced law together and that he admired his industry and courage and integrity. He believed his foreign policy would pass into history and challenge the admiration of the world. Then he added, amidst the mingled laughter and applause of his hearers, "His domestic policy I will not discuss, but unless the party changes its principles he will be four years from now the logical successor of the situation to that party just as another gentleman is the logical successor of our sainted son-in-law." He closed with some pathetic allusions to the president's bereavements and with the statement that the president retired from office with the sincere well wishes of the American people for his future success.

A New Nicaragua Bill.

Mr. Stewart (Rep., Nev.) gave notice in the senate today of a substitute to be offered by him to the Nicaragua canal bill. It authorizes the president of the United States to contract with the governments of Nicaragua and Costa Rica for a right of way for an interoceanic ship canal between the Atlantic and Pacific oceans, and to agree that the canal shall be put in operation within ten years.

It also authorizes the president to negotiate with the canal company for the purchase of all its properties, rights and franchises; also to issue bonds not exceeding $100,000,000 in amount and bearing interest at not over 5 per cent, and over $6,000,000 of which is to be paid to the governments of Nicaragua and Costa Rica and the canal company. The secretary of war, through the engineer corps of the army, is to build, construct and equip the canal.

O'DONNELL'S CASE BRIGHTENING.

He Poses as a Peacemaker Among the Striking Miners at Homestead.

PITTSBURG, Feb. 17.—The courtroom was crowded all day, many of the spectators being ladies. Mrs. O'Donnell and her niece occupied places beside the defendant. The general impression in court circles is that the defense has much the best of the case. O'Donnell's face has lighted up wonderfully since the commonwealth closed, and the lines of anxiety which were so plainly visible on the face of his wife are disappearing rapidly.

Dr. Turnip of Homestead testified that O'Donnell came to his house about 5 o'clock on the morning of the riot with three wounded men. A big crowd gathered around, and O'Donnell went out and asked them to go home and not go to the mill again. Later he saw the defendant arguing with some strikers to go home. One of them said:

"You leaders are all d——d cowards. You have sneaked away from the mill as soon as the trouble began." O'Donnell turned to the man and said: "There are no leaders in this business. You men are all acting for yourselves." The men were quieted by this and O'Donnell became he wanted the fight stopped. A number of witnesses corroborated Dr. Furman.

President Garland of the Amalgamated association said that he asked O'Donnell that afternoon if the fight could not be stopped, and the defendant said, "God knows I have been doing my best to stop it all day and can't."

Just then a man passed them carrying a gun. O'Donnell stopped him and urged him not to go to the shore, as the fight should stop. The man replied: "Many of our friends have been killed by those men, and they are still shooting at us. How are we going to stop it?"

O'Donnell will be the last witness called for the defense. It is expected that his examination will be very lengthy. Major E. A. Monooth and Hon. Thomas M. Marshall will present the arguments for the defense to the jury. The side of the prosecution will be presented by Messrs. Robb and Burleigh. The case will reach the jury this afternoon.

BUTTERINE IN A STATE HOSPITAL.

The Use of the Butter Substitute Given Great Satisfaction.

UTICA, N. Y., Feb. 17.—Dr. G. Alder Blumer, superintendent of the Utica State hospital, in an interview stated that butterine had been in use in the institution for several weeks. Four thousand pounds of the article had been purchased from Armour & Co. of Chicago at 17 cents a pound. Dr. Blumer made a very frank statement of the matter. He had acted advisedly in ordering the use of the article. He quotes the opinions of Professor Charles F. Chandler of the School of Mines at Columbia college and Professor George F. Parker of the University of Pennsylvania in favor of butterine to be used wholesome and a most valuable article of food. He also consulted several members of the board of managers. There had always been complaints against the butter furnished by the institution, but none had been heard since butterine was introduced. He and other officers of the institution have used it on their tables. The use of butterine saved the institution $200 per year, but Dr. Blumer regards this as a small advantage compared with public utility and the contentment of the consumers. The state officials have secured a sample of the article. Dr. Blumer got the idea of using butterine from Dr. Andrews of the Buffalo hospital. He believes, however, that it is not in use in that institution.

NEW YORK LAWS.

Governor Flower Places His Signature to Several Measures.

ALBANY, Feb. 17.—Governor Flower has signed the following bills: Appropriating $75,000 for the erection and furnishing of additional buildings for the House of Refuge for Women at Hudson; allowing boards of supervisors to fix the salaries of superintendents of the poor after they are elected, and appropriating $104,621 for the purchase by the state of the Oneida County Asylum for the Insane at Rome.

The Vesuvius Tests.

PORT ROYAL, S. C., Feb. 17.—Another day's experiments with the Zalinski dynamite gun failed to finally settle the question of its efficiency. Three projectiles, each charged with 200 pounds of gun cotton, were successfully fired from the pneumatic tubes of the Vesuvius. Two of them were directed at the target line from the 3,000-yard base, and the third was hurled into the sandy beach of St. Phillip's island at Bay Point. While a partial explosion was produced in the first instance, there was no detonation of any kind in the third projectile.

Hoke Smith Gets Home.

ATLANTA, Feb. 17.—Hon. Hoke Smith, who returned to Atlanta, was escorted by a number of citizens to the chamber of commerce, where congratulations upon his honors were tendered. Mr. Smith replied to the manifestations of his friends, briefly referring to his labors while at the head of the interior administration and urging the necessity of Democratic unity at all times.

Killed Because He Objected.

RAMSEN, Ia., Feb. 17.—Nicholas Lang, ex-mayor, shot and killed his wife's guardian, John Schoenwander, a wealthy farmer. The murdered man was opposed to the marriage, and Lang eloped with the girl about a year ago. Both are wealthy. Schoenwander had threatened to kill on sight. Lang surrendered to the sheriff and claims justification in self defense.

ANNEXATION PAPERS.

The President's Message and the Treaty Given Out.

THE POSSIBILITIES IN THE SENATE.

Queen Lil to Have an Annuity of $20,000 if She Is Good—Land Laws Unchanged. A Double Headed Chinese Exclusion Act. Much Left For Future Legislation.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—The publication of the proposed treaty of annexation between the United States and Hawaii revealed to members of congress an instrument most cleverly devised in all its details and having the especial merit of leaving to future legislation, to be enacted within a year, all the questions which will arise as to citizenship, the treatment of public lands, the revenues and public debt and other problems. President Harrison's message to the senate is as follows:

The President's Message.

To the Senate:

I transmit herewith, with a view to its ratification, a treaty of annexation concluded on the 14th day of February, 1893, between John W. Foster, secretary of state, who was duly empowered to act in that behalf on the part of the United States, and the commissioners on the part of the government of the Hawaiian Islands.

The provisional treaty, it will be observed, does not attempt to deal in detail with the questions that grow out of the annexation of the Hawaiian Islands to the United States. The conditions presenting the Hawaiian government have consented to leave to the future and to the just and benevolent purposes of the United States the settlement of all such questions.

Our Past Relations With Hawaii.

It has been the policy of the administration not only to respect but to encourage the continuance of an independent government in the Hawaiian Islands so long as it afforded adequate guarantees for the protection of life and property and maintained a stability and strength which commended confidence at home and abroad. It is quite evident that the monarchy had become effete and the queen's government so weak and burdensome as to be the prey of designing and unscrupulous persons. The restoration of Queen Lilioukalani to her throne is unthinkable, if not impossible, without actively supported by the United States would be accompanied by a serious disorder and the disorganization of all business interests.

Annexation Full and Complete.

Only two courses are now open—one the establishment of a protectorate by the United States and the other annexation full and complete. I think the latter course, which has been adopted, will be found to be the best, inasmuch as it will best subserve the interests of the Hawaiian people, and be the only one that will adequately secure the interests of the United States. These interests are not wholly selfish. It is essential that none of the other great powers shall secure these islands. Such a possession would not consist with our safety and with the peace of the world. Under the present situation is so apparent and conclusive that no protest has been heard from any government against consummating the treaty of annexation.

Future Acts Should Be Just and Liberal.

Every foreign representative at Honolulu promptly acknowledged the provisional government and I think there is no room for conference in the opinion that the deposed queen could not be restored.

Prompt action upon this treaty is very desirable. It it meets the approval of the senate, a speedy and good order will be found in the islands under existing laws until such time as congress can provide by legislation a permanent form of government for the islands.

This legislation should be, and I do not doubt will be, not only just to the natives and all other residents and citizens of the islands, but should be characterized by great liberality and a high regard for the rights of all the people and of all treaties with other powers.

The correspondence which accompanies the treaty will put the senate in possession of all the facts known to the executive.

BENJAMIN HARRISON.

Provisions of the Treaty.

The treaty ceded to the United States the Hawaiian Islands and all public property therein. The existing laws of the United States relative to public lands shall not apply to such lands in the Hawaiian Islands, but the congress of the United States shall enact special laws for their management and disposition.

Until such shall with a year enact the necessary legislation to extend to the Hawaiian Islands the laws of the United States respecting duties upon imports, the internal revenue, commerce and navigation.

Chinese Immigration Prohibited.

The further immigration of Chinese laborers into the Hawaiian Islands is prohibited. Chinese persons of the classes now excluded from entering the United States will not be permitted to come from the Hawaiian Islands.

The public debt of the Hawaiian Islands is assumed by the United States, but the liability shall in no case exceed $4,000,000.

Rules For Royal Wrecks.

The government agrees to pay to Lilioukalani, the late queen, $20,000, and annually thereafter a like sum during the term of her natural life, provided she in good faith submits to the authority of the government of the United States and the local government of the islands, and the government agrees to pay to the Princess Kaiulani the gross sum of $150,000.

Its Chances In the Senate.

Little doubt is expressed that the Hawaiian treaty will be ratified by the senate with several votes more than the necessary two-thirds. The limit to the opposition is placed at 20 votes, and that opposition is said to be due to a desire to postpone action until the new administration has come into power. In the senate Senators Mills and Vest were outspoken against annexation. Messrs. Vilas and Gray are also said to disapprove of it.

American Manufacturers In Mexico.

CITY OF MEXICO, Feb. 17.—The extension of manufactures from the United States into this country is rapid. The capitalists have visited all the important manufactories, most of the mines and points of interest in Mexico and express themselves as well pleased with the condition and prospects of trade.

Confessed on the Scaffold.

LEXINGTON, Mo., Feb. 17.—William McCoy, who murdered his mistress, Mollie Mayhew, in Kansas City, on the night of April 6, 1891, was hanged here. McCoy confessed his crime on the scaffold.

THE BRITISH SLUGGER.

He Agrees to Post His Forfeit Money Today With Corbett.

NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—Pugilist Charley Mitchell and his party had considerable trouble before they could find accommodations. They wanted to stay at the Hot-1 Brunswick, but the story of Mitchell being considered an ex-convict had preceded him, and the management declined to accept him as a guest. Finally quarters were found at the Gedney, where the party secured the best rooms in the house. Judge Andrews of the supreme court discharged Mitchell upon writ of habeas corpus from the detention sought to be made by Major Weber, chief of the quarantine, on the ground that as an ex-convict his landing would be a violation of the law.

CHARLEY MITCHELL.

Manager Brady, Corbett's backer, was introduced to Mitchell. Brady gave the merest suspicion of a bow and said, "I believe I have met him."

Mitchell, equally stiff in his vertebra, said, "Howdy do?" Then, after a formal introduction to "Squire" Abingdon, Mitchell's backer, Brady declared himself.

"Well, Mr. Mitchell," he began, "we have deposited $10,000 here for a match between yourself and Mr. Corbett. When you have covered it we'll talk business."

"It will cover it fast enough," replied Mitchell. "You should know that we have here all the money we want."

"We will come to time if so far. There is no use of any talk about it."

"Well," said Brady, "when you meet us and cover our money we will talk business with you."

It was finally agreed that the forfeits should be posted today at 4 o'clock.

Corbett Will Accommodate Jackson.

NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—In reply to Peter Jackson's statement that he would not fight Corbett if the latter gave the preference to Mitchell, Corbett telegraphed that he would deposit as much as $10,000 to fight Jackson seven months after fighting Mitchell. The amount was entirely optional with Jackson. The money was to be posted with the proviso that if Corbett does not defeat Mitchell, Jackson can draw out and fight Mitchell or any one else, and Corbett will hold Jackson to nothing he has signed. "This," said Brady, "ought to settle the Jackson matter."

DONOGHUE LOSES.

Johnson of Minneapolis Proves to Be the Best Man on Skates.

RED BANK, N. J., Feb. 17.—The national amateur championship skating contests were decided yesterday. There were a number of surprises, the principal one being the defeat of Joe Donoghue, the eastern champion, by John S. Johnson, the northwestern lad from Minneapolis. The Newburg boy started in three races and only got two second places and a third, these being secured in the 1 and 5-mile races and the ½-mile race.

Donoghue did not appear in his regular form. The long, sweeping strides which he made with apparent ease at the Red Bank races last month were transformed yesterday into a short, labored stroke, that did not seem to propel him along at more than ordinary speed. When asked whether there was any truth in the rumor that Donoghue was sick previous to the beginning of the race, Johnson said: "Donoghue himself said that he never felt in better condition and was very confident that he would win. I am sure Joe was not a sick man."

THE PRESIDENT TAKES AN OUTING.

He Goes Shooting For Ducks on the Chesapeake Shore.

BALTIMORE, Feb. 17.—President Harrison is enjoying a quiet rest at the Bengies ducking shore, near Baltimore. He received no mail and only one telegram, which did not require an answer. Not a duck approached the blind in which he and General Sewell of New Jersey spent most of the day, but a flock was feeding on the opposite side of Gunpowder river. The president entered the blind about 7 a. m. He returned to the clubhouse about midday, and after resting and dining he returned to the blind with General Sewell and Jerome Johnson, their attendant. Jerome wanted to carry the president on his back, but the president declined to let him do it, saying, "I always want to be prepared for action." The vigil in the blind was broken by short walks along the shores. The president firmly believes the ducks will come to Bengies shore in a few days. The wind, which was gentle, blew exactly from the wrong direction—from the south. The president will remain at the shore until Saturday afternoon.

Rochester Chamber of Commerce.

ROCHESTER, Feb. 17.—The sixth annual dinner of the Rochester chamber of commerce was held at the Lyceum theater. The speakers were: Joseph O'Connor, editor of the Rochester Post-Express, whose subject was "Americanism;" Colonel John A. Cockerill of New York, "The Press;" John Crear of Hamilton, Canada, "Our International Trade Relations;" President J. G. Shurman of Cornell university, "The Schools in Commerce;" President David J. Rill of the University of Rochester, "Commerce In Scholarship;" J. Harry Stedman of Rochester, poet, and Erastus Wyman of New York, "Continental Free Trade."

A Faith Curist With Thrifty Ways.

BEATRICE, Neb., Feb. 17.—Rev. E. M. Buswell, the leader of the Christian Science faith healers, was indicted by the grand jury for illegally practicing the art of healing and surgery. ARMED WITH BALL BATS

A Kansas Sheriff Takes a Hand In the Melee.

GOVERNOR FAILS IN HIS EFFORTS.

Republicans Hold the Fort—Provisions Brought In by Mail Carriers—The Militia Is Composed of Sympathizers With the Republicans.

TOPEKA, Feb. 17.—If old John Brown could have spent the day in Topeka, he would have been immensely interested. However, if the former resident of the Sunflower state whose soul is marching on had been here, there might have been more real war and less bluffing. It was a day of waiting and resting on arms. The militia guarded the capitol grounds, the deputy sergeants-at-arms stood behind barricades and guarded the capitol and the hall of the house, and the deputy sheriff's oversaw the whole town. Guns were everywhere stacked up in the corridors of hotels, in the hands of militiamen and on the shoulders of the men who had poured in from every section of the state. There was no fighting—not even a street fight. Men felt the responsibility of the hour, and no one was anxious to do anything that would start the battle. The Republicans have all the best of the situation.

The Militia Not to Be Depended On.

The Populists realize that they cannot depend upon the militia to attack the hall, and they are afraid to attempt to do anything with their companies of provisional troops. Lewelling has sued for peace or done what amounts to the same thing in asking the Republicans to submit a compromise proposition. A proposition which is extremely favorable to the Republicans has been submitted to the governor, and he has taken until today to consider it. Until he answers it things remain in statu quo, with the Republicans in possession of the hall. The supreme court may act today and put an end to the struggle.

Nothing startling happened last night. When the governor received the proposition of the Republican house, he sent back word that he would have to submit it to his advisers. The Populists met, but did nothing of any consequence except to wrangle bitterly among themselves over the situation. They are handicapped by the fact that 20 of their members are very weakkneed and are ready to join the Republican house at the first opportunity. Should the supreme court decide in favor of the Republican house, these 20 members will undoubtedly break away from the Populist house.

The Governor Does Not Execute.

The governor sent a message to the house stating that he would give the members just 15 minutes to vacate the hall; otherwise he would eject them at the point of the bayonet. The Republicans received the message with derisive laughter. They at once doubled their guards in the corridors and all the doors of the house and awaited the attack. At the end of 15 minutes no soldiers appeared to enforce the governor's threat.

The Sheriff Ready to Fight the Soldiers.

The forces of the governor are under the close watch of Sheriff Williamson's deputy sheriffs, 1,000 strong, who are on the outside threatening to sweep down on the soldiers the minute they disturb the peace by attacking the Republican forces in the house.

Men of all stations in life joined the sheriff's posse—the banker, the laborer, the clerk and his employer, the Grand Army veteran and the beardless youth—and all are armed with baseball bats.

Colonel Hughes was discharged because he refused to obey Governor Lewelling's orders to eject the Republican members from Representative Hall.

Inside the Capitol Hall.

The members and sergeants-at-arms all passed a sleepless night.

There was great difficulty in getting provisions to the hungry people inside. The provisions went up the side of the state house in baskets and were received through the windows with cheers by Republicans, but later no one with baskets of provisions were allowed to pass the lines even with a pass from the governor.

Two sturdy carriers of the Topeka postal service, however, relieved the situation by marching through the lines with their mail sacks over their shoulders, carrying baskets with a few newspapers on top and sandwiches underneath in one hand and a steaming boiler of coffee in the other.

AN ORDINANCE

Relating to the City Treasurer, and the payment of City moneys.

The Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, by their Common Council, do enact as follows:—

Section 1. That the office of City Clerk shall, before entering upon the duties of his office, execute a bond in the sum of fifteen thousand dollars, to the inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, conditioned for the true and faithful performance of all the duties of his office, with such freehold security as the Common Council shall approve and direct, which bond shall be submitted to the Common Council for its approval, and when so approved shall be deposited with the City Clerk for safe keeping.

Section 2. The Treasurer shall receive all moneys belonging to or in any way appertaining to the City, unless otherwise provided by law, and shall forthwith deposit the same in such bank or banks as the Common Council shall from time to time designate, to the credit generally of said City moneys, in the name of "The Treasurer of the City of Plainfield."

Section 3. No moneys deposited in any depository of City moneys in the name of the Treasurer of the City of Plainfield shall be drawn therefrom or paid thereout for any purpose whatever in any other manner than by a check or draft upon a bank designated as such depository, signed by the City Treasurer and countersigned by the Mayor or the acting Mayor and the President of the Common Council, or by such other person or in the absence of the Mayor or President of the Common Council, by the chairman of the Finance Committee of said Common Council, except as hereinafter provided. Warrants on City Treasurer issued by the trustees of the Public Library and reading room, signed by the President and countersigned by the Secretary of said Board or Directors and accepted by the City Treasurer, shall be paid by the bank designated as the depository of funds for the maintenance of the Public Library and Reading Room. Orders upon the City Treasurer issued by the board of Health, signed by the President and countersigned by the Secretary of said board, and accepted by the City Treasurer, designating the depository where such warrant is payable, shall be paid by the treasurer of said depository when presented at the depository at which they are made payable.

Section 4. The Treasurer shall keep in a suitable book or books in such manner as directed by the Common Council, or its appropriate committee, separate accounts of the several funds for which moneys shall be received or paid out by him, each under its proper head and title, so that the account of each of such funds shall show at all times the exact amount to the credit or debit of such fund.

The Treasurer shall also keep a detailed record of all moneys received and disbursed by him made by the Common Council, setting forth the date and purpose of each assessment, the names of persons assessed, the amounts assessed against each, and the date of the payment of the same.

Section 5. Whenever the Common Council shall order money to be paid out of the treasury of the City of Plainfield, it shall be the duty of the City Clerk to make out and sign a note for the amount so authorized to be borrowed, payable at such time as shall be fixed by the Common Council, which note shall likewise be signed by the Mayor, and, unless otherwise directed by the Common Council, the Treasurer shall cause such note to be discounted at once at the cheapest bank in the City of Plainfield, the net proceeds thereof shall be transferred to the account of the Treasurer of the City of Plainfield in such bank, and credited by the Treasurer to the fund for which the money is authorized. At the maturity of such note, or any renewal thereof, the Treasurer shall cause another note to be issued by the Common Council, and the same by check or draft signed by the Treasurer and countersigned as aforesaid.

Section 6. The Treasurer shall render to the Common Council at each of its regular meetings a statement in writing of the receipts and disbursements by him from the date of his last preceding statement; and at the last meeting in each year he shall render a statement of all moneys received and disbursed by him during the current year, and he shall submit for inspection his books to the Mayor or Common Council or to the appropriate committee, or any city officer the Common Council shall designate, whenever required so to do.

Section 7. No claim or demand or any kind against the Common Council by the Treasurer unless same regularly allowed and ordered paid by the Common Council and a statement in writing to that effect, duly signed by the City Clerk, shall be filed with the Treasurer, and all existing obligations issued for money borrowed as provided in section 5, and moneys due the State and County for taxes, or moneys collected for other purposes than the City Treasurer, upon presentation to the City Clerk and written statement of the claims or demands allowed and ordered paid by the Common Council, or appropriate committee thereof, he shall prepare checks or drafts in payment thereof, have them properly signed and countersigned as aforesaid, and upon demands to the party entitled thereto in the manner herein provided.

Section 8. All checks or drafts shall be filled up by the City Clerk, countersigned and numbered and a detail marginal record of each kept by him.

The City Treasurer shall take from each claimant for all bills or claims ordered paid by the Common Council, as the time of the delivery of the check or draft, in payment thereof, a receipt on the margin of the check or draft book for each check or draft, and also a receipt on each bill or claim so paid, and for all other checks or drafts issued by him a proper receipt, and the said Treasurer shall file in regular order and safely preserve all receipts, and he shall also file and safely preserve all vouchers subject to deposition by the Common Council, all checks or drafts that may become cancelled or spoiled and all bills or claims or receipts, and he shall also file and safely preserve all checks or drafts drawn by him which are paid and returned to him by the bank paying the same.

Section 9. The two Ordinances respectively entitled "An Ordinance relating to the Treasurer of the City," approved December 26, 1882, and "An Ordinance providing for the issue of warrants on the City Treasurer for all current claims against the City," approved June 3, 1878, are hereby repealed. But any Ordinances or parts of Ordinances not repealed by this or some Ordinance shall not be revived by this repeal of said two Ordinances, and all Ordinances or parts of Ordinances, so far as they conflict with the provisions of this Ordinance are hereby repealed.

CORPORATION NOTICE.

At a meeting of the Common Council held Monday evening, February 6, the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

WHEREAS the Supreme Court of this State has decided that the taxable real estate (save the personal property of the owners of such real estate) is sufficient security for taxes levied, and that delinquent taxpayers are not by law entitled to any exemption, but that all the personal property of such delinquent taxpayers be appropriated for the purpose so far as may be necessary, and that the Collector of Taxes collect the remedies for the collection of back taxes.

Resolved, That Vincent W. Nash, the officer designated by the Common Council to receive and execute tax warrants be and he hereby is directed to proceed in the execution of said warrants in the first instance by levy, public advertisement and sale of the personal property of delinquent taxpayers, and in default thereof to levy under the direction of the Corporation Counsel.

Resolved, That upon failure to find property of the delinquent with which to satisfy the warrant, the Collector shall return the same with the indorsement of his warrant by taking the body of the delinquent into custody, and forthwith delivering the same to the sheriff of the county, or his deputy, who shall keep the delinquent in custody until payment be made of said taxes and costs.

F. W. RUNYON, City Clerk.

Plainfield, N. J., February 13, 1893.

AN ORDINANCE

To provide a new system of street numbers.

The Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield by their Common Council do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. That the several persons of real estate fronting on the several streets and avenues of the City of Plainfield shall be numbered, and each of such persons shall be known and designated by the number or numbers pertaining to the official maps adopted by resolution of the Common Council previously made, signed by the Mayor and City Clerk, and entitled as follows:

"Map of the City of Plainfield, Wards No. 1 and No. 2, showing new system of numbering lots," and "Map of the City of Plainfield, Wards No. 3 and 4, showing new system of numbering lots, 1893," made by F. A. Dunham, C. E., and said maps are hereby adopted as the official maps of the City of Plainfield for the purpose of establishing the numbers of lots.

SECTION 2. That the owner or owners of each and every building now erected or hereafter to be erected within the limits of said City, shall, within thirty days after the completion of the same, cause the proper number or such dwelling house or store to be placed in figures, in such manner as to be most conspicuous place on the front part of such dwelling house or store, so as to be plainly visible from the sidewalk, and in default of compliance with this section, shall be liable to a penalty of five dollars for each and every offense.

SECTION 3. That in case the owner or owners of any parcel of real estate fronting on any of the streets or avenues of said City, shall fail to ascertain the correct number thereof, it shall be the duty of the City Clerk upon application in writing to him to furnish such number, in writing giving the necessary information, to or thereon made and delivered, and said City Clerk shall keep a record of all proper items to open to the inspection of the public at the office of said City Clerk.

SECTION 4. That in case the owner of any lot or lots shall at any time desire the renumbering of the same, he shall be a party to the Common Council by petition, which petition shall be accompanied by a properly prepared map showing the change desired, and clearly showing the lots affected by such change, which map shall stand in case such renumbering is ordered. The applicant shall present with his petition the written consent of a majority of the real persons to whom notice of his intention to apply to the Common Council for such change has been given, or the owners of property fronting on the said block to be renumbered, and the papers of said city at least ten days prior to date of presentation of such petition, and thereupon the Common Council may in its discretion by resolution order said block to be renumbered in accordance with said petition, and the City Clerk shall number as such other number as they may deem best. In case the Common Council shall order the change, it shall give the said block a map only substantially similar to that with the City Clerk showing the changes so made, and upon said map being so filed, the numbers designated thereon shall be the lots in said block, superseding those on the original maps reserved to in this Ordinance.

SECTION 5. That all ordinances or parts of Ordinances, so far as they are inconsistent herewith, be and the same are hereby repealed.

ST. VALENTINE'S DAY.

Origin of the Custom of Sending Valentines on the Day of This Amiable Saint.

The custom of sending valentines has been traced back to a practice among the ancient Romans. At the feast of the Lupercalia, which was held on the 15th of February in honor of the great god Pan, the names of all the virgin daughters of Rome were put in a box and drawn therefrom by the young men, and each youth was bound to offer a gift to the maiden who fell to his lot and to make her his partner during the time of the feast. This custom became allied to the name of St. Valentine, probably all through a coincidence in dates.

St. Valentine was a bishop of Rome during the third century. He was of most amiable nature and possessed remarkable gifts of eloquence, and was so successful in converting the pagan Romans to Christianity that he incurred the displeasure of the emperor and was martyred by his order Feb. 14, A. D. 270. When the name of the saint came to be put in the calendar, it was given to the day of his death, and this was made a festival to offset that of the Lupercalia, and an effort was made to substitute the name of saints for those of girls in the lottery, but naturally without success.

Curiosities of the Heating Art.

About the beginning of the 18th century the theory of "signatures" or the fancied resemblance of plants to parts of the body which they were intended to affect was a flourishing superstition. Walnuts were thought to resemble the head and the kernel the brain. The bud of the peony, again, is "like the head of man, with little veins up and down, like those of the brain of man," and was therefore good for epilepsy. The poppy also bore the signature of the head, and lilies of the valley, according to Oswald Crollius, the inventor of the theory, were good for apoplexy, "for, as that disease is caused by the dropping of humors into the principal ventricle of the brain, so the flowers of this lilly, hanging on the plant as if they were drops, are of wonderful use therein." Cephilary herbs are good for the hair, and because the purple spots and stripes upon the flowers of orchis much resemble the appearance of diseased eyes it was found that they were an effectual cure.

Stonecrop has the signature of the gums. Fir cones and pomegranates, having scales like teeth, were used as gargles.

"Pebble posset" was a favorite remedy about this time (1700), the pebbles being sometimes as large as walnuts. Gold pellets were swallowed by Dr. Gerhard, and after him by Richard Baxter.

"By and By" and "By the Bye."

Johnson's definition of "by and by," now generally written "by and bye" is "in a short time." A description to the French tout à l'heure, and Shakespeare uses it to express the immediate as distinguished from the more remote future:

Now a sensible man, by and by a fool, presently a beast.—Othello.

If we know how "by" came to be indicative of the pr sent, the second "by" might be assumed to signify beyond.

"By the bye" was in Johnson's time most in a different, almost an opposite, sense to that in which we now employ it, as an equivalent to the French apropos, not as expressive of something apposite, but, on the contrary, as, according to Johnson, "something not the direct and immediate object of request." In neither case is the employment of "by" in those two familiar expressions accounted for.—Observer's Notes and Queries.

The Presidential Succession.

The presidential succession is fixed by chapter 4 of the laws of the 49th congress. The section in effect of the removal, death, resignation or inability of both the president and vice president, then the secretary of state shall act as president until the disability of the president or vice president is removed or a president is elected. If there be no secretary of state, then the secretary of the treasury will act, and the remainder of the order of succession is, the secretary of war, attorney general, postmaster general, secretary of the navy and secretary of the interior. The acting president must upon taking office convene congress, if not at the time in session, in extraordinary session, giving 20 days' notice. This act applies only to such cabinet officers as shall have been appointed by the advice and consent of the senate and are eligible under the constitution to the presidency.

More Precious Than the Diamond.

The most precious of all stones is the Jade, on account of its purity, its extraordinary qualities and the mystery of its cutting, says The Industrial World. It was handled as a sacred object, and nobody had a right to possess it except a prince of imperial blood. Italian authors spoke of the jade as osteola and discussed its wonderful powers for healing stiatica. The legends surrounding this stone abound in history. Good specimens of jade are extremely rare, and the world is as far as to know how the Chinese managed to cut it, because it is so extremely hard that nothing can make an impression upon it. Splendid specimens of gray and green jade can be seen in the museum of the Trocadero.

The Moon and the Weather.

There is hardly an idea regarding the weather so firmly rooted and so widespread as this—that the moon has a rather marked effect in bringing about its changes. On this subject Professor H. A. Hazen, of Washington says in Science that the matter has been thoroughly investigated in England and Europe, with a negative result, except that there seems to be a slight influence of the moon, or perhaps the tide, on the occurrence of thunderstorms, and that the full moon seems to have power to drive away clouds. All the feasts and festivals in Germany are at the time of full moon. This, however, may be as much for the benefit of the light as the lack of rain.

Good Sharp Chisels.

Good sharp chisels can be kept sharp only by having them made of the best material, so that they will stand to be left hard enough not to lose their edge by heating. To do close chipping requires an edge that is keen and that will remain so—one that will not slink away from its grip, but will carry the chip clear through.—American Machinist.

Potato Puff.

One pint of cold mashed potato, 4 tablespoonfuls of melted butter, 2 eggs well beaten, 1 teacupful of cream or milk, salt and pepper. Beat the butter with the potato. Add the eggs, the cream and the seasoning, beating thoroughly. Bake in a well buttered deep dish for 45 minutes in a quick oven, or until nicely browned. Serve hot.

KNACK OF MAKING OVER.

How Odds and Ends Can Be Utilized if You Try.

What a fortune there is in the knack which some women possess of making over! Did you ever stop to think how many odds and ends could be utilized which are now thrown away? One of the greatest pleasures of life is derived from practicing rigid economy in some directions that there may be a greater expenditure in others.

A plain, somewhat worn black serge does not look very promising, to be sure, but the woman who is blessed with the knack of touching up things will watch her chance, and when the opportunity offers will buy some fancy plaid silk in pretty reds and blues. She does this because at an opening late in the fall she saw a black dress trimmed with great jaboted revers of plaid silk which were really pretty. In the dressmaking world these particular revers are called Bedfern, having originated with him. One revers covers the entire front of the one side with a soft rosette of the plaid silk. Deep cuffs to the elbow are of this same, and possibly the skirt may be trimmed with one band edged with jet.

Just one more instance of the instinct that guides upon the right thing and accomplishes a really elegant dress out of almost nothing. In an old chest belonging to the mother of several daughters had lain for many years a quaint, old fashioned silk. It had never been thought suitable for the girls, but the oldest daughter the other day declared it was just the thing for her 10-year-old sister; that she had seen a pattern almost similar among the new styles, and so with a little velvet the silk was transformed into quite a charming party gown, making of the flaxen haired little girl a veritable Penelope Boothby, an effect considered most desirable in fashionable New York, where demure little girls go promenading in enormous pokes of Quaker gray corded silks, shirred and trimmed with ostritch feathers and saucy squirrel heads. One such genius in a family will devise means to keep them all well dressed.

Chicken Pie.

Cut up a fat fowl in quite small pieces. The leg and second joint may be made into two pieces each by cutting as large a piece as possible from the fleshy side of the joint. The wings are to be separated at the second joint. Large pieces may be cut from the breast, and the back can be broken with a stroke of a hammer and cut in two. Take half a pound of fat pork and cut in small pieces. Put these on in water to just cover and cook till done. Take off to cool. Make a paste with 1 quart of flour, 1 teaspoonful of soda, 2 teaspoonfuls of cream of tartar, 1 teaspoonful salt, 1 coffee cup shortening, all butter or half lard. Work these together and use milk enough to make as soft a paste as you can roll out. Take half the quantity and roll out till one-third of an inch thick and line the side of your pan, letting it come an inch above the bottom and the same above the top.

Now cut in the contents of the saucepan, which have already been skimmed with salt alone. If more gravy is needed, put in water to suit. Stir up a large tablespoonful of flour smoothly with milk and add. Then dredge the whole with flour and lay on the top crust, which must be half as thick as under the pan. Roll the side crust, being sure it is perfectly tight. Then press your thumb down into this edge at intervals of an inch. Bake till the crust is done—not too dark a brown—and you have a dish fit for a king.

Where to Seat Yourself.

Where a bed is obliged to face a window, as is sometimes necessary, a decoration and a relief in one is secured by a valance above, instead of below the footboard. Two small brass uprights are fastened in it, with a rod joining them on which is hung a curtain of some light silk or stuff in harmony with the general tone of the room.

The Empire Bonnet.

A veritable empire bonnet is of heliotrope felt and inclines to the poke shape. It is worn back on the head, displaying the hair somewhat with it. Its trimming consists of two plumes that wave forward, some knots of green ribbon and the broad green ribbon ties that are arranged in stiff loops and ends under the chin.

A Blouse Reason.

Nothing for youthful women can be more effective or more fashionable than the fitted blouse waist of tartan silk, that tones well with the dress skirt. A very pretty dress worn by a very pretty young lady this season is of fine and soft blue serge, with a plaided silk blouse in colors of blue, red, gold and russet—the plaid being of the kind named by crossing lines of the three last mentioned colors severally. The tartan is cut on the cross and made up with bias folds reaching from shoulder to belt, front and back. The sleeves are full leg of mutton style, and the blouse is neatly belted with a blue petersham band and a handsome buckle set with brilliants.

Wail of a Woman.

Oh, when that servant first with me
Her situation mained,
She really didn't know enough
To go in when it rained.
I taught her how to sweep the floor,
I taught her how to dust,
And o'er her failures with the food
I wept and fumed and fussed.
For months with unremitting toil
I hopefully advised,
Until with triumph I could say
I had her civilized.
And now that she has learned it all,
And I to hope begin—
She'll "soon be after" lavin me."
She tells me with a grin.
My cheerfulness has disappeared,
My heart is full of pain,
I can't and won't go over that
Civilizing act again.
Oh, teach the orphan boy to read,
The orphan girl to sew!
But train another servant girl?
I answer firmly "No."
For if I do then peace and I
Will sadly be at odds,
So to the mammoth storage place
I'll send my household gods.
My heart is sore for service inside
I really can't afford;
Farewell to all the joys of home,
For we shall get no board!

WORK AT THE FAIR GROUNDS.

The Building For the Fisheries Exhibit Is Now Practically Completed.

The Fisheries building at Chicago is now completed, so far as the exterior work is concerned, and the delicate task of ornamenting the interior has begun. Owing to the use for which the building is designed, both the ornamentation and the practical fitting up will require unusual skill. The managers confidently promise that the display of fish, fishing tackle and everything illustrative of or in any way connected with the fisheries will be the finest ever seen in the world. The building itself will be a beauty and rank high among the architectural glories of the exposition.

Japan's World's Fair Exhibit.

Japan's display at the coming Columbian exposition will undoubtedly far exceed anything previously attempted by this country at any world's fair. Both the manufacturers and the government officials realize what the commercial value of this exhibit may prove to be, and every effort is being made to render it complete. A large number of works of art intended for ultimate shipment to Chicago are now on view in Tokio. One that is attracting the most attention is a huge eagle, with outstretched wings, carved in ivory. From tip to tip the wings measure close upon 6 feet. Besides being the largest this is also conceded to be the most superb example of ivory carving ever produced in Japan.

Another noteworthy addition to the Japanese exhibit will be the collection of art needlework contributed by the pupils of the Tokio Industrial Art School for Women. It consists of a collection of paintings, embroideries, gowns, tapestry, laces and what not, all of bewildering beauty and exquisite workmanship. Each article for this exhibit has been chosen by ladies in waiting to the empress, who have been especially detailed to this work by her majesty's command.

New York's Mineral Exhibit.

New York, instead of one, will have a group of buildings on the World's fair grounds, and a very beautiful and interesting one will be a pavilion for a mineral exhibit. It will be a colonnade 61 feet long by 31 wide and 32 high, rectangular in form. The entablature is carried on Romanesque ionic arches springing from pillars of uniform design, and the corner pavilions are surmounted with handsome balustrades. The cornices and friezes are decorated with sculptured tablets, and the spandrels between the arches are ornamented with representations in relief of mining scenes and implements. Perhaps the most curious object will be an obelisk in the open front of the pavilion, constructed of many separate stones laid in the order of their geological succession from the azoic up to the last formation. This is a device of James Hall, state geologist, who, in a lifetime devoted to searching out the secrets of nature as written in the rocks, has given New York nomenclature to many geological textbooks.

Music at the World's Fair.

The executive committee of the World's fair has appropriated $1,000,000 to defray the expenses of the orchestral, band and choral music to be given at the exposition during the summer. The appropriation is to come out of revenues received after May 1.

An Interesting World's Fair Exhibit.

Among the many thousand curiosities at the Chicago exposition will be a collection of old stagecoaches, and among these a most interesting one will be the big "mud wagon" that once ran between Sacramento and Virginia City. An agent has it at Dixie Station, in northern California, doing duty as a commodious, everyday sort of a passenger coach. He immediately bought it. The wagon is from 20 to 40 years old and weighs 2,000 pounds. Six horses used to draw it into Virginia City. Evidences of long service show on the wagon, but in every way the specimen is the best that could have been selected when stagecoaches were of the first importance to travelers.

There will also be an immense collection of broken treasure boxes, old guns and other relics of stage robberies, a collection of gruesome things calculated to stir the blood in the heart of any old forty-niner who has known the wicked exhilaration of being "held up," or of joining in a man hunt after the "road agent" had fled and a posse was on his trail.

THE BOROUGH COUNCIL.

AN ADJOURNED MEETING HELD LAST EVENING.

They Receive Reports of Committees and Borough Officers.—The Reports Not Ready.—New Bookkeeping System Being Prepared.—Adjourned to Monday Evening.

An adjourned meeting of the Borough Council was held last evening in the Council Chamber of Warren Engine House, for the purpose of receiving the reports of the various committees and of the collector and clerk in order to close up the business of the Council year.

Besides Mayor Saunders there were present Councilmen Bummer, Needham, Neal and Sebring.

The committee on pest house reported that they had conferred with the Plainfield special committee and later with the Borough Board of Health and reported progress. The special committee was continued.

The reports of the Finance Committee were reported not ready. Mr. Sebring explained that Mr. Ezra Loomis of Grove street had been employed as expert accountant and that a new and improved set of books were being prepared whereby the standing of any account could be quickly ascertained. Mr. Sebring said the expert, Mr. Loomis, together with Collector H. N. Spencer and Clerk H. B. Brokaw had been working until midnight every day during the past week, but the task was not yet completed. The new books had been procured in accordance with his suggestion and the entire work of the year had to be transferred.

Mr. Sebring said the report of the Auditing Committee would be ready by Tuesday night, but upon suggestion of the clerk that the reports should be ready by Monday night as the law required them to be audited twenty days before the Spring election.

The new books had only been received last Monday night and Mr. Loomis, the expert accountant, thought it necessary to balance the old ledger before opening the new set of books.

Mr. Needham offered a resolution that when Council adjourn it be to Monday night. The resolution was adopted, all voting aye.

The report of all the Standing and Special Committees were requested by the mayor to be ready by Monday night.

Two bills of Davis & Stevens, for eight tons of coal, amounting to $65 were ordered paid.

Council adjourned at 8:30 o'clock.

BREVITIES

—There is no news at the police court to-day.

—To-night a song service in the W. C. T. U. rooms.

—The new truck for Zephyr Hook and Ladder Company is expected next week.

—The regular semi-monthly meeting of the Plainfield Camera Club will be held on Tuesday evening, at eight p. m.

—Dockstader's Minstrels, advertised elsewhere, promise to be exceptionally interesting. They will appear at Music Hall, Monday evening.

—"Charlie" Williams, a rounder, sprained his ankle the other day, and Marshal Pangborn to-day got a permit and took him to Muhlenberg Hospital.

—Messrs. Doane & Edsall say if you are anxious to throw off your rubbers, look at a pair of those heavy sole walking boots that they advertise for this morning's $2.00 a pair.

—The Knickerbocker Albany Press says the Rev. Duncan MacGregor's lectures are remarkably effective, original and brilliant, the equal of Bishop Newman's in eloquence and power. See advertisement.

—The next meeting of the Borough Council to be held Monday evening will not only be the last of the year, but also the last to be held in Warren Engine house. The new Council will meet in Spencer's Hall.

—An employee of the Water Company opened a hydrant on East Fifth street, near Franklin place, full force this morning and despite the protests of a resident flooded the street and sidewalk under a foot of water. A complaint will be made to Chief Grant.

—Reports from delegates in attendance upon the Y. M. C. A. State Convention, held at Camden last week, will be given at the Young Men's meeting to be held at the Y. M. C. A. rooms on Sunday at 4.15 p. m. All men are invited, but active members are especially urged to be present.

—For all who attend the Columbian bazaar and tea, advertised elsewhere, which is to be held in Vincent chapel next week, a good time is promised. The decorations will be unique, the supper delicious, and the articles both useful and ornamental. The ladies of the M. E. church have a full corps in hand, and, it is, therefor, sure to be a success.

MAY CAUSE HER DEATH.

Aged Mrs. March Falls and Fractured her Leg.

Mrs. John R. Marsh of Scotch Plains, yesterday, while on her way to a pump in the back yard, slipped and fell, breaking her right leg below the hip.

She is seventy-two years old. Drs. Wescott, Fritts and Probasco attended.

On account of her age her recovery is doubtful.

A HEAVY SNOW STORM.

IT BEGAN YESTERDAY AFTERNOON LIKE A BLIZZARD.

Continuing 'Till Noon To-day.—But Little Interference with Travel.—Snow Plows Have Plenty of Work.—List of Storms Here This Winter, this Being the Heaviest.

What a charming Spring-like day Thursday was! Everybody seemed cheerful, and, thinking the hard Winter was past, many young men cast aside their overcoats that they might the more enjoy the change. The wise ones, who do not believe in sudden changes of clothing, or that Spring weather will last long in Winter, shook their heads and prophesied that the foolish would be very glad to wear their overcoats again. Their predictions came true sooner than expected, for it grew cold Thursday evening, and a genuine bone-shaking and utterly disagreeable atmosphere was the result yesterday.

The sky remained gray and bleak and it threatened storm all day. Soon after four o'clock it began to snow, and the flakes fell fast and thick, accompanied by an icy wind. It was one of the fiercest storms of the season. In fifteen minutes after it began, the ground was covered. By six o'clock two inches of snow had fallen, and walking was heavy and very unpleasant. It was hard to find the slippery places which here and there existed under the cold white covering, but they made themselves apparent to the hurrying and shivering pedestrians. The clammy flakes whirling in clouds at every gust of wind would find their way under an umbrella or down the back of one's neck with impunity. They would pass through the cracks and joinings of doors and windows and appear in a finely powdered mass to annoy those who stayed within doors.

By eight o'clock in the evening the snow was too deep to be slippery. The weary traveller could only trudge along, and would try to be happy by thinking he was enjoying a good bit of healthy exercise. The snow would penetrate through the stoutest shoes, even when tanned in rubbers.

It continued snowing all through the night, but in a more gentle manner, while the wailing wind drove the flakes against the bedroom pane, and the gentle patter was a soothing lullaby to the comfortable sleeper.

"But, oh, what a difference in the morning!" Just to think of all the paths to be shovelled off and the heavy trudging on the way to business, and the snow still falling. But, when one gets out in the bracing weather and the morning light, how cheerful the day seems, after a pleasant night's rest. Cleaning the paths about the house brought the blood rushing to the snow-toser's cheeks, and a hilarious feeling.

The snow rather lightly on the ground and a sleigh strikes through, but there is enough of it, when properly packed, to make excellent sleighing.

The Plainfield Street Railway company kept their tracks clear by means of a snow plow which was drawn by eight horses. During the previous snowstorms this Winter, the plow was propelled between two trolley cars, but this time the snow was too heavy.

The snow fell at the rate of one inch per hour and there was eight inches on a level this morning.

There have been eighteen snow falls during the Fall and Winter as follows:

A Young Mother's Sad Condition.

A young married woman of Grove street was arrested Saturday on complaint of her mother, for disorderly conduct. She had been away from home for several nights, and when her mother remonstrated with her she retorted with foul and abusive language. This was a continuation of similar conduct extending over a period of several weeks. Finally she struck her mother, who is a widow respectable and industrious, and a property-holder in the borough.

The mother thereupon had a warrant issued and Marshal Pangborn served it before five o'clock yesterday morning, before the daughter was out of bed. She was taken to jail and detained in a cell all day, while witnesses were being subpœnaed. These could not be secured until last evening. After Justice Crosier heard the evidence he committed the accused to the county jail at Somerville for sixty days and she was was taken to that place by the marshal this morning.

She is but nineteen years old, and was married at sixteen. She has an only child. She has a baby twenty months old, her husband has deserted deserted her last Spring, returning to New Mexico, where the family came from.

The mother's sad sorrows have a hardened cause, yet perhaps an might be reclaimed, if she could be brought under the influence of some of the noble Christian women of Plainfield who have within a few years rescued a few girls in Plainfield whose cases seemed far more hopeless; and there are a number of others whom the marshall has under surveillance, who might be reached through this same unfortunate.

The Sleigh Upset.

A horse belonging to Mr. John Chandler ran upon the side-walk on Park avenue this morning, upsetting the sleigh it was drawing and throwing out the occupants. No one was injured.]

THE STREET BLOCKED.

FRONT STREET MERCHANTS FURIOUS AT THE RAILWAY CO.'S WORK.

Twelve Horses, Many Men and a Big Snow Sweeper Pile all the Snow from the Street into the Gutters.—Business Impeded.

The merchants along the line of the double track of the trolley are up in arms because the Street Railway Company's big track sweepers have been tossing all the snow from the middle of the street into the gutters in front of the stores, so that it is now from two to four feet deep.

This morning, a sleigh belonging to Mrs. Kero of Fanwood was upset because one runner was high up on the snow bank and the other runner caught in the track so that it could not be turned about.

Another sleigh belonging to J. P. Mann of La Grande avenue was upset about three o'clock this afternoon in a similar manner and the coachman thrown out.

It is injurious to horses to have to pull vehicles through such snow banks.

Nearly all the property owners along the thoroughfare own the land to the middle of the street. They claim the railroad company has no right to injure their business by thus preventing customers from getting to their stores, as they could do if the snow was left as it fell.

One of the merchants this morning shoveled the snow from in front of his property back on the track as fast as it was swept off by the company.

After the last heavy snow-storm the city money was spent to clear away the ice and snow thrown up by the railroad company.

If the twelve horses and twenty of more men who were kept busy running the big trucks several of morning were put to cleaning the snow away and piling that from each block in out-of the way places it would be far better for everyone concerned.

It is very probable that if the company again stops business by its hoggish methods that there will be no such muscular opposition but also law suits. The merchants and property holders have some rights which must be respected. It is said the Council will be asked to take some action in the matter on Monday evening.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. C. C. Cokefair of Crescent avenue is at "The Leon," Tallahassee, Florida.

Mr. Fred Yates of East Seventh street is at home over Sunday from Yale College.

Miss Rosie Becker, Miss Jennie Holden and Miss Mary Gunsleman have returned recently from a visit at Raritan.

John Taynor of Warren street, a lifelong resident of the borough, is not expected to live, being seriously ill with rheumatism. He is about sixty-years old.

To-morrow afternoon, under the auspices of the W. C. T. U., at four p. m., there will be held a public meeting in the Park Avenue Baptist church, which will be addressed by Judge W. N. Ashman of the Supreme Court of Philadelphia. His subject will be "Temperance."

Mrs. Caroline Cook, of 26 East Front street, last evening, while alone, sitting before her stove, fell off the chair and died. Her sons, Charles and Albert Cook, who lived with her, happened to be out. Albert returned between nine and ten o'clock and found his mother lying dead on the floor. She was about seventy-four years old, and had been in fair health until a few days ago when she complained of not feeling well.

Andrew Mantz Recovering Quickly.

Andrew Mantz, who had both feet and all his fingers cut off, is getting better much faster than even the doctors expected. He keeps cheerful and his wounds are healing quickly.

He knows his fingers are off but it is said does not know that his feet are cut off above the ankle, and supposes that only a part of each foot is gone. He is at the house of Mrs. Voehl, his sister, on Somerset street, and still suffers considerable pain. It is said that when he has recovered artificial feet will be procured and that he will then be able to walk, and will therefore miss his fingers most.

A Fire This Morning.

A still alarm of fire was sent to the fire department about eight o'clock this morning from the home of D. W. Pond on West Seventh street. The closet in the dining-room was on fire. Two's truck responded. The flames had been partly extinguished before the truck arrived, and chemicals applied by the firemen completed the work. About $75 damage was done to the house. The cause of the fire was not ascertained.

Leaten Penance.

At the beginning of Lent it is the custom of many to abstain from some favorite practice or give up a cherished scheme, as a penance. It is the fashion to do so. Many young ladies give up candy, others, all forms of social amusement, but one young lady capped the climax when she said she would give up talking.

Did she keep it? Oh, no!

Fell Through the Ice.

A small boy fell into Tier's pond about four o'clock yesterday afternoon. He had been forbidden by his folks to go there but did so. Mr. John Tier, Jr., rescued him from his icy bath. The channel was broken a few feet of where the boy fell through and is about ten feet deep.

Varney, the famous London phrenologist, whose advertisement appears elsewhere, and who has been lecturing at Cranford and Rahway for a week, will give an entertainment to-night at Reform Hall. He says a number of talented artists have been engaged for the occasion. There will be no lecture. The admission will be five and ten cents to-night. See adv.

Fell and Broke Her Ankle.

Mrs. I. D. TenEyck of Madison, N. J., is visiting her daughter Mrs. W. V. Miller of North avenue. Mrs. TenEyck formerly lived in this city and while calling on some of her former neighbors on Orchard place yesterday afternoon she slipped on the icy sidewalk and fell, breaking an ankle. Dr. Long attended her.

Seventeen Inches of Snow.

New York, Feb. 18. (Special.)—If Farmer Dunn's statistics are right, this is the biggest snow storm since the famous March visitor of 1888.

Up to eight o'clock this morning the snow fell in this part of the country had reached 17 inches on a level.

Hugh O'Donnell Acquitted.

Pittsburg, Feb. 18. (Special.)—The jury in the case of Hugh O'Donnell, the Homestead strike leader, charged with murder, returned a verdict of not guilty.

The Union County Club Out-Bowls the Park Club.

One of the most peculiar bowling games played by the Park Club this season was that rolled on the alleys of the Union County Country Club last evening. There were only nine men on each team and the Park Club bowlers, who usually make very high scores, did not do so last night. Though they hit the pins they did not make a single strike or spare throughout the entire game. Darling, who is generally one of the club's scratch men, only made 89.

The Union County Country Club played a very even game throughout and won by three pins.

The score was as follows:

UNION CO. COUNTRY CLUB.		PARK CLUB.
Jackson	190	Thiers	149
Kimball	169	Murphy	176
Dupew	198	Pease	136

Umpire—Mr. Baker.

This makes three games each club has won, in the series and there are four more to be played.

The Elizabeth Club Defeats the Plainfielders.

A bowling game was played on the Cadmore Young Men's Egerton alleys last evening between the C. Y. M. L. and the Arthur Kull Association of Elizabeth.

The home team were ahead in the beginning of the game and had a lead of twelve pins in the sixth frame, but in the seventh regained all the C. Y. M. L. players "flunked" except John Kenney, and the visiting team were 58 pins ahead in the seventh frame and continually gained thereafter, winning by 106 pins.

The score:

EDITORIAL NOTES

What Would Happen.

In case gold should go to a premium and the country should come to a silver basis, what would be the effect on our industries and financial operations? To answer this question let us begin by considering the present value of the metal gold as compared with the metal silver. The United States government has placed its stamp upon a given amount of gold and called it a dollar. It has also placed its stamp upon a given amount of silver and called that a dollar. Now, if you melt the gold dollar the metal that is left, minus the alloy, will still be worth a dollar on the gold market. But if you melt the silver dollar the silver that is in it after the government stamp is destroyed will only sell on the market for 67 cents or thereabouts.

The above illustrates the difference in the market price of the two metals, gold and silver. As compared with gold, the price of silver has fallen so steadily that many predict gold will go to a premium. will therefore go out of circulation, and we shall come to a silver basis for our currency. In fact, already some heavy financiers in New York are buying gold options for six months ahead at a premium of 1¼. The options are sold mainly by foreign banking houses. At that rate $15,000 would pay for an option on $1,000,000. There is an estimated amount of $600,000,000 gold money in this country at present counting the United States treasury reserve and all. A clique of speculators are now at the rate of 1¼ premium buy an option on all the gold in the country for $6,000,000. They could thus force gold to a premium.

Suppose this were done, or that from any other cause our silver dollar fell to the level of the silver bullion market in London. Assuming this to be 67 cents the gold in our gold dollar in that market would be worth 33 cents more than the silver in our silver dollar. That is another way of saying that gold had gone to its full premium.

Immediately all prices and commercial transactions in this country would be forced to adjust themselves to the new basis. Take cotton worth so much in gold in London. On our silver basis it would be worth a third more here. In this country the prices of all other world's commodities that is all important commodities that have a constant quotation in the markets of Europe, where the gold basis is maintained would rise in proportion.

Here of course debts would be payable on the silver basis, and the debtor who incurred his liabilities before the rise in gold would be the gainer 33 per cent. Depositors in savings banks would be the losers. They would have put their money into the banks on the gold basis and would take out the same number of dollars in a currency worth a third less. To counterbalance this, however, borrowers from the savings banks would be the gainers in like proportion while the savings banks themselves would neither gain nor lose materially.

Banks of deposit in New York and some other large cities have so arranged their affairs that they would be the gainers largely if gold should go to a premium. They have set their traps to "catch the coon a-comin and catch him a-gwine." Their reserves are held in gold or gold certificates. They have, as a rule, required notes payable in gold for discounts. Their deposits, received on the gold basis, would be payable on the silver basis. Hence they would gain everything and lose nothing.

The immediate effect upon labor would be much as if wages were reduced universally 33 per cent. Organized labor would enter upon a struggle to advance wages, and a serious and prolonged conflict between employers and employees would probably follow.

Business corporations, especially railroad companies, would suffer. Wages would become only advance. So would raw material and everything else, and employers would find difficulty in advancing prices to meet the increased expenses. In case of railroads the passenger and freight rates are in many cases fixed by law. At once railway supplies would rise in price, next the wages of railway employees. Until legislation could give them relief the railroad companies could not raise their rates to meet the increased expenses, and they would be in straits. Great industrial corporations would suffer, too, for the same reason, but they could adjust themselves to the situation more easily than the railroads.

Our gold would go out of the country to Europe, making the supply there more plentiful. That would tend to depress its price. Here, on the other hand, the increased demand for silver would raise its price. These two influences would reduce materially the disparity of value between the two metals and tend to restore their equilibrium.

If you have done a mean or unmanly thing and got caught and people raise Cain about it, or if you have involved yourself in a disreputable social scandal, the thing to do is to be taken to of nervous prostration. Nervous prostration is such a convenient way out of so many things. The brave way out would be to stand and face everything, but that would require pluck and even perhaps a little bit of conscience. Nervous prostration is the thing, even when you have done so much that is given way to a bad bit of temper and feel ashamed of yourself.

SENATE CAN NOW RATIFY

The Hawaiian Treaty Favorably Reported.

THE DEPOSED QUEEN'S PROTEST.

Latest Advices From Honolulu Indicate a Growing Sentiment In Favor of Annexation—A Bloody Englishman Tears Down the Proclamation and Is Arrested.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—The committee on foreign relations reported to the senate in executive session the Hawaiian annexation treaty, with the recommendation that it be ratified. It was placed on the executive calendar, where it can be reached by a majority at any time.

The Queen's Protest Arrives.

The protest addressed by the ex-queen to the president reads as follows:

His Excellency Benjamin Harrison, President of the United States:

MY GREAT AND GOOD FRIEND—It is with deep regret that I address you on this occasion. Some of my subjects, aided by aliens, have renounced their loyalty and revolted against the constitutional government of my kingdom. They have attempted to depose me and to establish a provisional government, in direct conflict with the organic law of this kingdom.

Upon receiving incontestable proof that his excellency the minister plenipotentiary of the United States, aided and abetted their unlawful movements and caused United States troops to be landed at Honolulu for that purpose, I submitted to force, believing that he would not have acted in that manner unless by the authority of the government which he represented.

Gave Up In the Interest of Peace.

This action on my part was prompted by three reasons—the futility of a conflict with the United States; the desire to avoid violence, bloodshed and the destruction of property, and my certainty which I feel that you and your government will right whatever wrongs may have been inflicted upon us in the premises. In due time a statement of the facts relating to this matter will be laid before you, and I live in the hope that you will judge uprightly and justly between myself and my enemies.

This appeal is not made for myself personally, but for my people, who have hitherto always confided in the honor and justice of the United States.

My opponents have taken the only vessel which could be obtained here for the purpose, and, hearing of their intention to send a delegation of their number to present their side of the conflict before you, I requested the favor of sending by the same vessel an envoy to you, to lay before you my statement as the facts appear to myself and my loyal subjects.

Her Envoy Refused Transportation.

This request has been refused, and I now ask you that, in justice to myself and my people, no steps be taken by the government of the United States until my cause can be heard by you.

I shall be able to dispatch an envoy about the 26 day of February, as that will be the first available opportunity hence, and he will reach you with all possible haste that there may be no delay in the settlement of this matter. I pray you, therefore, my good friend, that you will not allow any conclusions to be reached by you until my envoy arrives. I beg to assure you of the continuance of my highest consideration.

LILIUOKALANI, R.

Latest News From Honolulu.

Advices from San Francisco note the arrival of the Belgic, bringing news of the recent events in Honolulu.

On the 5th inst. martial law was declared off by the provisional government. Every body was anxiously awaiting news from the United States, and the sentiment of annexation was steadily growing. Ex-Queen Liliuokalani is still in retirement at her private residence. She is confident that her envoy to the United States will meet a favorable reception.

The United States steamer Mohican, which sailed from Mare Island navy yard on Jan. 21, was just entering the harbor of Honolulu as the Belgic sailed.

A Belligerent Englishman.

An international incident will follow the arrest of Mr. C. S. Kynnersly of the island of Hawaii, a British subject, which has been ordered by the provisional government. When notice of the formation of the provisional government had been forwarded to the village of Kohala on the island, Kynnersly called a mass meeting, after which he visited the courthouse, tore down the proclamation of the provisional government and defied the deputy sheriff.

Orders were issued for his arrest on a charge of sedition. A deputy marshal was sent to make his arrest. As Kynnersly is a prominent man and an intimate friend of the British commissioner resident, it is expected that a clash may follow with his government.

A YALE SENIOR MISSING.

Being of Sportive Proclivities, He Was the Victim of Many Shams.

NEW HAVEN, Feb 18.—I. F Johnson of the Yale class of '93 has mysteriously disappeared. Nothing has been seen of him since the night of the City Guard masquerade, a week ago last Monday. Monday morning he left his boarding house on Crown street ostensibly to attend chapel, but has not returned. He was a patron of the poolrooms and was heavily involved. The day when last seen he borrowed nearly $100 from a local money shark. Johnson came from Bangor, Me., but his parents are now dead. He has an uncle, his nearest relative, who lives in Boston.

The Father of a Murdered Wife Pleads.

LOUISVILLE, Feb. 18.—Albert Wing, the wife murderer, who confessed that he ought to be hanged, was produced in the circuit court, and after a series of surprising developments given a life sentence for his crime. The life of the prisoner was saved by the father of Miriam Eaves, the murdered woman. Before a jury Judge Eaves tremblingly made a statement that he was too old to be revengeful and asked the jury that justice be tempered with mercy and only a life sentence be imposed.

World's Fair Commissioner Arrives.

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—Mr. J. J. Grinlion, special commissioner from Ceylon to the Chicago exhibition, arrived in this city and left for Chicago, where he will be met by 50 native Singalese, who are now en route to that city from San Francisco. A feature of the Singalese exhibit at the exposition will be a kiosk of the value of $200,000.

Ratified the Connecticut River Deal.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Feb. 18.—A special meeting of the stockholders of the Connecticut River railroad was held for the purpose of voting upon the ratification of the lease of the road to the Boston and Maine. The meeting was quiet and harmonious, and the opposition which was predicted in some quarters did not manifest itself.

Japan Chary of Its Maidens.

CHICAGO, Feb. 18.—The Japanese government has not yet granted permission for sending native girls to the World's fair to care for the tea rooms which Japanese merchants propose to open. It is not believed that permission will be granted, as the government has strictly forbidden the export of women for trade purposes.

GOVERNOR MCKINLEY INVOLVED.

A Private Banker For Whom He Indorsed Assigns.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Feb. 18.—A sensation was caused in business, financial and manufacturing circles by the failure of Robert L. Walker, a prominent banker and capitalist, who has made an assignment for the benefit of his creditors. The failure will be widespread in its effects, involving Governor McKinley, and the indications are now that every dollar of property owned by the governor will be swept away.

During the past 10 years Mr. Walker has been rated as a very wealthy man. He organized the Youngstown Stamping company, taking a large block of stock, and has been its president since it began business. The Commercial National bank made a levy upon the plant of the Stamping company to secure a judgment of $5,653. This was followed by Mr. Walker giving mortgages to Governor McKinley and Thomas Bury on a farm in Milton township and his homestead in Poland, six miles from here.

Learning that there was no hope of being extricated from his financial difficulties, Mr. Walker made an assignment to Attorney Taylor.

The neighborhood Governor McKinley and Mr. Walker have been the closest personal friends. When Mr. Walker requested the governor to indorse his notes, there was no hesitation in the governor affixing his signature without making any investigation. It is estimated that he is on the paper of Mr. Walker for about $35,000 to $50,000, and if it amounts to less than the first named figure efforts will be made by the governor to take care of it. Otherwise he will lose every cent he has indorsed. The governor expected to speak at the banquet of the Ohio society in New York tonight, but will remain here and ascertain the extent of his liability.

The Girard Stove works, in which Walker was a large stockholder, failed last night. The liabilities are $30,000; assets unknown.

O'DONNELL TESTIFIES.

His Acts at Homestead Were Largely For the Benefit of Carnegie.

PITTSBURG, Feb. 18.—The report that Hugh O'Donnell was to be placed on the stand attracted a large number of prominent Pittsburgers to the criminal court at its opening. O'Donnell testified that prior to July 6 he had been employed as correspondent of the Telegraph bureau. He then related the story of the riot, and in answer to the question upon which side he was he replied, "The side of a peaceful man."

Upon cross examination he denied that the men had a military organization, but admitted that they were divided into three turns at watching the property for the purpose of protecting it.

"How far away from the Carnegie property did the turns exist?"

"Around the fence."

"From whom were you guarding the property then?"

"To keep the firm, maybe, from destroying the property."

"To keep the Carnegie Steel company from destroying its own property?"

"To keep the watchmen."

"To keep its watchmen from destroying its property?"

"I mean exactly what I said."

During the cross examination O'Donnell was ever ready with prompt reply. Witness maintained that the first shot came from the bow of the barge. This was followed by a bullet from the shore, and as a result three or four men on shore fell. Witness then attended the wounded, sending them to their homes or to the hospitals.

Judge Stone's charge was altogether impartial. The general impression is that the verdict will be one of acquittal.

SENTIMENTAL MR. WANAMAKER.

A Bible Wrapped In the Colors Inaugurates the Pneumatic Mail Tube.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 18.—In the presence of 100 distinguished persons, the first official trial of the pneumatic tube for mail transit in America was successfully given in Philadelphia's postoffice. The tube runs a distance of a little more than a mile.

Postmaster General Wanamaker, after declaring that the system meant rapid communication between cities all over the world, sent through a Bible, wrapped in an American flag, and a message which he composed as the initial package. It reached the suburban end of the tube and 3 seconds, or at a rate of 45 feet per second, with a pressure of six pounds to the square inch. The message read: "First use of the pneumatic mail tube in the city of the United States is to send through it a copy of the holy Scripture, the greatest message ever given to the world. Covering the Bible is the American flag, the emblem of freedom of 65,000,000 happy people."

An Armour Auditor Accused.

MOUNT VERNON, N. Y., Feb. 18.—Edward G. Ponton, a prominent resident of this place, was arrested charged with embezzlement by the Armour Packing company of New York. Ponton was auditor for the Armour company up to a short time and at a salary of $160 per month, when he was discharged for neglect of business. Since that time he has been employed by Mayor Edward F. Brush. Ponton says that he is the victim of misfortune, and that a subordinate officer of his in the auditor's department defaulted in a large amount some two or three months ago, and that the alleged discrepancy with which he is charged is a part of that matter.

Developed a Homicidal Mania.

KINGSTON, N. Y., Feb. 18.—Mrs. Elizabeth Henry is accused by her neighbor, Mrs. Mary Kelly, fiendishly, has been declared to be suffering with homicidal mania. Since her assault on her neighbor she attempted to choke her son to death and injured him quite badly. Mrs. Henry will be sent to the Matteawan asylum for Insane Criminals.

To Force Disposition of Contests.

HARTFORD, Feb. 18.—In the house the democratic majorities elect two Democrats and one Republican county commissioners of Hartford county was tabled on motion of Mr. Wood, Republican leader of the house, who, it is said, predicts that the eight contested election cases be disposed of before the house elects county commissioners.

New York Patrons of Industry.

TROY, N. Y., Feb. 18.—The state Patrons of Industry at Ballston Spa elected the following officers: President, W. S. Donnelly of Saratoga; county vice president, G H. McKinney of Clinton; secretary, F. J. Riley of Saratoga.

Cyclone In Samoa.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 18.—News was received that a hurricane swept the Island of Nofolk of the Samoa group, continuing for 50 hours. The storm in severity equaled that which destroyed the foreign warships four years ago.

PEACE REIGNS SUPREME

Kansas Republicans and Populists Compromise.

BOTH CLAIM TO HAVE THE BIG END.

Republicans Left In Possession of Representative Hall—Populists Remain Outside—The Legality of Either House Not Yet Decided—The Soldiers Go Home.

TOPEKA, Feb. 18.—Peace reigns supreme in the capital city of the Grasshopper state. The specter of that word of conflicts—a civil war—no longer stalks abroad. Hostilities have been averted without the shedding of blood. Like the ruler of France in ancient history, Governor Lewelling has marched his men up the hill and marched them down again. The members of the legal house, as the Republicans call themselves, regard the outcome of the difficulty in the light of a signal victory. They have secured all that they were contending for—the recognition that has been given their business in the hall of the house of representatives and the reference of the question at issue to the courts. Meanwhile the Populist house is on the outside, but its members do not by any means concede that they are vanquished.

Governor Lewelling asserts that to the magnanimity of the Populists in failing to insist upon their legal rights is due alone the peaceable turn of affairs.

The Republicans Wild With Delight.

The scenes in the hall after the agreement had been approved have probably never been paralleled in the country of a legislative assembly. From 9 o'clock of Wednesday, or for a total of 32 hours, the 69 legislators had been virtually prisoners in the chamber, and they had only had partaken of but five scanty meals, not averaging more than a sandwich and a cup of coffee per man. When, therefore, the news that the state of war had ceased, they were carried away with enthusiasm, and in their exultance acted like children.

In the midst of the confusion of colored banners mounted a chair behind the speaker's desk and waved the stars and stripes. At the sight of the bunting the house broke into a terrific cheering that could be heard away across the state house grounds, and it was repeated again and again, with stamping of feet and beating of desks, until the windows rattled in their frames. Meanwhile the wives, daughters and friends of many of the legislators, who had been weighed down with anxiety since the inauguration of the siege, were planning for admittance.

They Eat and Orate.

The speaker gave the order, and the gentler sex rushed in pell-mell, hanging out their loved ones and smothering them with caresses.

Then a welcome diversion was caused by the appearance of a number of men bending beneath the weight of big cans of coffee and baskets of eatables. The legislators were all hungry, and at once a recess was ordered at once by a unanimous vote. Desks were converted into dining tables, and the legislators proceeded to eat, drink and be merry.

At 2:45 the Republican house was again called to order. Numerous speeches of thanks to the assistant sergeants for their courtesy and kindness to the members followed. A resolution to prove a flood of oratory was cut short by a motion to take a recess till 10 o'clock today, which was carried.

HER KINDNESS BEGOT SENTIMENT.

A Rochester Young Lady Whose Philanthropy Caused Trouble.

ROCHESTER, Feb. 18.—Some time ago Miss Nellie Dutcher, a designer, noting the aptitude for drawing of several youngsters who hung about the Mechanics' institute, thought it her duty to help them along. Among the urchins was Johnny Murray, a newsboy. She invited him to her home and gave up several evenings each week to the boy.

About two weeks ago Miss Dutcher received a letter from him declaring in the strongest terms his undying love for her. She paid no attention to the letter and did not see him again until last Saturday. He quit work, purchased a revolver, loaded it and went to Miss Dutcher's place of employment. Nursing a pistol out she swooned in Miss Dutcher's presence and told her that unless she married him he would shoot her and then kill himself. Miss Dutcher ran into the next room calling for help. In the meantime the young rascal escaped.

Miss Dutcher says that the boy acted like a little saint when at her house. She will let the street urchins alone in the future.

The Widow Presents a Forged Will.

NOBLESVILLE, Ind., Feb. 18.—The jury in the McDonald will case returned a verdict for the plaintiffs, Malcolm A. McDonald and other heirs of the late Senator John Test McDonald. The effect of the verdict is to declare that the will filed for probate by Mrs. McDonald is a forgery, which was the theory upon which the plaintiffs contested the case. Senator McDonald left about $80,000 worth of property, all of which under the broken will was bequeathed to Mrs. McDonald except some small legacies. As the case now stands the widow will receive but one-third of the estate.

Grand Recorder of the A. O. U. W. Arrested

HELENA, Mon., Feb. 18.—H. C. Yager, grand recorder of the A. O. U. W., is under arrest on 12 warrants issued by virtue of as many indictments by the grand jury. The grand jury examined his record as public administrator and returned charges of malfeasance in office, embezzlement and failure to make report as demanded by law. Yager was held in $25,000 bail, in default of which he is now in the insane ward of the county jail.

Suspected of Killing Stranded Comrades.

WHITE RIVER JUNCTION, Vt., Feb. 18.—Ed Kirby was arrested upon suspicion of being connected with the supposed murder of James Cunningham, of Portsmouth student, near Hanover, N. H. A hearing is being held. There are many facts not yet known to the public, and new and startling developments will appear within a short space of time.

Great Slump In Rosetta.

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—Henry McLeod's New England ventures came to grief in Wall street. Nearly 200,000 shares of the stock were dumped on the New York market and nearly six points knocked off the price. It is rumored that Pierpont Morgan is in control.

For Women

Hood's Sarsaparilla is Especially Adapted to Cure Difficulties Peculiar to the Sex

The restoring and invigorating properties of Hood's Sarsaparilla, combined with its power to vitalize and purify the blood, render it peculiarly adapted for all troubles peculiar to women—all tired feelings or debility due to change of season, climate or life. Hood's Sarsaparilla has accomplished very gratifying results in such cases. Mrs. Muir writes:

"I was for a long time a sufferer from

Female Weakness

and tried many remedies and physicians, to no good purpose. One day I read one of the Hood's Sarsaparilla books, and thought I would try a bottle of the medicine. It made so great a difference in my condition that I took three bottles more and found myself perfectly well. I have also given to the children, and find that it keeps them in good health. I am willing that this shall be used for the benefit of others." Mrs. SARAH MUIR, 306 16th av., So. Minneapolis, Minn.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

DAVENPORT SUSTAINED.

By a Party Vote the Senate Passes the Supply Bill.

THE SHERMAN ACT CONSIDERED.

Pension Bill Passes the House—The Federal Supervision of Elections Is Continued in Force by the Provisions of the Senate Civil Appropriation Bill.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—In the house the pension appropriation bill was passed. The postoffice appropriation bill was considered without final action.

The sundry civil appropriation bill occupied the exclusive attention of the senate. The amendment which had been discussed on Wednesday, and the effect of which is to continue in force the law for federal supervision of elections, was carried by a party vote. All the committee amendments having been disposed of and the bill being open to general amendment, the question as to the issue of 3 per cent bonds to maintain the gold reserve was precipitated on the senate. The amendment was offered by Mr. Sherman (Rep., O.), and a point of order was raised against it by Mr. Stewart (Rep., Nev.). The point was, after discussion, overruled by the vice president, and an appeal from that decision was laid on the table by a vote of 36 to 18. The merits of the amendment were discussed for the rest of the day, and the adjournment came before the debate closed.

Treasurer Nebeker Objects to Bonds.

Treasurer Nebeker is quite emphatic in his opinion that the United States government should not issue bonds at present, and he said that if either political party issued bonds it would be and deserved to be visited with popular condemnation. He received a dispatch from New York stating that only $750,000 in gold was taken for shipment abroad. It was thought from previous advices that $2,500,000 would be required.

Secretary Foster Leaves the Capital.

Secretary of State Foster left Washington for Watertown, N. Y., via New York, to spend Saturday and Sunday with his family. He expects to return to Washington Monday night, and he will then remain here until he sails for Europe on the 28th inst. to take part as agent of the United States in the Behring sea arbitration. Judge Blodgett of Chicago, one of the counsel for the United States, will on the same day in the Normandie for Havre. Messrs. Phelps and Carter, the other counsel, will sail at a later date, but early enough to reach Paris by March 15, on which date the arbitrators will meet in first regular session.

THE VESUVIUS TESTS.

Guns Are All Right, but the Rapieff Fuse Is a Failure.

PORT ROYAL, S. C., Feb. 18.—The experiments of the Vesuvius began with a repetition of the last test. A shell was fired from the starboard gun of the Vesuvius at the town of St. Philip's island, the range being similar to that selected the day before. The Vesuvius was considerably closer to the shore when the projectile was fired than she was at the time of the previous test. This moved the range line to a part of the beach which was level. The projectile buried a pyramid of sand 30 feet in the air when it struck, but there was no explosion of any kind. At the point of contact a trench 10 feet long, 3 feet deep and 14 feet in width was dug. The projectile took a course nearly parallel to the surface and continued for a distance of 45 feet.

The only other experiment of the day was an attempted detonation of the loaded shell fired on the beach. The shell was placed in reach and connected with an electric battery stationed at a 300-yard distance. The dry gun cotton of the fuse exploded with a sharp report, shattering two feet of the shell and throwing one piece 150 paces. The 200 pounds of wet gun cotton was not detonated. The experiment is thought to have demonstrated either that the Rapieff fuse does not contain sufficient charge of dry gun cotton to detonate a full load of 900 pounds of wet gun cotton or that the connection between the two materials is not intimate enough to produce that result. The experiments with the fuse will be continued.

The New American Steamers.

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—The arrangements for the raising of the American flag on the steamship New York, formerly the City of New York, on Washington's birthday are being completed. President Harrison and cabinet, it is now announced, will leave Washington at 7 a. m. on Feb. 22, and breakfast will be served on the train. They will arrive at the Pennsylvania railroad depot at 11:30 a. m., where one of Starin's boats will meet the party and transfer them to the New York, which will be anchored off the Battery.

Connecticut's Debt Increasing.

HARTFORD, Feb. 18.—State Comptroller Bissell reported to the general assembly the amount of present indebtedness of towns, cities, boroughs and counties of the state. The total is $20,627,038. This is an increase of $1,334,338 over the amount reported in 1888. The rate of taxation in cities ranges from 6 mills in Middletown and Rockville to 18 mills in Waterbury.

AN AMERICAN VATICAN.

Movement by Eminent Catholics to Provide a Residence For Mgr. Satolli.

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—Austin E. Ford, editor of the New York Freeman's Journal, received an important dispatch, from a Roman Catholic standpoint, from the Very Rev. Patrick Cronin, editor of The Catholic Union, Buffalo. The message informed Mr. Ford that Bishop Ryan of Buffalo has consented to act as treasurer of the apostolic delegation building fund, the object of which is to defray the expense of erecting headquarters for Mgr. Satolli. Mr. Ford said the last intelligence from Rome has virtually ended all controversy as to the status of Mgr. Satolli, and to question his authority now is simply to give affront to Leo XIII in person, who ratified all the acts and opinions publicly announced by his representative.

"I take it that Mgr. Satolli will set to work to establish canon law in this country," Mr. Ford said. "The proposition to build the establishment originated with Father Cronin, but found its most ardent advocate in Father Lambert, who has formulated the plan and taken the steps to put it into immediate operation. The building will be a testimonial of gratitude to the holy father from the American priesthood, many of whom have already agreed to give fixed sums annually until its completion."

Being asked as to the location, Mr. Ford said that there was some talk about New York, but he thought it premature. Mgr. Satolli had not yet spoken on the subject.

"A resident ecclesiastical supreme court," said Editor Ford, "it appears to me, will in the end be a great relief to the bishops, as well as a protection to the clergy."

Are You Insured?

If you are 21 years old $50.40 paid annually for fifteen years would entitle you to $1,000.

GOOD HEALTH

DEATH BY FALL.

The Victim Suffers No Pain, No Terror, Thinks Much and Hears Soft Sounds.

A good deal of attention has been drawn to the idea of Professor Heim of Berlin concerning "death by fall." Popular Science News says: "He has based his observations on personal experience and on a large number of cases which have occurred not only in the mountains, but also in war, in industrial establishments and in railway accidents. In all cases the feelings were the same, or rather they differed only in degree. These feelings are by no means such as those who have the misfortune to witness such accidents imagine. The victim, according to the professor, suffers no pain, no paralyzing terror. He is perfectly aware of what is going on. For a time seems long to him. In a few seconds he is able to think so much that he can report for an entire hour on it. His thinking power is immensely increased. In almost all cases the past seems suddenly lighted up as by a flash of lightning. All phases of life pass before the mind's eye. Nothing petty or unimportant disturbs the retrospect. Then gentle, soft tones sound in one's ears and die away at last when unconsciousness sets in. One leaves the fall of the body, but does not feel it.

"It will be remembered that Mr. Whymper, who had a severe succession of falls once in the Alps without losing his consciousness, declares emphatically that as he bounded from one rock to another he felt absolutely no pain. The same thing happens on the battlefield. The entrance of the bullet into the body is not felt, and it is not until he feels the blood flowing or a limb paralyzed that the soldier knows that he is wounded. Persons who have had several limbs broken by a fall do not know which limbs are affected until they try to rise."

An Ounce of Prevention.

"Keep a child in bed for fully a week after every symptom of illness has disappeared," is my rule in all serious illnesses," is a remark attributed to a physician. "If you will do this, you will greatly reduce the chances of a relapse. When the temperature becomes normal and the appetite returns, the patient naturally becomes eager to get up, and it is very natural to suppose that the change from bed to lounge, or even to the next room, would be beneficial. But it is really most dangerous. This is generally the time when a busy doctor feels that he ought to be able to turn over his charge to those who are nursing him. And yet in many and many a case a relapse has occurred, and the last state is worse than the first. Therefore, as I say, keep the patient in bed a week longer—it does no harm, and an ounce of prevention is worth many a pound of cure.

"In cases of grip, where there is no complication, I tell my patients again to stay in bed for several days after the attack is over and they will avoid the most serious results. And in cases of scarlet fever or measles I deem this precaution absolutely essential."

Indiscriminate kissing is slowly but surely going out of fashion. The "fin de siecle" woman does not indulge in it.

ETIQUETTE

MANNERS AND BRAINS.

The Value of a Good Address and Knowledge of Social Courtesy.

The scorn for manners and conventionalities manifested by a large contingent among our intellectual men and women is, according to a writer in Harper's Bazar, one of the unfortunate features of society as it is now constituted. She says:

It is only in leisure that manners can be brought to the pitch of art, but in any well ordered house, however humble, much may be accomplished in this direction by constant insistence upon the observance of the best known rules for outward conduct and by dwelling upon the importance of cultured manners when the morals and the mind are under training. Every opportunity should be seized for imparting to children ease and naturalness of bearing in company. The conductors of all kinds of institutions of learning should see to it that a certain ceremony is scrupulously kept up during all of their receptions and parties.

It is impossible always to tell how much the intellect or the heart is profiting by instruction. Progress made in the culture of the manners, on the other hand, can be gauged by the commonest observer. It is true that the very finest kind of manners cannot exist without the highest development of the inner soul, but "society" manners are exclusive of such lofty standards, while conversely our good Dr. Holmes wittily and not unjustly remarks that "there are two virtues which Christians have found it very hard to exemplify in practice. These are modesty and civility."

It is high time that the real aristocracy of the earth—that is learned men and its men of genius—should bear the outward signs of what the earth has always called its "best society."

No intellectual person can aspire to the position of a social leader. But if social leaders were to aught, as they might be, intelligent honest—these "minor morals" which so much affect the future of our boys and girls—would not be left to themselves open, as they do now, to the too often deserved charge of "boorishness," and would not be the victims of covert sneers from the gilded youth upon whom they may have an opportunity to impress perhaps the first worthy ideals.

Bits of Social Wisdom.

Promptness in all social matters should be strictly observed, as polite society does not excuse a silence which is practically discourteous.

Do not set up for a critic either in social or private life if you wish to be agreeable or popular.

One of the cost rules in conversation is never to say a thing which any of the company can reasonably wish we had left unsaid, nor can there well be anything more contrary to the ends for which people meet together than to part unsatisfied with each other or the selves.

Always give precedence to elders and visitors. Offer them the best seat at the table, the best place by the fire and the first of everything. Go further than mere form and see that they are comfortable and happy.

OUR YOUNG FOLKS

USEFUL DOGS.

They Draw Carts About European Cities and Sledges Across Arctic Regions.

A curious scene is that in the picture, but such scenes may sometimes witness on the continent of Europe, where dogs are often trained to useful work. The noble creature who is harnessed to the little wagon looks tired after his journey. You can almost hear him panting as he sits and rests while the servant unloads the wagon and takes the cans into the great house. They are cans of milk from the farm. Notice how the dog's get dogs come frisking around their friend. They have nothing to do but play, but I have no doubt they are sometimes puzzled to know what to play at. Jack will enjoy his romp by and by when the harness is taken off his back.

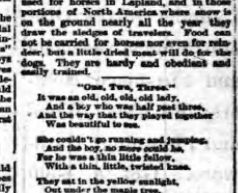
In our own cities in years past it was not an uncommon sight to see dogs dragging carts for the ragpickers, but the law forbids it now. The ragpickers used to beat their dogs cruelly and dreadfully overload them, so it is quite proper that the faithful animals should be protected. Dogs are used for horses in Lapland, and in those portions of North America where snow is on the ground nearly all the year they draw the sledges of travelers. Food can not be carried for horses nor even for reindeer now, but a little dried meat will do for the dogs. They are hardy and obedient and easily trained.



"One, Two, Three."

It was an old, old, old, old lady,
And a boy who was half past three,
And the way that they played together
Was beautiful to see.

She couldn't go running and jumping,
And the boy, no more could he,
For he was a thin little fellow,
With a thin, little, twisted knee.

They sat in the yellow sunlight,
Out under the maple tree,
And the game that they played I'll tell you
And see if you told to me.

It was hide-and-go-seek they were playing.
Though you'd never have known it to be—
With an old, old, old, old lady,
And a boy with a twisted knee.

The boy would bend his face down
On his one little sound right knee,
And he'd guess where she was hiding
In a process now, three, three!

"You are in the china closet!"
He would cry and laugh with glee—
It wasn't the china closet,
But he still had two and three.

"You are up in papa's big bedroom
In the chest with the queer old key!"
And she said, "You are warm and warmer,
But you're not quite right," said she.

"It can't be the little cupboard
Where mamma's things used to be—
So it must be the clothespress, grandma—"
And he found her with his three.

Then she covered her face with her fingers,
That were wrinkled and white and wee,
And the ground where the two were hiding
With a one and a two and a three.

And they never had stirred from their places
Right under the maple tree—
This old, old, old, old lady,
And the boy with lame little knee—
This dear, dear, dear old lady,
And the boy who was half past three.

—The Lovelings, in "At Home."

It is odd to find certain mannerisms of the bird world habits that remind us of the manners and customs of human beings. A writer on the spear-winged leaping-tails, for instance, that when these birds pay one another visits there is as much ceremony with them as at an "at home" with us. The leaping is energetically kept in pairs, but when they call on their friends only one makes the visit, the mate remaining behind. Host and hostess receive the guest with the greatest politeness. Placing themselves behind him, all three march forward rapidly, uttering peculiar notes the while. Then when they stop the leader spreads out his wings and makes loud notes, the other two bowing forward, backon the ground, and uttering a low murmuring sound. The visit at an end, the caller bids him back to his home, where, with the help of his mate, he receives his guests in the same fashion. These visits are paid during the day or on moonlight nights.

The Cat of the Cannibal Islands.

I'll tell you a story of Captain Cook,
Not written on paper or printed in book,
Of the way that he shot—such good aim he took—
The cat of the Cannibal Islands!

This cat was a monster, lithe and strong,
With a ropelike tail, remarkably long—
Ten feet and a half, if I don't guess wrong—
Was the pride of the Cannibal Islands!

WITH A TAIL REMARKABLY LONG.

As it ponderously sat on a lofty rock
At half past 4 a. m., by the clock,
Cried Cook, "You shall have an electric shock
Miss Puss of the Cannibal Islands!"

He loaded a cannon with hard boiled peas.
"Bang! Bang!" Then all to be seen, if you please,
Was a trailing tail caught fast in the trees
That over on the Cannibal Islands.

Sharp Dog.

The Savannah News has been trying its hand at a big story and has succeeded fairly well. The story in question concerns a wonderful dog. Its name, we are are told, was Anania, but that was probably a printer's error. If superhuman is to be judged upon internal evidence, it could hardly have been the dog which bore that dishonorable appellation.

The owner of the dog was an enthusiastic sportsman and pretty soon discovered that his young pointer was one of 1,000. His special gift—the dog's, that is—was the hunting of partridges, which he could scent at a truly amazing distance. The very word partridge threw him into excitement, so keen was his enjoyment of the chase.

One day his owner drove to a neighboring town and took the dog along. On the main street the pointer, who was running on ahead, suddenly came to a dead point in the middle of the road. It was clear that there could be no covey of partridges—the southern partridge is the sootiest quail—but such a point, and the man was entirely at a loss how to explain the curious proceeding.

He got out of his wagon, stepped forward and gave the dog the word to "go on." Slowly and steadily the dog advanced across the street and charged in front of a shop. Then his behavior was explained. There, over the door, was the sign, "J. C. Partridge, Dry Goods and Notions."

THE SECOND INSTALLMENT OF A BLIZZARD APPEARED LAST NIGHT.

A Roaring Gale Accompanied for Fifteen Minutes With Driving Snow—Thunder and Lightning—Fiercer Than the Storm of 1888 for Awhile.

At 10.30 o'clock last night a terrific blizzard-like storm swept over this city and vicinity, accompanied by peals of thunder and blinding flashes of lightning. It had been disagreeable and threatening all day, the sky being leaden and the air damp and chilly. During the early evening the wind blew in fitful gusts and there were several snow squalls. At about 10.30 o'clock a roaring gale began very suddenly, driving the snow in sheets.

The noise made by the high wind was enough to frighten the timid. It was not an intermittent howling and sighing, such as usually accompanies a high wind, but a steady roar. The snow fell for about half an hour, but the wind, which was blowing at the rate of sixty miles an hour, did not lose its force but continued with but little relaxation throughout the night.

Pedestrians almost within reach of their own doors became confused by the blinding snow and had serious difficulty in reaching places of safety.

During the half hour the blizzard raged, the mercury dropped ten degrees. The air seemed to be packed with flying snow, the wind howled frightfully, and the lightning played about in a dangerous manner. Residents of this city, thinking that a repetition of the terrible blizzard of 1888 was about to be had, formed themselves as best they could and waited nervously for the worst.

Fears of a blizzard, however, were abated as at one o'clock the stars were shining brightly.

The wind worked havoc in exposed places about the city, where signs were torn down, window glasses shattered, and telegraph wires prostrated.

This morning the fierce, icy wind continued, and hats, veils and bits of wearing apparel were blown promiscuously about the streets.

A telegram from Farmer Dunn at noon to-day said that the thermometer would fall from fifteen to twenty degrees before night. The snow ladened wind was very piercing all day, and there were some frozen ears and noses as a result.

HORSES OF THE STORM.

The Rockaway Valley Railroad trains are blockaded in heavy drifts between Whitehouse and Morristown. This morning a wagon was sent from New Germantown to Whitehouse to procure more to dig out the stalled trains. The railroad only extends from Whitehouse to Morristown. It is shut down and there will be no traffic for several days.

On Seventh street this morning the top of a double seat phaeton was blown off.

A large limb of a tree by the home of J. C. Pope on West Fourth street, was broken off by the wind last night. It struck the house with a tremendous crash, frightening the inmates.

Reuben Coddington and another young man met with a serious accident last night while driving to their home in Old Horeb. They had driven to Plainfield in the afternoon in a sleigh and started to return shortly after ten o'clock. At the top of a hill near Demler's Hotel, at Washingtonville, the terrific storm broke upon them, upsetting the horse, sleigh and boys into a ditch by the mountain side like so much paper. Reuben Coddington had his nose broken and his head painfully cut by the fall. They got the horse on its feet with much difficulty and drove back to the home of J. W. Coddington where the young man's wounds were dressed. They remained during the night and journeyed home this morning.

Those who saw the approach of the storm last night say that it came from the southwest in the shape of a lurid-red cloud with great white and black streaks through it. It cast a peculiar light about the country, travelled very fast, and apparently burst over the city. Those who were caught in the storm thought they would never reach home alive.

About 6.50 o'clock this morning a man was blown from the platform of a West bound passenger train at Elizabeth.

Robert Clark while walking along the road near French's mill in Washington-ville was blown over a fence by the gale and stunned. When he recovered he managed to grope his way to the Memorial chapel which he broke into for shelter. He was found about two o'clock by searchers, in a dazed condition, and taken to his home.

WALLACE RELEASED ON BAIL.

His Mother Retains as Counsel Mr. Craig A. Marsh of this City.

Lawrence Wallace of Scotch Plains was arrested last week, as told in THE NEWS, on suspicion of being the fire-bug who has been causing the incendiary fires in that place, for several months past. He was not allowed to give bail, as the justice who committed him had no authority to take bail in arson cases. On Saturday the young man's mother came to Plainfield and retained Mr. Craig A. Marsh to act as his counsel. Mr. Marsh at once applied to the highest court and had the young man set at liberty on $1,000 bail furnished by the mother. He stated to the court that the facts furnished by responsible citizens showed that the charges were founded on suspicion only, and all inculpating circumstances would be clearly explained and the defendant's innocence established beyond doubt.

THE DEADLY BLUE LINE

"HUNGARIAN JOE NO. NINE" ITS LATEST VICTIM.

He Had Just Received His Month's Pay, which He was Counting When Killed—His Wife was Soon to Come to America.

Saturday afternoon the gravel train was side tracked at Dunellen to intercept the pay car, bound east, which stopped and was boarded by a number of employees to receive their last month's wages. To get to the car they had to cross the main line. One Hungarian, after receiving $30 due him from Paymaster Hamilton, alighted from the pay car and stopped on the main line to count his money to make sure it was correct. It was a fatal count for him for at that moment a Blue Line flyer, due there at 4.30, and going at top speed, struck him, killing him instantly, strewing the money he was trying to count along the track. His neck, back and arms were broken and he had a hole crushed in his temple. His body was knocked twenty feet.

The unfortunate man resided in Harlan. He was about 30 years of age and leaves a wife in the old country. He told some companions, just prior to his being killed, he had saved up $60 to send her as passage money to come to America. No doubt he was, at the time of the accident, thinking how much he could spare of his earnings to increase that fund and hasten the happy moment of their reunion.

The engineer, when but a short distance off, blew his whistle, and Fireman Williams, at the next crossing, succeeded in calling the man's attention, and caused him to look around when the train was close upon him. He sprang a little one side but not quite far enough to escape being hit.

After running about a quarter of a mile the train was backed down and the remains carried to Bound Brook to await the coroner's action.

The dead man was known as "Hungarian Joe No. 9."

FRIGHTENED BY AN ELECTRIC CAR.

James Lynch's Horse Upsets the Sleigh and Runs Away.

Early Saturday evening as James Lynch and Christopher Herlich of Warrenville were driving along West Front street, their horse, frightened by an electric car, suddenly turned around, upsetting the sleigh and throwing the men out against the curb. Lynch's shoulder was dislocated, but Herlich was uninjured. The horse ran up Front street at breakneck speed. The street was filled with the usual Saturday night throng, and several attempts were made to stop the horse, which continued its flight until it reached the corner of Elm place, where it ran into William Beckman's yard and up on the stoop. Mr. Beckman took the frightened animal to a North avenue livery stable, where it was later found by the owner. The horse escaped injury, except for a few scratches.

As the horse passed the Park avenue crossing a lady narrowly escaped being run over. She fainted and was carried to a nearby drug store. After she recovered consciousness she was taken to her home.

BREVITIES

—All the grocers will close their stores Wednesday.

—It is reported that a receiver will be appointed for the Reading Railroad to-day.

—Thieves robbed George Stewart's chicken roost at Washingtonville last night.

—The National Assembly of the League of American Wheelmen was held at Philadelphia to-day.

—Schepflin & Co., advertise that for the next two weeks they will offer goods at a reduction of fifteen per cent.

—Rector Jennings preached as usual at Grace church, Westfield, yesterday, despite the Bishop's order removing him.

—Two men were arraigned before City Judge Coddington this morning. One was charged with fighting and the other with drunkenness. They were fined $15 and $6 respectively.

—The Street Railway Company was compelled to run their four cars fastened together to-day. The snow drifted on the tracks to such an extent that it was impossible for a single car to make any headway.

—The contest over the passage of the amended amendment to the school law will be resumed in the Legislature to-night. Ex-Assemblyman Urion is lobbying on the side of the Board of Education, and Corporation Counsel Craig A. Marsh is acting for the city.

—Rev. Duncan MacGregor is classed among Philadelphia's best speakers. He delivered his lecture without notes, thrilling the audience by his dramatic force.—New London Times. He will lecture here, Tuesday night on "The Grip and Grapple of Great Men and Great Nations."

—The services at the First Church of Christ are very interesting. The subject of talks at present under consideration are full of interest to Bible students. The large audiences that gather every Sunday evening are treated to a feast of Bible thoughts and those who intend going should be on hand early to secure good seats. Everybody is welcome. Tomorrow evening's subject will be full of interest and no doubt the chapel will be full.

THE DEMOCRATS WIN.

THE RESULT THE SAME IN BOWING AS IN POLITICS.

The Game Between the Democrats and Republican Members of the Park Club Results in Favor of the Former.

The Park Club has had many original bowling series during this season. There have been games between four five men teams, bachelors and benedicts and other contests, but that of Saturday night capped the climax and broke the record for originality. It was between Republicans and Democrats, and, as the last Presidential election went, so went the game. The club made more arrangements for this game than any contest this season. Over each black board hung pictures of Harrison and Cleveland, to good on the warring factions.

The pin boys, too, were especially costumed for the occasion. They each wore a white blouse. On one was the picture of Baby McKee, while the other was adorned with that of Baby Ruth. Many ladies were present and enjoyed the unique affair hugely. After the game refreshments were served.

The first ball of the game was close and exciting. At the end of the first frame the Democrats led by three pins. By a margin of one pin the Republicans led when the second frame closed. They held the lead until the fifth frame when their friends, the enemy, forged ahead, keeping the lead to the end, winning by 69 pins. The score was as follows:

Democrats.		Republicans.
Lyman	162	Worth	136
Blurisbe	135	Reed	145
Sewell	155	Hance	157
Van Deventer	126	Thomas	90

PERSONAL.

Mr. John O'Rourke of West Sixth street is ill with pneumonia.

Letter-Carrier Peter V. Weaver of Orchard place is confined to his home with rheumatism.

Mrs. Marsh, of Scotch Plains, who fell and fractured her hip Saturday is reported as resting easy. As she is seventy-two years old her vitality is remarkable.

The marriage of Miss Lizzie F. Coddington, sister of Judge W. A. Coddington of this city, and S. Kennedy Bolmer of Martinville, is announced to take place next Thursday evening.

On account of the illness of Mr. W. R. Chapman, the musical director of the Melopois, there was no rehearsal at the Casino Saturday evening. The next rehearsal will be February 25th.

The membership of Miantonomo Tribe, Improved Order of Red Men was increased Saturday by the arrival of a little prophetess at the home of Past Sachem A. J. Stiglitz of West Front street.

Past Chancellor C. H. Kelly of the Knights of Pythias, of Jeffersonville, Ind., was the guest of Mr. J. H. Carney to-day. He is in this city in the interest of the Endowment Rank, Knights of Pythias of the World.

Rev. Dr. Hurlbut's Sunday evening talks, illustrated by the stereopticon, continue to attract the largest congregations ever seen in the church, that of last evening being no exception, in fact, exceeding the seating capacity of the edifice.

The delegates from Miantonomo Tribe, No. 113, Improved Order of Red Men, to attend the great Council, at Trenton, Thursday and Friday, are: Past Sachems N. C. Magee, R. J. Alabaud, R. E. Seaman, J. E. Odan, A. J. Stiglitz, Senior Sag. A. Westphal, Senior Sagamore J. H. Carney, and Chief of Records W. Newcorn. They will attend a reception Wednesday night to Mount Tribe of Trenton, in Taylor's Opera House.

Rev. Dr. Richards in his sermon on temperance yesterday in the Second Reformed church recommended one of three things, viz: 1—The abolishing of licenses altogether, so that there would be free rum, 2—To make a house to house canvas of the city, and, if the majority showed a majority of the people favored license, or vice versa, so let it be, and, 3—That no more places be licensed than now exist. All the ministers suggested that ministers from the churches attend the Council meeting to-night when the license applications will be acted upon.

Mr. George Githeus, formerly bookkeeper for Blasius & Sons, Philadelphia, has been engaged as manager by Mr. E. M. Hulett, piano dealer, of No. 26 West Front street. Mr. Githeus thoroughly understands music and will be given entire charge of the business in this city, as Mr. Hulett is kept so busy attending to outside orders that he is unable to properly look after his interests here. This will relieve him from a considerable amount of work. During the holidays and for the past month Mr. Hulett was kept hustling day and night to keep his orders filled.

A Husband Missing.

Mrs. C. A. Starkey of Westfield is still anxiously looking for her wandering husband, who, she has traced to Plainfield, and fears has committed suicide. He has been missing for several weeks, according to a letter which she sends to THE NEWS.

ALMOST A TRAGEDY.

MR. AND MRS. BIKER'S RATHER DISAGREEABLE EXPERIENCE.

A Supposed Burglar Makes His Escape when Mr. Biker Threatens to Shoot Him and Goes for his Gun to Do It.

Between one and two o'clock Sunday morning ex-Councilman Biker, the bookkeeper at A. M. Griffen's, was aroused from slumber by a noise on the front porch of his residence on Mountain avenue, as if some one was trying to effect an entrance.

Mr. Biker threw open his bedroom window and shouted "Who's there?" but could get no response.

Concluding that it was some one who had got at the wrong address and had departed, he returned to his bed, only to be soon again aroused.

*Again he raised the window and de-*manded his visitor's name and business.

Sudden silence followed, when excitedly he shouted, "If you don't leave that porch at once I will put a ball into you," and shut down the window and started to the rear of the house, as if to put his threat into execution.

Meanwhile, his wife who had become thoroughly scared, got out of bed, and peering through the closed window, established that the intruder was a burglar.

The family have a large watchdog, which, strangely enough, happened in this instance to be away, being ordinarily faithful and vigilant.

While Mrs. Biker was watching she saw a man run off the stoop and away toward Somerset street, and called to her husband. He returned in time to get just a glimpse at the retreating figure.

Naturally it was sometime before the excitement subsided, but they eventually returned to bed and fell asleep.

When they awoke in the morning Mr. Biker started once tour of investigation to learn if the burglar had not been having a horrible nightmare, and that his experiences was a reality.

On the porch he found a suspender and in the snow in front of the porch he found a leg of a pair of trousers. Picking it up and hearing a knife he examined the pockets and found that it contained sixty cents in silver and a pen-knife.

There were signs of where a man had laid down in the snow, and of his track, apparently toward Elm.

The inference is that some one had left one of the saloons at midnight too drunk to find his way home and got lost; that finally he became so muddled that he lay down on the snow to go to sleep, but awoke with a chill, up on the porch. It appears that he then supposed he was at his home as he proceeded to undress himself.

He unbuttoned one of his suspenders, and, finding some difficulty, he impatiently tore it off, and threw it on the porch. Then he, it would seem, started to remove his trousers, and got one leg out on the side of the loosened suspender, and the other leg being held by the remaining part of the suspender, the man, unable to understand why he could not proceed any further with his undressing, simply in his impatience ripped off the loose leg of the trousers from the other. It was his jostling against the window shutters, and scolding aloud at himself over his dilemma that doubtless aroused Mr. and Mrs. Biker, and made them suppose that a burglar was trying to break into the house.

If the face of the visitor could have been photographed when he heard Mr. Biker's angry demand, "Who's there?" it would doubtless have made a picture of a very comically puzzled expression, a "where-am-I-at" sort of a look. Then the expression may be better imagined than described, as he tried to collect his senses, when he heard Mr. Biker say he was going to shoot him. It evidently sobered him enough to make him start on a run for his life, as much scared as the Bikers.

Yesterday, the other leg of the trousers was found on a post on Grandview avenue.

The man evidently went home in his drawers. The Marshal is looking for the man. Who is he?

RESCUING THE PERISHING.

And One of the Ways it Isn't Done.

Fast into Warren engine house. Crooked past the engine, in which the worthy firemen take such pride. Move on past the hose carriage just in front of the engine. Pass through the first room at the rear, and you are in the barracks looking.

It is but the size of an ordinary room, yet in here five small cells arranged in a row at the left. The space in front of these cells is called the corridor.

Two small cots are over two boards batoned together are substituted to the patient to form a bunk to sleep or sit on as desired.

Crouching on the bunk in one of these cells Friday evening was a young mother in a woman only nineteen years old.

She was married nearly three years ago, when but sixteen. Her father was killed on the railroad nearly a year ago. Her husband had deserted her and their baby boy of nearly two years. Only a few days ago, and finally her own mother had turned against her and had her committed.

There she had been a prisoner all day, since five o'clock in the morning, and was to remain there all night. The fire must need attention during the night, and only men usually have any business in the desolate place either by day or night.

She would look in vain for a woman to come to her relief, as no one would be likely to do so know nothing about the matter. Out of humanity they would without doubt put this girl of tender mind into a different place.

Her baby, some thirty feet away, at the highest dignitary of the borough, Mayor Saunders. Surrounded by his wife and children he pores over his weighty deliberations(!) He has his no-nonsense air of sternity and his knees, like his conduct with himself and all the world.

The poor unfortunate girl, just a flight of stairs from her mother, and only that deepair, feeling that all the world is against her. She will not hear her voice. The walls are too thick and the surroundings of the misery below might disturb the tranquility of the jail. He and the other gentlemen would not have felt comfortable had they known of the case, until they had investigated. But they have made the condition of affairs less luminous. They depart for their homes, and those in charge retire to the kitchen. Back of it and over the girl's cell is the court room.

The whirling, blinding snow without angrily beats against the two small windows high in the corridor in front of her cells.

She may now and then hear the wind howl, and the dogs in the adjoining block bark and howl in the storm, for it is no awful night, she may think of her baby and its future, with its mother in such a plight.

While the storm is still raging she is taken up stairs to the court room to be tried. She is too poor to have counsel. The witnesses are called. All testify against her. She may have been guilty in a moment of anger, goaded by reproach, perhaps severe and possibly deserved. A way with her to the cell! Let the wretch lie there on the boards! Let her shriek into the darkest corner! Is fear and trembling! What care we for her?

What a world of good could now be done by a few words of cheer!

But there is not one present of the many we have in Plainfield who probably could do so here.

The young mother is convicted. She has heard the sentence. When the dismal night has run its round and the storm the streets is broad daylight a prisoner. The thoughtless will laugh in scorn to see pass the dreaded wretch. Others there are, alas, too many—may even jibe and sneer. She cannot hide herself in obscurity. She is the object of public disgrace. It is say wonder she becomes harassed, and her weak defiance? And then she goes to another town, and there, in association with hardened criminals, she spends sixty days in the county jail. What then? Reform and preserve her self respect? Very likely, isn't?

This is a Christian community. Even if the very worst were true, will it say that condition at the present time is conducive to reform? Emphatically think not. And whether it said so or not, we say it in strong.

There certainly must be a less demoralizing way of teaching an unfortunate like this girl.

Think of her pains.

Think of her circumstances.

Think of her temptations.

Isn't enough to destroy hope?

We have given the facts.

Let those who can, remedy the evil.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Get all the money you can honestly, but don't get it dishonestly.

Satisfactory progress is reported in the new translation of the Bible from the original text by the most eminent Hebrew scholars of all nations. It is a work in which Jew and Christian scholar alike can reverentially and enthusiastically cooperate, as they are doing. The first part to be published will be the book of Job. It was translated first into German by a German professor. From German it has been translated into English, and it will be given to the public at once in both languages. Professor Paul A. Haupt, of the oriental department of Johns Hopkins university has the task of editing all the translated books. He is assisted by Professor William R. Harper of the Chicago university.

In connection with the Hawaiian annexation proposition, it is interesting to recall the fact that Texas came into the Union in the very way in which the commissioners hope to make their islands a part of our territory. Texas people among whom are hundreds of citizens of the United States, achieved their independence of Mexico. Then they voted in favor of annexation to the United States and sent a commission to treat with that government on the subject. Hawaii has done likewise. Congress passed a resolution authorizing the annexation. Then the commissioners went back to Texas and by a great vote the people ratified the annexation act, and so Texas became a part of the United States. At the same time that it passed the resolution authorizing annexation the congress of that day made provision allowing Texas at any time to divide into four states, which Texas is too wise to do.

The Tesla Electric Light.

If a set of experiments that have been scientifically successful can be made commercially profitable, then we are on the eve of a new departure in electric lighting which is dazzling beyond the power of cold. matter of fact reason to follow all at once. Nikola Tesla is sometimes called electrical wizard No. 2 on account of his marvelous and fascinating work in a field similar to that of Edison.

Tesla's greatest achievement—that is, if it will go—is the production of an electric light without either globe or carbon. We may then hope to be rid of that painful bobbing up and down of the light which as yet seems inevitably attendant on the steadiest system of electrical illumination. Under Tesla's system all the apparatus is concealed. A beautiful incandescent glow is produced between the opposite walls of a room by means of rapid and powerful alternating currents. All that one needs is just the soft glow of light, like daylight. If this wonderful discovery is practicable, then we shall literally be able to turn night into day and have a night light that is as good as daylight.

Edison has been trying for years to find a way to produce electricity directly from coal without the intervention of the steam engine. Now he has found something even more wonderful than that. It is a method whereby a man can draw electricity directly from earth and air in any quantity and utilize it for any purpose at any time. Well we shall see.

About Immigration.

Mr. Gustav H. Schwab has his say in The Forum as to methods of preventing the evils of immigration. He would not have it stopped entirely. That would work hardship to as well as to the steamship companies and their passengers. But he would have immigration regulated. The steamship companies and their agents should be held to a strict sifting of their would be passengers. The tendency among European governments, as Mr. Schwab very justly points out, is to get rid of their undesirable citizens and keep at home able bodied, honest men capable of earning a good living and doing military service. He mentions in particular the case of an Italian ex-convict to whom the government of his country gave a passport duly signed and stamped, although he had served a sentence in Ancona of 10 years for robbery.

To guard against political dangers from foreign immigration Mr. Schwab would extend the time for naturalization. It is interesting to note, by the way, that 25,000 Russian Poles and 30,000 Hungarian laborers and peasants come to us annually at present, with more Italians than both these put together. The character of our foreign arrivals has so changed that changes in our immigration and naturalization laws are necessary to meet it.

Mr. Schwab wants the quarantine—first, too, of the most rigid quality—established at the port of departure instead of at the port of entry. He thinks that at one blow this would cure the worst evils of immigration. He says:

> The only rational way to solve the quarantine problem is to place the quarantine at the port of departure, and there to hold the steerage passengers, under control of the United States consular or other United States officials, for such length of time as medical science declares sufficient necessary to effect a thorough disinfection of the person and of the baggage of the immigrant. When this is done and the quarantine at the port of departure is supplemented by a careful observation during the voyage and a careful examination on arrival, no healthy steerage passenger will be rejected, and the health of the whole will be protected, and the benefit of the introduction of disease will a great deal more than offset the trouble.

SATOLLI NOT PLEASED.

Bishop Wigger's Course Calls For Some Plain Words.

THE GOLDEN JUBILEE OF LEO XIII.

Significant Utterances of an American Bishop on the Occasion of the Pope's Anniversary—Impressive Scenes at the Vatican—An Army of Pilgrims.

BAYONNE, N. J., Feb. 22.—Father Killeen read to his congregation a letter from Archbishop Satolli which completely reversed the orders issued by Bishop Wigger in relation to the parishes of St. Mary, St. Thomas and St. Henry, read at the Roman Catholic church last week. By the bishop's letter the two latter parishes were united, and religious services in St. Thomas' church were discontinued except at the discretion of Father Ahne, who might, if he chose, say mass in the Church of St. Thomas on Sunday next. The priest was also directed to preach in English and German as he had done in the past.

The letter was not directed to Father Killeen, but to Bishop Wigger, and it was sent to Father Killeen to read to the church in order that the people of the parish might know what the archbishop had really directed.

Satolli Reviews His Decree.

The letter was as follows:

To the Right Rev. Bishop Wigger, D. D.:

HONORED AND DEAR SIR—[illegible] I am displeased that my first letter remained unopened by you until the 19th inst. I am still more displeased that the conditions agreed upon between us for the purpose of settling the affairs of St. Mary's parish have not been executed. It was agreed in the first place that as a rule the preaching should be in English, and that only in two of the vernacular is allowed the same usage should be allowed for other functions, and that there should be no preaching in German, since you yourself pointed out to us that nearly all the parishioners understand English. Therefore let Father Ahne be forbidden to preach in German. There was a mutual agreement, in the second place, that on feast days—that is, on feast days to which is annexed the obligation of hearing mass—and on Sundays the second mass should be celebrated in the Church of St. Thomas.

Now I wish that, beginning with next Sunday, the second mass be celebrated in the aforesaid Church of St. Thomas, lest an injustice be done to the people who have built it and lest there should be given a reason for discussion, since it is evident that the faithful earnestly desire its opening.

Therefore, the Church of St. Thomas must be immediately restored to divine worship and kept open for the devotion of the faithful, all the more as there is a school there, that teachers and pupils may seize the opportunity to visit the church, which practice it would be well to recommend. Hence it is proper that the altar should be ornamented with an image of the Blessed Virgin or of St. Thomas, devotion to whom I specially recommend. With regard to this matter I trust you will adhere to your former agreement, and that you and I will be spared further annoyance. I will send a copy of this letter to both orders to remove any ambiguity and have them carry out what has been ordered once and for all.

FRANCIS, ARCHBISHOP SATOLLI,
Delegate Apostolic.

Father Ahne Too Ill to Read the Letter.

Father Killeen said that the public would see that from this his original statement was correct; that there were but two parishes in Bayonne—St. Mary's and St. Thomas'.

Copies of the same letter were sent to Father Ahne, but he was too ill to read them. He did struggle through the mass and announced that St. Thomas' church would be reopened next Sunday, but his voice was not audible beyond the third or fourth rows of seats.

The Papal Jubilee.

ROME, Feb. 20.—At daybreak the pealing of church bells announced the celebration of the pope's episcopal jubilee. By 4 o'clock thousands of pilgrims, tourists and citizens were crowded before the doors of St. Peter's. At 8 o'clock two battalions of infantry in full uniform were drawn up before the cathedral, so as to be ready to help the 200 or more gendarmes in preserving order. The crowd swelled steadily, but remained quiet, despite the tremendous pressure caused by some 5,000 ticket holders in their hopeless struggle to get near the doors.

At 8 o'clock the doors were opened, and the foremost of the crowd swept in. Within half an hour the great building was packed to the steps. Thirty thousand pilgrims and 25,000 or 30,000 Catholics from this city had gained admission. Not fewer than 40,000 persons, many of them ticket holders, were turned away by the military, who cleared the spaces around the building, so as to prevent disorder when the service closed.

The Pope Enters, Smiling.

The pope entered the building at 9:45, he but entering, and apparently in some what better health than usual. The cathedral rang with tumultuous cheering as the pope was borne toward the altar. His holiness celebrated the special jubilee mass, intoning the opening words of the "Te Deum" and giving his blessing in a clear, penetrating voice.

The scene at the cathedral was brilliant and impressive. The interior was hung in crimson and was profusely dressed with flowers. The pope, in full canonicals, was borne on the sedia gestatoria up the nave to the altar, accompanied by a gorgeous procession of richly robed and bejeweled cardinals and officers of the Swiss guards. The vigor of the pope's movements during mass and the energy of voice and gesture as he gave the blessing astonished the people.

Cardinal Gibbons Preaches at Baltimore.

BALTIMORE, Feb. 20.—Cardinal Gibbons, all the priests attached to the cathedral, the Sulpician fathers and seminarians in the Seminary of St. Mary of St. Sulpice, together with an immense congregation, united in the cathedral in the service of the solemn high mass. Cardinal Gibbons preached the sermon. In the course of the sermon the cardinal said:

"The issue of the pope is indelibly marked on every page of ecclesiastical history. The sovereign pontiff ever stands before us as commander in chief in the grand army of the church. If the bishops of the east feel themselves aggrieved at home by their patriarchs or civil rulers, they look for redress to Rome as to the star of their hope. If the fathers and doctors of the early church are consulted, with one voice they all pay homage to the bishop of Rome as their spiritual prince. If an ecumenical council is to be convened in the east or west, the pope is its leading spirit. If new nations are to be converted to the faith, there is the holy father clothing the missionaries with authority and giving his blessing to the work.

"If new errors are to be condemned in any part of the globe, all eyes turn to the oracle of Rome to await his anathema, and his solemn judgment never reaches them one moment too soon. If all unite in the profound bond of faith and charity, would convert the world.

"But these can be only one secure basis for this reunion—that established by Christ himself—the recognition of Peter and his successors as the center of spiritual authority. He who would build upon any other foundation labors in vain. Any other design but this would result in a Tower of Babel. May that day be hastened when we will all worship as the same altar, having one Lord, one faith, one baptism, one God and one Father of all."

Want His Temporal Power Restored.

NEW YORK, Feb. 20.—At the celebration of the Catholic club, after an address by Archbishop Corrigan, resolutions to the pope were adopted, the second of which were the following paragraphs:

"In union with all the loving children of your holiness of every nation, we desire to express the hope that the work of your long and glorious pontificate may yet be crowned with the restoration of that temporal independence which belongs to the holy see by right, as essential to justice, humanity and religion, and which has been earned for it again by the mighty achievements of your holiness in the cause of the people.

"We congratulate your holiness that restrictive laws, designed to fetter your action, have failed to prevent you from taking more conspicuous the beneficent fruits and blessings of your labors, redounding in a multitude of benefits to religion and mankind."

THUNDER, LIGHTNING AND RAIN.

Wilkesbarre Has a Novel Experience With a Blizzard.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Feb. 20.—At 9 o'clock last night a terrific blizzard swept over this city and vicinity, accompanied by peals of thunder and blinding flashes of lightning. It had been raining all day, and in the evening the fury of the storm increased. The wind, blowing 40 miles an hour from the southwest, drove the snow before it in sheets. The pedestrians almost within reach of their own doors became confused by the blinding snow and had serious difficulty in reaching places of safety. For fully a half hour the blizzard raged, the mercury going down 10 degrees. The air seemed to be packed with flying snow, the wind howled frightfully, and the lightning played about in a dangerous manner. Residents of this city, thinking that a repetition of the terrible tornado of 1890 was about to be enacted, fortified themselves as best they could and waited nervously for the worst. Fortunately, however, the wind abated, and all fears of a cyclone were allayed. The wind worked havoc in exposed places about the city, where signs were torn down, window glass shattered and telephone and telegraph wires prostrated. The storm paralyzed traffic on the electric roads, and all trains running into this city are late.

HUGH O'DONNELL ACQUITTED.

The Captain of the Rioters Was Not a Captain at All.

PITTSBURG, Feb. 20.—The jury in the case of Hugh O'Donnell, the leader of the strikers during the Homestead riot, acquitted him. He was accused of murder, alleged to have been committed during the long strike. The defense was that, instead of inciting the men to riot, he advised them to withdraw and not attack the Pinkertons.

This ends the Homestead trials until the March term of court. It is possible that all the other cases may go over until the June term of court, and the Homestead men now in jail will be admitted to bail. The arguments for new trials in the Dempsey and the anarchist cases will be made today, and then Homestead will sink into comparative obscurity for a time.

Inconvenience of a Broken Skull.

LOCKPORT, N. Y., Feb. 20.—Patrick Cushing, the elderly gardener of ex-Assemblyman John E. Pound, fell on the icy sidewalk and fractured his skull. Shortly afterward he arose, walked home, ate his dinner and talked with his family. Suddenly he fell dead to the floor in convulsions. Physicians were hastily summoned, and Dr. Gould found the skull fractured and the brain exposed. He trephined the skull, took out a couple of tablespoonfuls of blood, and the wonderful Mr. Cushing came back to consciousness.

Assemblyman Cavanagh Absconds.

NEWARK, N. J., Feb. 20.—Thomas Cavanagh, who was last year an assemblyman from one of the districts in this city, has left town and is short in his accounts. He was one of the most promising young men in the assembly, but the fast life at the capital was too much for him. He was the treasurer of St. Patrick's alliance, No. 7, of this city, and an investigation shows that he has taken the money in the treasury of the association.

Cincinnati Has a Flood.

CINCINNATI, Feb. 20.—The Ohio river has passed to nearly nine feet above the danger line to still slowly advancing. It is feared that the water will reach 52 feet before the rise is checked. The water has reached the railroad tracks leading into the Grand Central depot, and the incoming trains are delayed. The river has reached 54 feet and is rising an inch and a half an hour.

A Locomotive Boiler Explodes.

FORT WORTH, Tex., Feb. 20.—A Texas and Pacific freight engine exploded in the yards here, killing one man, injuring half a dozen others and creating terrible havoc.

CROWDED WITH BILLS.

Senator Vilas Says an Extra Session Will Be Held.

LAMAR'S SUCCESSOR CONFIRMED.

The Hawaiian Envoy Will Be Received. The Princess Sends a Protest From London—Night Sessions of Congress May Be Necessary to Dispose of Business.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—The backward state of appropriation bills lends serious interest to the remark of Senator Vilas that there might be only a short interval between the adjournment of this congress and the assembling of the next. There are two or three other matters for discussion still to come up in connection with the pending sundry civil bill in the senate, whose consideration has already consumed the best part of a week. Included among these is the pooling amendment in regard to the site for a new government printing office. After that bill is disposed of there is the legislative appropriation bill ready for action, upon which there are half a dozen hot fights imminent. Then there are the pension and pacific bills to follow. Both of these measures have been productive of many columns of eloquence in the house, and it is not likely that they will be more lightly passed over by the senate.

Mr. Allison, chairman of the appropriations committee, threatened night sessions for the senate to dispose of these appropriation bills, but experience has shown that it is impossible to hold a senate together night sessions for more than one or two nights, and those are generally emergency nights at the very close of the session.

The Nicaragua bill, another fruitful subject of talk, is the unfinished business, and there is no time for further treaty to be disposed of in executive session.

A Volume of Business in the House.

The appropriation bills are also in a backward state in the house, owing largely to the time consumed in the senate in debate over the pension appropriation bill. It is possible that the New York bridge bill and the Chicago bridge bill may come up under suspension of the rules. The passage of the agricultural and naval bills will leave before the house only the postoffice and the Indian appropriation bills, and the bills heretofore named have been amended by the senate, and considerable time between now and March will have to be spent in acting on conference reports on the appropriations.

Notice has been given that the car coupler bill, with senate amendments, will be called up Thursday.

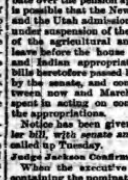
Judge Jackson Confirmed Without a Vote.

When the executive journal was read containing the nomination of Judge Jackson, which had previously been reported favorably, the president of the senate said: "If there are no objections, the nomination will be confirmed. Not a senator spoke. In this quiet way all the opposition disappeared, and Associate Justice Jackson will qualify as the successor of Judge Lamar, which he has been appointed by a Republican president. The injunction of secrecy was not removed from the proceedings.



HOWELL E. JACKSON.

The confirmation of the nomination of Judge Jackson has led to speculation in political circles as to the identity of his successor on the circuit bench. What President Harrison will do in the matter is of course impossible to say. Since the surprise occasioned by the nomination of Jackson no one cares to hazard a prediction. Democrats say that the confirmation of Jackson was reached through an understanding that the president would not nominate a man to succeed him.

Neaman Is Ill.

Messrs. Thurston, Castle and Carter of the special commission of the provisional government of Hawaii have nothing to do now but await the action of the senate on the treaty to annex Hawaii to the United States, now pending. If they take the next regular steamer from San Francisco for Honolulu, Mr. Thurston and his associates must leave Washington in a week at the farthest. Mr. Paul Neuman, the envoy of the deposed queen, is confined to his room with a severe cold. He said he had no engagement to meet the secretary of state the president, but that he intended to call upon Secretary Foster at the earliest possible moment after that official's return to Washington.

Probably Had Not Heard of the Gift.

Under date of London, Princess Kaiulani has made public the following protest: To the American People:

Forty years ago, at the request of Mr. Thurston, then Hawaiian cabinet minister, I was sent away to England to be educated privately and fitted for the position to which I am the heir apparent of Hawaii I was to inherit. For all these years I have patiently and in exile striven to fit myself for my position that I may be my native country.

I am now told that Mr. Thurston is in Washington asking you to take away my flag and my throne. No one tells me even this officially. Have I done anything wrong that this wrong should be done to me and my people? I am coming to Washington to plead for my throne, my people and my flag. Will not the great American people hear me? KAIULANI.

Dr. Nichols Will Stay at Binghamton.

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., Feb. 20.—G. Parsons Nichols, D. D., pastor of the First Presbyterian church, announced to his congregation yesterday his declination of the call of the Calvary Presbyterian church of Buffalo. Then the congregation rose and sang "Praise God, From Whom All Blessings Flow." The Buffalo call carried a salary of $8,000. The church here has a membership of more than 1,000.

Gail Hamilton Is Blaine's Biographer.

NORWICH, Conn., Feb. 20.—The publishers of Mr. Blaine's "Twenty Years in Congress" have secured the privilege of publishing the authorized biography of the Republican leader. Gail Hamilton is to be the authoress. Mr. Blaine has requested to her his papers, letters and various historical and biographical memoranda.

A Family Stricken With Scarlet Fever.

NEWARK, N. J., Feb. 20.—Five of the eight children of John Lamont on East Orange have died of scarlet fever within a few weeks. The remaining three are down with the disease and cannot live.

The Peninsular Car Works to Move.

DETROIT, Feb. 20.—The Michigan Peninsular Car company, embracing a plant worth $6,000,000 and employing over 3,000 men, is about to be removed to Chicago.

"Until my boy was six years of age he was from birth a terrible sufferer from scrofulous humor. Sores would appear on him and spread until at Lancaster in October and then discharge, followed by others, so that the larger part of his body was one mass of sores all the time, especially severe on his legs and back of his head and on his face. The humor had a very offensive odor, and caused

Intense Itching

We cannot tell how that poor boy suffered in all those years. Physicians did not effect a cure. At last I decided to give him Hood's Sarsaparilla, as my druggist recommended it. In about two weeks the Sarsaparilla began to have effect. The sores commenced to heal up; the flesh began to look more natural and healthy. Then the sores one by one and all over the body and head and sides healed up. When he had taken two bottles he was entirely free from sores, and has remained so ever since, where they had been. These have all disappeared. We are unable to express our thanks for the good

THE KANSAS POPULISTS ALERT.

Bills Will Be Rushed Through In the Hope of Embarrassing Republicans.

TOPEKA, Feb. 20.—When the Populist house of the legislature meets today, it will at once enter upon the execution of a plan to fortify its position before the people. The house will set its legislative mill to grinding at as fast a rate as possible and will attempt to pass all the important measures before Thursday or Friday, so as to reach adjournment before the supreme court can pass upon the legality of its organization. These laws, having been passed by the house and the senate and signed by Governor Lewelling, can be invalidated only by the courts, and the cause of the invalidation will be thrown upon the Republicans, the only party disputing the Populist position in the courts. The invalidation of the appropriation bills for the sustenance of the public institutions must necessarily cause them much embarrassment and might even result in their temporary abandonment. The blame for such a calamity the Populists hope to shift upon the Republicans shoulders and thus place them in an awkward position before the people at the next election.

The resolution adopted by the Republican house declaring all seats vacant which are not occupied by Feb. 28 goes into effect Wednesday next. Warnings to that effect are being served upon the Populist members. This action cannot cause a renewal of the hostilities of last week, as has been declared it might, for the reason that it is not a violation of the agreement by which peace was restored. The Populists will simply ignore the warning and will go right ahead passing bills as if no such warning had ever been made.

Adjutant General Arts has suspended some of the officers of the state militia. Suspensions are not made for disobedience of orders, but because the men were not sufficiently in sympathy with the governor to explicitly carry out his orders. Though most of the officers of the militia are Republicans, there is a sufficient number of Populist officers to constitute a court martial.

DR. BRIGGS' CHURCH PROBABLE.

The Learned Heretic Will Neither Confess Nor Deny the Rumor.

NEW YORK, Feb. 20.—The Tribune says this morning: Dr. Charles S. Briggs returned from his trip to Cincinnati Saturday night. He was preached by statements as to his plans for the future that were somewhat startling to the religious world. They came with a show of authority, and bore the striking feature that if the general assembly decided against him he and Professor Smith of Cincinnati would secede and form a new church.

"Incidental to the project of the two 'heresy' leaders, it was said that they would command the influence and active support of the Union Theological and Lane seminaries. They had assurance besides that they would be supported by controlling majorities in the larger congregations in New York, Chicago, Cleveland and Cincinnati.

"Dr. Briggs will not at the present time throw any light on these various statements. He would not deny the rumor, nor would he confirm it, even when urged on the ground of the great public interest in his plans. His reticence will be urged as a practical confirmation of the report. Were it not true, it is believed that he would be desirous of so saying at once. On the other hand, the fact that the plan is contingent on the future disposition of his case would be sufficient reason for his refusal to admit at this time that it was really a fact."

BETTER THAN BESSEMER.

An Invention That Will Reduce the Price of Steel Rails One-half.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 20.—Benjamin Bazelle, a St. Louis man, has invented a process of steel manufacture that, it is claimed, far eclipses the discovery of Bessemer, and will also reduce the cost of steel rails so that they can by its use be sold at a good profit for one-half the present expense of making them. Mr. Bazelle's partners in it asserted that either pig iron or steel can be made direct from the ore with a gas fuel, and it is claimed that by this process the best Bessemer pig iron can be made for less than $10 and steel in the billet for $18.50 a ton. Bessemer received $1,000,000 on the American rights of his patent, the Carnegie Steel company and other large concerns being the purchasers. If Bazelle's process will accomplish all that is claimed for it, Bessemer's invention will be worthless, as it cannot compete with the other.

White Caps at Bradford.

BRADFORD, Pa., Feb. 20.—Twenty men, part of whom were masked, called at the house of John Shellgren in the suburbs of the town, and after knocking at the door, which was opened, asked for Orange Gordon, a colored man who has been waiting on Pleasinger's daughter for some time. Gordon had made his escape at the rear. They went upstairs and finding the girl in bed gave her a whipping. The girl succeeded in knocking one of the White Caps down. The party was provided with tar and feathers, and Gordon would have fared badly had he been found.

Chicago to Have Elevated Tracks.

CHICAGO, Feb. 20.—It is announced that the Chicago and Northwestern railway will elevate all its tracks within the limits of Chicago at an expense of $24,000,000. The plans provide for the elevation of 27 miles of first and second track and 14 miles of side track. The company estimates that the interest on the $24,000,000 will be less than the amount it is now compelled to pay annually on account of litigation and judgments arising from deaths and personal injuries due for the most part to grade crossings.

Adventists Are Branching Out.

BATTLE CREEK, Mich., Feb. 20.—At a meeting of the Adventists the delegates were addressed by Professor Prescott, secretary of the Educational society. The report of how much progress during the past two years. Two colleges have been built—one at Lincoln, Neb., and one at Walla Walla, Wash. Denominational schools have been started in Sweden, Norway, Denmark and at Melbourne. A college has just been opened at Cape Town at a cost of $25,000.

A Wholesale Indictment.

CINCINNATI, Feb. 20.—A special grand jury in Newport, Ky., has indicted ex-Mayor A. S. Berry, congressman-elect, and nearly all the members of the council of 1891 for malfeasance in office. Mr. Berry and a half dozen members of the council were also indicted for bribery, attempted bribery or receiving bribes in connection with street railroad ordinances.

AN ELECTRICAL UTOPIA.

Trolley Street Cars to Run Along Country Roads.

FINANCIERS BACK OF THE SCHEME.

All the Electric Roads of the New England Towns Gobbled Up For the Purpose of Consolidation—A $5,000 Company That Can Increase to $50,000,000.

HAVERHILL, Mass., Feb. 20.—President Howe of the Haverhill and Amesbury Street railway says that in 10 years every main highway in the eastern states will have an electric railway as well as a carriage drive. The face of the country will be entirely changed, and cities will slowly vanish except as centers of industry.

A Great Boon to the Farmers.

Dwellings will be scattered over the country side, and every house will have a large garden around it, as it will make no difference whether a person lives 10 miles from work or school or within half a mile, the reduction in cost more than making up the cost of car fare. The entire New England states will therefore become a vast suburban district, and municipal dominion will become merely arbitrary political dominion.

People in New York city can board large observation cars and make long tours in various regions, stopping nightly at convenient points. Large open cars will be run in summer and heated box cars in winter.

Practical Schemes Developed.

Stories of street railway deals of gigantic magnitude have been rife in this section. The movement started in Boston seven months ago when the Boston and Lynn line acquired all roads along the coast as far as Beverly, a distance of 30 miles. Next the Haverhill and Amesbury road gobbled up the Newburyport and Salisbury Beach lines, giving an extent along the Merrimac river of some 18 miles and leaving a small fraction to be constructed to make a continuous route from Boston to the New Hampshire line.

All Roads Acquired by One Company.

Meanwhile one syndicate has bought the lines in the vicinity of Worcester and another those in the Connecticut valley. To-day came the news that all these syndicates were to fall into the hands of a company which has the control of every street railway in New England. Last Thursday a bill was put through the legislature of Connecticut to incorporate the company with a capital of $5,000, which may be increased to $50,000,000. The directors of the company include some of the soundest and richest financial men of Boston and New York.

MR. CLEVELAND GIVEN UP TO RE-FLECTION.

Mrs. Cleveland Buys a Span Which Is Said to Eclipse Everything.

LAKEWOOD, N. J., Feb. 20.—Mr. Cleveland remained quietly at home Sunday. He had no callers and made no announcements in regard to the places in his cabinet which are not yet filled. He expects to remain at Lakewood all of this week. It is said here that Mr. Cleveland is waiting to hear from Senator Carlisle before making any further announcements. Senator Carlisle left here on Saturday with instructions to interview a number of people.

While in New York Mrs. Cleveland purchased a span of fine horses which she will keep for her own use while in Washington. The horses are a perfect match and eclipse the team owned by the president-elect.

Lieutenant Governor Sheehan, who is at the Lakewood hotel, did not call at the Cleveland cottage. Mr. Sheehan said he was here for his health and not for politics.

GOVERNOR M'KINLEY'S DISTRESS.

Friends Will Extricate Him From the Walker Wreck.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Feb. 20.—The Walker failure is growing, as far as liabilities are concerned, and it is now known that Governor McKinley is surely out at least $75,000. The governor is broken hearted. He placed implicit confidence in Walker, who never hesitated to use him. He is not worth more than $40,000 or $50,000, and the payment of these notes will leave him a financial wreck.

Friends here, who are the richest men in the valley, raised the amount for which the governor has obligated himself and will loan it to him on his personal notes, thus giving him time to recover. The notes will be made payable as soon as the liabilities are known definitely.

A Fitchburg Fatality.

TROY, N. Y., Feb. 20.—Two freight trains bound east on the Fitchburg railroad collided near Athol, Mass. The locomotive of the second freight backed down the sides of the first train on a steep down grade. George Taylor and Joseph Martin of Orange, Mass., were instantly killed, and Conductor Seely was badly hurt.

The New York Legislature's Adjournment.

ALBANY, Feb. 20.—It is not likely that the legislature will adjourn much before the date of the final adjournment last year, which was April 21. Even if it does adjourn a week earlier the length of this session will be about the same as the last one, as the legislature met a week earlier this year than last.

A Sensational Postmaster Unseated.

CHEYENNE, Wy., Feb. 20.—In the state sought the seat of Mr. Kime of Fremont county was declared vacant. Evidence was introduced showing that he had been postmaster at Minnie Delight. A provision of the state constitution vitiated his title to the senatorial seat.

THE FIGHT IS ON.

Corbett and Mitchell Will Fight to a Finish For What's In It.

NEW YORK, Feb. 20.—Mitchell wanted the loser to have 20 per cent of the stakes, and his insistence on this point, while Corbett wanted the winner to have all, upon everything, although all the preliminaries had been agreed upon and both had deposited $10,000 stakes.

After a very little preliminary discussion at the last meeting Mitchell announced that he was willing to concede that the winner should have all the stakes, and that disposed of the only objection to the way of the fight.

In view of the fact that Superintendent Byrnes had declared that he would arrest all concerned in making a match to fight in New York, it was decided as a safeguard not to sign articles at present and to withdraw the money held by George Dickinson. Accordingly each man withdrew his $10,000. An agreement was then drawn up that representatives of each party should meet on Saturday, Feb. 25, at 9 p. m. on the Canadian side of Niagara falls and there deposit the stakes and sign articles. It was understood by all that the arrangement as made in reference to the time of the match (December) and the size of the ring (24 feet) should be considered as binding.

MAKING DEMOCRACY PERPETUAL.

The Alabama Legislature Disfranchises 40,000 Negroes.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Feb. 20.—The senate passed the Sayer election bill. It had already passed the house. The governor will sign it, and it will then become a law of the state. The new law provides the Australian ballot. Its effect will be to disfranchise illiterate negro voters to the number of about 40,000 or more in Alabama. The penalties for violation of the section governing registration and voting are very rigid. The new law will go into effect at the next general election. The Kolb third party Populists in both houses were against the bill all the way through. They had been clamoring for a new and fair election law for two years past, and when this one was offered them they opposed it directly. The bill means everlasting Democratic rule in Alabama.

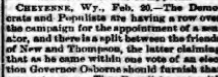
WYOMING LEGISLATURE ADJOURNS.

Thus the United States Senatorship Is Left With the Governor to Appoint.

CHEYENNE, Wy., Feb. 20.—The Democrats and Populists are having a row over the campaign for the appointment of a senator, and there is a split between the friends of New and Thompson, the latter claiming that as he came within one vote of an election Governor Osborne should furnish that one vote now. The Populists are with Thompson.

When the joint session of the legislature met to ballot for senator, a motion to adjourn sine die was carried by two votes.

This leaves the selection of a senator to the governor, provided it can be shown that such an action will be legal.



WARRING STYLES.

Take Your Choice Between Two Evils of Fashion's Caprice.

Here are the Scylla and Charybdis of the season—the rival styles of 1830 and the empire—so take your choice of the two evils, mesdames, if you wish to be fashionable. But whatever you do be consistent and do not try to serve two mistresses. Do not "do" your hair in empire fashion and wear an 1830 gown. For the latter style the hair should be slightly curled over the forehead and worn with a high comb and loops of hair or ribbon on the top of the head.

EMPIRE AND 1830 RIVALS.

One or two ladies who are nothing if they are not thorough have adopted the forehead ornament of a single jewel or pendant arrangement of smaller jewels, with which our great-grandmothers used to put the finishing touch to their young beauty long ago. A very becoming touch it is in many instances. With empire gowns, which are supposed to be more or less classical (decidedly less, we should say), the hair should be worn a la Grecque, modernized, however, so much as the wearer chooses with feather tips, jewels and ribbons.

You will notice, moreover, that the empire lady wears very long gloves that meet the sleeves, which, by the way, are the latest thing in the line, having the fullness divided into two puffs. The 1830 dame has comparatively short gloves, which leave the arms bare from the elbow. And while in the empire style the skirts are somewhat clinging, those of 1830 are full and gathered plentifully, which expand at the bottom in a way that suggests crinoline.

NOT FASHION ONLY.

INDIVIDUALITY IN GOWNS BETTER OFTEN THAN LATEST MODES.

Study Something Distinctive and Original. Adherence to One Color Often Brings Favorable Results—This Is an Excellent Season For Experimenting on Old Skirts.

The province of the fashion writer, thinks the New York Sun, is to suggest every phase of mode as quickly as it appears; to sound the note of warning when the passing of dress phase is imminent; to study the evolution and history of fashion, and prophesy and warn; to reproduce the successes of one woman for the inspiration of all women.

The first great mistake made by the average woman is that in this one thing she eliminates the personal equation too decidedly. She copies a gown drawn in a cut or worn by a shapely woman. As it comes home fresh from the dressmaker's hands, with all its faultless appurtenances complete, it is divine. But "Oh, what a difference in the morning!" when she puts it on herself. One easy way of acquiring distinction in dress, if this gracious be not among your natural endowments, is to wear some one distinctive color or style.

One woman the New York Sun's fashion writer knows always wears a rose in her hat, just one big loose pet-aled bud, which may be pink or yellow or deep crimson, according to her whim. In summer the hats are light and lacy; in winter they are heavy with fur and plumes, but the rose nods contentedly aloft. Another lady has a fancy for gray gowns of soft, falling stuff, always most simply made. She is wearing one now of corded silk in a pearly color, with a deep hanging frill of pale blue chiffon embroidered with pink buds at the edge.

If a woman would dress well, let her learn by dressing. And for experimenting this is a most excellent season, when the shops are crowded with bargains and one's old gowns are being ripped and remodeled.

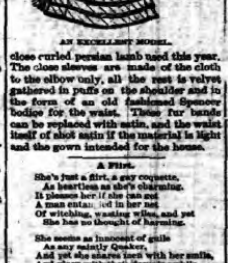
If the dress is not particularly nice, put full flounces about the bottom to give it an approach to the fashionable flare. If the material is handsome, cut one-half a yard off the top of the skirt. Then use some gaudily contrasting material for the bottom of the skirt, as in the first illustration, where a gown of striped satin in a flower pattern is made up with the lower part of the skirt in mirror velvet shading out the ground all the tints in the pattern of the satin. Oddly enough, this quaint old gown has a chemisette and sleeves of dotted silk muslin gathered modestly about the shoulders. The revers are of velvet, the border and band of trimming all of fur. However, a last year's china silk might be easily pieced out in this way by using a plain silk the color of the flowers and a plaited satin ribbon ruche for a trimming.

An excellent model for the bargain laugths we buy in the stores now at such reduced rates, and which, alas! shrink so alarmingly when we try to cut out the gowns at home, is the second cut, which shows a full skirt and one of the beautiful wools as soft and fine and richly colored as an india shawl, trimmed round with three bands of the silky.



AN EXCELLENT MODEL.

close curled persian lamb used this year. The close sleeves are made of the cloth to the elbow only, all the rest is velvet gathered in puffs on the shoulder and in the form of an old fashioned figure-box bodice for the waist. These fur bands can be replaced with satin, and the waist itself of shot satin if the material is light and the gown intended for the house.

A Flirt.

She's just a flirt, a gay coquette,
As heart can tell and she's charming.
It pleases her if she can get
A man entangled in her net
Of witching, winning ways, and yet
She has no thought of harming.

She seems as innocent of guile
As any saintly Quaker,
And yet she shares her grin with her smile,
And plays with their despair awhile,
Then throws them off, in such a style,
Sometimes I'd like to shake her!

Yet, she's a flirt, and you can guess
Just how her conduct strikes me,
And yet each winning loveliness
As here I sit musing, is more to bless,
And not to harm—and I'll confess
At times I think she likes me.

ern cattle, to include in the exhibition the roundup, working the herd, cutting out a particular brand or class of cattle—also the actual life while on the range. This performance will have to be done in or near the Union stockyards, and Nebraska cattle, wild and fresh from the range, will be the "subjects operated on." The riders will start each on his own horse from Chadron, Neb., May 1, and leisurely ride the 1,000 miles, their tents and messes accompanying in wagons, and only those who arrive on the same horses with which they started can take part in the race.

Will Lend the Columbus Relics.

The Spanish government has received through the United States minister at Madrid a formal note from the Duke of Veragua granting the request of the president for the loan of the relics of Columbus in the possession of his descendants for exhibition at the World's Fair. The duke in his letter says: "I feel truly gratified in stating, which statement I request you to communicate to the president, that I place at his disposal the autographs and documents which I keep in my archives, and a portrait of the admiral—a copy of the one which exists in our national library, and, in my opinion, offers probabilities of authenticity. Intrusting them to the care of the people and government of the United States, I am entirely sure that they will be guarded with an interest equal to that which I feel for those precious relics of the discoverer of the new world, and I only regret that they are not more numerous and of greater value in order to reciprocate the courtesy which you have extended to me."

The German Village at the Fair.

The German village at the Chicago World's fair will be a wonder indeed, with its castle and other antiquities and its specimens of art, armor and architecture of all ages. The great attraction, however, to most people will be the music. Two concerts will be given daily, and for this purpose two bands have been organized in Germany. The members of these bands are all men who have been in the military service as musicians, and they will wear the regulation military uniform. One band of 45 pieces will be maintained as a regiment of guards on foot and will be led by Eduard Buschewyh, who was royal Prussian musical director and until 1885 band leader of the Third Grenadier regiment of the guard (Queen Elizabeth) and since then director of the Tivoli concerts at Berlin. He served in the war of 1866 against Austria and in that of 1870-1 against France, and wears the Iron Cross and other decorations for bravery in action.

Transportation Facilities at the Fair.

Transportation facilities within the World's fair grounds will be ample. The elevated railroad will circumvent the park, and in addition to a well organized service of vehicles there will be a large fleet of launches upon the lagoons. These boats reach every point of interest and will be all the great buildings. Fares will be nominal and regulated by the exposition authorities.

He Forgot to Remember.

Mr. Wiggins went about his business duties all day with a little scrap of red ribbon tied around his finger. Seldom looked at it and smiled, but asked no questions. They had been there themselves.

But a woman is a woman—one of his wife's friends—had more curiosity or less knowledge about that particular bit of ribbon.

"Oh, Mr. Wiggins, what are you wearing that ribbon bow on your finger for, I should like to know?"

"It's a help to memory," said Mr. Wiggins; "my wife tied it on this morning."

"I thought maybe it was a kind of mee decoration," said his wife's friend.

"No, indeed. She wanted me to remember to bring her something very particularly, and in order to impress it constantly on my mind took this plan," answered Mr. Wiggins, with a troubled expression.

"And you forgot it, now I see what's the matter," said the sympathetic friend.

CITY COMMON COUNCIL.

LAST NIGHT'S MEETING DEVOTED TO LICENSE APPLICATIONS.

Many Petitions Presented Protesting against the Granting of Liquor Licenses—The Rev. Dr. Lewis makes an Appeal—Eleven Licenses Granted on Appeal—Eleven Licenses Granted —Two Returned and Four Refused.

There is always one meeting of the Common Council during the year which attracts a large number of citizens and taxpayers, and that is the meeting at which the matter of granting liquor licenses is to be settled. Last night proved no exception and the lobby was filled with people long before the meeting was called to order. About a dozen ladies, members of the W. C. T. U., were present. Also the Revs. Drs. Lewis and Richards, and Rev. Messrs. E. M. Rodman and Schenck.

All the Councilmen were present except Councilman Erickson. The minutes were read and approved as corrected.

Mr. Case moved that no business be transacted except action on the license application. It was so ordered.

President Ginna gave those present an opportunity to make their protests and present petitions against the granting of the licenses, if there were any.

Mrs. Fernald was the first to accept the offer. She read a petition from the members of the W. C. T. U., asking the Council not to grant any licenses, and calling their attention to the homes made desolate by the liquor traffic. The petition quoted at length the last report of the Children's Home, giving the number of children left homeless on account of the saloons. Mr. Marsh moved that it be received and filed. Carried.

The Rev. Dr. Lewis, in behalf of the Pastors' Association, read a petition, begging, first, that no new licenses be granted; second, that no licenses at all be granted. It was signed by all the pastors in the city. Mr. Lewis then addressed the Councilmen. He said: "Gentlemen you have been elected to look after the interests of the city. You have the power to grant these licenses to saloons, which ruin our young men and wreck homes. We, the signers of this petition, are the official guardians of these young men. It is not sentiment that confronts us, but facts. Facts as cold as the piercing wind outside. The first cold fact is, that there is not a church in the city that is not in debt to the saloons. The second fact is written on your jail records here and at Trenton. Who pays the bills of the Hospital, Children's Home and Relief Association? The church people. The saloon corrupts young men and women and we are asked to build them up. The churches are asked to take collections at Thanksgiving for the poor. Who makes the poor? The saloons. We cannot go to a saloon and force the keeper to close. He would show us his license granted by your honorable body, and call upon Chief Grant to lock us up. I say to you, gentlemen with all due respect, that our hands are tied. What right have you to charge a man $200 to carry on business on Park avenue when his neighbors is allowed to do business without paying a cent for the privilege? Because his vocation is not a legitimate one, and he is willing to pay to be protected. How long will Plainfield be known as the city of homes if the saloons continue to exist? A man in New Hampshire once said: "Let hell clean its own gutters." But the saloon does not clean its own gutters. We get boys a little while in the Sunday-schools. The saloon is open the entire week to tempt them. Give us a good fair chance. Throw aside politics. Drop it entirely out of the matter. We are not so foolish as to enter the fight against politicians. The liquor business is the largest of any in the United States. It controls every great issue in the land. Why put a price on the liquor traffic. Let it be as free as the dry goods business. Take off all tax and make it free run. I would much rather see it on a par with other trades. You hold the key to the situation. You are not the slaves to mandamuses and light our streets. God pity us, if we cannot mandamuse and light our streets without wrecking homes and ruining young men. Let us walk in mud up to our knees and darkness. We cannot fight the liquor business while the license bids us keep our hands off." The pastors' petition was then read and filed.

Mr. J. C. Fernald made a short address in which he quoted the following decision of the Supreme Court: "No person has the right to sell liquor at retail and the legislature has the right to grant licenses to sell liquors retail."

Mr. Frank Cawley petitioned Council to permit him to withdraw his application to sell liquor wholesale at 53 Broadway. It was granted.

Two hundred names were signed to a petition begging Council not to grant any licenses below Plainfield avenue. It was received and filed.

The City Clerk stated that he had a communication from Mr. Ethan Lanshear, but that he could not read it. It was filed without reading.

Pastor Warnick and the elders of the Mt. Olive Baptist church presented a petition against the granting of a license to John J. Goff, as his place was within 200 feet of the church. The petition was received and filed.

The members of Hope chapel petitioned Council not to grant any licenses to that section of the city below Plainfield avenue. It was received and filed. This concluded the petitions and the licenses were then taken up. The first to be acted upon was that of William Lee, at 204 West Third street. It was refused by the following vote:

Ayes—Gray, Ginna.—2.

Nays—Bird, Clark, Case, Fisk, Ginna, Johnston, Marsh, Millington, See and Weber.—8.

Frank Linke, at 42 West Front street, was granted a wholesale license by the following vote:

Ayes—Bird, Fisk, Frazee, Ginna, Johnston, Millington, See and Weber.—6.

Nays—Case and Marsh.—2.

Wallace V. Miller's application, to keep a hotel on North avenue, was returned for correction as it contained the names of five persons all signing as owning one-tenth of a 40 foot lot on Park avenue below Ninth street.

John Beerbower's (City Hotel) application was also returned for correction. There were six signers from two lots.

Action on the other applications resulted as follows:

LICENSES GRANTED.

Jacob Blimm, hotel, Somerset street, unanimous vote. To sell liquor all voted aye except Messrs. Case and Marsh.

Fred Caspar, hotel, 24 and 26 East Front street, unanimous vote. The license to sell liquor was granted by the same vote.

John J. Goff, hotel, West Third street, granted by the same vote.

Windham & Crowley, East Front street, granted by the same vote.

The following saloon licenses were granted by the following vote:

Ayes—Bird, Fish, Frazee, Ginna, Johnston, Millington, See and Weber.—8.

Nays—Case and Marsh.

John Rafferty, Park avenue.

William Sullivan, West Third street.

Chas. Bock, East Second street.

Chas. Smith, West Front street.

Jas. Connecly, Park avenue.

E. P. Thorp, Park avenue.

LICENSES REFUSED.

Michael Watson, corner Grant avenue and Second street, by a vote of nine to one. Mr. Frazee alone voting in favor of it.

Alexander McJulgan, South Second street, refused because the owner of the building withdrew his signature.

James Day, West Third street, Messrs. Frazee and Weber alone voting in favor of a license.

Mr. See moved that the motions refusing the licenses to Wm. Lee, M. Watson, J. Day and A. McGuinan be reconsidered, which was carried by a vote of nine to one. Mr. Frazee voting aye.

A number of hack and cartmen's licenses were granted.

City Clerk Runyon presented a communication stating that out of the 120 hackmen and cartmen in the city only 79 had applied for a license. The remainder were doing business without a license. It was received and filed. Residents of East Front street, near Netherwood avenue, petitioned Council to locate a fire alarm box in that vicinity. It was referred to the proper committee with power.

Taxpayers of Elm place petitioned for a stone flagging on that thoroughfare. Referred to the Street Committee.

Council then adjourned.

BREVITIES

—To-morrow being a legal holiday there will be no paper issued from this office.

—Don't forget the Columbian Bazaar to be held at Vincent chapel Thursday evening.

—All the Plainfield druggists will close to-morrow from one to six o'clock in the afternoon.

—The Young People's Society of the First Baptist church will hold a sociable in the lecture room of the church tonight.

—One of a team of horses, being driven along North avenue, this noon, was suddenly taken sick and fell down. A veterinary surgeon attended the sick animal.

—A special meeting of the Plainfield Bicycle club will be held to-morrow evening, at eight o'clock, in the club house, to consider Princeton gymns stic entertainment at the rink.

—It is said that the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company intends to build a line between New Brunswick and Plainfield. If the project is carried into effect, New Brunswick will be provided with another road to New York.

—Weekly Lenten services at the Church of Our Saviour, Netherwood: Wednesdays—Evening prayer, sermon, and penitential offices at 7.45. Thursdays and Fridays—Evening prayer and meditation at 7.45 o'clock.

—The Rev. Duncan MacGregor of Philadelphia will lecture at Music Hall tomorrow night on "The Grip and Grapple of Great Men and Great Nations." He will lecture under the auspices of Queen City Lodge, No. 208, I. O. O. F.

—The North Plainfield Borough Council were to hold an adjourned meeting last evening, to audit and close up all accounts for the year's work. All the members of the Council were present but as the books were not ready the meeting was adjourned until this evening.

—The forty hours Devotion Services which began, in St. Joseph's church at 10.30 o'clock Sunday, ended to-day with the 5.30 mass. Services were held Sunday evening and last evening. At the 5.30 o'clock mass this morning there was the largest attendance that there has been in years.

—To-morrow the hours at the Free Public Library will be as follows: Reading room open from nine a. m. until 12 m., two until six p. m., and half-past seven until nine p. m. Art gallery open from ten a. m. until 12 m., and two until four p. m. There will be no circulation of books on this day.

—"The Still Alarm" will be the attraction at Music Hall Saturday, February 25, as advertised elsewhere. The manager says that "The play contains a well defined and interesting plot which admits of elaborate and expensive scenery and accessories. These, it is said, have been provided. The scene in the engine house in which the men are seen to go upstairs and to bed, is said to be true to life in every detail. The engine used in the production of 'The Still Alarm' is no papier mache affair, worth possibly a hundred dollars or so, but a real, up-to-date, passable machine which costs several thousand dollars. To this fine thoroughbred Arabian horse are attached and the hitching up is done as quickly as by any fire department in the country."

—Auction sale of household furniture on Thursday, February 23, two p. m. sharp, at 20 Washington street, corner of Sixth. T. J. Carey, auctioneer.

The Senate was opened at eight p. m.

BILLS PASSED.

House 229, provides for the appointing of County Boards of Registration in newly created polling precincts; House, 151, passes the control of all city hospitals to Boards of Health; House 128, provides that county clerks shall receive fees in lieu of fixed salaries; Senate 28, allows any city to designate in addition to present official newspapers any paper published in said city for less than one year; Senate 69, fixes term of Overseer of Poor in second-class cities at three years; Senate 72, allows testimony to be taken out of the State; Senate 64, provides that anyone elected to Congress Nov. 8, 1892, and already holding a State office, may continue in same; House 223, relates to public grounds and buildings; House 105, amends act relative to the appointment of guardians of lunatics; provides that third class cities shall elect a city clerk by its Common Council; House 230, provides that county collectors shall be appointed for three years; S. 105; provides for paving and improving of streets; S. 107, prohibits the manufacture or storage of high explosives within one-half mile of the limits of any incorporated city, town, borough, etc. S. 13, establishes the rates of interest on arrears of taxes in cities at seven per cent. S. 125, prescribes method of procedure for system of sewerage in boroughs incorporated under the act of 1891. H. 38, provides that the taxing officers in cities having the block map system shall designate each property by its lot or block number; House 9, amends act relative to bailments; House 135, authorizes local boards of health to examine all candidates and that stables are kept in good sanitary condition.

BILLS INTRODUCED.

Among the bills introduced were the following:

No. 158, Mr. Marsh, allows township committees to have lateral sewers constructed where a trunk sewer has been constructed.

No. 105, Mr. Stokes, amends Borough act of 1878 by allowing boroughs to elect same officers as townships; makes office of mayor three years, and prohibits the right to vote for township officers and road money.

No. 164, Mr. Hinchliffe, allows bonding of cities to amount of $600,000 for building a city hall.

House.

The House met at the usual hour.

Mr. Holmes, by request, presented a memorial, requesting the Legislature of New Jersey to ask Congress to take immediate steps under the right of eminent domain to condemn and enter into possession of all the anthracite coal lands of this country, and hold and administer the same as a public trust, for the benefit of all the people, on terms that shall be just to the miner of the coal and the consumer of the same. The memorial was ordered printed and spread on the minutes of the House.

BILLS PASSED.

House 153, abolishes secret sessions of Court of Pardons; House 123, amends act relative to assessments in townships; House 194, amends the attachment act.

BILLS INTRODUCED.

No. 209, Mr. Parker, provides that the boards of freeholders of any county, board of aldermen, common council, township committee or other body having general control of the affairs of any city, township or municipal division of this State in which there is situated and maintained a race track shall have the power to license, for not more than five years, any such race track situate in any such municipality, provided that no race course shall be licensed in cities having over one hundred thousand inhabitants.

No. 200 Mr. Parker, provides that betting, or bookmaking known as bookmaking upon horse races, shall not constitute any misdemeanor or criminal offense when such association or incorporated body is not indictable for the carrying on of said races therein.

No. 201, Mr. Parker, provides that habitual bookmaking shall not constitute a disorderly house, maintaining a nuisance, or a conspiracy, or any criminal offense, but shall be declared a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine of twenty dollars.

A Small Fire.

A burning mattress in the loft of Morris Higgins' barn, on East Fourth street, at one o'clock to-day, caused an alarm from box 24. There will be no circulation of books on this day.

—"The Still Alarm" will be the attraction at Music Hall Saturday, February 25, as advertised elsewhere. The manager says that "The play contains a well defined and interesting plot which admits of elaborate and expensive scenery and accessories. These, it is said, have been provided. The scene in the engine house in which the men are seen to go upstairs and to bed, is said to be true to life in every detail. The engine used in the production of 'The Still Alarm' is no papier mache affair, worth possibly a hundred dollars or so, but a real, up-to-date, passable machine which costs several thousand dollars. To this fine thoroughbred Arabian horse are attached and the hitching up is done as quickly as by any fire department in the country."

—Auction sale of household furniture on Thursday, February 23, two p. m. sharp, at 20 Washington street, corner of Sixth. T. J. Carey, auctioneer.

MUST PROCURE A LICENSE.

Anyone Desiring to Make Excavations on the County Roads.

The following resolutions, concerning excavations on the county roads, were adopted at a recent meeting of the Union County Board of Freeholders:

Resolved, That no party or parties shall make, or cause to be made, any excavations within the lines of any of the improved county roads unless he or they shall have first applied for, and be granted a license, issued by the county collector, for which license the county collector shall charge a fee of ten dollars; said fees to be credited to the county road account; also that the applicants for a license shall before receiving a license give a bond in the penal sum of one thousand dollars, conditioned for the faithful performance of his or their obligations, said bond to be approved by and held by the county collector. And be it

Resolved, That the conditions of the aforesaid license shall be as follows: First, the license shall be issued for the term of one year from the date thereof; second, the party or parties receiving a license shall be a bonded the privilege to dig up the roadway or sidewalk of any of the improved county roads, for the purpose of laying or making of connections with sewers, gas or water mains, in accordance with the directions of, and in the manner prescribed by, the inspector of county roads, subject, however, to the following conditions:

First, The licensed party or parties shall apply to the inspector of county roads for, and be granted a special permit for each and every opening of the roads, said permit to specify the location and the limit of time allowed for the completion of specified work.

Second, That the party or parties receiving a license shall produce the same upon the demand of the inspector of county roads.

Third, That the said licensed party or parties shall faithfully comply with any and all resolutions passed by this Board in regard to the same, whether passed before or after the time of issuing said license.

Fourth, That if the party or parties having obtained a license, fails to comply with any of the requirements of the license issued to him or them, or fails to comply with the condition of his or their bond, or violates any provision of the inspector's special permit, then this Board shall have the power to authorize the County Collector to revoke his or their license. A written notice from the Inspector of County Roads calling the attention of the Board to any such violation shall be deemed sufficient evidence to warrant such proceedings. And be it further,

Resolved, That all ordinances or resolution heretofore passed by this Board conflicting with the above resolutions be and are hereby repealed.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. Philip Breen, formerly of this city and wife of ex-Chief of Police Philip Breen, died at Elizabeth last night.

A sleighing party, chaperoned by Mr. A. Smalley, will go to "Uncle" John Bonnelley's, near Bound Brook, to-morrow night.

Councilman Sebring, Barton Kline and Charles De Graw will conduct a sleighing party to the Watchung House tonight.

The Rev. E. M. Rodman, rector of Grace church, of this city, will preach a special Lenten sermon at St. Paul's church, Rahway, March 15th.

Dr. J. H. Vincent, formerly of this city, lectured at Hackettstown, last Friday evening. His subject, "To-morrow," was an interesting story of the church of the future.

Mr. John Taynor of Chatham street, died yesterday morning at 11.20 o'clock. He was seventy years old, and had suffered many years from inflammatory rheumatism.

Mrs. F. M. Hulett of West Front street will leave town the latter part of this week on a trip through Pennsylvania. She will visit her old home at Schuylkill Haven, and other places. She will return home in about a month.

Rudolph Hering, M. Am. Soc. C. E., has been engaged by the Commercial Club of Louisville, Ky., to make a report on the sanitary condition of the city, particularly regarding the water supply and drainage. Mr. Hering is formerly employed by the Council as engineer when the water works were being erected.

Westfield Items.

Mr. A. S. Clarke was succeeded as postmaster by Mr. C. W. Whitaker, and now Mr. Whitaker is succeeded by Mr. Clark. It is the Harrison-Cleveland arrangement on a local stage.

It is rumored that Mayor Martien is to have a call from a large church outside the conference.

Mr. Theodore McGarrah is the probable successor to Mr. Clark on town committee-man, if Mr. Clark does not seek re-election.

There will be no contest for school trustee in Mr. Pierson's place. The only candidate is Dr. Morse, who will receive a unanimous vote.

Perry's block is rapidly approaching completion.

Mr. W. G. Packham will fight for a place on the Health Board, and his election will be highly creditable.

Mr. J. W. Corey has been very much out of health of late, but is now convalescent.

One of the local physicians has thirty bronchial cases.

The new Catholic church will be built on General avenue. The land will be a gift, it is said, from Dr. Ripley.

Several fine cottages will be built on the new Highland avenue.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Which Is the Jay?

A newspaper correspondent of the slap dash, whang bang kind waxes very sarcastic over the American "jays from Jaytown" who are making tour of Europe on the cheap excursion tickets that some blessed individual has invented in modern times. The correspondent describes in moving terms the butternut trousers, the hands "red and knotted," as if the man were just from the plow. And a woman of these rustic tourists will actually walk the Paris boulevards in a "cheap black silk dress and smooth black cashmere shawl over her head."

Further, the country schoolteacher can now manage, even off two years savings, to have a tour of two or three months in Europe, and the common herd are getting it into their heads that "seeing Europe is a part of the duty of every civilized American."

Precisely. Seeing Europe is a part of the duty of every civilized American. It gives us the opportunity to take in much that has been necessarily left out of our lives in the fierce struggle to subdue nature and make her give us, first of all, food and clothing. Having done that, the average American instinctively turns in a sort of blind, groping way to what he thinks will improve and instruct him. If a queer specimen of our fellow countrymen sometimes turns up in Paris bushy headed, collarless and with jeans trousers and hands in pockets, never mind. His wife and daughters will learn from this trip that there are people who do not talk through their noses, and that squeezing out the strains of "Annie Rooney" from a wheezing accordion is not music. They will be improved and cultivated immeasurably even by the few months' tour in Europe.

If the correspondent's ancestors had staid in Europe, they would be wretched ignorant peasants, with no present satisfaction and no outlook for the future. But they came to America in the steerage. They worked hard and prospered, and gave their ungrateful descendant an education and a chance to go to Europe and turn up his nose at his betters. In no other country than America can the common working people get money enough to make a foreign tour for pleasure and instruction, and this is the highest glory of our republic. The fellow who sneers at these honest tourists is himself a snob and a toady and the worst kind of a "jay."

White Man and Digger.

If any spot on the globe seems especially blessed by nature, it is California. Whether one contemplates her mineral wealth, vast horses, vast grain crops, luscious fruits, golden wines or beautiful women, the eye is dazzled and the imagination stunned. Here political and social economists have found the possibilities for the ideal civilization. Human progress here has marched at a rate unparalleled in history, and more wonderful things are yet to come, if one reads aright the signs.

Yet what would all this glorious state have been if the Yankee had not taken possession of it and subdued it to his needs? For centuries before 1848 the Digger Indian had lived there and had things all his own way. What California would have been if the Yankee had not taken hold of it is shown by the condition of the remnant of Diggers yet found along the mountain ranges. Instead of the bewildering array of fruits and delicacies which the white Californian now enjoys and also ships east by the hundreds of carloads, the Diggers lived on grasshoppers, acorn meal and pine nuts. Since history makes note of them they heated water by throwing red-hot stones into it, never dreaming of making a fireproof vessel and kindling a fire beneath. A rich, creamy grasshopper stew was to them the acme of delicacies.

Edison has never given up the idea of extracting its energy from coal without first burning the coal and making steam and turning that steam into power. He has been working at it 15 years in the interests of making a dozen or twenty other inventions. He feels sure now that his process for extracting iron from mag netic ore by electricity is a success. But he is tired of patents. He will apply for no more. He will simply keep his processes and inventions to himself and make all the money out of them he can by using them directly in manufacturing. The magnetic extracting process completed and all the necessary plants built Edison will next concentrate all his great powers on developing an electric current directly from coal.

The registration laws for the British voter which the present parliament means to change, are peculiarly trying. Voters are registered in July, but no man can vote on the list who has not lived in a given locality for a year. Meantime if he moves away he loses his vote. The Liberal party will take care to amend the laws so as to make registration and voting easier, for the Liberal party is the main sufferer through the present system. Workingmen belong, naturally to Mr Gladstone's party, and it is workingmen who move the oftenest and thus lose their votes.

Says the [illegible] World: "The [illegible] director [illegible] California and see how long [illegible] will be left to the energy of [illegible] a red flag."

RECEIVER FOR READING.

After a Short Career the Bubble Bursts.

PRECIPITATED BY HON. T. C. PLATT.

Claims That Assets Are Ample to Cover Liabilities—The Receivership May Be a Wheel Within a Wheel—The Sales In Wall Street Beat the Record.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 21.—The affairs of the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad company were brought into court late yesterday afternoon. All day there were rumors on the street that receivers were to be appointed. The officers of the United States circuit court were constantly besieged by newspaper men and parties interested to Reading matters who were eager to obtain the latest news.

The proceeding was brought by ex-Senator Thomas C. Platt of New York, a holder of third preference bonds, against the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad company, the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron company and the Pennsylvania Company for Insurances on Lives and Granting Annuities. The receivers appointed are Archibald A. McLeod, president of the company; Chief Justice Edward M. Paxson of the supreme court and Elisha P. Wilbur, ex-president of the Lehigh Valley Railroad company. Justice Paxson at once sent his resignation as chief justice of the supreme court of Pennsylvania to Governor Pattison.

Thomas C. Platt the Complainant.

The security of each receiver was fixed at $50,000, for which they are to enter their own bond. George L. Crawford was appointed master, at which $1,000 was paid, was to be filed at Trenton. The bill in equity says the above named complainant brings his bill of complaint against the defendants above named on his own behalf and on behalf of all other holders of bonds of a like nature, tendering to such other persons and holders the right to intervene if they should see fit.

The bonds and the manner of their various issues are gone over by the complainant, who avers that he is the holder of $50,000 third preference income mortgage bonds, interest upon which to the amount of $2,750 became payable on Feb. 1. Demand was made in writing by the complainant upon the railroad company prior to the filing of the present bill to pay him the said amount.

Defaults In $8,750 Interest.

This demand was refused by the said railroad company, and it has failed up to the present time to pay him any portion of the amount which became due and payable on Feb. 1 upon said bonds. Interest upon other bonds of said issue held by other owners remains unpaid by the said railroad company. The complainant, however, is without the requisite knowledge or information to state the extent of the default in payment of said other interests.

The complainant has demanded of the Pennsylvania Company for Insurance on Lives and Granting Annuities that it shall, because of the default in payment of the interest, proceed in equity to foreclose said mortgage and to bring about a sale by judicial process of the mortgaged premises.

The said company has not only refused to institute such proceedings, but it has also refused to make entry upon the mortgaged premises and to take possession of the same and to sell or to proceed to sell the mortgaged premises.

The complainant is advised by counsel and therefore avers that it is the duty of the said trustee, by reason of the default of the railroad company to pay interest upon the bonds, to foreclose the mortgaged premises for the benefit of the holders of the bonds.

A very great income can be derived from the operation of the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad company, the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron company, and it will be to the last degree disastrous should the business of either be even temporarily suspended.

A large amount of income is now in the possession of or under the control of the two companies, justly applicable under the terms of the mortgage to the payment of the interest due to the complainant. The companies refused to appropriate this income to such payment, and refused to apply the same to the payment of the unsecured indebtedness of said companies.

Assets but No Cash.

The Philadelphia and Reading Railroad company and the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron company, though possessed of ample property, if the same be judiciously applied and held together, to pay all their indebtedness, are insolvent in the sense that they are without funds in the shape of cash or assets convertible into cash sufficient to pay their indebtedness actually matured or which will within a short time mature.

The property of each of the companies is of vast extent and enormous value, and the two companies together employ and require the services of many thousand employees. Although the two corporations are distinct, the railroad company owns all the stock of the coal and iron company. The business of the two companies is so intimately connected that the operations of the railroad company depend largely upon those of the coal and iron company.

By reason of the inability of the two companies to procure the means to conduct the operations of the same, the railroad company will be unable to transport passengers, freight and coal over the system of railroads extending to and into the states of Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, New Jersey and New York, and the coal and iron company will be unable to pay the wages of the persons employed in operating its mines and collieries and will therefore be prevented from sustaining the mining of coal, which is necessary for public use.

The result of this will be great harm and inconvenience to the public, as well as serious inconvenience and damage to the railroads, canals, mines and property, by reason of the failure to run and operate the same.

Covered All Over With Indebtedness.

The property of the railroad company is incumbered by mortgages or deeds of trust securing various issues of the bonds representing the funded debt. The so called floating indebtedness of the company is very large. The same is also indebted for taxes, for balances due the other railroad companies in the adjustment and interchange of business, for arrears of wages and salaries due its employees and for large sums due for materials and supplies. The property of the coal and iron company is also heavily incumbered by a great variety of mortgages for securing bonds and issues of loans, and the company is also largely indebted for materials and supplies, and the wages and salaries due its employees are unpaid to a very large amount.

These companies are utterly unable, out of assets immediately available, to discharge or provide for the indebtedness, and there is imminent danger of its property being levied upon, attached, sold and disintegrated to the irreparable injury of its creditors.

The business of the two companies, under ordinary circumstances, would yield an income far more than sufficient to provide for the payment of the interest upon the bonds held by the complainant. The present condition of the companies is largely the result of demands for loans, for which there is ample security pledged with the lenders, but which loans the holders thereof are unwilling at the present time to renew.

Under these circumstances the interference of a court of equity for the ascertainment and enforcement of complainant's right is imperatively required, and especially for the immediate appointment of a receiver. Then complainant, therefore, suing in this respect, as well on his own behalf and on behalf of such other creditors of the defendants as may be entitled to sue, and all other creditors who may come in and contribute to the expenses hereof, and being without sufficient remedy at law, prays for equitable relief.

Everybody Demanded Pay at Once.

President McLeod of the Reading railroad denied himself to all newspaper men, but announced directly that he would prepare a statement of the company's troubles.

George H. Earle, Jr., president of the Philadelphia Board of Trade and financial and commercial agent of the Reading road, this afternoon said that the Finance company has from $8,000,000 to $10,000,000 worth of Reading coal on hand upon which no advances have been made. This amount, Mr. Earle declared, is enough to pay Reading's floating debt twice over. When asked the cause of the present difficulty, Mr. Earle said it was due to everybody demanding his money at once, which was unnecessary, for the company was able to pay its debts.

Receivers Are Appointed Quickly.

The Reading's pay cars, which were called back on Friday before their contents had been distributed, were not sent out today. Justice Paxson and Mr. Wilbur are the extensive and ambitious railroad combinations ever attempted are embraced in the comparatively brief period of one year and a half or less. It was just a year ago this month that the formation of the great Reading-Jersey Central-Lehigh Valley alliance was publicly announced. Railroad men and Wall street financiers were surprised and impressed by the magnitude of the combination. In mileage it was the largest railroad system in the east, and its ownership of coal mines made it apparently the arbitrator of the coal markets of the country. The head of J. Pierpont Morgan was frankly delighted in the new combination, and the prestige of his name added much to the public confidence in the scheme. Since then he did so great an enterprise start out under more favorable conditions.

The Effect In Wall Street.

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—Quite naturally the heavy selling of Reading shares in the Philadelphia market on Thursday, Friday, last Friday and Saturday and the rapid decline in price suggested financial weakness on the part of the management of the property. All doubts on that point are now removed.

The excitement in the New York Stock Exchange over the Reading stock surpassed all previous movements in that stock. The dealings in Reading shares were conducted on an enormous scale and with lightning rapidity. More shares than are represented in Reading's entire capital stock changed hands. The actual number of shares of all kinds of stocks sold aggregated 1,453,000. Of these 967,936 were Reading shares. This tremendous day's business breaks the Stock Exchange record. The largest day's business on record previously was on Feb. 14 of last year, when the announcement of the great Reading deal was made. On that date 1,455,000 shares of stock were dealt in, the largest proportion, of course, being Reading.

The price of Reading stock dropped from 38¾ to 28 in the morning, but subsequently recovered to 34. Almost all of the large brokerage houses dealt in the stock, but it was impossible to ascertain for whom the stock was purchased.

Mr. Platt Interviewed.

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—Ex-Senator Platt said: "I am not a receiver of the road. I already known and a matter of record. I found the company unable to meet its debts and made an affidavit to that effect and on my own application for the appointment of a receiver."

"Are you alone in this movement, or are you acting for gentlemen who do not wish to become known at the present time?"

"Absolutely alone," replied Mr. Platt, with a smile. "I am acting for no one outside of myself. I have no other interests. My only desire in securing the appointment of a receiver was to see if the company could not be reorganized and put on a proper basis once more. I want to see if it cannot be made financially solid with proper management. No change has been made in the head of the Reading owing to my application. Mr. McLeod is still at the helm, while Mr. Wilbur remains president of the Lehigh Valley railroad."

Methodists Will Not Exhibit.

CHICAGO, Feb. 21.—It is probable that the Methodist church will make no exhibit at the World's fair. A few days ago several prominent elders called on Chief Peabody of the liberal arts department of the fair, with a view of getting more space for the Methodist exhibit. They were informed that the Roman Catholics were allotted 20,000 square feet, while the Methodists were given but 400. "We are no satisfaction from the chief," said the Rev. N. H. Axtell, "and the probability is that we will make no exhibit. We were informed that the allotment of space to church societies was made Dec. 23, 1892, and as our application was in long before we feln slighted."

The Islip War Ended.

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—The case of the Islip health board against Governor Flower and Health Officer Jenkins was dismissed by Judge Cullen in Brooklyn. The case is a result of the Fire Island cholera scare. The board claimed that the quarantine officials had no right to establish a quarantine station anywhere on Long Island, but decided that they might increase their facilities in times of great danger.

John C. Eno Returns.

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—John C. Eno returned after an exile in Canada of nearly three years to arrest proceedings for decency under the laws of 15th state and under the national banking laws for having, while president of the Second National bank of this city, misappropriated more than $2,000,000 of its funds. He was promptly admitted to bail in the paltry sum of $50,000.

SENATE WILL CONSIDER

Hawaiian Treaty Now Ready For Ratification.

NEUMAN FAILS TO GET AROUND.

Naval and Agricultural Appropriation Bills Pass the House—Other Measures Under Consideration—Mr. Thurston Answers the Princess' Manifesto.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—Senator Gorman (Dem., Md.), in some remarks which he made in the senate in opposition to appropriations for public buildings, spoke of the serious and alarming condition which confronted the country, and expressed the belief that only the borders of the trouble had been touched, saying that extraordinary measures must be taken by the treasury department, or else congress would have to reassemble before next July to meet the condition. His warning did not prevent the senate from agreeing to all the amendments that were offered making appropriations for or increasing the limit of cost of public buildings. The only pause and nay vote that was taken upon them showed all the Republican senators except Mr. Sherman in the affirmative and all the Democratic senators except Mr. Vest in the negative. The consideration of the naval appropriation bill occupied the attention of the senate throughout the whole day.

Filibustering Fails In the House.

Filibustering against the New York and New Jersey bridge bill proved ineffectual. It was led by Messrs. Dimmick and Dalzell, both of Pennsylvania, but they were never able to muster more than seven men to their support, and the bill was passed practically without opposition. After the disposition of two private bills, the naval and agricultural appropriation bills were called up under suspension of the rules and passed.

Our Production of Gold and Silver.

Mr. E. O. Leech, the director of the mint, has issued a report to congress upon the production of the precious metals covering the calendar year 1892. The value of the gold product from the mines of the United States was approximately $32,000,000, about corresponding to the average product of recent years. The product of silver from our own mines is placed at $8,000,000 ounces, of the commercial value, at the average price of silver during the year, of $59,760,000, and of the coining value in silver dollars of $74,320,000. This is a falling off of 320,000 ounces from the product of the preceding year.

Treaty Will Be Considered In the Senate.

It is expected that the annexation treaty, which has been formally reported to the senate by the unanimous vote of the committee on foreign relations except that of Mr. Gray, will be considered in the executive session of the senate to be held today.

It is reported that Mr. Neuman has satisfied himself by his inquiries at the capital that the treaty will be ratified. Last week that the restoration of the lately deposed queen is out of the question, but it is said that he desires to be advised of this officially. In order to satisfy his principal upon his return to Hawaii.

Mr. Thurston Replies to the Princess.

The following is the substance of a statement made by Mr. Thurston, one of the Hawaiian commission: "Miss Cleghorn, heretofore known as Princess Kaiulani, purports to have addressed a note to the American people, which has been published in the papers. The note in question sets forth that 'at the request of Mr. Thurston, then Hawaiian minister,' I was sent away to England to be educated privately and fitted for the position which, by the constitution of Hawaii, I was to inherit.' The only sentence that I desire to make upon this statement is that neither as cabinet minister nor in any other official capacity nor individually have I ever had anything to do with the said lady's education or movements. The lady went to England about 1889. At that time she was next in the heir to the throne and had no standing."

ANYTHING TO BEAT MARTIN.

Kansas Republicans Will Try to Down the Senatorial Leader.

TOPEKA, Feb. 21.—Republicans in caucus decided to elect another senator this week. The cause of this action is said to be the resistance from national Democratic leaders that if the Republicans will elect a stalwart Democrat he will be seated over John W. Martin. The choice of the Republicans is Chaplain Biddison, who is here looking after his interests. The Republicans claim to have positive assurances that Waggoner will be seated if elected.

Chaplain Biddison is furnishing all the excitement in the senate. His strange prayer was: "Save the governor's life, O God, from the assassin's hand, and hasten the day when he shall be a governor against whom no rebel dare raise his hand. We pray that those with power may use the hearts of our courts to do the justice of thy will."

The Populist house met in the south basement corridor of the capitol building. A speaker's desk and members' benches were improvised out of rough pine lumber. The house will meet there daily until it reached adjournment.

President Le Royer Resigns.

PARIS, Feb. 21.—It is reported that M. Le Royer's resignation as the presidency of the senate was forced upon him by a political clique, who purpose making M. Fercy the successor. They believe that M. Le Royer would be unequal to the demands which would be made upon him by the trial of M. Baihaut, ex-minister of public works, for accepting Panama bribes.

Murderer Coy Talks of a New Trial.

PITTSFIELD, Mass., Feb. 21.—When the news of the denial of the motion for a new trial was communicated to Murderer Coy, he showed much disappointment, having been very confident of a different result. He had nothing to say, however. Despite the adverse decision, he still hopes to escape the gallows. Sheriff Crosby will erect the gallows today.

Banquet to General Sewell.

ELIZABETH, N. J., Feb. 21.—General William J. Sewell, commandant of the Second brigade, N. G. S. N. J., was banqueted by the staff of the Third regiment. The guests were all military men, and the table talk was about the national guard matters. Colonel E. F. Lee presided.

St. Louis Wants to Name a Steamer.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 21.—A strong concerted movement is being made by citizens here to have the honor of naming the first American line steamer built in this country by the new company which has bought the City of Paris and the City of New York.

"I Owe My Life to Hood's Sarsaparilla"

"Words are powerless to express the gratitude I feel toward Hood's Sarsaparilla, for under God, I feel and know that to this medicine I owe my life. Twelve years ago I began to bleed, followed by nausea so distressing that I could not keep food on my stomach, accompanied by severe pain. This gradually grew worse, until I was confined to my bed. Physicians told me the trouble was

Caused by a Tumor

Two several months I had been unable to retain the food or a drink of water. The pain grew unendured, and frequent hemorrhages, and was satisfied the doctors were right in saying the tumor was fatal. I was induced by my husband to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. I did so, and after a few days felt relieved from pain, and the use of Sarsaparilla began to feel better.

I Began to Feel Hungry

Could, after a time, retain solid food, increased in weight, the saffron hue left my skin, the bleeding ceased, and I felt that I was well. For the past two years my health has been quite good, and I have been able all the time to do the housework for my family. I can say what I have done for me I never hesitate to recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla." MRS. OGDEN SNYDER, No. 10 Judson Street, Albany, N. Y.

A NORTH DAKOTA SENATOR.

W. N. Roach Elected Upon the Sixty-first Ballot by a Fusion.

BISMARCK, Feb. 21.—W. N. Roach of Grand Forks was elected to succeed Mr. Casey as United States senator from North Dakota. The balloting opened with the 60th of the joint session, which resulted in giving Miller 35; Walsh, 24; Wallen, 16; Lamb, 2; Muir, 1, and Benton, 1.

On the next ballot the combination of Democrats, Independents and some Republicans was settled in the long contest. The election of Mr. Roach is the unexpected thing which has threatened to happen for so long. No one was more surprised than Mr. Roach himself. On the 61st ballot Mr. Roach received on the first call 43 votes. This included all the Democrats and Independents, together with two Republicans.

W. N. ROACH.

Several changes followed in quick succession, a half dozen men being on their feet at once, nine in all changing. During the voting a scene almost of riot was continually in progress. Mr. Lambkow, the big Dakota miller, was on the floor going from member to member urging a change, and several attempts were made to drive him out. The demand for a verification of the vote was made in the hope that some of the Republicans would change back, but not a change was made. Senator-elect Roach was called for and addressed the joint convention, expressing his thanks for the genuine unexpected honor. He promised to aid his friends of the majority party, even though he had been elected from the minority in the legislature.

W. N. Roach has been a resident of Dakota for the past dozen years, coming to Grand Forks county from the District of Columbia. He was born in Loudon county, Va., and is now 35 years of age. He has a family of four children and is a widower. He has stood for his party as its candidate for governor on two different occasions, being defeated the first time by John Miller and on the second occasion by A. H. Burke. He is a large wheat grower, and being engaged in this occupation he was naturally expected to draw farmers' votes from the Independent ranks.

GENERAL BEAUREGARD DEAD.

A Confederate General and Director In the Louisiana Lottery.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 21.—General G. T. Beauregard died last night of heart failure after an illness of 10 days.

Pierre Gustave Toutant Beauregard was born in New Orleans in 1818. He graduated from West Point in 1838 and was assigned to the corps of engineers. He served in the Mexican war and was twice wounded and twice brevetted. He was promoted to a captaincy of engineers in 1853 and was for five days superintendent of the United States Military academy at West Point. He resigned Feb. 20, 1861, joined the Confederates and began the civil war by the bombardment of Fort Sumter on April 12, 1861.

He was in actual command of the southern troops at Bull Run on July 21, 1861, in which the Federals experienced a defeat. For this service he was made a full general, the highest grade. From the summer of 1863 until the spring of 1864 he defended Charleston and its outworks when besieged by General Gillmore. At the close of the war he was second in command in the army of Joseph E. Johnston in North Carolina. Since the termination of the war he was in New Orleans. He became president of the New Orleans, Jackson and Mississippi railroad and for a number of years was one of the managers of the Louisiana State lottery and was also adjutant general of Louisiana.

DEMPSEY ARRESTED AGAIN.

While Out on Bail He Is Taken In For Assault and Battery.

PITTSBURG, Feb. 21.—Hugh Dempsey, the district master workman of the Knights of Labor, who was recently convicted of complicity in the Homestead poisoning, was arrested again last evening and lodged in jail, the charge being felonious assault and battery. There is a good deal of mystery surrounding the arrest, and all parties concerned refuse to talk. The process was issued by Judge Stowe shortly after the hearing on the application of Dempsey for a new trial. The accused was admitted to bail in the sum of $2,500, and his arrest was a surprise. While the judge did not indicate what their decision would be, the impression made by their manner in meeting the points of the defense was that the application would be refused.

Senator Hagan Dies.

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—State Senator Edward F. Hagan, who has been suffering from intestinal trouble for over a week, was taken from his home, 3 Rutherford place, to the Roosevelt hospital for the purpose of having the operation of laparotomy performed. After the operation the patient was taken back to the ward in a cot-bed. He never rallied. Edward F. Hagan was born of Irish parents in this city on Feb. 1, 1846, and educated in the public schools and in the College of the City of New York. He became assemblyman in 1879 and 1880 and was returned four times afterward. He was elected to the senate in 1891. After that he became deputy superintendent of the street cleaning department. He was returned to the senate last year.

Will He Come Under Contract Law?

TORONTO, Feb. 21.—Rev. Dr. Hugh Johnston, a leading Methodist divine, who has occupied a number of the principal pulpits in Canada and for the past 15 years was pastor of the largest Methodist congregation in this city, has received and accepted an invitation from the Methodist church at Washington to become its pastor. His transfer has been sustained by Bishop Burn, resident bishop at Ottawa, and Bishop Newman.

Labor Suppressed on the Capitol.

ALBANY, Feb. 21.—Capitol Commissioner Parry has issued a notice to the 700 employees in the construction department of the capital that on account of the impossibility of procuring stone from the quarries owing to railroad blockades and the extremely cold weather, it would be for the best interests of the state and all concerned that the work on the capitol building be suspended.

OUR PART IN THE PANAMA

Colonel R. W. Thompson Gives His Testimony.

HE WAS HATED SECRETARY OF NAVY

And Resigned to Become American Chairman of the Panama Canal Company—He Told the Congressional Committee That He Knew Nothing Crooked.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Feb. 21.—Colonel R. W. Thompson sat propped in an invalid chair and told the story of his connection with the Panama canal to Congressmen Patterson and Congressman S. E. Stover. The ex-secretary of the navy disclaimed any knowledge of any dishonorable action in this country on the part of those who represented the Panama canal. Mr. Patterson put the questions for the first two hours, and Mr. Stover closed the examination.

Colonel Thompson told how he had been selected as president of the American committee; that it was with the approval of President Hayes that he resigned from the cabinet to take the position. His salary was fixed at $25,000 a year.

He never knew until recently that General Grant had declined the position, nor did he know that the three New York bankers received in all $1,200,000 in salaries. If he had, he would not have volunteered to surrender half his salary in the last year of his presidency. He said that he considered it his province to look after the interests of the canal in general ways, and that he never authorized the expenditure of any money except the $60,000 a year for the committee's expense, which was exclusive of his salary.

When the Nicaragua treaty was pending in the senate, Colonel Thompson wrote a pamphlet which was anonymously distributed in the senate. Mr. Patterson remarked that it must have been good Democratic doctrine, as all the Democratic senators voted against the treaty which had been negotiated by a Republican administration.

No Lobby at Washington.

Colonel Thompson denied that the Panama Canal company had a lobby at Washington either to procure favorable legislation for the Panama canal or to fight the Nicaragua people, and he said he kept clear of the lobbyists and that there was no improper expenditure of money so far as he was aware. Colonel Thompson said: "When I saw it stated recently that $12,000,000 or some such sum was sent over here and placed to my credit, that startled me. I now see the explanation of it. That must have been the sum paid these bankers, of which I knew nothing." The committee brought with it a letter press copy of all the correspondence between Thompson and De Lesseps, and witness explained a number of the letters. He denied that any money had been spent with his knowledge to influence the newspapers.

EMPIRE STATE FINANCES.

Free From Debt and With an Exceedingly Low Tax Rate.

ALBANY, Feb. 21.—Comptroller Campbell has sent to the legislature a communication, of which the following are extracts:

"The tax bill for the fiscal year commencing Oct. 1, 1892, fixed the lowest rate since the year 1856, with the exception of the preceding year. Last year there was a surplus in the treasury of $1,310,768.98, which was deducted from the amount necessary to be raised from the taxpayers of this state. The appropriation bill of this year, as reported, exceeds that of last year by $200,000—the natural annual increase. The supply bill amounted last year to about $1,800,000 other or special appropriations to about $2,000,000.

"I have submitted bills asking for appropriations to pay the national guard for expenses incurred at Buffalo during the strike, expenses of the commissioners of quarantine during the threatened cholera invasion, and also to pay the balance of the state debt known as the Niagara reservation bonds.

"These amounts will not be taken into consideration in making up the tax bill this year, as I expect to be able to liquidate them out of the increase of revenues produced by this department for the fiscal year ending on Sept. 30. If these appropriations are made, we will be able to say that the Empire state is free from debt absolutely and not practically, as has been so often stated in the past."

A CORRESPONDENT'S OPPORTUNITY.

The Denver Mob Was Created Largely of Imagination.

DENVER, Feb. 21.—A meeting was held at St. John's Episcopal cathedral, at which were present a large part of the representative business men and citizens of Denver, to take action on the mass disgraceful gathering that surrounded the Rev. Dean Hart's home a few Sundays ago and expressed their antipathy at the part the dean took in the closing of Sunday theaters. The mob consisted principally of boys, and nothing was done beyond the indignity offered the dean by the presence of such action. A sensational correspondent exaggerated the report of the mob's action to such a degree that the idea spread throughout the east that Dean Hart's life was in danger and that property in Denver was unsafe because of mob law.

Millionaire Rogers Retires.

PATERSON, N. J., Feb. 21.—Jacob S. Rogers, the millionaire owner and president of the Rogers Locomotive works, this city, has retired from active management of the business. The business will be carried on under the name of the Rogers Locomotive company, with a capital stock of $3,000,000. Robert S. Hinchman, formerly secretary, will be president of the new company. He holds the bulk of the stock. All the stockholders are residents of Paterson. Although Jacob S. Rogers' name does not appear among the stockholders, he is said to be still interested in the enterprise.

The Portuguese Cabinet Retired.

LISBON, Feb. 21.—Several reasons are given for the retirement of the Ferreira cabinet. The officially authorized statement is made that irreconcilable differences were caused by the question of annulling the contract with the syndicate for the manufacture and sale of alcohol. The real reason is undoubtedly the general waning of confidence in the ministry.

Deadlocks Popular In the West.

OLYMPIA, Wash., Feb. 21.—The 73d ballot for United States senator yesterday showed no result. There seems to be no prospect of breaking the deadlock. Both Republican factions have unavailingly endeavored to break into the opposing ranks, while the Democrats and Populists are determined never to vote for a Republican.

SULLIVAN INDULGES AGAIN.

The Ex-Champion Would Like to Fight Corbett Without Rules.

CHICAGO, Feb. 21.—In a long letter John L. Sullivan pays his respects to Messrs. Corbett, Mitchell and Goddard. Of Corbett, John L. says:

"During the past week there have been published several statements as coming from Mr. Corbett which no gentleman with a spark of manhood could hear without a reply. These statements I would rather refute in a more personal manner, and I promise the public that our first meeting will prove fatal as interesting as our last. No man ever yet called me a coward and escaped punishment. I fought all comers for 11 years, and this is the single exception where a man has the audacity to state that in all my battles I have ever taken an unfair advantage or played a dishonorable part.

"If Corbett thinks he is a better man than myself, I will give him the benefit of meeting me in a small room, and if I do not make him cry 'murder' he may never expect to hear from me again.

"I do not wish to be understood to be against Corbett in the proposed fight with Mitchell, for my sympathy is with the American. However, should the former be defeated, there is a probability that I shall again appear in the ring.

"There is another would be champion that I will settle with at our first meeting, and that is Goddard. He will never 'bluff' me as he has Corbett, and if we ever meet the public may rest assured that a free exhibition will result. I am not looking for trouble, but it greatly disturbs me when I think that, having worked 11 years to bring pugilism to the present high standard, such apes as these will thrust their greatness upon the public."

THE CRESCENT MILLS' FAILURE.

An Offer by Which Shareholders Can Get Par and a Premium.

FALL RIVER, Mass., Feb. 21.—The books of the Crescent mills show a balance of $146,000 more against the mill than was shown by the report of the treasurer at the last annual meeting. While in session the committee received an offer from responsible parties to purchase the entire property for 1451,737, which exceeds the known debts of the company by about $25,000 and would give shareholders a dividend of about 60 per share. Taking all things into consideration, the committee considered that the acceptance of this offer would be the best thing that could be done, and it was so recommended.

Against Homestead Rioters.

PITTSBURG, Feb. 21.—In the criminal court, before Judge Stowe and Slagle, the cases of William Bennett et al., charged with unlawful assembly, were argued for a rehearing or a new trial. These defendants were Duquesne rioters in connection with the Homestead troubles. A rehearing was refused.

Still Ahead.

A PLEASING EXPERIMENT.

In Which a Light Wheel Is Made to Turn by Means of Heat and a Magnet.

Construct a light wheel, the center being cut from a cork, with four pieces of glass wire for spokes. Across the points of these wire spokes and following the diameter of their section cut with a file a notch in each, into which notches you will put a thin iron circle, which will represent the felly. A knitting needle inserted into the cork perpendicular to the wheel thus constructed will be the vertical arm intended to support the wheel. Now, we want a base for this arm, one that will support the wheel and remain in a perfectly vertical position.

Glue the base of a cork on a round piece of pasteboard. On the other end of the cork stick with sealing wax a small pasteboard button somewhat concave, and on this button stick a large glass bead. Now you can stick the end of the knitting needle—the arm of the apparatus—into the hole in this glass bead, which will afford a pivot on which the arm of the wheel can easily turn.

Twist a hairpin in such a way (see the illustration) that it will form a little ring in the middle, and stick its two branches into the cork on each side of the button. The knitting needle will pass through the ring before entering the bead, and these two supports will render the vertical position assured. You have now a light horizontal wheel ready to turn at a touch. Place at a little distance from the wheel an ordinary magnet, horseshoe form, laid horizontally (see illustration) on a support of some kind and in the same plane as the wheel. The wheel is now in equilibrium before this magnet, for the two branches of the latter bear on the two equal portions of the wheel's circumference.

Now, if you heat with a spirit lamp that portion of the wheel near one of the branches of the magnet you will see the wheel begin to turn and will continue obediently, the heated portion trying constantly to get away from the magnet.

The writer from whom these directions for this experiment are quoted explains this wonder as follows: The magnet attracts iron at an ordinary temperature, but when iron is heated to 600 degrees, or to a dark red heat, the magnet no longer attracts it. Therefore the cold part of the wheel is attracted by the magnet more than the hot part, and the wheel begins to turn in the direction indicated by the arrows.

Plaster of Paris Flooring.

The French, who have carried the art of hardening plaster to where it is utilized for flooring, either in place of wood or tile, use six parts of good quality of plaster intimately mixed with one part of freshly slacked white lime, finely sifted. The mixture is then laid down as quickly as possible, care being taken that the trowel is not used on it for too long a time. The floor, according to The National Builder, which describes this flooring, should then be allowed to become very dry and afterward be thoroughly saturated with sulphate of iron or zinc, the iron giving the finest surface, the resistance to breaking being 30 times the strength of ordinary plaster. With sulphate of zinc the floor remains white, but when iron is used it becomes the color of roasted iron; but if linseed oil boiled with litharge be applied to the surface it becomes of a beautiful mahogany color. Especially is this the case if a coat of copal varnish is added.

The Humming Bird's Food.

Notes that recently appeared in Science, says a writer in that journal, regarding the humming bird's food, would seem to show that the bird's taste varies with the locality. In southern New York their favorite flower is the swamp thistle. Since it has been said that the bee gets pollen but not honey from the thistle, it would appear that the birds visit these flowers for insects. There is scarcely a flower that contains so many minute insects as a thistle head. Examine one with a lens, and it will be found to contain many insects that can hardly be seen with the unaided eye. If the ruby throat eats insects at all, these are the ones it would take, and because the larger ones remained the observer might conclude that none was eaten.

A Remarkable Little Bird.

The charming little birds which, with their nest, are represented in the cuts are the rarest and most known of the titmice of France. The pendu line titmouse, as this variety is called, has long attracted the attention of naturalists by the skill exhibited in the construction of its nest. The nest can be compared only to that of certain species of weaver birds of India and Africa, for it is shaped like a purse, is fixed by its upper extremity and is in most cases suspended over water.

This accomplished feathered architect is only 4 inches in length, but remarkable for its vivacity, activity, boldness and wariness. It is never seen in any woods except those situated in marshy places. It lives among the reeds, of which it eats the seeds, and also feeds upon insects and their larvæ. Its eyes are brown; the breast gray; variegated with rose color; the lower part of the back and tail of a dark auburn russet; the wings black, bordered with reddish white; the feet gray.

CIRCULAR FLOUNCE.

HOW TO UTILIZE A RECENTLY IMPORTED IDEA.

When Made From the Same Material as the Gown, It Is Extremely Graceful and Attractive, but In Velvet It Is Doubly Satisfactory and Pleasing.

The latest development of fashion is the circular flounce. It is especially designed for the skirts that are now in vogue and is totally different from any other trimming both in its effect and in the way it is cut. It is circular in form, as the name suggests, and is so planned that the inner portion of the circle makes the top and the outer curve the bottom, the fullness being formed by the difference between the two.

GOWN WITH NEW FLOUNCE.

To cut it rightly requires 14 yards of goods 40 inches wide, or three yards of velvet or narrower materials for a 7-inch width. But it may be made narrower in width till it becomes a flounce in depth, at best pleases the individual or suits the style of the gown. Made from the same material as the gown itself, the New York Recorder says, it is extremely graceful and very pretty, but of velvet it is especially satisfactory.

Cut your 30-inch goods in two lengths, each measuring 1½ yards, and fold each lengthwise. Then measure at the edge of the fold 7 inches in depth, and again at the selvage edge farthest removed from that point; measure the same distance with a pencil, or with chalk, draw a curved line between the two outer and another between the two inner points, as the diagram shows. Then cut carefully through the two thicknesses on the line you have marked, and when the folded edge is laid open you will have a perfect curve, twice the length of the piece marked.

When both of the folded lengths have been cut, you will find two good sized pieces of irregular shape remaining, and with these you must piece out the length of the flounce. Lay the latter on the skirt, so that one fold comes exactly in the center of the front and the other is in the center of the back, and fill in the necessary lengths, seam the pieced all neatly together, and either press or steam them with care. Then hem the bottom edge and baste the flounce in place. The top will lie smoothly and without fullness in the skirt, while at the bottom it will make the frilled appearance peculiar to itself. Finish the edge with any flat trimming that you please—ribbon, passementerie or any of the fancy braids—but remember that the flounce cannot be made to heading, or in any way to properly complete itself. It requires the band, that can be sewed down firmly over the edge, to make it quite complete, and when it is rightly made it becomes as excellent a trimming as any that is known to the art of dressmaking.

Lemon Custard.

Two eggs; leave out the white of one; mix 1½ tablespoonfuls of cornstarch in a little cold water in a coffee cup and fill up the cup with boiling water; add it to the eggs; grate 1 lemon and squeeze the juice on a cup of white sugar; mix all together, add a bit of butter and bake as a custard; beat up the white; put it on top of the baked pudding and return to the oven till set.

Helping to Mothers and Babies.

Somebody, probably a mother, or at least a person interested in babies, has patented a little cap which is intended to correct the tendency some babies' ears have to stand out from the head almost at right angles. Such ears are the greatest disfigurement to an otherwise perfect face, but this contrivance corrects all this.

It is a simple little cap, made of tape and ties under the chin. There is no weight or heat to it, as it is in reality only the framework of a head covering, yet it works wonders. So few people realize when they hold a baby that the pliable little ears are folded over like crumpled rose leaves instead of laid back against the little round head, yet soon the ear turns forward instead of backward, and the beauty of the child's appearance is spoiled. This little cap remedies all this and will prove a real blessing to mothers and babies alike.

Hot Air Toys.

There are a few boys in every school who seem to excel all their associates in mechanical ability. To such boys the construction of toy windmills, water wheels, whistles and popguns, or more dangerous devices, comes like a natural intuition. Time never hangs on their hands, and if they are genial lads they are always popular with their schoolmates, who delight to help forward their many engineering schemes.

When there is a boy of this description and of really good influence in a neighborhood, it is a good thing for the community, as parents can feel safe regarding their young hopefuls, who are having real fun and practical instruction at the same time just from contact with an associate, whose influence counteracts that of idler boys, who usually seek unworthy amusements. Most children have amused themselves with toy windmills cut from a square of paper or card and mounted on a pin, but perhaps few have made cardboard segments for adding in currents of hot air. These require some care, and sometimes a second trial to make them work well, but a little perseverance and some ingenuity will accomplish very pretty results.

Cut out a circle from cardboard and mark the center. Then draw a spiral line leading from a point near the center around and around until it reaches the circumference. When this is evenly drawn, cut along the spiral line so that when supported at the center in front of the card will hang like the coils of a snake. The center may be pierced and pivoted on a pin and stuck above a hot radiator or suspended by a thread over the stove. A powerful current of ascending hot air will cause one of these coils to revolve rapidly when it is properly balanced.

After succeeding in perfecting a simple one, various modifications of the same idea may be attempted. One form is shown in the cut, which is made of heavy white card, ornamented by a miniature evergreen tree in the center at the top and some bright paper tobogan figure mounted along down the spiral slope so as to have their trifling weight properly balanced. This makes a winter coasting scene as natural in appearance as possible. Another suggestion is to color one of these coils like a snake with pastel or paint, and at one end or the other paste on a head cut from paper and color red. Set the spiral, turning it up vertically, as the head will show in profile when revolving.

These whirligigs will turn in opposite directions if the spirals are cut in opposite directions. Hence, if a smaller one be suspended below another of larger size and turning the other way, when both revolve freely the effect is quite pretty. The inside one may represent a small green snake, with its head at the lower outer end of the spiral, while the other represents a spotted adder with its head erect at the center.

Encouragement For Boys.

It very often happens that a boy has to be busy with work of some kind when he really wants to read and become educated. Now, this desire for education is a splendid thing in a boy. Indeed, there is nothing in the world that is any better. But it often happens that a boy is prevented by circumstances from doing that which would seem to be the best thing for him.

Here is a word of encouragement to such boys. Read all you can in the best papers and magazines. Pick up scraps of information about people and things and make them your own, so that you will remember them. Some day your knowledge, picked up little by little, will be very extensive, and you will find that you compare very favorably with boys who have had much better chances for education than yourself. Console yourself with the thought that many of the best work in the world has been done under very trying circumstances.

Sir Walter Raleigh wrote his "History of the World" during his 11 years' imprisonment. And who knows but you, during your years of work, when you would like to enjoy years of study and recreation, may be laying the foundation of some piece of work as great as any Sir Walter Raleigh ever did?—Detroit Free Press.

Honesty Is a Dog.

Professor Bell relates that when starting for a day's jaunt he took out his purse. He left his dog at home. After dining as an inn he heard he had lost a gold coin. Returning at night, his servant informed him that the dog was ill and all day had eaten nothing. He went at once to his pet, who jumped to his with great joy and deposited the gold coin at his feet. All day he had held that coin in his mouth to keep it safe, and he preferred hunger to his soul to be honest.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Fanny's Reasoning.

Fanny has the head of an embryo philosopher. Overhearing her mother and grandmother lamenting her loss of appetite, she promptly asks for a piece of cake. The mother thinks it is too near dinner time and suggests a cracker instead, whereat Fanny replies with the triumph of a discoverer, "Do you know, mamma, I believe cake is much better for the appetite than cracker, for when I eat one piece of cake I always feel like eating another."—New York Times.

With never a fence to divide;
And if each little horse had three little manes

And if each little maid had three little oats

And if every little oat had three little oats,
How many kits would there be?

And if each little maid had three little friends

And if friends and dolls and oats and kits
Were all invited to tea;
And if none of them should send regrets,
How many guests would there be?

Boston Philosophy.

She was a Boston maiden, and she'd scarcely passed eighteen;
And as lovely as an hour, but of grave and sober mien;
A sweet encyclopedia of every kind of lore,
Though love looked coyly from behind the glasses that she wore.

She sat beside her lover with her elbow on his knee,
And dreamily she gazed upon the slumbering summer sea,
Until he broke the silence, saying, "Pray, Miss Myers, dear,
Inform me of the meaning of the thingness of the here.

"I know you've just from Concord, where the lights of wisdom shine,
Your head crammed full to bursting, love, with their philosophy.
Those hoary-headed sages and maids of hosiery line,
Then solve me the conundrum, love, that I have set to you."

She smiled a dreamy smile and said: "The thingness of the here
Is that which is not past and hasn't yet arrived, my dear."
Indeed," the maid continued, with a calm, unruffled brow,
"The thingness of the here is just the thinness of the now."

A smile illumed the lover's face, and without any haste
He clasped his arm around the maiden's slender waist,
And on her cherry lips impressed a warm and fond salute,
And said, "Love, this is what I call the nowness of the this."—Somerville Journal.

OUR EDUCATION BOARD.

ITS POWERS DEFINED BY CORPORATION COUNSEL MARSH BEFORE THE LEGISLATURE.

Mayor Gilbert Asks that the Question of Further Limiting Them be Submitted to a Vote of the People.

The powers which the Board of Education now possesses to buy lands and build school houses, is given in the following extracts from synopsis of the law prepared by the Corporation Counsel and submitted to the Committee on Tuesday:

"Originally the legal voters determined annually by vote the amount to be raised for the erection and maintenance of school houses." P. L. 1848, p. 285.

In 1868, the amount was limited to one-fourth of one per-centum on taxable property, and the legal voters were required to determine the amount within that precentage, P. L. p. 920.

In 1887 the Trustees were authorized to borrow fifteen thousand dollars to provide a new school house. P. L. p. 85.

In 1869 the Trustees were authorized to borrow fifteen thousand dollars additional. P. L. 156.

In 1872, the Board of Education for the first time was given the sole power to determine how much money should be raised annually for school purposes, without first consulting the people. The maximum amount, however, including the State school tax could not exceed one-half of one per centum on the taxable valuation of property in the district. P. L. p. 919.

In 1885, the trustees were authorized to borrow twenty thousand dollars additional. P. L. p. 176.

In 1890, by general law, the Board of Education was authorized to borrow money for the purposes of purchasing land and the erection of suitable buildings, and providing such school buildings with suitable appliances and conveniences, and to secure the payment of the money so borrowed by mortgage on the lands purchased and the buildings erected. Money to pay the interest to accrue and interest to be raised as other money required and for current expenses of the public schools, and money to provide a sinking fund from which to pay the mortgages was authorized to be raised in the same manner. This law as applied to most cities, gave the power to Common Council, but as applied to Plainfield, it gave the power to the Board of Education, because the title to the old school buildings in Plainfield was in that Board. The Plainfield Board of Education is not limited by this act in the amount which they may borrow and expend under the same. The Legislature fixed limits in the act, but these limits do not apply to the Plainfield Board of Education. The Legislature intended to fix a limit by the following proviso:

"Provides, however, that nothing shall be held to permit the authorities of any city in this State to exceed any limit of expenditures for such purposes now fixed by any city charter, or any supplement thereto, nor to exceed the limit of indebtedness fixed by any such charter."

The Plainfield City Charter is silent on the subject. This act therefore gave the Board of Education power to borrow unlimited amounts for the purposes of the act, and required the amounts so borrowed to be raised by taxation. The first section of the act contains the limitation applicable to the Plainfield Board of Education, and that is that only one school house shall be erected per year under that act. P. L. 1888 p. 260.

In 1895, the amount which the Board of Education should have power to order assessed annually for "school purposes" was increased to one-half of one per centum on the taxable value of real and personal property in this city, in addition to the State School Tax levied for that year. That the Board of Education has not regarded this act as having any application to moneys required to pay bonds and mortgages given for lands and school houses is shown by the fact that ever since 1890 the Board has raised by taxes annually considerably more than the amount named in that act. They evidently regard the expression amount required for "school purposes" in that act as meaning, i. e., current expenses as distinguished from expenses of permanent investments in lands and buildings.

If this law, as heretofore acted upon by the Board of Education, has been correctly interpreted by them, there is no law which limits the amount which may be borrowed and expended for the purchase of lands and erection of school buildings in Plainfield.

A law passed in 1889 fixed the limit at fifty thousand dollars, but this limit applies to the Common Council only; a law passed in 1887 fixes another limit, but that too limits the Common Council, and not the Board of Education; a law passed in 1890 and a substitute therefore passed in 1889 authorized the borrowing of money from the State Trustees for the purpose of building school houses, etc., and required the Board of Education in such case to obtain the consent of the Common Council to expenditures, but this limitation applied only where the money is borrowed from the State School Trustees, and the Plainfield Board of Education can borrow and expend such sums of money as in the judgment of such boards shall be needed, for current expenses of the public schools, erection of buildings, etc., in excess of any limit upon any such expenditures under that or any other law of the State, general, special or local. There is nothing in this law, however which limits the powers already possessed by the Board of Education. It simply requires the concurrence of the Common Council to authorize any expenditure beyond the previous limits, when there is any, as for example in Plainfield, in the amount required for current expenses.

Numerous other laws have from time to time been enacted putting checks and limitations up on the amount of indebtedness which may lawfully be incurred in the purchase of lands and the erection of school buildings, but so far every attempt of the Legislature by general laws to give this city the benefits of such limitations has failed because of the peculiar charter of the Plainfield Board of Education.

Mayor Gilbert's position on the School Board question was clearly set forth before the House Committee on Municipal Corporations on Tuesday. The proposed measure is confined to the matter of purchasing lands and erecting school houses. In all other respects, it leaves the Board of Education exactly where it has always been, in full and complete control of the public schools. As to the purchase of lands and erection of school houses, the amended bill provides that the Board of Education shall first obtain the consent and approval of the Common Council before making the purchase or erecting the building. A member of the Board says that if they did this they would be compelled to pay on property many times more than its value. The mayor says the proposed bill does not give the Common Council any power to purchase land or erect school houses. It simply requires the Common Council to concur in the plans of the School Board.

In order that the people of Plainfield may determine for themselves whether they want the bill to apply to this city or not, the mayor recommended an amendment requiring the bill to be submitted to the people here for approval before it should go into effect in this city.

A JOLLY DANCE.

On the Eve of Washington's Birthday.

Forty seven dances in one evening is an unusual number. Notwithstanding the fierce snowstorms and heavy drifts of the previous storm, a large party composed of young people from Bound Brook, Somerville and Plainfield, danced that number Tuesday night, at the Watchung House, Delving Hills, Greenbrook. They journeyed to the place in sleighs. The affair was the last of a series of dances that has been given during the Winter.

Smalley Brothers' Sleigh Ride.

About thirty couples, including people from Rahway and Wetsfield, left Plainfield last night for Uncle John Smalley's, Green Brook. There were three sled loads and several single sleighs. They started from Craig place at seven o'clock, and reached their destination about 9:30. Music was furnished for dancing by Prof. Guttman. The grand march, led by Mr. J. M. Smalley of Plainfield, and Miss L. Jewel of Rahway, was one of the features of the evening. After singing a farewell song to the old people, the party left for home and arrived in Plainfield at 4:30 this morning. The dancing programme was arranged by Mr. J. M. Smalley.

A "Linen" Wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick E. Haberle of West Front street, celebrated their "linen" wedding Tuesday night. The evening's entertainment consisted of music, singing and dancing. Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. I. H. Boehm, Mr. and Mrs. F. Canfield, Mr. and Mrs. Sorenson, Mr. and Mrs. J. Haberle, Mr. J. Haberle, Miss L. Haberle, Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Lorton, Miss M. Watts, Miss Lorton, Mr. and Mrs C. Glaentzer, Mrs. Cooney, Miss Waters, Mr. Huff, Mr. I. Levy, of New York; Mr. Watts, Mr. R. Schreth, Mr. J. C. Martin, and Mr. H. Spencer.

A Broken Axle Causes a Wreck.

A west-bound coal train was stopped this morning, at Green Brook, by the broken axle of a car. It had hardly come to a standstill when a P. & R. "hog" engine, following closely behind, ploughed into the caboose, upsetting it, and piling up several coal cars. Assistance was readered by the drilling crew from Dunellen, and at a late hour this morning the movement of trains was allowed. Traffic was not seriously delayed. The caboose still lays at the scene of the wreck.

A Kicking Mustang.

This morning Mr. Wm. Terry, of Willow Grove, drove to Plainfield with a mustang, which began to kick while going down North avenue. The sleigh was literally kicked to pieces, before the animal could be pacified. When it was finally subdued it was placed in Mr. Dunn's stable on Park avenue. Mr. Terry was not injured, although he jumped from the sleigh and was dragged around in the snow.

The Door Blew Shut on Her Fingers.

During the fierce gale of Monday last, a servant girl in the employ of Mr. Frank Links of Somerset street had the fingers of her left hand badly crushed. She was going into the house and had her hand on the edge of the door when it blew shut on her fingers. A doctor dressed the wounds.

Had Two Fingers Crushed.

Tuesday afternoon, John Naylor, employed at the Scott Press Works as a moulder, had two of the fingers of his right hand crushed. They may have to be amputated.

—The eighth annual tournament of the New Jersey Chess Association opened yesterday at the Union Athletic Club building, 1,118 Washington street, Hoboken.

—There was a young blizzard yesterday. The wind blew the falling snow at such a rate that many were afraid to venture out for fear of a repetition of the blizzard of 1888. It stopped snowing before noon, but the wind continued to blow.

—The time allowed the North Plainfield Township Committee, to have its report ready, expired yesterday. The report is a favorable one. During the year the committee has not only paid its bills of the year, but also a last year's debt of $14,000, and still has a balance on hand. Clerk Martin and Mr. Allen's terms expire this year.

THE BOROUGH COUNCIL.

AN ADJOURNED MEETING HELD TUESDAY EVENING.

The Session Devoted to the Reports of the Borough Officials and Special and Standing Committees.

The Last Meeting in the Old Room.

The Borough Council held its last meeting in the old Council chamber Tuesday night. It was held for the purpose of receiving the reports of the Borough officials and committees.

All the councilmen were present. Councilmen Hegeman called the meeting to order and acted as president until Mayor Saunders arrived.

The first report read was that of the Board of Health. It stated that the Board had plugged vigorously the work of having the nuisance of sewerage emptying into the brooks abolished, and had met with much success. The following resolution accompanied the report:

Whereas the Board of Health of North Plainfield annually receives only about $300 of the $600 voted them, and

Whereas this sum is insufficient to meet their needs; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Board of Health most respectfully request the Mayor and Common Council to recommend for the coming year and appropriation of not less than $600.

Collector Spencer's report was next read. It showed that up to date the total amount tax $10,406.97 had been collected. The report was received and filed.

Mr. Connolly, for the Fire, Water and Lamps Committee reported "that 16 new lamps had been placed in the borough previous to this Winter, when the committee, in company with the Mayor, had made a tour of inspection and found that 11 more lights were needed, and all but four of these had been added to the fire department, but more improvements were under way." The report was received and filed.

The Street Committee's report was made by Mr. Neal. He stated that during the year Manning avenue, Park place, Vine street, Willow avenue, and Sycamore avenue from Willow to Mercer avenue, had been macadamized. Repairs were made on Somerset street and Mr. Smalley of Plainfield, and Miss L. Jewel of Rahway, was one of the features of the evening. After singing a farewell song to the old people, the party left for home and arrived in Plainfield at 4:30 this morning. The dancing programme was arranged by Mr. J. M. Smalley.

The Senate was opened at 10:30 a. m.

BILLS INTRODUCED.

No. 125, Mr. Daly, allows cities to enter into contract with railroad companies to change grades, elevate tracks, etc.

No. 126, Mr. Daly, provides that no one can have more than $5,000 to their heirs on death. Residue goes to the State.

No. 128, Mr. Hinchliffe, changes the name of the Morristown and Trenton Insane Asylums to hospitals and vests their management in a State Board, etc.

No. 129, Mr. Barrett, for the President, appropriates $5,000 for fitting up the State Laboratory at New Brunswick.

BILLS PASSED.

Senate 108, regulates the duties of Mayor and Common Council and Treasurer in the management of Boroughs; Senate 87, relative to the recording deeds approved March 27, 1874.

Senate 51, provides for a relief clerk to board of tax commissioners; Senate 81, gives board of public works power to impose penalties for depositing garbage in streets, etc.

BILLS LOST.

Senate, 66, provides that directors of corporations may be elected without regard to classification by vote of a majority.

House.

The House met at the usual hour.

BILLS PASSED.

The Committee on Municipal Corporations reported favorably House bills No. 209, 300, and 301, the Parker Race Track bills.

BILLS INTRODUCED.

No. 331, Mr. Lanning, amends the police tenure of office act so that no person shall be appointed a policeman who has ever served a term in State prison, and who is less than 21 or more than 35 years of age.

No. 332, Mr. Zeller, regulates the laying out of streets in towns and townships.

No. 333, Mr. Zeller, provides for the payment of dieting prisoners to be in pending public buildings in cities.

No. 337, Mr. Lanning, makes the usual appropriation of $6,000 for the current expenses of the Bureau of Labor and Industries.

No. 338, Mr. Carroll, provides for the retirement of disabled firemen on a pension not to exceed one-third of their yearly salary.

The Senate held a short session yesterday and passed the race track bills, which were passed by the House Tuesday.

Bills were passed in the house fixing the terms of county collectors in first-class counties at three years, and regulating their salaries; making it unlawful to sell or dispose of beer kegs or liquor barrels; requiring the ballots cast to be pink instead of white; providing for three days' notice of trial on indictments.

PERSONAL.

Mr. Joseph C. Martin of this city is visiting friends at Bangor, Pa.

Mr. Cyrus Wilcox of Westfield has several dogs at the dog show at New York.

Mrs. Munn and her daughter Jennie of Newark, are visiting Mrs. Albert Hedden of East Fifth street.

Mr. George Turse and family have removed from Harrison street to Rock street, North Plainfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Morgan, spent yesterday with Mrs. Morgan's mother, Mrs. Clarina Morgan of East Ninth street.

Mr. Henry Stockton of this city, gave a dinner at the Union County Country Club, Tuesday night, in honor of his guest, Mr. Morrison, of New York.

Miss Bessie Martin of Jackson avenue returned home yesterday, afternoon, after an extended visit with her aunt, Mrs. George Coldham, of Hannibal.

The Misses Edith and Mabel Negley, of West Seventh street, daughters of General James B. Negley, are in Virginia. They started Wednesday morning, in company with their uncle, Mr. Coldham and Mrs. Dobson of New York, for Anita Resort, to enjoy the outing in the Old Dominion State. Society in that part of the world is all agog at present, because of the magnificent furnishings procured for living comfortably in the cabin, and the great distinction conferred upon the locality by the arrival of the "city folks." The women of the neighborhood are nervous with excitement to learn of the "city styles," and the latest confidences vie with each other in telling best stories. The animals are numerous in that locality, and the hunting is said to be good. Otherwise, the nearest village, has ten houses, Harrisonburg, a town of 1,500 inhabitants, is within easy distance. The "camping out" party will remain on the ranch until June.

Miss Florence Howe Hall has arranged a course of three lectures to be given in Plainfield during Lent. On Friday afternoon, Feb. 24, Mrs. Maud Howe Elliott will lecture in the Second Presbyterian lecture, "With Boots in Darkest England" at the residence of Mrs. Rowland Cox, 24 West Seventh street. This lecture is on account of what Mrs. Elliott herself saw last Summer of the workings of the Salvation Army. It has attracted much interest that it will form part of the course of lectures to be given by Miss Howe Hall in March. On the evening of March 6th, Mr. F. Marion Crawford, the popular novelist, will read a selection from his own works at Seminary Hall and this will be the only opportunity to hear him in Plainfield this season. On Friday afternoon March 10th, Mrs. Florence Howe Hall will read a paper on "Women and the Heroes of the Greek Revolution" at the house of Miss Gregory on Crescent avenue. As Mrs. Hall's father, the late Dr. Samuel Gridley Howe took a prominent part in the Greek War of Independence, she has had special opportunities for making a study of her subject.

Meinpois Rehearsal.

The next rehearsal of the Meinpois will be held at the Casino, Saturday evening, Feb. 25.

LATEST NEWS BY WIRE.

Another Snow Storm Coming.

NEW YORK, Feb. 23. (Special.)—Local Forecast Officer Dunn of the Signal Service Bureau announced this morning that another big snow storm was coming, and would reach here to-night or to-morrow morning. The cloudiness will increase during the day and there will be a dense fog to-night, followed by the snow, or perhaps rain, of the coming storm.

This storm originates, as the others did, in the Mississippi Valley. It is raining or snowing to-day throughout the whole length of the Mississippi Valley, from the great lakes southward.

BREVITIES

—The "Still Alarm" will be the next attraction at Music Hall, Saturday, February 25th.

—There was sweepstake shooting at Benner's road house, yesterday. William Terry won first money.

—Warren Engine Company No. 1, will hold a meeting to-night to hear the fair committee's report.

—The dinner which was to have been given at "Allen's farm" on Mountain avenue, last night, will be given to-night.

—Contributors for the Y. M. C. A. extension fund and others interested are requested to meet at the Association rooms this evening at eight o'clock.

—Yesterday was a busy day at all the clubs in this city. At the Crescent League's home, there were more members present than there have been any one day in over a year.

—Borough Councilman Neal, after the meeting Tuesday night, said that during the past year Marshal Pancoast had done much to aid the Committee on Public Health, in its work during the year. He intended to speak of the marshal's services, in that respect, during the meeting, but Council closed before he had an opportunity.

—The anniversary meeting of the Plainfield Medil Auxiliry, will be held in the Congregational church this evening, at eight o'clock. An address will be delivered by the Rev. Dr. Edward W. Hitchcock of Philadelphia, on the Medil Mission in France, in which he became interested during his visit to that part of the American chapel in Paris. The meeting promises to be one of great interest. All are most cordially invited to attend.

The American Turkey.

Columbus conferred a lasting favor on mankind when by the discovery of America he gave to the world the American turkey. At Music Hall to-night and to-morrow night from six to eight o'clock the truth of this statement may be learned.

The ladies of the Methodist church are making extensive preparations for an enjoyable and profitable time at the Columbian Bazaar and Fair, as advertised elsewhere in this issue. Mrs. J. L. Frazee is chairman of the supper committee, Mrs. G. G. Packer has charge of the candy department, Mrs. J. W. Jackson of the fancy table, Miss Alice Whitney will show visitors the Art Gallery and Miss Minnie Beech is chairman of the "Flower Bootle Committee."

Another Defeat for the C. Y. M. I.

The representative bowling team of the Catholic Young Men's Lyceum were defeated in a game with the Alboyne Boat Club team, on the latter club's alleys, at Elizabethport, last evening.

The game was close and exciting, and the C. Y. M. I.'s were frequently ahead. They lost because of over confidence. The following is the score by frames:

C. Y. M. I.	139	269	315	371	501	599	727	849	1017	1147
Alboyne	149	284	354	420	554	688	823	1021	1171	1247

EDITORIAL NOTES

Wherever there is not security for life and property there people will not live.

In extreme cold weather in St. Petersburg immense wood fires are kept blazing in the streets at public expense to warm the freezing passerby

Kansas is a great state indeed, ready for either a political or climatic blizzard. One day during the cold snap Kansas temperature—the climatic, not the political—fell 55 degrees in 13 hours

Mr. Cummings of New York has introduced into the national house a bill permitting the commercial and political union of Canada with the United States. This is just so as to have such a bill handy when it is suddenly wanted one of these days.

Clement M. Biddle, road supervisor of Lansdowne, Pa., asked the property owners of his district for a subscription in addition to the ordinary road tax, so that the whole district might be provided with good stone roads, and so enlightened and Christianized were they that not one of them refused.

Nearly a year ago the Chicago common council gave an order that the garbage in that city should be disposed of by cremation. Public crematories are not elaborate affairs, and one can be built in a month's time or less. If Chicago gets her crematories in successful operation before May, it will be an additional inducement for outsiders to visit the World's fair Meantime the right way to dispose of garbage accumulations, not only in Chicago, but in every city, is to cremate them, and the matter ought to be followed up at once. The heaps of filth and decaying organic matter that gathered in the streets of cities this winter and could not be carted away on account of the cold weather were an object lesson that ought not to be neglected. A way will be found in the future to make garbage as valuable as the golden dust heap of Dickens' novel But until that way is found the garbage ought to be burned, every pound of it The resulting ashes could be sold at a good price. If cholera should come next summer, garbage dumps will invite it to rest and ravage.

Hawaiian Annexation History.

It was a good thought on the part of Senator Morgan of Alabama to call for the history of the previous movement to annex Hawaii in 1854. In response to the Morgan resolution, documents were laid before the senate which for the first time, informed a majority of the United States citizens now living that 39 years ago the king of Hawaii—Kamhameha III—requested us to prepare a treaty annexing the islands to this country They were to be admitted as a state as soon as consistent.

Such a treaty was actually prepared and the move would have been consummated only for the death of Kamehameha before the treaty had been signed His successor Kamehameha IV. declined to ratify the bargain, and so the affair was broken off Looking carefully over the history of the time, it appears much as if the fine Italian hand of Englishdiplomacy had intervened to prevent the annexation in 1854.

But if annexation is consummated now, undoubtedly the masterly letter of instructions given to the American minister at Hawaii by W. L. Marcy, secretary of state at the time, will be used as a text for the present negotiations. Secretary Marcy was of opinion that a protectorate was not to be thought of, and that nothing short of annexation would do. He further declared that the United States should manifest a liberal spirit in compensating the existing "rulers and chiefs" for the loss of their political power

Manufacturing Cheap Gas.

While the dwellers in cities are waiting to be emancipated from the grievous thraldom of soot smoke and ashes through electricity, the interval might be advantageously bridged over by the use of a cheap manufactured gas as fuel Fires in a private house in a city are really a relic of barbarism. The only thing that gives them a possible excuse for being is the high price of gas.

For some years there have been whisperings of better things to come in the shape of a water gas that could be made for 10 cents a thousand. This was too good to be true. But the solid fact in the case is that the continued experimenting in the manufacture of both oil gas and water gas has resulted in making a thoroughly good illuminant for from 30 cents to 40 cents per 1,000 feet. Philadelphia owns her own coal gas works but buys from a private water gas company 40 per cent of the gas used by the city. Hamilton, O., where the gas works are also owned by the city, is making use of water gas at a cost to the ladder of from 26 to 32 cents a thousand Lakewood, on Lake Chautauqua, uses a gas made from mingled steam and benzine. At Bellefontaine O., a thoroughly good illuminating gas is made from crude petroleum soft coal coke and steam

Let us have a neat, not and handy gas for cooking and heating in all the cities, as cheap as the dirty and cumbersome coal. It is a long felt and crying public want. Away with the slimy-bring coal carts, the stifling ash bins and the unsightly ash dumps!

LEAVES THE CABINET.

Secretary Foster Receives a Special Commission.

ELIJAH WILL GO ABROAD SOON.

"he Senate Indulges In Patriotic Utterances—Clara Barton Receives Substantial Recognition For Her Society—Mr. Newman Says the Queen Wants Money.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—The day's session of the senate was prefaced by the reading of George Washington's farewell address. This appropriate commemoration of the birthday of the Father of His Country was introduced five years ago through a resolution offered by Mr. Hoar (Rep., Mass.), and on that occasion the address was read by Mr. Ingalls, who was then president of the senate pro tem. Under a like resolution offered by Mr. Hoar it was read by Senator Manderson (Neb.), who holds the same office. Mr. Manderson is a good elocutionist, and his reading had a close and respectful attention on the part of senators and visitors in the galleries. There was little time wasted in finishing up the sundry civil appropriation bill, after which the conference report on the army appropriation bill was agreed to, and the consular and diplomatic appropriation bill was brought before the senate. Before any progress was made on this bill the senate proceeded to the consideration of executive business.

A Conflict of Bills.

The first of what it is said will be a daily series of conflicts between the appropriation bills and the antiopthn bill until the latter is acted on was the feature of the day's session of the house. The members were worn out from the night's session, and the day passed tamely. Mr. Hatch had grown tired of the delay to which the antiopthn bill is being subjected, and when it was moved to take up the postoffice appropriation bill he antagonized the motion with the measure of which he is champion. Being defeated, he made the same fight (unsuccessfully) when the postoffice bill was passed, and the Indian appropriation bill was called up. Members were thus put on record, and then the Indian question was discussed languidly for three hours.

Secretary Foster Retires.

Secretary John W. Foster will today retire from President Harrison's cabinet and from the administration of our foreign affairs for the purpose of assuming the active directorship and management of the case for the United States before the international tribunal which is to assemble in Paris for the arbitrament of the questions in controversy between the United States and Great Britain in connection with the sealing industries of Behring sea. A meeting of the tribunal today was purely informal, an arrangement having been made that the case shall be formally presented at a subsequent meeting to be held on March 23. Secretary Foster leaves for New York, where he will sail on Saturday on the new American steamship New York for Southampton, proceeding thence to Paris.

Major E. W. Halford has been detailed to duty as disbursing officer of the American delegation and will leave for Paris immediately after the inauguration of the president-elect.

Concessions From and to Canada.

As the result of correspondence between Secretary of State Foster and Sir Julian Pauncefote, the British minister, a new order in council has been issued by the Canadian government regulating the tolls of the Dominion canals for the season of 1893. The effect of this new order is to abolish the rebate on tolls and the regulation against transshipped goods, thereby removing all the discriminations of which the government of the United States has so long complained. In accordance with this diplomatic arrangement the president has issued a proclamation revoking the tolls levied on Canadian vessels and cargoes in the Sault Ste. Marie canal.

A Gift to Clara Barton's Society.

Dr. Joseph Gardner of Bedford, Ind., has advised Miss Clara Barton, president of the American National Red Cross society, that he has decided to that association "as a thank offering to humanity," for the purpose of making it the headquarters of the association, a tract of land of 782 acres, or more than one square mile in extent, in the blue grass regions on the Kentucky border of Indiana.

It is three hours from Louisville, four hours from Cincinnati, four hours from Indianapolis, six hours from St. Louis and eight hours from Chicago. Miss Parton, as president of the association, has accepted the magnificent donation.

In the City Which Bears His Name.

The celebration at Washington's birthday in the capital was greatly curtailed by the severity of the weather. The Veteran Firemen and the Oldest Inhabitant association and other organizations turned out notwithstanding, headed by the band of the Third United States artillery, and marched down Pennsylvania avenue to the Capitol and back. In Washington's own town, the neighboring city of Alexandria, the celebration was entirely confined to the public schools. It is now 108 years since Washington announced in Alexandria his intention to pay the tuition of a number of pupils in a free school in Alexandria—an offer which he continued during his life by an annual payment and for which he made provision in his will. It was in memory of this foundation that the school exercises took place.

What the Queen Wants.

It appears that the object of Mr. Newman's visit to Washington is to secure the restoration of Queen Lilinokalani to the throne under an American protectorate. He does not advise her restoration under any other circumstances. If the congress of the United States shall not deem a protectorate feasible, he would then favor annexation, with a liberal allowance for the queen and her friends, but interestingly subjects to the constituance of the present provisional government in power.

Looks Like an Extra Session.

A private circular letter is being mailed to members of the democratic national committee by Chairman Harrity. The following paragraph indicates that if the poll of new members proves satisfactory on the score of opposition an extra session of congress will be called: "It is important to know what the probable attitude of the 90 Democratic members will be toward the silver measure when offered in the next congress. Will you kindly furnish this information, getting it as accurately and as quickly as possible, and forward the same to me upon the inclosed blank at as early a date as possible? Please be good enough to treat this correspondence as confidential. For your convenience I append a list of 90 Democratic members whose position on the silver question it is desired to know."

Mrs. Lease Talks.

At a convention of bimetallists being held here Mrs. Lease of Kansas delivered an address which was frequently applauded. She said that the people of the west had felt the crushing effects of legislation enacted by the two great political parties for the past 30 years. This legislation began with the "conspicuous patriotism of Jefferson Davis"—legislation that gave to the state of Massachusetts many millions of dollars and deprived westerners of the slightest recognition. The people of the west, she said, demanded free coinage, free silver and free citizens, and if there is anything in the good in sight they are in favor of that.

They realized that God was the first to borrow free trade, and they held that congress had no right to restrict it. They demanded competition in the open markets of the world, the expense of the government to be maintained from an income tax. She attributed the present financial condition to the "joint efforts of John Bull and John Sherman, who fastened the system of finance upon us." Speaking of the tariff, Mrs. Lease said that the duty placed on tin was one of the many reasons that brought the Republican party to its present condition. She was cheered at the "passing of that tin was the melody of the 'Dead March' of the late Republican party."

Herbert Hears the News.

Representative Hilary A. Herbert had just returned with his daughter from a reception when the official announcement of his selection by President-elect Cleveland as secretary of the navy was communicated to him by telephone by a reporter. Mr. Herbert said that in the administration of the office about to be intrusted to him he expected to carry out the liberal ideas for building up and promoting the navy which were begun by Secretary Whitney and continued by his successor, Mr. Tracy, of which he had been an earnest advocate himself.

THE POPE HAS A COLD.

But He Receives and Replies to President Carnot's Messages.

ROME, Feb. 23.—As the pope is still suffering from a cold, the reception of the pilgrims from Hungary, Uruguay and the Argentine republic, which was to have taken place, was postponed indefinitely. His holiness received, however, Comte de Behaine, French ambassador at the Vatican, who presented a letter of congratulation and two Sevres vases from President Carnot. The letter was countersigned by M. Develle, French minister of foreign affairs, and expressed the president's best wishes for the health and the long life of the pope. In replying to Comte de Behaine's oral congratulations the pope spoke of his sincere desire for the prosperity of France and the continuance of the present cordial relations between the republic and the Vatican.

The jubilee presents of money already received by the pope amount to 7,000,000 francs. Hungary, Austria, Austrian archdukes, the archbishop of Prague and the primate of Hungary gave 100,000 francs each. The bishops of Austria-Hungary sent 250,000; the nobility of Bohemia, 200,000; Mexican Catholics, 150,000; South American Catholics, 200,000. Several officials at the Vatican have been arrested for having sold tickets of admission to St. Peter's in direct of orders that admission was to

CHICAGO SWITCHMEN STRIKE.

Roads Tied Up and Pinkerton Men on Guard In the Yards.

CHICAGO, Feb. 23.—All the switchmen employed in the yards of the Chicago and West Indiana Belt company struck last evening at 5 o'clock for better pay. All trains going in and out of the Polk street depot are unable to move, and yard traffic on the Lakeside, New Albany and Chicago, the Wabash, Chicago and Eastern Illinois, the Grand Trunk and the Santa Fe roads is stopped. Pinkerton men are now on guard duty at the Polk street depot and adjoining yards.

May Draw the Color Line In Missouri.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 23.—The state supreme court at Jefferson City has decided a case which has been pending in the courts for over 20 years. In July, 1870, Mary Jane Chilton (colored) brought suit against a railroad company for being ejected from the ladies' coach and forced to ride in another. The railway company was victorious in the lower courts and also the supreme court, which held that railway companies had the right to make such regulations in regard to the color line.

Suspicion of Foul Play.

PATERSON, N. J., Feb. 23.—Paul Riker, a young married man who lives on Gettie avenue, died under circumstances that have led to an investigation by the police. Two weeks ago Riker was found at the foot of the stairway of the Baldwin House, kept by a woman of the name of Conselvea. He was intoxicated and said that he had fallen down stairs. He became unconscious soon after he was taken home and never made any further statement as to how he received his injuries.

A Revengeful Mob at Leesburg.

LEESBURG, Fla., Feb. 23.—Sprague and Murphy, the bank burglars who killed Councilman Schaffer, were removed to the jail at Kittanning. On the way to the station a mob of 1,000 men armed with clubs and pistols attempted to take them from the officers. The men were terribly frightened and were greatly relieved when the iron doors of the jail closed on them. The people were wild with frenzy.

Filled With Arsenic.

NEW CASTLE, Ind., Feb. 23.—Mrs. Rhoda Shortridge was arrested here charged with the murder of her husband, and Joseph Tullis was arrested at Raymond charged with being her accomplice. Ugly rumors have prevailed since Shortridge's death, and his remains were exhumed for examination, and arsenic was found in large quantities.

A Pittsburg and Fort Wayne Accident.

FORT WAYNE, Feb. 23.—Pittsburg and Fort Wayne train No. 39 was derailed as it passed over the Little river bridge, one mile east of Columbia. The two rear coaches were turned at right angles and rolled down the embankment. One man was killed, and 20 persons were wounded.

Wannamaker Lost In Reading.

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—It was reported in this city that John Wanamaker had lost $2,000,000 in the Reading crash. In regard to the matter Clews said, "Mr. Wanamaker lost money no doubt, but no such amount as $2,000,000."

To Oust the Parsons Party.

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—An evening paper says that the Reading party has secured control of the New York, Lake Erie and Western and will force the Parsons party out.

THE CABINET COMPLETE

Richard Olney and Congressman Herbert Named.

BOTH ARE REPRESENTATIVE MEN.

An Attorney General Who Is at Present a Corporation Lawyer In Boston, and a Naval Secretary From the South Who Will Follow Whitney's Example.

LAKEWOOD, N. J., Feb. 23.—Mr. Cleveland announced this evening that he had completed his cabinet by the selection of Richard Olney of Boston for attorney general and Hilary A. Herbert of Alabama for secretary of the navy. The complete cabinet is as follows:

Walter Q. Gresham of Indiana, secretary of state.

John G. Carlisle of Kentucky, secretary of the treasury.

Daniel S. Lamont of New York, secretary of war.

Hilary A. Herbert of Alabama, secretary of the navy.

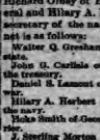
Hoke Smith of Georgia, secretary of the interior.

J. Sterling Morton of Nebraska, secretary of agriculture.

Wilson B. Bissel of New York, postmaster general.

Richard Olney of Massachusetts, attorney general.

The selection of Hilary A. Herbert for the navy has been expected for several days, and his name has been mentioned in connection with the cabinet, and his selection is a surprise to everybody, particularly to the friends of George A. Jenks. Hilary A. Herbert has been in congress for 12 years and has acted as chairman of the naval committee of the house. He is thoroughly familiar with the work that has been done toward planting the United States navy on a proper footing.



H. A. HERBERT.

His knowledge of the present condition of the various under construction and which have been planned makes him a most desirable man for the head of the department. His selection is practically a promotion.

Olney Is Not a Politician.

Mr. Richard Olney is one of the leading practitioners of the Massachusetts bar. He has always held aloof from politics, never been prominent in political matters, but is known as one of the leading lawyers and substantial citizens of Boston. His selection gives New England a representative in the cabinet, and that of Herbert gives the south three positions.

Mr. Cleveland's callers were Daniel S. Lamont and Mrs. Lamont, Father Larkin and Captain P. J. Cunningham of Washington. Father Larkin is an ex-chaplain in the army, and Captain Cunningham has been a position in the war department. Their call was, they said, purely a patriotic visit to the president-elect on Washington's birthday. Mr. Cleveland remained at home all day.

Mr. Olney Couldn't Go Better.

BOSTON, Feb. 23.—Richard Olney, who has been selected by President Cleveland for attorney general, is one of the most prominent and well known members of the legal profession not only in this state, but in the country. He has at least twice received a place on the bench of the Massachusetts supreme court, and when the last vacancy occurred in the office of chief justice of the supreme court of the United States Mr. Olney was very prominently mentioned in connection with the place. The offer he refused and has devoted himself to the active practice of his profession. Although not active in politics, he has taken an interest in public affairs.

He is at present general counsel for the Boston and Maine railroad, the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe and the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroads, succeeding in the latter position the late Sidney Bartlett. Mr. Olney has always, so far as is known here, affiliated with the Democratic party except on the occasion when Massachusetts took General Butler for a gubernatorial candidate. Mr. Olney then refused to support the nominee of the party. Mr. Olney was born in Oxford, Mass., in 1835, graduated at Brown university in the class of 1856 and at Harvard law school in 1858.

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—The World this morning prints the following from G. A. Jenks, "The rumor that the attorney generalship has been tendered me is not true."

Mobs Rampant In the Southwest.

FORT SCOTT, Kan., Feb. 23.—Last night a mob went to the residence of Rev. C. C. Goins, a colored Baptist preacher and ex-member of the board of education, with the intention of flogging him. They were met at the door of the parsonage by a number of Colored men armed with Winchesters. They threatened to shoot, and the mob retired. In the excitement Goins escaped, but later surrendered to the authorities and asked protection. He is accused of intimacy with a colored schoolteacher.

A Young Official Goes Wrong.

LONG ISLAND CITY, L. I., Feb. 23.—Benjamin N. Terrel, station agent for the Long Island railroad at Pearsall's since Dec. 1 last, was locked up on a charge of grand larceny. Terrel is only 19 years old and has been married three months. He lived near the station in nicely furnished rooms. The prisoner told Sergeant Dunn that he had taken the money in various amounts. He said he took $80 in the latter part of January; and later $80 more, which led to his arrest.

A Big Defalcation In Georgia.

ATLANTA, Feb. 23.—The disappearance and defalcation of Assistant Cashier Redwine of the Gate City National bank of this city and the Bibb County financial situation Atlanta has known in years. The defalcation was for about $65,000. Redwine must have taken the bulk of this within the past few days. He probably left with $30,000 or $40,000 on his person.

Boomers Will Settle.

ARKANSAS CITY, Kan., Feb. 23.—More than 1,000 strip boomers assembled in mass meeting at a point across the line and resolved "that if congress does not ratify a treaty on or before March 4 we, the prospective settlers of the strip, will on March 4 at 12 o'clock noon move upon and occupy the strip."

Husband and Wife

Both Cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla

Catarrh, Kidney Complaint, Heart Failure, Liver Troubles.

"I think it my duty to voluntarily tell what Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for myself and wife. Last spring my wife was in a very bad way with kidney complaint; felt and could hardly get around the house. She began to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, and be ease worth she was improving. When she had taken but three bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla she was cured of that dreadful disease. As we think it has saved her life, we feel like recommending it to all suffering as she was. Mrs. Richardson has also been troubled with Catarrh and Liver Complaint. Believe me to remain, Yours truly, H. C. RICHARDSON.

I Could Not Sleep

at night, nor get any rest through the day. As soon as I lay down, my head would beat so hard that I would have to get up. I had very severe pains in the small of my back, and was all run down. I was induced to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, and before I had taken one bottle I could sleep all night. I have taken three bottles and am now entirely well. I have recommended Hood's Sarsaparilla to many friends, and shall always speak highly of it." MRS. C. C. RICHARDSON, Sioux, N. Y.

McKINLEY'S MANLINESS.

He Surrenders All and Will Give Notes For the Balance.

CLEVELAND, Feb. 23.—A plan for the adjustment of the financial affairs of Governor McKinley has been decided upon at a conference of some of the governor's friends. A statement shows that the governor had indorsed notes for Walker aggregating over $100,000. The total amount may be $118,000. The plan is as follows: The governor makes an absolute and unqualified assignment of all his property to Herman H. Kohlsaat, Myron T. Harrick and Judge William R. Day. It is a general assignment without reservation, dedicating all the governor's property to the equal benefit of his creditors without preference. Mrs. McKinley has strenuously insisted from the beginning upon devoting her property, which came from her father and mother, to the payment of the governor's debts. This her friends and the friends of the governor were determined she should not do, as the sacrifice of her private estate is, in their judgment, not demanded by any consideration whatever. In order, however, to satisfy Mrs. McKinley's persistent wish, a deed was executed by her conveying her property to trustees for the benefit of her husband's creditors.

This deed was placed in the hands of Hon. M. A. Hanna of this city to be dealt with at his discretion. When the legal manner of property had been concluded, Governor McKinley said to a press representative:

"There is little for me to say about the unfortunate affair. I did what I could to help a friend who had befriended me, and the result is known. I had no interest in any of the enterprises Mr. Walker was carrying. The amount of my indorsements is in excess of anything I dreamed of. There is but one thing for me to do; there is but one thing I would do—meet this unlooked for burden as best I can. I have this day placed in the hands of these well known and trusted gentlemen all the property I have an interest in for the equal benefit of all my creditors. This will be insufficient to satisfy my debts. What remains unpaid I shall execute my notes for and pay them as fast as I can."

A STORM IN NEW ENGLAND.

Drifts Ten Feet High Interfere With Railroad Traffic.

DOVER, N. H., Feb. 23.—No such storm as that of yesterday has visited this section since March, 1888, when the Boston and Maine railroad was completely blocked. Eighteen inches of snow has fallen, and the wind, blowing 40 miles an hour, piled the snow in drifts some 10 feet high. Trains have been all double headers and over an hour late. All trains of the Dover and Winnipiseogee railroad were canceled at noon. The Cocheo mills shut down at 5 o'clock to allow operators to go home before dark and the company sent many home with their teams. Many people were without lights last night. All the kerosene used here comes from Somersworth, and no more has been delivered here for three days the supply of store keepers has run out. All freight trains over the railroads were canceled.

Northern New York Suffers.

GLENS FALLS, N. Y., Feb. 23.—The streets of Glens Falls and of all the villages in northern New York are buried three feet deep in snow. The piles of snow that are in many of the streets are 15 feet high. This is the heaviest storm in years.

From the Mississippi Valley.

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—The storm originated in the Mississippi valley, and the center passed over New York about 8 o'clock a. m. yesterday and moved out to sea by way of New England and the easterly part of the Dominion of Canada.

From Galveston to the North.

LINCOLN, Neb., Feb. 23.—The legislature has passed a joint resolution declaring that the states in the great interior basin should unite in the building of a railroad from Galveston to the Dakotas. The resolution recites the benefits of such a railroad, which, it is estimated, will cost $27,000,000, and it proposes to secure funds by levying a tax of 5 cents per acre on the lands of the states. It calls upon the governor to consult with the governors of Missouri, the Dakotas, Minnesota, Iowa, Texas, Arkansas, Kansas and Oklahoma, proposing a convention of delegates to meet at some central point.

No Appeal beyond Satolli.

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—The Herald this morning says that an American Vatican has practically been established, and its dictum on all ecclesiastical controversies will prevail. By this it is not meant that a priest or prelate dissatisfied with the legate's decision can appeal to Rome. The formal letter may be written and forwarded, but Mgr. Satolli is the court of last resort, and the holy see will decline to examine into a question that has been passed upon by the pope's personal representative in America.

The Binghamton Conspiracy Case.

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., Feb. 23.—Judge Hardin handed down an opinion in the case of Frank H. Reynolds et al, versus James F. Everett et al., affirming the decision of Judge Smith in the lower court in favor of defendants. The action grew out of the cigarmakers' strike here several years ago, the manufacturers charging the cigarmakers with having conspired to ruin their business in employing pickets and other means to prevent workmen entering and working in the cigar factories.

Immigration Not So Much Restricted.

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—The statistics of Ellis island for January, this year, show that the effort to restrict immigration has not been conspicuously successful. Of the 11,258 steerage passengers, most of whom declared that they were tourists, were landed last month. The record for January, 1892, was 13,761, and for January, 1891, 11,091.

Chose an Arsenal For Suicide.

ANNISTON, Ala., Feb. 23.—A stranger entered the gun store of the Anniston Arms company and asked to see some revolvers. He was handed a Smith & Wesson 32 caliber revolver, and after loading it he placed it to his temple and fired. He had no papers on him by which he could be identified.

Jersey Winter Racing Carries.

TRENTON, Feb. 23.—Following the example of the house, the senate passed the three bills legalizing horse racing and pool selling in New Jersey. The governor will undoubtedly veto them without delay, and they will be passed over his head.

A Peabody School Burns.

WILMINGTON, N. C., Feb. 23.—The Peabody school building for colored children was nearly destroyed by fire. It was valued at about $4,000; insurance, $2,500. The evidence is conclusive that the fire was incendiary.

AND NOW THE PRINCESS

Hawaii's Heir Apparent Sails For America.

HER ENGLISH GUARDIAN COMING.

The Young Lady Would Have Uncle Sam Act as Her Regent For a Couple of Years Until She Becomes of Age and Can Ascend the Throne.

LONDON, Feb. 23.—Princess Kaiuolani, accompanied by her guardian, Mr. Theophilus Davies, wife and daughter and Miss Wharton, sailed for New York on the steamer Teutonic. Mr. Davies is the principal British merchant connected with the Hawaiian Islands and is said to be a strong supporter of British interests in Hawaii.

The princess proposes to spend two days in New York and then visit Boston, where she will remain until after the inauguration of President Cleveland.

Her Hopes Rest In Mr. Cleveland.

Then she will go to Washington and will probably make a personal appeal to Mr. Cleveland. The princess says she had no friends in America except the friends of Mr. Davies. She timidly expressed a hope that she might gain the sympathy of the American people. "I cannot see," she continued in a modest, hesitating tone, "why I should be summarily deprived of recognized legal rights for no fault of mine and without being even notified to appear in defense of my rights. I ask only that right of appearance which American law gives to everybody before they are deprived of a right. I know absolutely nothing about this affair except what has been in the newspapers. No notification has been received by me regarding it."

Doesn't Like the Queen.

The princess held that she was entirely opposed to the policy of the queen, especially in regard to the bills which the queen is reported to have signed and which gave rise to offense. The princess said that she did not want Hawaii to be under a protectorate of any sort. She wished Hawaii to be independent. She believes that American and Hawaii should be warm friends. She did not believe that England should interfere in Hawaiian affairs.

When asked if she would return to England after her present visit to America, the princess answered: "Yes, if I am successful. I will be of age next year, and then I will carry out my original intention, for which the Hawaiian legislature voted $4,000, which was to visit Queen Victoria, then to visit the president of the United States and then proceed to Hawaii and assume the position to which I am entitled."

Wants a Regency Temporarily.

The princess said that she favored the proposition made by Mr. Davies to the provisional government of Hawaii that a regency should be appointed for three years, with S. B. Dole, the head of the provisional government, as president, the princess to be crowned queen of Hawaii at the termination of the regency. The princess excused herself on the ground of hurry in packing for the journey to America. As she arose she said in a pathetic tone and with sudden spirit: "I want to do all I can for my people and to be an honest and true leader to them. I simply want to do my duty to beloved Hawaii."

Fasts and Is Persecuted.

KNOXVILLE, Feb. 23.—Miss Rachel Callahan has been fasting for the greater part of 40 days, which each year next Saturday. She is now confined in bed, but refuses to eat till 40 days expire. Her brother whipped her severely to make her eat, but without effect. The fast is caused by religious fanaticism.

FASHIONS

Empire Gown For Children.

An empire gown for a small girl is is fashioned of dark wine colored velvet. It hangs straight from neck to ankles. The front is cream white crepe de chine, shirred a trifle to form a yoke. Square shaped velvet revers outline the yoke, which is then finished with a frill of antique lace. The crepe de chine is used for the sleeve. There is a huge puff which is drawn into plaits just below the elbow and edged with a deep frill of lace. The velvet breadths of the little frock are bound with gold cord, and the tiny slippers are of shining gold.

IN THE LONG AGO.

BURIAL OF GENERAL BEAUREGARD.

All New Orleans and the Surrounding Country In Mourning.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 23.—The funeral of General Beauregard took place today from the city hall, the interment being in the tomb of the Army of the Tennessee. The order of formation of the parade included the state militia of the First military district, all the veteran Confederate organizations, the fire department and civic associations.

Delegations came from the surrounding towns in Louisiana and adjoining states. The city hall was very elaborately decorated both exteriorly and interiorly. The columns of the portico were heavily draped in black, and a catafalque was constructed in the chamber itself. The remains were borne to the hall last evening. Previously they were exposed in the parlor at the Beauregard residence, where many of the most intimate friends of the dead general were permitted to enter the chamber of death.

Today was observed as a general holiday. Flags are displayed at halfmast on all public and many private buildings. Steps are already being taken to raise a fund for a monument to the deceased. It will not be a costly shaft, but it will be representative of the strong affection which Louisiana has for the memory of the dead soldier.

A Queer Kansas Fusion.

TOPEKA, Feb. 23.—The senatorial question is the absorbing topic. The stalwart Democrats joined the Waggener boom, which practically unites all Democrats, except Judge Martin's immediate followers, for Waggener. The Republican leaders say three Populists have agreed to walk into the joint convention and vote for Waggener if the supreme court decides that the Republican house is legal. This will give Waggener an advantage over Martin, as he will receive more legal votes than the latter.

Put the Blame on Johnson.

BISMARCK, Feb. 23.—The following telegram, signed by the Republican members of the North Dakota legislature, has been sent to the Republican congressman from that state:

To Hon. M. N. Johnson, Washington:
DEAR SIR—Notwithstanding your assurances to the contrary, the senatorial contest here is opposition to Mr. Casey is now apparent in the election of a Democratic senator. The Republican party of North Dakota and of the nation hold you personally responsible for this result.

The Brazilian Revolution.

FROM HEAD TO FOOT

That's what's the matter with the most of us. What's the reason? Poor circulation of the blood. The cause? The neglect of the feet. We have known severe cases of so called rheumatism, neuralgia, lumbago, sick headache, backache, so familiar to females disappear in a short time by the use of ANTI-TIRE. Get up good circulation, healthy blood, and how quick your pains and aches will vanish. One foot bath of ANTI-TIRE will do it. Trial size, Family size, 25c. WOMAN AND HOME.

THOUGHTS UPON THE SOLUTION OF THE HOUSEHOLD PROBLEM.

Dress of French Babies—Girls Make Honest Clerks—Potpies and How to Make Them—Cheese Foot Binding—Nuts as Healthful Food—Hints For Mothers.

The only way to make cooking, cleaning and the other forms of household work respectable is to have this labor performed by respected people. Education or training is the first step in raising a workman in esteem. We ought to profit by the history of the trained nurse. A friend of mine visiting in Ottawa a few years ago was rather surprised to meet at various social assemblies a trained nurse who, as the guest of Lady L., was the heroine of the hour. Knowing that the English are not wont to treat governesses or other cultivated people in their employ with special consideration, the American girl could not understand the enthusiasm with which the profession of nursing was regarded.

The conservative English adopt some new ideas more quickly than we, but few Americans will be told that nursing is now looked forward to as a profession by hundreds of American girls of good families and refined sustenance. The profession of hard work sometimes of the most mental order. The nurses have to wear uniforms when on duty, and they must become members of ladies' households, but their knowledge gives them recognized authority, and their service in saving life confers on them a badge of merit.

Another kind of service has lately risen in dignity because it has been taken up by cultivated people. At the summer resorts in many parts of the country, notably at the White mountains, the dining room attendance has passed into the hands of college students and local schoolmistresses. A quick eye, a steady hand, a sure foot and a long memory are the essentials for a skillful hotel waiter, and these requirements are admirably met by our Yan vitted youth who are struggling for an education. Their position is recognized by those guests whose wealth is not recently acquired.

I lately happened to be seated at table under the shadow of Chesonna with a gentleman who was a cosmopolitan of Colonel Higginson's description—at home even in his own country. Being familiar with the society of European capitals, this gentleman appreciated the social conditions of different peoples. When the pretty waitress, evidently the village schoolmistress, and probably a descendant of some Revolutionary soldier, came for orders, the gentleman at once addressed her as "Miss."

The great reason why housework is repugnant to self respecting Americans is not in much of the work itself, for other kinds of labor are hard and monotonous, but on account of the conditions under which it is performed. The single domestic lacks society. She is isolated from the family life, and she can never call any time her own. Girls will work all day amid the steam of a laundry, the fumes of a factory, the lint of a weaving room because there they have companionship, their hours are defined, and they are their own mistresses when their work is done. It is impossible to have these conditions in domestic service except in very wealthy families, and there the workers must be branded as servants. As time goes on every household [illegible] that house wages will go higher rather

Dress of French Babies.

For the first six months babies in France are not so lovable as those of America. Not that they are less pink and white; that they enjoy quite their fair share of the heavenly blue, and that their tiny fingers are less tapering and rosy, but all these beauty spots are not set off by dress. Most of the French still keep their babes in swaddling bands and cover their heads with homely skull caps. Have you seen Dagnan-Bouveret's "Madonne" standing in a sunlit, blooming grove holding her babe in her arms?

Only that great artist could make the babe interesting, for this one, like French babies, is wrapped up in coarse linens and flannels, tucked up like a mummy. It seems cruel to stretch their little limbs, render them immovable with tightened bands and pack their little bodies and feet as if the whole bundle was to be sent back forthwith to heaven with "fragile" written on the back. Nothing is left of the precious baby to smile to and to kiss but the small tip of an excuse for a nose and the rosy tapering bits of fingers.

Over the recurring bands and clothes the well to do put lace skirts and dresses, but naturally the flowing effect is lost and the little face looks more packed up than ever, when the thick, plaid skull cap is topped with a fancy lace one. Babies' dresses, too, are not made as long as in America, and as soon as the swaddling bands are taken off the tots are put in short clothes. French mammas seem to be afraid of fresh air for their babies, for they never have them wear low necked dresses with short sleeves.

If by chance there is a low cut dress in the layette, they put on a guimpe, so as to have baby's delicate skin under cover. When the age of the emancipation has come, the baby takes its revenge by throwing its arms up, kicking and trying the gymnastic feat of putting its foot in its mouth. But the emancipation does not last long, for a kind of corset is put on the child to straighten it up, as if it lacked backbone, and is not discarded until the girl is given regular corsets and the time of suspenders has come for the boy.—Paris Cor. Brooklyn Eagle.

Charming Girls' Honest Clerks!

The number of large defalcations involving betrayals of trust is visibly less than it was formerly, and in number and variety embezzlements do not keep pace with the constant increase of the volume of mercantile business. An embezzlement is no longer an everyday occurrence, and the word indeed has ceased from use in this state as a legal definition of the offense of larceny by breach of trust.

A retail establishment in this city has recently unearthed a number of petty thefts, all chargeable, as investigation shows, to male and not to female clerks, though the latter outnumber the former in the proportion of five to one. During the past 10 or 15 years there has been a prodigious increase in the number of girls and young women in the sales and cashiers' department of retail dry goods shops. There are female cashiers, accountants, auditors, bookkeepers, entry clerks and cashgirls. They are intelligent, accurate, alert and almost without exception honest.

It is probably no exaggeration to say that considerably more than one-half of the money daily expended by retail purchasers in New York passes through the hands of women. Yet an act of dishonesty among this great army of clerks is rarely heard of and to the few isolated cases which exist they are usually the result of some extraordinary temptation, or of the weakness of a man who has been led into the commission of a crime by the importunities of a woman.—Isaac T. Hamilton in Harper's Bazar.

Nuts as Healthful Food.

The almondine seeds or nuts are a class of food to which, in general no attention has been given in the dietaries of the world in the form of vegetable albumen and casein. In composition the nuts rank high in nutritiveness, but owing to the oily matter which they contain, are difficult of digestion unless reduced to a very minutely divided state before or during mastication. The fat of almonds is similar in character to cream, and needs to be reduced to the consistency of cream so to easily digested. Nuts should be used at the earliest part of the meal, and not partaken of as a relish between meals. It is likewise well to eat them in connection with some hard food to insure their thorough mixing.

Nuts, as well as most other seeds, contain a large proportion of nitrogenous matter, even more than most grains. The peanut, for example, contains 30 per cent of this element, which is more than any other food substance, either animal or vegetable. Some nuts are more digestible when cooked than when raw, and vice versa, owing to the large proportion of fat which nuts contain, they may be utilized in a variety of ways in connection with other foods or materials, to make pleasing and palatable dishes.

Walnut, pecan and hickory nut meats may be easily reduced to a meal by chopping quite fine and afterward pressing with a potato masher through a wire sieve or a very fine colander. Such nut meals may be served as a dressing on grains, or may be diluted in the preparation of numerous breads, soups, purees, &c.—Good Health.

Character In a Woman's Hair.

Did you ever know a woman's character can be read by her hair? Palmistery has not gone out of date among fashionable people, the rewriting of the disposition may be done by a close examination of my lady's locks.

If her hair shows much curl, being glossy, well kept, and every pin in its place, you may rest assured that she is tidy, born and bred, whether her own or the dear fingers of a maid arranged it.

Gloss only comes from constant attention, and the woman of innate refinement is the one who lingers over her toilet, revels in baths and adores shampoos Therefore, sign another out wash truthfully. Coarse hair shows humble birth. Brown's hair, as a rule, if of the peculiarly fine character that makes it appear very thin, will indicate a good disposition. Hair that splits in the ends is a representation of the owner's tendency to quarrel and have bickerings and differences on all occasions.

Black, glossy hair shows treachery; blond, fluffy hair weakness and vanity, and red hair temper but truthfulness. The sort of hair known as dark, the kind so hard to match and awfully high priced when one wants a false bang, reads thus, highly sensitive and touchy. Either dye your tresses out on the pastel shades, or for though hands sometimes lie hair never does.—American Hairdresser.

A Clear Complexion.

No woman is happy who has not a good complexion. There are many muddy skinned women who only need a short course in cathartics to give them clear skins and clean looking eyes. Then again there are others who need to use hot water and any good unperfumed soap on their faces once a day. After the face is washed in hot water, it should be rinsed in cold and allowed to dry without using a towel. Toweling the face too much brings on wrinkles. No woman who fails to wash her face in soap and hot water can claim to have a clean skin. Little bumps and swellings or redness are relieved by bathing with spirits of camphor.

Ammonia in the water wrinkles the skin. Blonds should never use glycerin on the face. If they must use it, rub no more on the skin, let it be a little almond oil mixed with almond meal and oatmeal or cornmeal. Steaming the face, said to be good for a humpy skin, reddens it almost beyond repair. Young girls with stubby finger tips should pinch each finger separately after washing the hands.—New Orleans Picayune.

Mothers Should "Dress Up" at Home.

Why is it, we wonder, that mothers show the very worst side of themselves to their immediate home circle and reserve company manners for the stranger, who does not appreciate the courteous one-half as much as the loved ones, who deserve the very cream of one's nature, but are frequently put off with more or skimmed milk instead? How children love to see mother dress up! A little extra bow or dainty ruching, a little more paint than usual with the coiffure, or a new home gown—how these touches, that are no trouble to give, are appreciated by those keen eyed critics that see or hear all! Avoid the appearance of discontent or the least falling off in personal toilet attentions!

Is it not the father alone who sees the bright and pretty things of this life. Their father will be quite as quick to note the little extras and be fully as pleased at, though perhaps less demonstrative than the younger sters. Mothers, it is your duty to look and not your best for those dear ones, who are the only ones in this world who adore them unselfishly and unstintedly.—Philadelphia Times.

Children as Reasoners.

"Do you like children?" How many times I am asked that question, and always by women! This depends upon the children," is my invariable reply. Children ought to be charming. Nature makes them little animals with strong wills, which they proceed to exercise on everybody and everything. What they want they cry and kick for. When they find themselves masters of the situation, domestic despotism sets in, and the whole household submits to a small but penetrating voice that rules with a rod of iron.

Nature makes these little people absolutely selfish, but mercifully also makes them absolutely pitiable. They are as silly in the hands of the mother. If potters appreciate their useful responsibility and properly mold this human clay, there arise models children as call their authors blessed; they become bulwarks of the state. Leave that clay to its own devices, or fashion it according to false standards, and what should be a joy becomes a curse to society.—Kate Field's Washington.

"An Ounce of Prevention."

"Keep a child in bed for fully a week after every symptom of illness has disappeared," is my rule in all serious diseases," said an eminent physician. "If you will do this, you will greatly reduce the chances of a relapse. When the temperature becomes normal and the appetite returns, the patient naturally becomes eager to get up, and it is very natural to suppose that the change from bed to lounge, or from to the next room, would be beneficial, but it is really most dangerous.

"This is generally the time when a busy doctor feels that he ought to be able to turn over his charge to those who are nursing him, and yet in nearly and many a case a relapse has occurred, and the last state is worse than the first. Therefore, as I say, keep the patient in bed a week longer—it does no harm, and as an ounce of prevention is worth many a pound of cure."

Burning Kitchen Refuse.

A word might be said in regard to the burning of wrapping paper. Nothing, unless perhaps salt, cleanshells, or watermelon rinds will deaden a fire more effectually. I remember a washing day rendered unusually blue by a late clothes boiling all on account of a big paper conflagration. Better leave the wrapping papers to be burned after the dinner is cooked, if they must be burned. Really economists accept the more favorable method of digesting of paper in which meat, cheese and other articles coming under the head of groceries are wrapped. Cremation is one of the indications of a progressive age.—Good Housekeeping.

She Needs No Defender.

How Sorosis has been discussing the question as to whether a woman minister, a woman doctor or a woman lawyer is the most useful member of her sex. Nobody appears to have been on hand to put the claim for the wife, mother and housekeeper. They aren't in it in Sorosis.—Boston Herald.

That's all right. It may be necessary to put in a plea for the woman minister, doctor or lawyer, but as for the tots who mother and housekeeper, God bless her, she has no use for it.—Troy Times.

A Pretty Way to Serve Butter.

A pretty way to serve butter is to place a small square of ice on each individual butter plate. With a heated poker a small depression is made in each block, in which are laid one or two clover leaves, if possible, or a bit of parsley, and in this coolness the butter will keep half appetizingly and effectively respons.

The most oddly schoolgirl questions now whether good, bad or only feeling will allow her to carry on her head a dead carcass, which suggests a desolated home full of starved nestlings.

Clean the inside of fowls and birds with a moist sponge kept for the purpose. It is much better than wasting their delicate juices by washing with an abundance of water.

Lay down your burdens for the time if you would have your house a resting place. Nothing is gained and everything is lost if you have not moral and mental force to do so.

Patti owns an open faced stem winding watch that is smaller than a United States dime. It is almost completely covered with diamonds and is valued at $2,000.

Remove grease stains from mattings, counterpanes, etc., by wetting the spot with alcohol, then rubbing with hard soap, washing all out in cold water.

"A hopeless case" is what few children become, under proper training. If they are not made to experience an emancipation despair for themselves.

No Named One.

No one knew whence came the sepulchral voice, but common suspicion rested upon a weary looking man who sat with bowed head beside a lady with a red nose and gold glasses.

As is often the case with those who discuss the problems of marriage, the hate of the woman who addressed them that night had grown gray in a state of singleness.

She had announced that most fruitful differences were never irremediable.

"Name to me," she eloquently urged, "a difficulty that cannot be met by mutual forbearance."

There was a moment's silence.

"Name just one," persisted the speaker confidently.

Then the sepulchral voice broke the stillness.

"Cold feet," it moaned.

There was an appreciable shock.—Detroit Tribune.

THE COLUMBIAN BAZAAR AND FAIR LAST EVENING.

"100 Masterpieces of Art" Among the Ingenious Attractions.—The Fair to be Continued To-Night.

THE Columbian Bazaar and Fair at the Vincent chapel last evening proved equally enjoyable and profitable.

There were several booths, each with a committee of charming and attentive ladies.

The supper tables —occupying one side of the chapel, were of especial interest in the early part of the evening.

Up stairs is the art gallery. There is an interesting collection of "100 masterpieces" on exhibition before being sent to the World's Fair as follows:

1. Horse Fair. 2. Portrait of Penn. 3. View of Long Branch. 4. Shelley. 5. A Study for Collector. 6. Kids at Rest. 7. Picturesque Corner of the World. 8. The Little Peacemakers. 9. A PAINFUL ACCIDENT.

Mr. John V. Beekman Has Two Fingers Badly Cut by a Jointer.

Mr. John V. Beekman of East Third street met with a painful accident yesterday. He is employed at Anderson's sash and blind mill at Bound Brook. While engaged running a joiner two of the fingers of his left hand were caught by the blade of the knife, badly cutting them. He went to Dr. Matthews' drug store where the wounds were dressed, and then took the next train home. When he arrived here Dr. Jenkins was summoned, who found it necessary to amputate the second finger at the first joint. The other digit was not so badly injured, though cut to the bone.

WORKING-GIRLS' HOME.

A RELIGIOUS RETREAT FOR THE UNEMPLOYED.

Opened Yesterday Under the Auspices of St. Joseph's Roman Catholic Church—Will Accommodate Two Hundred Persons—Mother O'Reilly the Matron.

St. Joseph's Roman Catholic church of North Plainfield yesterday opened a home for the reception of "living out" girls who are without homes, out of work, or sick. It is said to be a new departure in charitable institutions, and its projectors think it will be a success. For many years the need of such an establishment has been apparent.

Girls who are out of employment are often compelled through lack of funds to apply to casual friends for shelter. Often such acquaintances are of a lower order than they would at other times accept.

There are estimated to be over a thousand girls, engaged as domestics, living with employers. Most of them are Catholics. They are zealous, energetic and thrifty. In church matters they excel all others of the faith in generosity, and their morals are of a high character generally. They are nearly all strangers, many without homes or friends, and many come from Ireland. Father Cushing desired to better their condition. When he removed to North Plainfield he saw the opportunity and speedily set about to establish a Home. The cottage on Manning avenue, used for that purpose, was relinquished and is now occupied by a matron whose business it is to look after the needs of the occupants. The rules of the institution were laid down by Rev. Jas. McKernan at the Masses on Sunday last. They include the following:

"Girls will be permitted to stay while out of work.

"Men will not be permitted to visit the cottage under any pretence.

"Three married ladies of the parish will oversee the affairs of the home and see that it is carried on properly.

"No worthy applicant will be denied admittance."

The matron selected is Mrs. Mary O'Reilly, who will be known among the girls as Mother O'Reilly. She is an elderly person, and very zealous. Over two hundred girls have signified their willingness to contribute to the support of the Home. The place was opened yesterday.

Mother O'Reilly has been a domestic for several years, and by saving has accumulated some money. She has given up her situation, and will devote her entire time to the care of the Home, without compensation. She is an active worker and has a clear idea of the work she has set out to do. She has received assurances of support from the congregation and also from many Protestant ladies, who regard the home as a great benefit. Already articles for furnishing the house have begun to arrive. One lady sent a sewing machine, which will be used by the occupants for mending, and making clothing. Others have sent money and useful articles. The Home is beginning in as humble way, and the precaution taken for the proper management of the place must certainly insure its success.

It is a home under strict religious surveillance, that will care for those who need such a home. The undertaking is commended.

PERSONAL.

Miss Clarke of Hartford, Conn., is the guest of Miss Taylor of Seventh street.

Mr. John B. Tiger and family of Vine street will move to Bound Brook on March 1st.

Mr. Harry Munger of Washington avenue, is confined to the house, suffering with mumps.

Letter Carrier Peter V. Weaver is still suffering with rheumatism, and unable to attend to his duties.

Miss Laura Vanderbeck of New Germantown, N. J., is visiting Mrs. D. N. Greendyke of Mercer avenue.

Mr. H. C. Thorpe of Hastings, N. Y., has rented a new house erected by Mr. J. B. Mills, on Norwood place. He will move here about April 1st. Mr. Thorpe secured the place through the Mulford real estate agency.

Rev. Dr. Huribut will lecture, Saturday evening next, in the Park place M. E. Chapel, on "A trip through Europe." The lecture will be illustrated with the stereopticon. It is to be given for the benefit of the Sunday-school.

At six o'clock last evening, at the Rose Homestead, Bound Brook, occurred the marriage of Miss Lizzie Coddington, sister of Capt. Judge Coddington of this city, to Mr. S. K. Bolmer of Martinville. The ceremony was witnessed by about seventy guests, among whom were Judge and Mrs. Coddington.

The Rev. Chas. E. Herring, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, has arranged a series of sermons for young men, to be delivered Sunday evenings, as follows: February 26, "Joseph, the Discreet Young Man." March 5, "Moses, the Heroic Leader." March 12, "Ruth, the Leal-Hearted." March 19, "Solomon, the Splendid Failure." March 26, "Absalom, the Fast Young Man."

Prof. Goodyear's Lecture.

Prof. Goodyear's lecture at All Souls' church, on "Land and People—Ancient and Modern," yesterday, was well attended and listened to with delight.

The lecture was illustrated, showing many interesting views of modern life on the Nile, as well as aspects of the ancient civilization. Mr. Goodyear especially dwelt upon the continuity of similar conditions which make the Egypt of to-day similar to what it was in the earliest epoch.

CHAPTER OF ACCIDENTS

CAUSED BY THE STREET RAILWAY TRACKS.

They Cause the Upsetting of Sleighs, Which Eventually End in Runaways—None of them Serious However—Two To-day and One Yesterday.

The tracks of the street railroad company are playing havoc with sleighs, and are causing runaways nearly every day.

None of them have ended fatally, but a few have caused slight injuries to the participants, and have the means of making vicious animals out of hitherto peaceful horses.

There were two of these accidents today. The first happened to an old lady and gentleman. They were driving along East Front street, and in endeavoring to cross the tracks their sleigh was upset and the couple thrown out on the snow. Neither were injured but the lady received a severe shaking up. The horse started to run away but was caught by a passer-by.

The next sleigh to meet disaster was one belonging to Mr. A. D. Warnock of North Plainfield. In the vehicle was a boy named Stout. He undertook to drive across the tracks as they curve at Front and Peace streets. The sleigh went over and Stout was thrown out. Fortunately he landed on his feet, and as the horse he had been driving attempted to run away, he pluckily held the reins and guided the animal into a fence, thus stopping it.

About half-past four o'clock yesterday afternoon, a sleigh, in which were seated Mrs. Albert Decker and her driver, of Westfield, upset. They were uninjured. The horse broke loose from the sleigh and ran up Front street with a piece of shaft dragging at its heels. The animal was captured. New shafts were procured and the people started for home.

BREVITIES

—The next meeting of the Borough Council will be held in Spencer's Hall, Friday, March 3d.

—A New Jersey assemblyman has actually introduced a bill to make the wearing of hoop skirts a misdemeanor in New Jersey. And this is about the first bit of anti-ring legislation that has been known here for many a year.—Ex.

—The Reading combine swept the Legislature of New Jersey last year and created the Reading bills through the things of the political caucus and the flood of corruption funds. To-day it is a bankrupt, and the corrupted ringsters who were its tools are in everlasting political disgrace. This year the gang-bribing combine is rushing its bills through, with caucus and corruption funds. Let these bold and unscrupulous scoundrels look at Reading and take warning. The people of New Jersey have the form of republican justice already in their hands.—Elizabeth Journal.

RED MEN IN COUNCIL.

THEIR ANNUAL SESSION OPENED YESTERDAY AT TRENTON.

The Reports Show the Order to be in a Thriving Condition—Mr. Norman C. Magee of Plainfield Elected a Great Representative.

The annual session of the Great Council of the Improved Order of Red Men of New Jersey, which convened in Masonic Temple, Trenton, yesterday, opened under very favorable auspices. There were about four hundred representatives and Past Sachem's in attendance, and the Past Sachems degree was conferred on sixty-one junior past officers. The reports of the Great Chiefs were submitted, and showed the order to be in a very thriving condition.

The report of the Great Chief of Records gives the following statistics: Number of members at last report, 14,998; increase during year, 1,585; present membership, 16,583; number of Past Sachems, 1,736; amount of Tribe's receipts, $138,791.35; paid for relief of brothers, $65,723.07; funeral benefits, $13,775.69; for widows and orphans, $726.69; total wealth of all Tribes, $720,941.99; Councils of Degree of Pocahontas, $6,513.95; membership of Degree of Pocahontas, 1,960; membership of Degree Councils, 229.

Relief and funeral benefits paid: By Tribes, $66,449.76; Councils Degree Pocahontas, $1,264.69; Degree Councils, $600.23; total, $68,313.68.

The following Great Chiefs were elected: Great Prophet, Fred. Wahl, Camden; Great Sachem, A. A. Cunningham, Paterson; Great Senior Sagamore, Charles Brown, Paulsboro; Great Junior Sagamore, William J. Forsyth, Jersey City; Great Representatives—Fred. Wahl, Frank B. Bidgway, Mullica Hill; Frank P. Jackson, Camden; Norman C. Magee, Plainfield, for two years; Edward J. Douglas, for one year.

SHOT HIMSELF FOR LOVE.

Albert Munsch, Commits Suicide in New York—His Sister Lives Here.

The New York papers of this morning contained the following:

Albert J. Munsch, who shot himself at No. 168 West Houston street on Wednesday night, 24th, his employer, Louis Herman, lives in the same house. They played billiards until seven p. m. on Wednesday afternoon, at two o'clock, said he was going home to dress for a ball.

People who occupy rooms on the same floor say he sang love songs to a guitar accompaniment for two hours before he drove the bullet into his left breast. He and Miss Bertha Bamar of No. 47 South Washington Square, were engaged.

"Mr. Munsch," said Mrs. Bamar yesterday, "called on my daughter Sunday as an excellent spirits. We know of no reason for his act. We always treated him kindly. Bertha is only eighteen and Albert twenty-four. Mr. Bamar thought it best that they should wait a while before marrying. Albert belongs to a good family. He came here from Paris six years ago. His only relative in America is a sister, who lives in Plainfield, N. J.

The letters, addressed to Munsch's mother and to his sweetheart, are in the keeping of the police. It is presumed they furnish the only explanation of his conduct.

Two Men at Cranford Fall Fifty Feet to the Sidewalk.

A shocking accident happened this morning at Cranford. W. N. Redfern, a prominent business man of the place, and one of the roof of the Opera House block to clean off the snow which had accumulated to such an extent as to endanger the lives of pedestrians. Some of it fell yesterday and severely hurt a child.

Redfern was accompanied by John Ditzel. They had scarcely begun work when the snow began to move in a huge mass and swept the men off the roof to the sidewalk, fifty feet below.

Redfern is dying and Ditzel is very badly hurt.

Redfern is a member of the Knights Templar and Royal Arcanum and keeps a large store in Cranford. He is a master plumber by occupation and has a large family.

He was getting no pay for the work, but simply volunteered to do it for the public welfare.

The Rev. Herbert Welch to Preach in Brooklyn.

The Rev. Herbert Welch, pastor of St. Luke's Methodist Episcopal church, No. 10 West Forty-first street, New York, has accepted a call to become the pastor of the Bedford Methodist Episcopal church, Brooklyn.

The Rev. T. P. Frost, who has had charge of the latter church for four years, recently asked for and obtained a release from serving the full term of his present pastorate, which will not expire for a year, in order that he may fill a vacancy in a church in Baltimore, Md.

The Rev. Mr. Welch is a son-in-law of Mr. James McGee of Willow avenue, North Plainfield.

To Chase a Dead Fox.

The fox chase at the Fanwood Road House, that was to have taken place Wednesday, did not come off, as the fox died the night before, by getting its chain fast to its cage in such a manner as to strangle itself.

It is to be outdone by a fox Mr. Benner will drag the dead fox a distance of three miles to-morrow afternoon, and the dogs are expected to follow the scent of the dead animal. The start will be made at three o'clock. A handsome collar and chain will be given to the owner of the winner.

Respecting the Board of Education's Powers.

In the extracts published yesterday from the synopsis of laws submitted to the Legislature Tuesday by Corporation Counsel Marsh respecting the powers of the Board of Education to borrow money, an omission occurred which altered the sense of one paragraph. The paragraph should read as follows:

A law passed in 1882 fixed the limit at fifty thousand dollars, but this limit applies only to Common Council only. A law passed in 1887 fixes another limit but that too limits the Common Council, and vests the Board of Education. A law passed in 1885 and a substitute therefore, passed in 1889 authorized the borrowing of money from the State Trustees for the purpose of building school houses, etc., and required the Board of Education in each case to obtain the consent of the Common Council in advance, but this limitation applied only where the money is borrowed from the State School Trustees, and the Plainfield Board of Education can borrow any where it sees fit. A law passed in 1890 empowers the Board of Education with the concurrence of the Common Council to borrow and expend such sums of money as in the judgment of such boards shall be needed, for current expenses of the public schools, erection of buildings, etc., in excess of any limit upon any such purpose in other laws already possessed by the Board of Education. It does not require the concurrence of the Common Council to authorize an expenditure beyond the previous limits, when there is any, as for example in Plainfield, in the amount required for current expenses.

—During the appearance of Mr. Arthur's well-known play, "The Still Alarm" in Music Hall to-morrow night, the manager says: "The theatre goers of this city will have their first opportunity of seeing the remarkable child, Little Tuesday. This child owing to the objection of Mr. Gerry, of the Society of Prevention of Cruelty to Children, has never been able to appear in New York in a regular theatrical performance. Yet there is no public entertainer that is better known and more popular in the metropolis than Little Tuesday, she having great favorite in certain rooms of society people, at benefits for charities, etc., for the past two years. She is only a few days past her sixth birthday."

EDITORIAL NOTES

A Joint Birthday Celebration.

The man who has made the greatest impression on scientific thought in this century was born in England Feb. 12, 1809. On the same day there was born in this country a man who has made on the world's history the greatest impression of any American since Washington. The Englishman was Charles Darwin, the American was Abraham Lincoln. No one has as yet thought to arrange a celebration jointly commemorating the birthday of these two illustrious men. Next year let us hope the Lincoln-Darwin birthday will be thus actually observed. It could be made the occasion for an interchange of graceful and kindly courtesies between Englishmen and Americans.

One of the most noteworthy objects at a Lincoln birthday banquet in recent years was the portrait of Lincoln with the state arms of New York upon one side of it and the state arms of Virginia and "Sic semper tyrannis" on the other. If Lincoln could have looked down upon that scene, the great, loving, suffering soul of the man would have felt compensated for all he had endured. If anything could have added further to his peace and joy, it would have been to hear a southern orator who had been in the Confederate army say: "The southern people know not how much of hope for them, how much of love, how much helpfulness in their hour of sorest need lay buried in the coffin of Abraham Lincoln."

Darwin's life, too, had its tragic side. It was found in the persecutions and misrepresentations that greeted his first promulgation of the evolution theory. Death, too, in the physical pain and suffering he endured bravely and patiently as a martyr all the later years of his life. Perhaps the broken health came in consequence of the persecution and disapproval.

Neither Darwin nor Lincoln gave in childhood any promise of the greatness that was to be. Darwin was almost a dunce at school till he reached young manhood, when he showed the tastes of a naturalist. His father tried vainly to make a physician of him. It will astonish many persons to know that after this idea was given up the attempt was made to educate him for a preacher, a plan he himself did not oppose, for phrenologists have given him a large protuberance at veneration. But he was so slow so backward in his studies that nothing came of that either. He said of himself: "At no time am I a quick thinker or writer; whatever I have done in science has solely been by long pondering, patience and industry."

That vexed question—whether a man may shoot his neighbor's hens when they trespass on his grounds—has at length been decided by an English court. When Brown's hens flew over into Jones' wheat fields and raise old scratch, Jones may up with his little gun and kill them after he has previously warned Brown to keep them at home. He will be liable therefor in damages only equal to the value of the chickens killed. That is to say, if a man's poultry damages his neighbor the neighbor must inform him of the fact and warn him to keep the fowls at home. If this is not done and the poultry again trespasses, the damaged man may shoot them on the spot and be required to pay the owner only what they are worth per chicken, whether as a live bird or a dead one is not stated.

Plenty of people are sure that plenty of money would make them entirely happy, but recently a millionaire committed suicide because of his troubles, although he had no trouble in particular except remembering that his wife and two children were lost at sea 20 years ago. He brooded over it till it drove him to suicide. But that was not the true reason. The real reason this millionaire became insanely melancholy and killed himself was that he had nothing to do. One fact every human being should keep before him: Unless we have some absorbing work we go backward toward idiocy or insanity. The millionaire who shot himself said a little time before his death: "The worst thing a man can do is to give up business. He ought always to have something to occupy his mind."

Baron Hirsch's scheme to colonize poor Russian and Polish Jews in countries where they could not be persecuted involved an outlay of $10,000,000. The fund the baron gave out of his own pocket and divided it into shares that could be bought on credit by those whom it was meant to benefit and could be paid back on easy terms. Baron Hirsch is extremely fond of horse racing and himself owns many fast horses. But he conscientious the matter with his conscience by giving in charity all the money he wins on horse races.

The woman in the case in the present Orleanist plot to destroy the French republic is the Countess of Paris. She has been spending immense sums from the carefully hoarded royal treasure chest to spread the agitation in favor of the restoration of the monarchy. The men of the Orleanist and Bourbon families have been of frugal mind in recent times, and their treasure chests are ample.

The private whisky has been raised five cents a gallon. Will the American citizen begin to economize on it now?

HANCHETT APPOINTED.

A Michigan Lawyer to Succeed Judge Jackson.

HAWAIIAN COMMISSION REMAINS.

Cabinet Minister Herbert Is Cordially Greeted by His Colleagues In the House.

Mr. Cleveland's Selections Give Satisfaction to Democrats.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—The incident in the house was the ovation tendered to the next secretary of the navy, Hilary A. Herbert (Ala.). He entered the hall during the consideration of the conference report on the army appropriation bill, and although he sought to escape observation he failed to do so. He was warmly greeted, and without regard to party his colleagues vied with each other in doing him honor.

Then the Indian appropriation bill was taken up, notwithstanding the opposition of Mr. Hatch (Mo.), who desired to call up the antioption bill.

Good progress was made in the senate in disposing of the absolutely necessary work of congress. Within less than an hour two of the general appropriation bills—the diplomatic and consular and the military academy—were read, considered and passed. Then the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill, which appropriates about $22,000,000, was taken up and considered up to the time of adjournment, all the amendments that were reported from the committee having been agreed to except as to a few reserved for discussion.

Senator Jones on Bimetallism.

At a session of the Bimetallic league Senator Jones of Nevada explained the Brussels conference, to which he was a delegate. He said that 18 per cent of the population of London was living upon charity, and yet the English commissioners asked the United States delegates to agree in their estimation of the value of silver and stop the policy that brought about this wretched condition. The proposition now before congress to issue more bonds, he said, was a deceptive trick. It meant simply that the banks wanted to control the circulating medium of the country.

Hawaiians Will See It Through.

Messrs. Thurston, Castle and Carter, members of the special Hawaiian annexation commission, have determined to remain in Washington until the senate disposes of the treaty of annexation now pending before it in one way or another.

It had been their intention to sail from San Francisco for Honolulu on March 4 next, but within the past few days they have changed their minds. The coming to the United States of the Princess Kaiouliani, in company with Mr. T. H. Davies, who has been supervising her education in England, is variously commented upon. It is reported that Mr. Davies, acting on behalf of the princess, has invited Minister Lincoln in London to accept a protectorate on the part of the United States for the princess, Queen Liliuokalani's claims to be ignored in case the proposition was accepted.

It is said that the action of Mr. Davies in bringing the princess to the United States was taken against the counsel of her friends both in this country and in Honolulu, but that Mr. Davies, in communications upon the subject, has expressed his opinion that a visit to the United States by the princess could not fail of resulting in benefit to her.

Mr. Cleveland's entire cabinet seems to be satisfactory to the Democrats in the senate and house. It is generally believed that Mr. Cleveland, in the selection of his official household, was animated by the desire to surround himself with men in whom he could trust explicitly and who are well fitted for their respective places. In the latter respect the cabinet is highly thought of. All of the men are believed to be diligent and conscientious workers, and no department, it is anticipated, will languish for want of an energetic head.

To Succeed Judge Jackson.

President Harrison sent to the senate a nomination for the vacancy on the circuit bench caused by the elevation of Judge Jackson to the supreme court. The selection of Benton Hanchett of Saginaw, Mich., as judge of the Sixth federal circuit was a genuine surprise. It was as much of a surprise to Michigan men as to others. They had united in recommending Thomas J. O'Brien of Grand Rapids, and the political and legal influence of Michigan was behind Mr. O'Brien. The two senators, Messrs. Stockbridge and Palmer, both urged Mr. O'Brien in the strongest terms. Ex-Senator Thomas Palmer of Michigan, now the World's fair president, had also united in Mr. O'Brien. Some weeks ago Chief Justice Montgomery of the Michigan supreme court had loomed up as a candidate. The senators induced him to retire, however, in order that every influence should be centered on the selection of Mr. O'Brien.

Doubts as to Confirmation.

There is grave doubt about Hanchett's confirmation in the senate. The judiciary committee, having the subject in charge, does not meet again until next Monday, and that is only five days before the end of the session. Moreover, Democratic senators have served formal notice on Senator McMillan that they would contest the confirmation to the bitter end.

On the other hand, a leading Republican senator said that his associates had finally made up their minds to exercise their rights as a majority up to March 4, and that they would clean up the entire docket and confirm all nominations except that of Mr. Findley, named as an arbitrator in the Chilian claims.

Mr. Hanchett Was Surprised.

SAGINAW, Mich., Feb. 24.—The announcement that the president had sent to the senate the name of Hon. Benton Hanchett of Saginaw as judge of the Sixth United States circuit court was a surprise to Saginaw people as well as to Mr. Hanchett. He had not even a remote idea that his name had been considered by the president and would not believe the report that it had been sent to the senate until assured by a private telegram from Senator McMillan that such was the fact. Mr. Hanchett had informed Hon. T. J. O'Brien of Grand Rapids for the position. Mr. Hanchett has always sturdily refused political and judicial honors and has not yet decided whether he will accept the position, although he may do so. It will be a reversal of his entire life policy should he do so, and he will be forced to relinquish a practice that nets him fully $30,000 yearly. He was born in Oneida county, N. Y., in 1836.

A Week's Lease For Coy.

BOSTON, Feb. 24.—Governor Russell granted a further respite of one week to William Coy, the Pittsfield murderer, who was to have been hanged today.

A DEMOCRAT FROM WYOMING.

The Governor Appoints A. C. Beckwith United States Senator.

DENVER, Feb. 24.—A special to The Republican from Cheyenne says: A. C. Beckwith, Democrat, a citizen of Evanston and the wealthiest man in Wyoming, will be United States senator for the next two years. His selection for the office was announced by Governor Osborn. It becomes necessary to appoint on account of the legislature adjourning without electing. The leading candidates were A. L. New and John Charles Thompson. They and their supporters made such sharp fighting that the governor thought to make the least trouble by overlooking both of them.

Beckwith and New are famous friends, the former having been behind New all through the senatorial contest. General Thompson's friends are in a rage. He was within one vote of an election on joint ballot. His defeat was due to the treachery of a Democrat.

The new senator is a genuine westerner, and he has held but two offices. One was a membership on the national World's fair commission and the other a membership in the first town council of Cheyenne. He came to this place 20 years ago, working his passage across the plains with a bull team. He identified himself with the community by building its first house and opening a grocery. When the railway came and went on, he went with it and was a rich man before he settled in Evanston, a thrifty town near the Utah line. There he owns the local bank, herds of cattle, tracts of coal mines and coal and timber lands. His hobby is horses, and he breeds trotters on the finest farm in the mountains. Beckwith was born in New York 60 years ago, but was in Missouri with a party of trappers at 15.

A Proposed Boost to Bloomingdale.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Feb. 24.—The Bloomingdale asylum, decided some time ago to remove the asylum from New York to White Plains upon its farm here. The corporation has now in course of erection what are said to be the finest and most costly asylum buildings in this country. A company known as the White Plains Railroad company has been incorporated for the purpose of running a standard gauge road from the Harlem depot to the new Bloomingdale asylum, a distance of nine miles. The directors are Chauncey M. Depew, John M. Toucey and R. H. W. Rossiter of the New York Central, and the capital stock is $200,000. The citizens of White Plains are indignant at the scheme proposed and will fight the railroad, which in its certificate of incorporation is empowered to use horses, steam or other mechanical devices in operating the road.

New York G. A. R. Officers.

SYRACUSE, Feb. 24.—At the state G. A. R. encampment the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Edward J. Atkinson of Post 88, New York, senior vice commander; Silas Owen of Brooklyn, junior vice commander; John L. Eddy of Olean, medical director; Rev. W. R. Heins of Richfield Springs, chaplain; Martin Short, J. S. Graham, John T. Finley, R. H. McCormick and J. C. Scholte, council of administration. P. J. O'Connor of Albany was appointed assistant adjutant general and Henry Redmond of Rochester assistant quartermaster general. The Women's Relief corps elected the following officers: Mrs. Jones, president; Mrs. Baker of Jamestown, senior vice president; Mrs. McLuckie, junior vice president; Mrs. Smith of Brooklyn, treasurer.

Mexico Pays a Bonus For Foreigners.

CITY OF MEXICO, Feb. 24.—The recommendation made by President Diaz in his late message to congress that steps be taken toward encouraging immigration is being carried out by the general government and by a number of the individual states. A decree has just been promulgated by the state government of Campeachy under which $50 in state bonds will be given to promoters of immigration for each immigrant over 10 years old. The stipulation is that the immigrants shall remain two years in the state.

A Fund For McKinley.

WATERTOWN, N. Y., Feb. 24.—The Lincoln league, the leading Republican organization of Watertown, has started a movement which is expected to extend to all parts of the country. Subscriptions limited to $1 are to be created into a fund to be given to Governor McKinley of Ohio as a testimonial for past services to the Republican party, as an expression of sympathy in his financial affliction and as a provision against his threatened retirement from political life in order to retrieve his fortunes in business.

Lakewood Has Lost Its Interest.

LAKEWOOD, N. J., Feb. 24.—Mr. Cleveland was undisturbed during yesterday, there being no callers at the cottage upon which a word of political import fell. He said in reply to a question as to whether Judge Gresham would call on him, "I see that Mr. Gresham is to be in New York, but I do not know whether he will come to Lakewood or not." From one of the family it was learned that the presidential party would leave for Washington on Thursday next.

Archbishop Kenrick Seriously Ill.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 24.—Archbishop Kenrick's condition is slightly improved. Archbishop Ryan of Philadelphia and Bishop Hennessy of Wichita, Kas., are visiting the aged prelate. It is believed that the question of a coadjutorship will probably be discussed, and the archbishop will receive suggestions from his visitors.

No More a Haven For the Mismatched.

SIOUX FALLS, Feb. 24.—The legislature has passed the bill requiring six months' residence before a plaintiff can begin action for divorce, and in all cases where service is by publication requiring a year's residence. The governor will sign the bill. In the opinion of most lawyers this disposes effectually of the divorce colony.

Dispute Drives the Court Away.

JAMAICA, L. I., Feb. 24.—Supreme Court Judge Pratt was to have opened term of the supreme court next Monday at Jamaica instead of at Long Island City owing to the presence of typhus fever in the county jail, which is in the courthouse building, and the prevalence of smallpox in Long Island City.

New York Y. M. C. A. Annual.

SARATOGA, Feb. 24.—The Young Men's Christian Association of the State of New York began its 37th annual meeting. It will continue through till Sunday, Feb. 26. After the opening services addresses were made by the Rev. Theodore L. Cuyler of Brooklyn.

A Foundering Paying Teller.

WILMINGTON, Del., Feb. 24.—Peter T. E. Smith, paying teller of the First National bank of this city, is a self confessed embezzler to the amount of $75,000, and he is now in charge of the United States marshal. He has been taking money 15 years.

RUFUS HATCH IS DEAD.

A Man of International Reputation Passes Away.

ONCE A POWER IN WALL STREET.

From a Grocery Clerk He Became One of the Leading Financiers of the Country.

Failed Twice and Made Restitution Dollar For Dollar—A Remarkable Career.

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—Rufus Hatch, for merly a prominent Wall street man, ex president of the Pacific Mail and closely connected with the Panama Railroad company, died at his home in Nguyten Duyvil Monday afternoon. He was a prominent figure on the street for 15 years.

Rufus Hatch was born at Kennebunkport, Me., in 1837. Soon afterward his family went west, and when 14 years old he was employed in a small produce store in Rockford, Ills. He unfolded to his employer a scheme by which Rockford could be made a market town. He suggested that the producers' lands in the city be held subject to the farmers' risk until such time as it was sold. He received permission to undertake this himself, and he prospered so well that in 1855 he moved to Chicago. Inside of a few years he became a prominent operator in Chicago and was one of the incorporators of the Chicago board of trade.

Failed For $160,000.

He began to invest in railroad securities and shortly afterward was elected a director of the Chicago and Northwestern railroad. Mr. Hatch prospered until the panic of 1857, when he failed, owing $160,000. He was soon on his feet again, however, and paid his debts with full interest in three years.

At the beginning of the civil war he came to New York and became one of the most prominent operators on the Produce Exchange.

Shortly after the close of the war Mr. Hatch became interested in the Pacific Mail company and became its managing director. He afterward sold his interests and engaged in a big bull movement in Chicago and Northwestern stock. He bulled the stock a year to soon, however, and failed, owing over $900,000.

He was advised at the time to take advantage of the bankruptcy law in operation, but he declined to do so and set to work to build up his fortune again.

Paid Up With Interest Compounded.

Five years later he had paid every cent of the $900,000, with compound interest, and had a comfortable fortune left.

One of Hatch's biggest ventures and the one which finally wrecked him was his entry into Northern Pacific affairs with Henry Villard. With him he formed the Yellowstone National Park Improvement company and interested in the scheme such men as Roscoe Conkling and Governor Green of New Jersey, a part of the plan being to build hotels and other accommodations for tourists in the Yellowstone park.

Driving the Golden Spike.

In the spring of 1883 Mr. Hatch went to England and invited 60 capitalists, journalists, noblemen and other prominent men to come to this country and visit the park. This excursion, together with another conducted personally by Mr. Villard, was calculated to boom the Northern Pacific road. The culmination of the affair, as will be remembered, was the driving of the golden spike connecting the two ends of the road. A few days later Northern Pacific stock tropped, and Hatch was ruined. He never recovered from it.

Mr. Hatch was always extremely fond of music and had played the organ in several churches. He was a member of Christ Episcopal church when it was at Fifth avenue and Thirty-fifth street and was choirmaster at Grace and Holy Trinity. At that time he paid $12,000 annually out of his own pocket for the support of the music.

Piano Men Will Not Exhibit.

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—In a Chicago dispatch it was asserted that all the eastern piano makers who had given up the space allotted to them at the Chicago exposition were anxious to recover it. At the offices of William Steinway & Sons, William H. Sharpe & Co. and the Weber Piano company the rumor was denied in the most positive terms.

Judge Heydrick Succeeds Judge Paxson.

HARRISBURG, Feb. 24.—Judge Heydrick of Franklin will return to the supreme court. Governor Pattison has again appointed him to the vacancy in that court caused by the resignation of Chief Justice Paxson, who has become one of the receivers of the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad company.

A Notorious Swindler Caught.

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—Inspector McLaughlin has arrested Stephen C. Broadwell, an ex-convict, famous counterfeiter and notorious bank swindler. Broadwell's latest heavy swindling operations were in Cincinnati and Detroit, where the leading banks of both cities were heavy losers by his methods.

The Italians Will Help Our Review.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—Informal notification was sent to the navy department from the Italian legation that the Italian government would send three war vessels to take part in the naval review at New York.

An Episcopal Rector Becomes a Priest.

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—The Rev. Lewis Albert Locke, who last November was one of the assistants at St. John's Protestant Episcopal church on Varick street, has gone over to the church of Rome.

Downing Defeated in Connecticut.

HARTFORD, Feb. 24.—The senate defeated the nomination of Clarence Downing of New Haven on insurance commissioner by a vote of 14 to 6.

Hood's Sarsaparilla Restored Health and Strength

"Last winter I had the Grip and was quite sick. After I began to get better, being weak and run down, I concluded to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, acting on recommended so highly. I found that it was doing me good and after I had taken a few bottles I felt completely in a short time and than before I was sick. I feel sure that this is due to Hood's Sarsaparilla. In the package of Sarsaparilla when I opened it I found a sample box of Hood's Pills. I was surprised and delighted to find how well they suited me. They are strong and yet wonderful in effect. I have tried many kind of pills, but

PUGILIST MITCHELL FLUNKS.

He Will Not Go to Canada and Deposit Stakes as Agreed.

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—Charley Mitchell has declared that he will not meet William A. Brady, Corbett's manager, in Canada on Saturday to sign articles, despite the fact that he gave his word that he would. He now says he wants the $10,000 stake money deposited in New Orleans. Mitchell says:

"If Mr. Corbett thinks more of his theatrical engagement than he does of this business with me and refuses to come in properson, I propose that in order not to render ourselves liable for a transgression of the penal code we visit some state in this Union where the laws do not prohibit the holding of money for stakes or wagers in such a contest as ours will be, and with that end in view I have suggested a meeting at New Orleans at the earliest date to immediately consummate the matter."

The fact that Mitchell desires the money posted in New Orleans has caused consternation among the managers of the Coney Island Athletic club, as it virtually means that Mitchell wants to fight in Louisiana and not in this north. It is said that Corbett will insist upon fighting before the Coney Island club, so it is most likely that the match will fall through. Brady, it is said, will drop Mitchell and make a match with Peter Jackson on Monday.

THE BEHRING SEA DISPUTE.

Arbitrators Meet in Paris and Adjourn to March 23.

PARIS, Feb. 24.—The commission of arbitration in the Behring sea controversy between the United States and Great Britain met yesterday in the foreign office to open formally the proceedings. There were present Justice Harlan of the United States supreme court, American arbitrator; Lord Hannen, British arbitrator; Marquis Visconti Venosta, Italian arbitrator; Baron Alfonse de Courcel, French arbitrator; C. H. Tupper, Canadian minister of marine and fisheries and here as British agent; J. W. Foster, counsel for United States; Sir Richard Webster and Sir Charles Russell, counsel for Great Britain.

Judge Gram of the Christiana supreme court, the fifth arbitrator, will not come to Paris until the next meeting. Baron de Courcel was elected to presida. The arbitrators and their counsel attended a ball given in their honor at the Elysee.

De Lesseps Asks a Reversal.

PARIS, Feb. 24.—Charles de Lesseps, Marius Fontane and M. Sans-Leroy, who were committed for trial by the judicial chamber on Feb. 7 for giving or receiving bribes, appealed to the court of cessation for a reversal of the committals. Their counsel argued that the bribery clause in the code contemplated only the offenses of executive and administrative officials and not members of parliament. The deputies who received the Panama money, therefore, as well as the persons who gave them, could not be charged correctly under the law with bribe giving or bribe taking. The offense in question was rather breach of trust.

Heads Off at Albany.

ALBANY, Feb. 24.—It is learned that Hon. John B. Riley of Plattsburg, the chief examiner of the state civil service commission, is to be replaced by Mr. Thomas Carmody of Penn Yan, Yates county. Both are Democrats. There is a salary of $3,500 attached to the position of chief examiner. Commissioner Dowling of the state bureau of labor statistics notified six of the clerks in his department, including the chief clerk, who are old appointees of ex-Commissioner Charles F. Peck, that their services would be no longer required.

A Colored Corpse Revived.

CLARKSVILLE, Tenn., Feb. 24.—Peter Johnson, an aged colored man, died a few days ago at Elkton. One of the women watching the corpse procured a towel and some cold water and began to bathe the brow of the supposed dead man. She was startled to see signs of returning life, and all the colored people were thrown into a state of terror by the corpse raising his head from his coffin pillow and inquiring what was the matter. The aged darky was taken from the coffin and is rapidly regaining health.

McLeod's Railroad Palace.

CHICAGO, Feb. 24.—There is standing in the Pullman shops, subject to the order of ex-President Leod of the Reading railroad, one of the most magnificent private cars ever built in this country. The car, which was ordered by Mr. McLeod several months ago, was completed just about the time the crash came in the Reading's affairs. It cost in the neighborhood of $50,000 and is fitted up in the most luxurious style.

The Second Battalion Obeys Orders.

JERSEY CITY, Feb. 24.—The new Second battalion of the Fourth regiment, N. G. N. J., contrary to expectations, obeyed regimental order No. 8 and turned out for inspection and review. The battalion is made up of five companies of the old Second regiment, which was disbanded a year ago, and the men were so indignant at the disbandment of the regiment that it was suspected they would refuse to turn out.

The Pope's Jubilee.

ROME, Feb. 24.—Pope Leo received the pilgrims who came to attend his episcopal jubilee from South America, Hungary and France. Replying to the congratulations and well wishes offered to him by the leaders of the French pilgrims, the pope said: "I know that France desires to remain Catholic. For this purpose she must be free."

Diphtheria Stops a Revival.

PANA, Ills., Feb. 24.—The public schools of Oconee have closed and also revival services at the Methodist Episcopal church, on account of the prevalence of a malignant type of diphtheria, six deaths having occurred within the last few days.

The Heating Trust Fails to Organize.

TOLEDO, Feb. 24.—The gentlemen who came here for the purpose of forming a trust among the heating and ventilating concerns of the country have departed without accomplishing anything in that direction.

$1,000,000 In Gold For Export.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—Secretary Foster has been advised that $1,000,000 in gold was taken from the subtreasury in New York for export. This leaves free gold in the treasury amounting to $3,000,000.

Fasted Thirty-eight Days.

SWEET WATER, Tenn., Feb. 24.—Miss Rachael Callahan has fasted 38 days. She refuses to eat until she has completed 40 days of abstinence from food.

Escaped In Their Nightclothes.

CLAREMONT, N. H., Feb. 24.—Fire in the Belmont House caused a loss of $20,000. The guests all escaped in their nightclothes.

THE HARRITY LETTER.

It Causes Consternation Among the Silver Men.

THE POPULISTS HAVE AN OPINION.

Supposed to Mean an Extra Session if Enough Recruits Can Be Secured From Among the New Congressmen to Repeal the Sherman Silver Act.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—The open discussions in congress were not half so interesting as the private discussion of the Harrity silver letter and the completed cabinet of the next administration. The two subjects were interwoven in conversation, and many of the views expressed were exceedingly forcible.

Speaking of the Harrity letter, Senator Harris of Tennessee said: "I for one will never consent to the repeal of the Sherman law without the substitution of something in its place that recognizes the use of silver as money. I think it is idle to say that the next congress will consent to the repeal of the Sherman act without the substitution of another measure of some sort which will recognize the use of silver as money."

Hard Words From Senator Pugh.

Senator Pugh of Alabama said: "I am constrained to believe that the ruling motive for Mr. Herbert's appointment was the courage he displayed in being the only member from Alabama who voted against the wishes of 95 per cent of his constituents on the free coinage of silver. Mr. Herbert is the only Democrat of prominence in Alabama who agrees with the enemies of free coinage. There is not a man in Mr. Cleveland's cabinet from the south or west who represents his state or the Democratic party on the silver question. If it is Mr. Cleveland's purpose in making his cabinet a unit against 90 per cent of his party to disrupt it or muster it into the service of the money kings, he is doomed to the most signal failure."

Populist Peffer's Words.

"The Populists," said Mr. Peffer, "regard Mr. Cleveland as being in sympathy with the legislation that has fattened the pampered classes, notwithstanding his committal to the doctrine of tariff reform, which is understood to be intended to correct the evils in that direction. Naturally such a man would select for his attorney general just such a person as Mr. Olney, who is a corporation attorney and identified with corporations in all that he does and is."

Mr. Peffer referred to the president-elect's selection for secretary of agriculture as a man who is not in sympathy with western ideas on any subject and thoroughly committed to class legislation.

Mixed Regards Is as Impertinent.

Representative Bland, the leader of the free coinage Democrats, said: "I think it a piece of impudence, to say the least about it. It is an unprecedented proceeding, and every member of the house who has the least spark of manhood or self respect will simply tell the members of that committee that it is none of their business."

Representative Andrew of Massachusetts, said: "Any gentleman has a right to try to ascertain how members of congress stand on an interesting question. The Democratic party is pledged to repeal the Sherman law, and it is simply a desire to know how members stand."

Oath to Testify Is Proper.

Representative Outhwaite of Ohio thought it eminently proper for the national committee to endeavor to find out how members stand. It shows that the Democratic organization is attempting to keep its pledges to the people.

Representative Pierce of Tennessee condemned the letter as an infamous outrage, saying: "It is another effort to bulldoze the incoming members of congress, back of which I believe is Mr. Cleveland, just as I believe he was back of a recent editorial saying members who voted for free coinage would get no patronage and would find the administration fighting them in their districts.

"Right," Says Mr. Springer.

Mr. Springer of Illinois, chairman of the committee on ways and means, said: "Of course the letter is all right. Mr. Harrity was merely seeking for information. The letter was a confidential one, and I do not understand how it happened to be published, but there is nothing wrong about it."

What Caused the Commotion.

Chairman Harrity has mailed to the members of the national Democratic committee a confidential circular seeking a canvass of the new members of congress upon the silver question, evidently having reference to an extra session of congress. It is summed up in the following paragraphs:

It is important to know what the probable attitude of the 90 Democratic members will be toward the silver measure when offered in the next congress. Will you kindly obtain this information quietly as quickly and accurately as possible and forward the same to me upon the inclosed blank at as early a date as possible?

Please be good enough to treat this correspondence as confidential. For your convenience I annex a list of the 90 Democratic members whose position on the silver question it is desired to know.

The Columbia Bookkeeper Sentenced.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 24.—John F. Miller, the bookkeeper of the First National bank of Columbia, Pa., who last June absconded, leaving a shortage of over $6,000, and who surrendered himself and pleaded guilty after making a tour of the world with detectives at his heels, was sentenced to five years' imprisonment.

Kick on American Coin.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Feb. 24.—On and after March 1 chartered banks here will only accept American silver at 20 per cent discount. Formerly the discount was 5 per cent. The reason given for this change is that it is desired to get American silver out of the country, as there is too much of it here at present.

Connecticut Confirmations.

HARTFORD, Feb. 24.—The senate has confirmed the appointments as members of the state board of pensions of Morris W. Seymour of Bridgeport, Edward Harland of Norwich, Alfred E. Burr of Hartford and Dr. Francis Bacon of New Haven.

Lightweights Settle It.

BUFFALO, Feb. 24.—Billy Welsh of this city and Al O'Brien of Philadelphia, lightweights, met in the arena of the Buffalo Athletic club for a purse of $1,000 and side stakes of a like amount. O'Brien won in the 10th round by a knockout blow.

A Short Term Order's Dividend.

BOSTON, Feb. 24.—The receiver of the defunct People's Five Year Benefit order says the assets are sufficient to pay the certificate holders 60 per cent of the amount paid into the relief and reserve fund.

A SENSATIONAL TRIAL ENDED.

A Wife's Peculiar Devotion to a Faithless Husband.

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—The second trial of Colonel William B. Hayes for perjury is ended. Hayes was found guilty. The first trial, which began last January, terminated in a disagreement of the jury. Colonel Hayes was charged with making an affidavit that on Oct. 27, 1887, he was in Florida, and also that he had not given Miss Keating of Rochester a note for $5,000.

Incidentally have come out the relations between Colonel Hayes and Miss Keating, who acknowledges that the colonel is the father of her three children, one of whom is now living. Mrs. Hayes, the colonel's wife, is a middle aged woman, whose devotion to him has kept her by his side during the trial and who has even condoned his infidelity because of her great love for him. Mrs. Hayes is childless and consented to adopt one of Miss Keating's children as her own. The alleged note for $5,000 was in consideration of Miss Keating releasing all claims to the child. Colonel Hayes has been accounted of a political worker and has also been mixed up in several escapades, notably one in which Lois Fuller, the "serpentine" dancer, figured.

The defense in the Hayes trial was that Miss Keating stole the note referred to and other valuables from Mrs. Hayes' trunk.

His Way of Reasoning.

As the coal yard the other day a new driver was hired, and he went off to deliver his first load. He failed to return, and a search was instituted. The missing man was found at the house, where he had put the coal in the cellar and had then taken up his quarters in the kitchen.

"The cook said she could not get him to leave, and the driver was asked what he meant by such conduct.

"Why," he replied, "I thought I was sold with the coal, for I was weighed with it."

CORPORATION NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that the following Ordinance has been introduced before the Common Council and read the second time and ordered engrossed preparatory to its third reading, and that it is the intention of the Council to adopt the same.

F. W. RUNYON, City Clerk.
Plainfield, N. J., February 10, 1893.

AN ORDINANCE

To provide a new system of street numbers.

The Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield by their Common Council assembled do ordain as

SECTION 1. That the several parcels of real estate fronting on the several streets and alleys of the City of Plainfield shall be renumbered, and each of said parcels shall be known and designated by the number assigned to it thereon on the official maps adopted by resolution of the Common Council February 26th, eighteen hundred and ninety-three, on file with the City Clerk and published as follows:

"Map of the City of Plainfield, Wards No. 1 and 2, showing new system of numbering, 1893." "Map of the City of Plainfield, Wards No. 3 and 4, showing new system of numbering, 1893." Which said maps are hereby adopted as the official maps of the City of Plainfield for the purpose of establishing street numbers.

SECTION 2. That the owner or owners or each and every dwelling house or store which now bears upon it a number other than the number assigned to it on said maps, shall within sixty days after this Ordinance shall take effect, affix upon such dwelling house or store, so as to be plainly visible from the street in front of such dwelling house or store, the number as fixed by said maps, and shall keep the number so affixed thereto, and shall be liable to a penalty of five dollars for each and every offense.

SECTION 3. That the owner or owners of every dwelling house or store that may hereafter be erected within the limits of said City of Plainfield within thirty days after the completion thereof, cause the number assigned to said dwelling house or store to be placed in figures in some substantial manner, in some conspicuous place on the front part of such dwelling house or store, so as to be plainly visible from the street, and in default of compliance herewith, shall be liable to a penalty of five dollars for each and every offense.

SECTION 4. That to enable the owner or owners and parties interested to ascertain the name of any of the streets, lanes or alleys of said City to ascertain the number of any dwelling house, the Clerk of the City Clerk, upon application made to him, or to any lot owner, is hereby authorized to give necessary information, to be derived from said official maps and said City Clerk's office shall at all proper times be open to the inspection of the public at the office of the City Clerk.

SECTION 5. That in case the owner of any lot or lots shall at any time desire the renumbering thereof by reason of the opening of any new street or lane or for any other reason, he may apply to the Common council by petition, which petition shall be accompanied by a map or plan of such lot or lots, showing the changes desired, and clearly showing how the numbers of the new lots should be numbered in consecutive numbering in order. The applicant shall present with his said petition, proof of the consent of any of said owners of said lot or lots, or any of the owners of property fronting on the said block or subdivided lot, and the Common Council shall not at least ten days prior to date of presentation of such petitions, cause notice of the time when the same will be considered by resolution order and block to be renumbered in the manner specified in said petition, and all persons interested in the same may be heard.

SECTION 6. That the Common Council may by resolution order and direct the renumbering of any block to be renumbered in the manner specified in said petition, and may amend the same as they may deem best. In case the Common Council shall order any change in any of said blocks of subdivided lots all the officials of said City shall be governed by the numbers assigned to said lots by the Common Council.

SECTION 7. That the owners or parts of City Council, so far as they are inconsistent herewith, be and the same are hereby repealed.

THE HOUSEHOLD

NEEDLE WORK NOVELTIES.

Attractive Things in Linen—Popular Combinations of Color.

A pretty yet simple glove sachet is of yellow linen. In the middle is worked "Gloves" in white satin stitched, edged with soft green French knots placed at little distances apart. On the left side is a tiny sprig, the couching stitch in silk and the satin stitch in white. A larger sprig is embroidered on the right side of the center word.

A handsome blue linen quilt is worked with flowers at the corners, and the graceful bow pattern is embroidered with white, relieved with apricot. It is lined with apricot, and the also is the frill. The latter is arranged in a novel style. About every four inches the frill is caught up so that it forms a border of full candy bags, and the apricot lining peeps out between each. This makes a charming finish to the quilt and is quite a change from the falling frill.

For dainty workbags to hold needles and silks, brocade is a favorite material. Plush is rich looking, but it draws up clumsily; ribbed silk has a hard, severe appearance, and plain satin is old fashioned, without being sufficiently old fashioned to be run after. Many of the sachets are double, so that the work may be kept in one-half, the silks in the other, or all the materials in one bag, and handkerchief, scent bottle, etc., in the other. A broad, stiffened strap joined around as a ring is slipped over the hand when the sachet is carried. The sachet is thrown over the back of a chair when work is in progress. The two backs of the sachets are in one piece, and the ring encircles them. Across the front a spray of silk embroidered leaves is thrown.

A fashionable combination of color is green and pink, and very taking it is, provided just the right tints are employed. A handsome wall pocket is made of green plush and lined with pink, white and gold brocade. It is trimmed with bows and tassels of gold bullion. A spray of cloth chrysanthemums and embroidered silk leaves and stems is laid across the plush. Two or three different materials are used together in making workbags and sachets, and the colorings are by no means subdued.

A Decorative Music Holder.

This decorative portfolio for holding a few sheets of music is rounded slightly at the outside angles and has its two parts of cardboard joined together with a 2½-inch strip of strong linen for the flexible back. Each piece is lined with two thin layers of

PRESENT AND PROMISED.

Skirts and Bodices—Difference Between Empire and 1830 Modes.

A Paris fashion authority says: "Dresses are now generally made with round waists, the bodices much trimmed, with cointures and cascades. The skirts are short for walking, long for the house and trained for evening wear, all cut in the umbrella form, much gored to make them narrow at the top and wide at the foot. The sleeves increase every day, the bouffants are enormous, and below the elbow they are very close fitting. Many sleeves are made of velvet a different color from the cloth or silk dress. Bands of fur, feathers and embroidery are used as trimmings. Fulix is making dresses in this style."

FRENCH RECEPTION TOILETS.

Miss Mantalini of English fame remarks: "The new skirt on which day dresses are to be modeled measures 4½ yards around the edge and is lined with crinoline muslin. It stands out stiffly all around, but till bulk of the fullness is at the back. There appears to be only one shape for the sleeves of day dresses at present—the leg o' mutton. Evening sleeves are either balloon shaped or are made of accordion pleated crape or gauze."

The new skirts no longer define the hips so closely as heretofore, but the widening is especially about the feet, where they are kept out with crinolins, as in a brown ladies' cloth of the tabac tone, bordered with rows of black velvet, edged either side with jet. The bodice had a cape of the velvet, and bands of velvet and jet around the sleeves, which were extra large, as far as the puffs at the top were concerned. There used to be a difficulty in getting into a carriage on account of the breadth of skirt. The same trouble may soon arise on account of the breadth of bodice.

Our cat presents a very attractive Parisian reception toilet. Its graces and simplicity will please those who wish to be in the mode without following fashion in her extremes. The material is blue crepon cloth, enhanced with lace and fly bows. The sonave jacket and sash are of blue velvet shot, with flame color.

The two much talked of styles—empire

TEA JACKET IN HELIOTROPE VELVET.

Somewhat on the popular empire style was the one here illustrated, of heliotrope velvet, close fitting, with a transparent yoke of jet, from which fell deep flounces of black net. The heliotrope velvet here was of the looking glass order of velvet, that delightful material with a soft, showy surface, and the upper portion of the full puffed sleeves were made of this; too, while the lower were deep graduated frills of lace.

Fashion's Echoes.

Miroir velvet has hardly any pile at all and looks as if it had been ironed.

Flounces graduated in width and three to seven in number are seen on some of the new dresses. They are finished with the old fashioned blind stitched rolled hem and separated from one another by graduated spaces.

Velvet has not for a long time been in such high favor as at present for entire gowns as well as for part of the bodice and sleeves.

A new hair piece is a feather like that worn by Mephistopheles in his cap sprinkled with diamonds.

Evening gloves are seen in the most delicate shades of pink, heliotrope, lemon and pale blue and green.

"Penitential violet," as it is called, is now freely mixed with green of the watercress tone, and forms a unique combination of colors in costume.

An Elegant Tea Jacket.

It is surprising to what an extent the tea gown has of late given place to the tea jacket. Any sprightly novel is apt to make it may be that the latter is easier to put on, while it is, in a measure, more becoming. A simple one recently made was all of accordion pleating, the back crape and just caught around the figure with double bands of passementerie, threaded with ribbon.

Miss Mantalini of English fame remarks:

Fruit Fritters.

The secret of good fritters is to fry them in sufficiently hot fat. For the batter try the following: Mix together 3 ounces of flour with a pinch of salt, stir into it gradually half a gill of tepid water and a tablespoonful of salad oil. Mix it perfectly smooth and let it stand for a little. When about to use it, beat into it quickly the white of an egg whipped to the stiffest possible froth. Any fruit in may be used, slice it unless small, sprinkle the slices with powdered sugar and a few drops of lemon juice, dip the pieces into the batter, taking care to have each evenly coated, and drop it gently into the hot fat and fry a good color. Drain and serve sprinkled with sugar.

To Clean Gold Jewelry.

Wash in warm soap and water or a little ammonia in water, using a nailbrush. Swill off the soap and dry in hot boxwood sawdust. Put the sawdust on a plate in the oven till hot, and then stir the jewelry about in it till quite dry; if dried without the sawdust, the gold will have stains.

OUR MOTHERS.

Hundreds of stars in the lovely sky,
Hundreds of shells on the shore together,
Hundreds of blossoms in spring time by,
Hundreds of birds in the sunny weather,

Hundreds of dewdrops to greet the dawn,
Hundreds of bees in the purple clover,
Hundreds of butterflies on the lawn,
But only one mother the wide world over!

Womanishness and Womanitisses.

A lawyer's wife commented one day last week upon the lachrymose tendency at the slightest criticism of her husband's typewriter, who is a young woman. This emphasizes again a subject already touched upon—the folly of hypersensitiveness on the part of wage earning women. When a woman enters a business career, she should lay aside not her womanliness, but her womanishness.

Not long ago a woman visiting a publication office at its busiest time complained rather querulously that she "was not even offered a chair." It is foolish and unnecessary to demand in the rush and hurry of business the formalities and attentions of the drawing room. If a woman is considerate of others, she will certainly receive consideration and civility from her associates. More ought not to be insisted upon. When a woman is found who gets on in business as well as a man, it is generally also found that she imitates the methods of a man, goes about her work steadily and systematically, and, if she can do so, leaves her tears and exactions at home.—Her Point of View in New York Times.

Early Marriages and Small Incomes.

A good deal of nonsense is talked about love in a cottage and that sort of thing, but few young ladies who have been disposed of by nearly parents like a small income, while it fails to their lot, and what unjust reproaches are heaped on the husband, painfully telling his way to competence. How little sympathy he receives from her who has taken him for better and for worse, but who generally forgets that poverty is as trying to him as to her. It is strange, too, how certain are the hardest of young girls—though it may be accounted for by their arithmetical deficiencies—as to the singular art of spending a small income.

Well to do girls actually talk of living on £70 a year and doing well on £200. Better for themselves, better for men, that women should have respectable, well remunerated occupations open to them in sufficient numbers, so that there would be less need of, less excuse for, imprudent unions and better opportunities for acquiring that discipline and experience which a wife sorely needs.—London Hygiene.

Marriage and Single Women.

Marriage, according to present appearances, will have to be increasingly less and less the aim of women, and it will have to be admitted that it cannot be the concomitant of every woman's life. Premature marriage, the executive life led by the majority of well to do girls in the wasted years during which they are on the look out for a good match, and the consciousness of unfitness to regulate a household are sources of more misery for husbands and wives than have been calculated.

Nevertheless, women who fail to get married are still very commonly regarded as social failures, and their tempers and lives as often suffer severely. Were only a few of my readers to use their opportunities to pave the regular employment for educated women they would do something toward promoting the welfare of the many unmarried ladies who must be dependent on their own exertions.—London Hygiene.

Wait For Your Boy to Grow Up.

"Better far that the boy should begin early to break your heart by taking no care even of his Sunday clothes, blotting his copy, impiously pinning pieces of paper to the dominie's coat tails, to his kim was a second father, going to the fishing not only without leave, but against orders, bathing in the foul water of the docks where the tallow was drowned, shooting an old woman's laying hen, tying kettles or saucepans or anything that would make a rattle to dogs' tails," etc. Bad as boys often are, and a disgrace to the mother who bore them, the cradle in which they were rocked, the nurse by whom they were suckled, the schoolmaster by whom they were flogged and the hangman by whom it was prophesied they would be executed, wait patiently for a few years and you will see them all transfigured into preachers, orators, poets, painters, into soldiers and sailors and so forth.—Christopher North.

Children's Sore Throats.

Sore throat seems to be as much one of the children's own diseases as are the measles and the mumps. Before the little one can talk plain comes the plaintive little cry, "Mamma, my throte hurts me." Therefore a cure which has the merit of being tried and not found wanting will be appreciated by many a mother throughout the land. When the first symptom appears—usually a chill—it is safe to sip, sip, sip a cup of strong black tea. Add a teaspoonful of glycerin, being sure to stir it well in, and use the mixture as a gargle as hot as it can be borne. This is certain to help, even in stubborn cases, and is as simple as it is effective.—New York World.

Women In Life Insurance.

There is no kind of business for which women display more natural fitness than that of insurance. For several years the large companies have employed them as agents with very satisfactory results. Miss M. M. Gill of New York city, who is now Pennsylvania state manager of the Third avenue branches of the London and Lancaster Fire Insurance entered the office of an insurance company as clerk at the age of 16. Through her natural ability and strict attention to business she gradually worked herself up to her present responsible position.—American Woman's Journal.

Mary Robinson.

The Mme. Darmesteter whom the French academy has honored with a prize for literary ability is better known to English readers as Mary Robinson, the girl who entered London university before she was 17, and when offered a choice between a ball and the publication of her poems in celebration of her 21st birthday chose the latter. Mme. Darmesteter is now the wife of the eminent Persian scholar and member of the faculty of the College of France. She writes books in graceful French as well as pure English, with a happy style in both languages.

To Detect Adulteration.

The adulteration of baking powder may be detected by a simple experiment. If alum is present in the powder, and this is usually the adulterant used in place of cream of tartar, which is much more expensive, it may be detected by scattering a little of the powder in a glass of cold water. The alum, if present, will sink to the bottom of the glass, a heavy white sediment. The powder containing cream of tartar will produce more foam and not have much sediment.—Exchanges.

Not Always Its Own Reward.

A mature maiden who was crossing the street at the intersection of State and Monroe the other evening slipped and fell. A young man with the chivalry and promptness characteristic of the Chicago youth in emergencies of this kind ran to her relief, picked her up just in time to prevent a salesman driving over her, brushed the mud off her dress and said with much concern:

"Are you hurt, madam?"

Did she hasten to assure him she was uninjured?

Did she grasp his hand and with tears of gratitude in her eyes beg to know the name of the young man to whose bravery and presence of mind she owed her life?

She did not.

She shrank from him in horror, and in a shrill, nasping voice, that froze the young blood in his veins, she exclaimed:

"Ugh! Take your hands off me, sir!"

Then she picked up her parcels, adjusted them carefully in place again, and hurried away without another glance at him.

And the young man? With staring eyes and jaw hanging down he stood there petrified till she was out of sight. Then he pulled his big down over his eyes, moved off slowly, and from his lips escaped the single word:

"Boston!"—Chicago Tribune.

AGAINST RACE TRACK LEGISLATION AT TRENTON.

An Indignation Meeting to be Held To-morrow Afternoon in Music Hall—The Clergymen and Prominent Citizens Take the Matter up.

The manager has tendered the free use of Music Hall for an indignation meeting to be held there to-morrow afternoon, at four o'clock, to protest against the race track legislation. His offer has been accepted and the clergymen of the city, together with many other prominent citizens, have taken charge of the arrangements.

Much will depend on what action the Senate takes to-day on the Governor's veto. If the bills pass, their appeal will be demanded. If the Senate defeats a vote, that body will be urged to save the State from disgrace by standing by the Governor.

Prominent citizens will address the meeting. Everyone interested in the moral welfare of this State is requested to be present.

PERSONAL.

Chief Doane is out again after a short siege of the grip.

Mrs. Chas. Francisco is seriously ill at her home on West Second street.

A three-year-old son of Mr. Otto Pfeifer of West Second street is ill with diphtheria.

A masquerade surprise party was tendered Miss Edith Miles of Somerset street last evening.

Mrs. John E. Rayl of Norfolk, Va., is visiting her mother, Mrs. David Mc-Martin of Sycamore avenue.

The Rev. A. H. Lewis, D.D., of this city, will preach to-morrow in the Congregational church, Bound Brook.

Mr. F. H. Gardner, cashier of the City National Bank, is ill at his home on Sycamore avenue. He has been confined to the house for about a week.

The Rev. James B. Watson, Ph. D., will occupy the Rev. Hobart Clark's pulpit in All Souls' church, Park avenue, to-morrow morning. There will be no evening service.

Messrs. Martin B. Cronce and W. H. Sprague will go to Bayonne City to conduct meetings in the Rescue Mission at that place to-morrow morning, afternoon and evening.

The question of annihilation as the Bible doctrine of future punishment, will be considered by Elder Hand at the chapel of the First Church of Christ to-morrow evening.

"Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" will be the theme of what promises to be a very interesting sermon, by the Rev. J. W. Richardson, at the Park avenue Baptist church to-morrow.

Bishop Adams, of the Diocese of Easton, will be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Stoothoff, on Watchung avenue, during the meeting of the House of Bishops, which begins March 1st.

To-morrow night the Rev. Chas. E. Herring, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, will preach on "Joseph, the Discreet, Young Man." It will be the first of a series of sermons to young men.

This morning at the morning service in the Seventh-Day Baptist church, the pastor, the Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis denounced the Legislature of New Jersey in scathing terms for its passage over the Governor's veto of the race track bills. He also denounced the Plainfield Common Council for granting a certain license last Monday night heedless of the petitions of citizens in the neighborhood where the saloon was to be located. The doctor probably forgot that if the Council had refused the license the applicant could go before the County Commissioners and get a license at a mere trifle of the expense, while the city would be out. Until that law is repealed the Council ought not to be too harshly blamed.

Edward Miller, a prominent citizen of Fanwood township and brother of Lewis W. Miller, Treasurer of Fanwood township, died after a short illness at his home in Scotch Plains on Sunday evening, 19th inst. His funeral services were conducted at the Baptist church, Scotch Plains, on Wednesday the 22d, by the pastor, Rev. J. H. Parks, D. D. One who knew him intimately says: "Mr. Miller had been a resident of Scotch Plains for over thirty-five years, and during that time, by his unusually amiable and affectionate disposition, remarkable unselfishness and scrupulous honesty and integrity, endeared himself to all with whom he came in contact. It is safe to say that he did not have an enemy in the world, and his death has left a void in the hearts and affections of his friends that can never be filled. Mr. Miller leaves a widow and one child, a son nine years of age."

Judge Coddington Reprimands Bad Boys.

One day last week a box of oranges was broken open at the freight depot by boys and two dozen oranges taken. Yesterday four of the culprits were arraigned before Judge Coddington to plead to the charge of stealing. They all plead guilty and were fined six dollars in all. In sentencing the boys the Judge severely reprimanded them. He told the ringleader, if he was ever brought before him again he would give him the full penalty of the law, which is $100 fine.

PAROCHIAL SCHOOLS.

A BILL TO BE SUBMITTED TO THE LEGISLATURE CONCERNING THEM.

It Provides that the State Shall Annually Appropriate a Certain Sum —The Schools to be in Charge of Parish Trustees.

In THE NEWS of Thursday, February 16, it was stated that many Catholics favored the passing of an Act by the Legislature, appropriating a certain amount annually for the use of the parochial schools throughout the State.

It is said that such a bill has been prepared and will be submitted to the Legislature at Trenton before the session is over to be pushed through, providing that the State should annually appropriate a certain amount from the State school fund for the support and maintenance of Roman Catholic, German-English and Hebrew schools throughout the State. The Rev. John O'Grady, pastor of St. Peter's church, New Brunswick, is said to be at the head of the movement, and there are interested some of the leading parish priests in the Trenton and Newark dioceses. The bill as prepared has been submitted to eminent counsel throughout the State.

It provides, first, that the State shall annually appropriate for each child between the ages of five and eighteen years a certain sum; second, the schools shall be in charge of parish trustees appointed by the parish pastor, who shall appoint the teachers and declare the curriculum of studies; third, the teachers must possess a Normal School diploma, and in every other way comply with the laws governing teachers of the public schools; fourth, the County Superintendent shall have a supervision of the schools and conduct the examinations. The appropriations will be based on his report. These are the main features.

The greatest secrecy has been kept by the priests interested, and it has been asserted that neither Bishop Wigger nor Bishop O'Farrel has been consulted. The priests are confident that even if the Bishops do object Monsignor Satolli will endorse their action. In the diocese of Newark there are eighty parish schools with an attendance of 16,692 pupils, and in the diocese of Trenton there are thirty-one parochial schools with an attendance of 7,240, this making thorough out the State an average attendance of about 23,932 of these educational institutions. In 1891 the State Board of Education placed the average cost a pupil a year at $28. On this allowance parochial schools will be entitled to at least $681,201.88 a year.

This, of course, will effect St. Mary's school of this city.

THE CRESCENT LEAGUE'S "SMOKER."

At the Crescent Rink Last Evening.

The Crescent League gave a "smoker" at the Crescent Rink last evening. This fact was known only among the members, and the friends the members could inform, and the attendance of the general public was not, therefore, what was hoped for. The entertainment was chiefly of high class athletics and was very interesting.

Jack Sanderson, among other clever tricks, took two clay pipes and enjoyed, and let others if the audience, enjoy a smoke, without the use of either tobacco or fire. The smoke had a very chalky taste.

Then two brawny young men, one Muldoon's protege, Hugh Leonard, the other "unknown," gave an exhibition of wrestling. It was a most scientific and interesting contest. Mr. Leonard won two falls.

The programme was considerably changed. On account of the illness of one of the members, the Crescent League Quartette did not sing.

Several humorists entertained. Some of the jokes and stories had evidently travelled a long distance. They were weary.

Two little pickaninnies did three rounds of sparring stage boxing.

Prof. O'Keefe and Mr. Louis Tenelli gave an exhibition of fencing, and limber. Prof. O'Keefe did some serious feats with heavy swords. He spilt in half apples and tossed the pieces in the air, and in twain silk ribbons and paper, divided a heavy stick balanced on glasses filled with water, and similar feats. Balancing on the noses of two spectators, without damaging anything but the sticks.

The ball was then used for a sparring bout between Messrs. Louis Tenelli, Union A. C., and Harry Brown, West Side A. C., in which the former had for the best, although "rib roasters" were exchanged with great impartiality and force.

Mr. Charles Leavitt presided at the piano. A brass band filled in the few gaps in the programme, with assorted music.

A Westfielder's Sudden Death.

Mr. Orin Pierson, a wealthy farmer of Westfield, walked from his house to the Westfield depot yesterday to take a train for New York. He went to the ticket office to purchase a ticket, and as he was turning from the window he fell dead with apoplexy. He was 72 years old and had never been sick a day in his life. He leaves a widow and four children.

A Dunellenite Arrested.

Thursday, J. F. Gillespie of Dunellen, was arrested on complaint of James Halstead of Somerset county, charged with obtaining goods under false pretenses. He was taken before Justice Reid at Dunellen, who held him in $200 bail. Mr. Halstead has secured as counsel Mr. H. C. Runyon of this city.

Died From His Injuries.

Mr. W. N. Redfern of Cranford, who fell from the roof of the Opera House store, while cleaning of the snow, as told in yesterday's NEWS, died at 11.30 o'clock last night. He did not regain consciousness after his fall. It is thought Mr. Ditzel will recover.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The Mr. Smith who is to be Mr. Cleveland's secretary of the interior has one comfort, and a great one. His name is not John. It is Hoke, and there is certainly no other Hoke Smith in the country, so that no other Smith will ever get his letters. But why does he not hitch the two names together and call himself Mr. Hokesmith? That would be a very good name.

Votes on one or two questions in congress this winter show conclusively that if the south and even part of the west unite at any time they can hold the balance of power against the joint force of the most thickly populated states of the union. The entire vote of New York, Pennsylvania and Massachusetts on the silver question was more than counterbalanced by the vote of such states as Texas, Missouri, Indiana, Georgia, Tennessee and Kansas.

Man can do much—very much. There are times when he flatters himself he attained a mastery even over nature to a great extent, but then suddenly the wild horses of nature's chariot shake their manes and bound forward. Nature scatters a blizzard of destruction lightly from her hand as she rides, and the earth is covered with impassable snow, the winds freeze men and animals, and the most powerful mortal feels the blast as keenly as the idiot. Nature pours out a little more than the usual quantity of rain. Rivers roll down in flood, damburst their barriers, and thousands are drowned in an hour. Nature treads the earth and shakes it ever so lightly with her footsteps. Earthquakes follow and tumble man's strongest temples in ruins upon his head. Let nature pass even a little into an unusual mood, and men perish by the city full, the greatest of them as puny as a fly.

Who Will Fill Their Places?

The most thoughtless observer must have noted that in the last few years death has taken away nearly all the world's greatest ones. It is true in every walk of life. France has not remaining one of the strong men who made the third republic. In England, it is true, the only statesman the country has had since Disraeli still lives in splendid intellectual activity, but he is 84 years old. In Germany Von Moltke is dead, and Bismarck is superannuated and broken hearted. In our own country John Sherman is the only one left who took an illustrious part in the statecraft of war time. Our greatest generals are all gone. Victor Hugo is dead. Darwin, Tennyson and George Eliot are dead. Here, Longfellow, Whittier and Lowell have vanished from the scene, and only Dr. Holmes remains in his old sunny place. Even of very great actors, where are there any?

Those who will take corresponding rank to those who are gone are already born, perhaps, but we know them not as yet. There is a multitude of writers of the second and third rank, both in prose and poetry, in France, Great Britain and America than the world ever possessed before, but of the first none. America has the greatest inventor of the 19th century, still in his prime. May he flourish till the grass grows over the graves of all his enemies!

But the people want noble literature and noble teaching. Undoubtedly those who will give it to us are now living, toiling industrially and unrevealingly up the hill, but the sunshine has not yet touched their heads. We only know that there are many lofty and shining niches empty, waiting to be filled by daring, patient young genius.

The Annexation Treaty.

In view of a considerable number of items, among them the fact that the United States first planted the seeds of Christian civilization in Hawaii, and also the fact that it will be a good thing apparently for our trade and commerce, in view likewise of another fact not set forth in the treaty, which is that if we do not take possession of the islands some European power will be apt to do so in less than two years, the president of the United States, the secretary of state and the commission of high plenipotentiary American-Hawaiians, headed by Mr. Lorrin A. Thurston, prepared and sent to the senate a treaty providing for the annexation of Liliuokalani's kingdom. The provision of $20,000 a year during her lifetime ought to satisfy her. She can be rid forever of trying to rule people who will not obey her and confine herself to ruling henceforth a private household of hirelings whom she can make obey her. It will undoubtedly be a great pleasure to Lili to be a supreme boss.

The charge of a few American papers that the Hawaiian revolution was precipitated by the sugar planters of Hawaii to get the government bounty is made by the fact that no sugar bounty is asked for by the annexation commissioners at present. The treaty merely continues the provisional government until congress can decide on a permanent one, reserving, however, a veto power by the president on its acts. The secretary of state calls attention to one noteworthy fact, which is that at present there exists no United States law whereby the president can provide an organized government for territory annexed to the United States. We have not annexed much, it seems.

THE GOLD SITUATION.

Foreign Ministers Resign Their Positions.

MR. M'PHERSON ON THE SITUATION.

The Vice President Will Take Up His Triumphal Tour Next Monday—The Clara Barton Society Holds an Enthusiastic Reception.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—The debate in the senate was not of an exciting or enlivening character. It was over the question presented in the legislative appropriation bill whether the Utah commission, which has been in existence for the last 10 years, should be abolished as proposed by the house, or continued in office as recommended by the senate committee on appropriations. The question was decided in favor of continuing the commission. One flash of humor illumined the debate and provoked laughter on both sides of the chamber. It was contained in the remark by Mr. McPherson (Dem., N. J.) to the effect that after March 4 the Democratic party would have the house of representatives, the senate, the executive and at least a part of the cabinet.

The antioption bill met another defeat in the house, which failed to prevent the Indian appropriation bill from being taken up, and that measure was further considered, but without final disposition.

Before the house took up the Indian bill there was a brief flurry over the sundry civil appropriation bill, which Mr. Bland declared must be considered in committee of the whole, and it was referred there.

The Gold Situation Brightens.

The treasury situation shows decided improvement. The advices received show that the export of gold at New York for to-day will reach only $900,000, when it was expected $1,000,000 would be required to meet the demands on the treasury for foreign shipment. This, taken in connection with the fact that in face of the gold agitation the government has increased its gold holding by $143,000, inspired confidence and led to the belief among treasury officials that the tide had changed. With the $500,000 gold to be exported subtracted from the free gold held in the treasury, a net balance will be left of more than $3,300,000. The receipts also show an increase over expectation, and the close of the month will show the ledger almost balanced, despite the fact that more than $14,000,000 has been required for pension payments.

Foreign Ministers Are Resigning.

The United States ministers abroad are beginning to send in their resignations so that President Cleveland may be unembarrassed in filling their places by new appointments should he feel so disposed. Several resignations have already been placed on file at the department, and on or before March 4 it is probable that nearly all will be out. It has been the practice since the foundation of the government for United States ministers abroad to place their resignations in the hands of an incoming administration.

Red Cross Reception.

Miss Clara Barton, president of the American National Red Cross society, held a reception at Red Cross headquarters to the officers and charter members of the society. The gathering was a representative one and included members of the diplomatic corps and many of the executive departments and prominent citizens of the district. The headquarters of the society are located in the building occupied by General Grant as his headquarters during the war and are replete with historic interest.

Stevenson's Triumphal Train.

BLOOMINGTON, Ills., Feb. 23.—Arrangements are now complete for Vice President-elect Stevenson's trip to the inauguration. He is to be the guest of the Illinois Democratic club of this city, which organization has complete charge of all the affairs connected with this triumphal excursion. This club has chartered a train, which will run over the Chicago and Alton to Chicago and from there to Washington over the Baltimore and Ohio. It will be composed of four Pullman sleeping cars, a baggage car, a dining car and Vice President-elect Stevenson's private car. The vice president's party will be composed of Mr. and Mrs. Stevenson and children—Louis B., and Misses Julia, Mary and Letitia. The two former young ladies will join the party at Chicago, where they are attending college.

Hon. and Mrs. James J. Ewing, Mrs. Matthew T. Scott and daughters—Misses Letitia and Julia—Mr. and Mrs. John Stevenson, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Dunn, Miss Blanche Burnett of St. Louis and Mr. Robert E. Williams, Mr. Stevenson's old law partner, will be in the party, together with 100 ladies and members of the Illinois club and representatives of the Associated Press. The train will leave Bloomington at 8 a. m. next Monday and will arrive in Washington on Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

A Bogus Lumberman Convicted.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 25.—Charles Wilson Rowe was convicted in the United States court of using the mails for the purpose of defrauding and of conspiracy. Rowe's scheme was very comprehensive, and he succeeded in swindling lumbermen throughout the northwest of thousands of dollars before he was arrested. He represented himself as an extensive lumber dealer, and by referring the lumbermen to a fictitious banking firm of this city as to his financial standing he obtained large shipments of lumber, which he sold and never paid for.

It Recoils in the Face.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 25.—What promises to be one of the most disastrous coal wars ever inaugurated in St. Louis began between the Consolidated, Western Tow and Brown Coal companies, which supply coal to the river trade. The Crown company started it, it is alleged, by reducing prices 25 cents per bushel or 1c. a lb. cash. The other companies have fallen in line and say they will fight to the end.

To Settle Axworthy's Defalcation.

CLEVELAND, Feb. 25.—After four years of litigation the bondsmen of Thomas Axworthy, defaulting city treasurer of Cleveland, will make a proposition to settle which will probably be accepted. It will be to pay the remaining shortage of $270,-412.21 and legalize the court costs. Axworthy is in Hamilton, Ont., trying to recoup his fallen fortunes.

Gherardi's Squadron.

FORT MONROE Va., Feb. 25.—Admiral Gherardi, with the United States warships Baltimore, Charleston, San Francisco and Yorktown, arrived here.

HARRITY SPEAKS OF HIS LETTER.

It Was Sent Out Without Mr. Cleveland's Request.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 25.—Concerning the letter sent out by Chairman W. F. Harrity of the Democratic national committee for the purpose of ascertaining the probable attitude of the Democratic members of the incoming representatives of the next congress who are not members of the present congress and who have not voted upon the question of the repeal of the Sherman silver purchase act, Mr. Harrity said when asked about it:

"It is evident that some of our friends are totally incorrect about the letter sent out by me. The letter contained no expression of opinion and made no request as to the course to be pursued by any of the Democratic representatives in congress. Neither was it sent to such members of congress. It was only sent to members of the Democratic national committee and to chairmen of democratic state central committees, and was sent with the view of learning, as far as practicable, the position of the Democratic representatives upon a question the final disposition of which means as much to the country as it does to the Democratic party.

"The letter was sent out on my own responsibility, and the suggestion that it was done at Mr. Cleveland's request is without foundation. It was given to the press in no part at Washington, but for what purpose I do not know. However, I believe its publication will do no harm, but, on the contrary, is likely to be an advantage."

"What has been the nature of the replies you have thus far received?" was asked of Mr. Harrity.

"That I must decline to state at this time. I have already received many answers, and, in a rule, have not hesitated to declare what their position is or is likely to be as to the Sherman silver purchase act. Many are squarely in favor of its repeal. Some are in favor of its repeal in a modified way, and others are opposed to its repeal. Further than that I have nothing to make public."

WHY McKINLEY INDORSED.

He Did It to Repay Kindness Shown When He Was a Student.

CLEVELAND, Feb. 25.—A special dispatch received from Youngstown gives additional light on the friendship between Governor McKinley and Banker Walker of that city, who carried the governor down in his fallen state. It was stated that many years ago when Major McKinley was a struggling young lawyer Walker assisted him very materially by money advances. The money was repaid, however, but Major McKinley remembered Mr. Walker's kindness with gratitude, and in these later years he did not hesitate to vouch for the credit of the man who had befriended him in much the same way. For that reason, then, as well as the fact that they had been lifelong friends, Governor McKinley gladly indorsed Mr. Walker's notes. Governor McKinley's confidence in Mr. Walker was also shown by the fact that the latter was named as executor in the governor's will.

McKinley Possibly Secured.

MASSILLON, O., Feb. 25.—An agent of the New York Mutual Life Insurance company, who is now in this city, is authority for the statement that Governor McKinley holds an insurance policy for $50,000 for the creditors of his friend, Mr. Walker, a tontine policy made out in favor of Walker for $100,000 in that company. The policy is on the 20-year plan.

Actors to Protect Stage Children.

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—To take some action regarding the reported statement of Commodore Elbridge T. Gerry that children were being brought up to a life of vice by being connected with the stage, a meeting of New York managers was held this afternoon at A. M. Palmer's office. Besides Mr. Palmer there were present Henry C. Miner, Joseph and Charles Jefferson, Daniel Frohman, Frank W. Sanger, Henry E. Abbey, John Schoeffel, Frank Murthis, Oscar Hammerstein, E. G. Gilmore, Henry Conried, Marc Klaw, J. Wesley Rosenquest and F. A. Lovecraft. Joseph Jefferson was the principal speaker and introduced a resolution calling for the formation of a society to protect children of the stage. The official statement of the meeting is as follows: "It was determined that, in view of the fact that Mr. Gerry has denied the statements imputed to him concerning the stage, to make no formal protest, but the subject of stage children having been so forcibly brought to the front, managers of New York it was agreed to take steps toward forming an organization for the protection of stage children." The meeting appointed a committee of a committee to consult counsel, the others of the committee being Messrs. Palmer, Abbey, Miner, Rosenquest, Sanger, Gilmore and Daniel Frohman."

Frightful Death of a Child.

PITTSBURG, Feb. 25.—The 2-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Grubbs, who reside at Sharpsburg, near the city limits, was scalded to death in a kettle of scalding hot milk that had been set out to cool. The father and mother were seated at the supper table. Unnoticed by them the child crawled out of the kitchen door to the kettle, into which she fell head first. Mr. Grubbs went in search of the baby. His horror can only be imagined when he discovered what had happened. The flesh was boiled almost off the head and shoulders of the little one, and life had fled.

A Brutal Murder at Lancaster.

LANCASTER, Pa., Feb. 25.—Yesterday Lizzie Bender went to her home in this city and found her mother lying on a table with her head mashed and gashed and the skull crushed in. The woman was still alive, but could not be aroused to consciousness. A bloody hatchet near by told the tale of an attempted murder. Henry Hildebrandt, a young man who boarded with the Benders until recently and whom they refused to allow to remain any longer, was seen hovering around the place in the morning, and he is suspected of having committed the crime.

The Notary Did Not Commit Perjury.

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—The grand jury dismissed the complaint of forgery against Lionel J. Noah, the lawyer who was arrested during the progress of the Colonel W. B. Hayes trial. Noah, as a witness for Hayes, testified that he acknowledged the signature of Mrs. Hayes to a mortgage while she was in Florida.

Dizzy Goes Back to "Adonis."

SYRACUSE, Feb. 25.—Henry E. Dixey played in "Nasoot" at Auburn last night and disbanded his company. He has not made a success in light opera, and will return to his first love, "Adonis."

He Stole From Princeton Students.

TRENTON, Feb. 25.—William A. Cox, a youth of 19, pleaded guilty to 21 charges of larceny preferred by Princeton students whose jewelry he had been stealing and pawning.

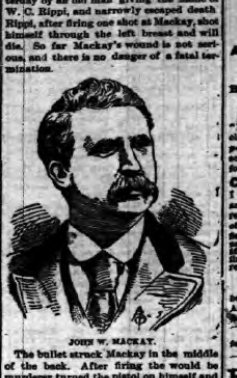
MACKAY SHOT BY A CRANK

The California Millionaire Assaulted In the Street.

A MAN CRAZED BY SPECULATION.

A Remarkably Close Call For the New York Newsboy Who Made a Fortune With a Pick and Shovel and Now Possesses Wealth Untold.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 25.—John W. Mackay, the famous mine owner and financier, was shot through the back yesterday by an old man giving the name of W. C. Rippi, and narrowly escaped death Rippi, after firing one shot as Mackay, shot himself through the left breast and will die. So far Mackay's wound is not serious, and there is no danger of a fatal termination.



JOHN W. MACKAY.

The bullet struck Mackay in the middle of the back. After firing the would be murderer turned the pistol on himself and fired a bullet into his own body. The self inflicted wound was serious, but as long as he could walk he followed Mackay, trying to fire at him again, but he was so weak he could not pull the trigger. He then threw up his arms, exclaiming, "My God, I am satisfied!"

A Stranger to Mackay.

When Mr. Mackay was asked if he knew the man who had shot him, he said: "I never knew of a man named Rippi. I had a good look at the old man who shot, and I am certain I do not know him. I cannot give any reason for the assault."

William C. Rippi is well known to the old timers in San Francisco, and has been a familiar figure around 1230 Powell street, where he made his home. Everybody knew him and considered him harmless. For the last two years he roomed at the above address, and the landlady asserts that he was the cause to please of all his boarders. He was born in Cincinnati, where he has a wife and family. At one time he was worth over $100,000 and made about $50,000 on Consolidated Virginia stock.

Crazed From Stock Speculation.

He came to San Francisco and began gambling in stocks. His money soon began to go, and he started a small grocery in Fourth street. The venture failed, and about four years ago he was running a bar and dining room on the steamer Mary Gebrets, which plies between San Francisco and Stockton.

In the would be assassin's coat was found a letter addressed to The Examiner, which read:

"Food for reflection. Paid $150,000 for sapphires to place on the jaded person of his wife and daughter, and to have saved 500 of his paupers from a suicidal grave. Just think of it! Inscribe it on his tomb."

A Newsboy In New York.

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—John W. Mackay, the great Bonanza king, was once a newsboy in New York. It may be that young New Yorkers now living bought papers of him in the early forties. The story of his life reads like a romance. The gold excite, out of this lad Mackay, Mr. Mackay's man of 37, keeping a saloon in Louisville, to California. With pick and shovel he made a fortune, which was soon lost. From California to Nevada, made a second fortune and sunk it in the Ophir mine. With indomitable pluck he again set to work with pick and shovel, as a common miner. He made several fortunes and lost all of them in the following ten years.

The Celebrated Comstock Lode.

In 1872, with his partners—Flood, Fair and O'Brien—he struck the great Bonanza discovery. A few years ago, while walking along a street in Virginia City, Mackay pointed to a cavity and said, "Out of that hole I took $150,000,000 in bullion." Their great strike made the Bonanza partners millionaires many times over. The total yield of the Comstock lode has been placed at $111,000,000. The immense output of gold did not last long, but it is said that during the palmy period Mackay's income was $600,000 a month. He owned the larger share of the Bonanza mines. The Commercial cable, built in 1884, owes its existence mainly to Mr. Mackay.

With all his wealth, John W. Mackay has remained an open hearted, simple American citizen. His acts of kindness to friends of his earlier life have frequently found their way into print.

Sole Leather Tanners Combine.

BOSTON, Feb. 25.—The sensation of the day in the shoe and leather trade is the news of the agreement and combination between Boston and New York sole leather firms, representing a capital of some $45,-000,000, with the view of controlling the output of the tanneries under their control and consequently the price of sole leather. The arrangements have been going on for some time and even now have not been fully perfected.

Brewer Defeats Peacock.

UTICA, N. Y., Feb. 25.—Captain John L. Brewer of Bridgeport, Conn., defeated Captain Peacock of Westfield, N. Y., in a five hint contest for $1,000 a side. The match at 100 birds was tied and broken off, Brewer scoring 94 out of 95 to 75 by Peacock.

The New York Dog Show.

AT LAST COMES MOHAMMED.

Wealthy Pagans Will Endeavor to Embrace Mohammedanism.

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—Alexander Russell Webb is here. He is the American Mohammedan whom the wealthy Mussulmans of India and the east have sent to introduce the faith of Islam among the civilized Christians of the west. Eight weeks ago thousands of rich and influential Moslems gathered in Bombay to give the American convert a great sendoff and wish him success in his mission. Mohammed Webb's mission was undertaken in earnest and is backed by unlimited wealth and zeal. The Mohammedans hope and expect to establish their religion in the United States. This is the first attempt, and Mohammed Webb and those who are behind him in the movement are confident of ultimate success. Mohammed Webb's first step will be to start a high class weekly journal in English, to be devoted to an exposition of Islam and the writings of distinguished Mussulmans. The next step of the Mohammedan will be to establish a Mohammedan publishing house. The Koran in English will be printed in unlimited numbers, and agents and East Indian missionaries will work up its circulation and sale. The third and last step will be the building of a mosque. The rich Mohammedans of Bombay have guaranteed $150,000 for this purpose.

PEARY'S SECOND TRIP.

Purposes of the Successful Explorer's Arctic Journey.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 25.—That Lieutenant Peary will undertake another expedition to the arctic regions and under the auspices of the Geographical club of this city is assured. Lieutenant Peary proposes that the club shall raise $6,000 or $10,000 of the $20,000 or $25,000 needed for the expedition. The remainder is to be advanced from his own resources, and the expedition is to be under the auspices of the club. In return for this Lieutenant Peary agrees to turn over to the club whatever collections of scientific value he may make. The expedition will require two voyages—the first for the landing of the party, and the second, probably under the direction of somebody selected by the Geographical club, to be in the nature of a scientific expedition. The objects of the expedition are the delineation of detached land north of main Greenland and the unknown portion of the west coast, the determination of the transverse profile of the Greenland inland ice cap from Cape Bismarck to Inglefield gulf, a detailed survey of the hake sound and Inglefield gulf, further studies of the arctic highlanders and a collection of the natural objects of the region.

READING STOPS PAYING OUT.

Coupons Were Being Redeemed When the Receivers Interfered.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 25.—The only announcement of importance made by the receivers of the Reading Railroad company was to the effect that pending the receipt of orders from the court the payment of interest upon the preference bonds would be discontinued. Treasurer Church has been engaged in cashing all coupons clipped from first and second preference bonds that were presented, but no third preference coupons were cashed, as these were involved by the action taken by ex-Senator Platt of New York under the provisions of the third preference mortgage, but the receivers notified Treasurer Church to discontinue the payments until the court had had an opportunity to express an opinion upon the matter. Most of this interest, the funds to pay which were borrowed from Speyer & Co., has already been dispersed, and comparatively few of the coupons are now outstanding.

A Reading Attachment.

MILWAUKEE, Feb. 25.—The local property of the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad company was attached by the sheriff on a claim of $27,000, alleged to be due the Brown Conveying and Hoisting company of Cleveland. The Reading's Milwaukee property comprises docks and lands worth over $500,000 and about 75,000 tons of coal.

Adverse to Senator Beckwith.

CHEYENNE, Wy., Feb. 25.—The rank and file of the Democracy in this city and many who are here from different parts of the state cannot see anything favorable in the appointment of Millionaire Beckwith as senator. They claim that Mr. Beckwith does not represent a tenth part of the Democrats of the state and that he could not be elected to any office. The leader of this city, the Democratic organ of the state, says: "The appointment by Governor Osborne of A. C. Beckwith of Evanston as United States senator for a 2-year term is a blow straight between the eyes to the Democratic masses of Wyoming. Perhaps no appointment which could have been made at this time could be more distasteful."

Bordentown Citizens Aroused.

BORDENTOWN, N. J., Feb. 25.—Mass meetings were held at the Presbyterian and Baptist churches here to protest against the passage by the senate over the governor's veto of the race track bills, which will come up for final action before that body today. A delegation from this place will visit Trenton to present a petition against the passage of the bills. Some of the evils of winter racing may be inferred from a press dispatch, which says, "Over a fromek, covered with water an inch deep, racing was resumed at Guttenburg today in the presence of about 1,000 persons."

A Bucyrus Embezzler Caught.

BUCYRUS, O., Feb. 23.—A San Francisco Bulletin says that John Sturgeon of Bucyrus has been arrested there for embezzlement. Sturgeon was the Democratic city solicitor of Bucyrus. About a year ago he left suddenly, and upon investigation it was found that as executor of estates and guardian he had embezzled funds amounting in all to nearly $80,000.

Morris Makes Another Nomination.

HARTFORD, Feb. 25.—Governor Morris sent to the senate the name of ex-Senator John S. Seymour of Norwalk to be insurance commissioner. Mr. Seymour is a prominent member of the Fairfield county bar and was chairman of the Democratic state convention which named Governor Morris. It is believed the nomination will be confirmed.

WILL FILL DAN'S PLACE.

Mr. Cleveland Selects His Private Secretary.

A CABINET MEETING AT LAKEWOOD.

Lawyer Henry J. Thurber of Detroit, Law Partner of Don M. Dickinson, Will Be an Important Personage of the New President's Official Family.

LAKEWOOD, N. J., Feb. 25.—Mr. Cleveland announced last evening that his private secretary would be Henry J. Thurber of Detroit. Mr. Thurber is a law partner of Don M. Dickinson. He is a young man and has had no Washington experience. He is said to be a very level headed man and to have learned diplomacy from association with General Dickinson.

The appointment was offered Mr. Thurber without solicitation on the part of himself or his friends and was extended in recognition of his admirable equipment for the position. Mr. Cleveland had known him for years and made the selection as a result of thorough acquaintance with Mr. Thurber's qualities and attainments.

He has been with Mr. Dickinson as a law student and partner for 18 years, has accumulated a modest fortune and is in receipt of a professional annual income of from $10,000 to $15,000.

Secretary O'Brien Is Disappointed.

The selection of Mr. Thurber will prove quite a disappointment to Secretary O'Brien, who has been acting as Mr. Cleveland's private secretary for some time. Mr. O'Brien fully expected to go to Washington with Mr. Cleveland. It is thought that the president-elect will find some place for his former secretary after he gets in the White House.

The early train from New York brought to the little white house ex-Secretary of State Frederick Cook of New York.

Other visitors were Colonel John T. Dickinson, secretary of the World's Columbian committee, and Bradley Smalley of Vermont. These gentlemen came as a delegation from Chicago to extend an invitation to Mr. Cleveland to formally open the World's fair on May 1.

Judge Gresham Arrives.

Mrs. Cleveland drove to the station in her carriage, to which were attached the new horses she purchased in New York last week. The coachman espied Judge Gresham as he alighted from the train and showed him to the carriage. After making a circuit of the town the judge was taken to the Cleveland cottage.

The secretary of state-elect refused to be interviewed and said that important business had brought him to New York. As Secretary of the Treasury-elect John G. Carlisle, Attorney General-elect Richard Olney and possibly a few other members of the cabinet are due here today, it is taken for granted that an informal meeting of the cabinet will be the result.

MITCHELL AND CORBETT MATCHED.

Not So Much Talk Going on For Fear of the Police.

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—While it is not definitely known that Corbett and Mitchell have signed articles for a fight, it is known that a match has been made that is satisfactory to the principals and their backers. Both Brady, who is acting for Corbett, and Mitchell have already come to an agreement.

If either was to admit publicly that they had signed an agreement to engage in a prize fight, the police would most likely step in and prevent the meeting. For this reason sharp lines have been drawn to be guarded in any expressions regarding the fight. Brady left here for Boston and had in his possession a certified check for $10,000. This he has already deposited with Dave Blanchard. Mitchell also sent a representative to Boston with Brady to post his $10,000 stake.

Filling Strikers' Places.

CHICAGO, Feb. 25.—Everything was quiet along the line of the Belt road today, and many of the places of the strikers were filled by General Manager Thomas, who claims that he will have no trouble in getting all the men necessary. There has so far been no act of violence beyond a few personal encounters which did not result seriously. The company seems to have some money at their disposal, and with this, accompanied by a little persuasion, they were able to get a few of the new men to leave their posts. The prevailing opinion among railroad men is that the strike will fail and that none of the other organizations will go out.

Harrity Buys a Trolley Line.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 25.—National Democratic Chairman William F. Harrity and Dallas Sanders, representing a local syndicate, have bought of the Schuylkill Traction company an electric trolley road running from Lansdale through Ashland to Girardville and thence to Shenandoah and Mahanoy City, a distance of 28 miles. Thirteen miles of the road is now in operation. The road will be extended and will connect about 40 collieries in the Mahanoy basin of the anthracite region of Schuylkill county.

The Vesuvius Mill Shuts Down.

PITTSBURG, Feb. 25.—The Vesuvius mill of Moorehead & Co. at Sharpsburg has shut down indefinitely, and all of the workmen have been discharged. This wholesale discharge has caused consternation among all classes of citizens. Between 500 and 600 men are out of employment. One of the mill officials said that the works would be closed at least until the policy of the new administration affecting the tariff has been outlined. Owing to labor disputes the plant has been operated very irregularly for a year or more.

Pennsylvania's Debt Statement.

HARRISBURG, Feb. 25.—State Treasurer Morrison's annual report for the fiscal year shows the net debt of the commonwealth to be $2,606,200.23. Included in this amount are various loans with which matured as far back as 1841. The total of the public debt paid during the year was $1,417,106. The estimates of the revenues for the year ending Nov. 30 are: General fund, $9,144,300; sinking fund, $402,300.

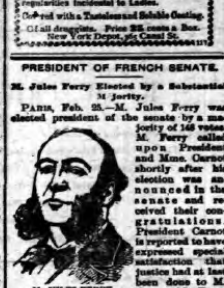
PRESIDENT OF FRENCH SENATE.

M. Jules Ferry Elected by a Substantial Majority.

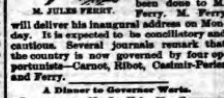
PARIS, Feb. 25.—M. Jules Ferry was elected president of the senate by a majority of 148 votes. M. Ferry called upon President and Mme. Carnot shortly after his election was announced in the senate and received their congratulations. President Carnot is reported to have expressed special satisfaction that justice had at last been done to M. Ferry. M. Ferry will deliver his inaugural address on Monday. It is expected to be conciliatory and cautious. Several journals remark that the country is now governed by four opportunists—Carnot, Ribot, Casimir-Perier and Ferry.



M. JULES FERRY.

Cleveland to Governor Werts.

LAKEWOOD, N. J., Feb. 25.—Governor George T. Werts was the guest of honor at a dinner given at the Lakewood hotel last evening by the members of his personal staff. Covers were laid for 18. Among those present were Senator Robert Adrian and wife, Colonel Edward P. Mooney and wife, Colonel Leon Abbett, Jr., and wife, United States Senator James Smith, Jr., and wife, Colonel Michael Barrett and wife, Asa R. Dickinson and wife, J. A. Bedle, Jr., and wife, George Pfaffer and Anthony R. Kuser.

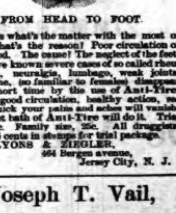


Using Up Old Evening Gowns.

A delightful way of using up old evening gowns that are not soiled is to cover the delicate silk linings with some of the new organdies which are already in the shops, and have floating ribbons tying up bunches of colored flowers, or vines and wreaths and sprays of bloom on a tamboured ground of seeds or dots or stripes. A very pretty gown of this kind, white sprayed with shadowy wreathes of violet bloom set in many dull green leaves, may be made up most effectively over a primrose yellow or delicate green silk that has already done duty at ball or dinner, and look as fresh as a cool as a maiden's garb of foam spray. Flounces set on in festoons effectively finish the skirt, big puffs and frills decorate the sleeves, and the gathered waist is belted with a double centure of green velvet ribbon tied in a knot in front and in a bow at the back.

FRESH AS A NAIAD'S GARB.

Tired from Head to Foot.



FROM HEAD TO FOOT.

That's what's the matter with the most of us. What's the reason? Poor circulation of the blood. The cause? The neglect of the feet. We have known severe cases of so called rheumatism, neuralgia, lumbago, weak joints, backache, no matter to found, disposed of in a short time by the use of Anti-Tire. Get up good circulation, healthy action, use the plan that has been examined as far back as 1841. The total of the public debt paid during the year was $1,417,106. The estimates of the revenues for the year ending Nov. 30 are: General fund, $9,144,300; sinking fund, $402,300.

GOOD HEALTH

PREVENTING CHILBLAINS.

The Person Who Is Not Afraid of Cold Is the Most Liable to Have Them.

"The unfortunate people who suffer from chilblains had better make the usual application of glycerin or vaseline, and in some instances dress the spots with carbolic and boric acids or salol," says a writer in the European edition of the New York Herald." But my intention is to say how a chilblain can be avoided. Cold is the principal agent in producing the trouble. We have therefore only to react against it to escape its influence. In other words we have only to be warned by keen sensitiveness that the danger is near to warm up the spots that are threatened. Of two persons with similar constitution the one to get chilblains will be the one who, not being afraid of cold, is constantly exposed to it, whereas the other, very much afraid of the cold, on the contrary, will wrap up hands and feet as soon as the temperature falls, and in that way avoid the risk. The former supports without suffering a degree of temperature that is enough to produce a chilblain, whereas the latter feels the pain at once and makes every effort to avoid it. It is therefore necessary to become very sensitive to cold in order not to have any chilblains.

"The person who is able to expose his hands to the cold without being inconvenienced thereby will no longer be able to do so if he takes the precaution to wash his hands several times a day with warm water and a mixture of 3 parts of almond paste, 3 parts of mustard flour and 1 part of borax. Under the influence of these lotions the hands become warm and regain the sensitiveness to cold, which is a portion of our instinct for preservation and our principal means of protection against chilblains."

Tired or Inflamed Eyes.

A general tired feeling of the eyes may be greatly relieved by repeated baths of tepid water, and in the case of advancing years water with a considerable degree of heat may be used with benefit. A writer in Good Housekeeping says: "Where there is profound inflammation, though not of a severe nature, manifesting itself particularly in granulation of the lids, the best simple remedy is sulphate of zinc. Five grains of the sulphate to an ounce of soft water makes a gentle bath which can be used without any fear of unpleasant consequences, and the strength of the solution can be gradually increased or decreased, as its effects are shown. It forms a cooling, healing application, whose value is recognized in all manner of inflammatory affections, especially of the more delicate membranes. Some prefer for the use of a zinc ointment, which is made by mixing one part of finely triturated oxide of zinc with six or eight parts of simple ointment, rubbing it gently but thoroughly upon the edges of the lids each night upon retiring till its use is no longer required."

One Thing and Another.

Eucalyptus salts are recommended as preventives for bad colds and influenza.

A French physician reports the successful use of injections of chloride of zinc in a case where a fractured leg bone had remained without any appearance of union

Dr. Caldwell of Iowa tells of an extraordinary postmortem growth of hair. This gentleman was present at the exhumation of a body which had been buried for four years. He had evidence to show that the deceased was shaved before burial; nevertheless the hair of the whiskers measured 8 inches and that of the head 18 inches.

ETIQUETTE

FOR EVERY DAY.

Simple but Genuine Good Breeding In the Family Circle.

It is in the home, above all other places, that the true man or woman will strive to please and to shine, says Good Housekeeping. And the influence of the example of the father upon the son and of the mother upon the daughter will be much more potent than any amount of advice or any rules of etiquette.

It often occurs that children must be admonished of errors in deportment of which they have been either innocently or willfully guilty. This should always be done in the gentlest and kindest manner and privately.

It is probably not true that family "manners" are less courteous now than formerly. Probably the reverse is the fact, but it must be admitted that there is yet room for a great deal of improvement. "But I cannot stop to be ceremonious," says the busy man, to whom every moment of the working day is valuable. Perhaps not to the extent of that elaborate ceremony which is formal and so simply embodied kindness, but it costs no more in time or effort to speak the thoughtful, considerate, gentle word—to sink self in the common welfare—than to be boorish and rude, fretful and fault finding.

The most comfortable persons with whom we have to do are that self consequential class who go through life with all the sharp angles of their natures exposed, wounding every one with whom they come in contact by gross unkindness of tone and manner. To remonstrate with such a one would be to receive the assurance that "I am plain spoken, and I have served the bush. I say just what I think. That is my way." Yet what a sad confession! "My way" to be brutal, when I might be gentle. To be rough and rude, when I might be polished and considerate! Shame upon such a "way" as that!

In this connection it may be allowable to quote a few words from a recent writer on that subject—words of golden truth which may well be treasured by one and all. "A true gentleman," he says, "is quiet in dress, respectful to women, kind to the weak, helpful to the feeble. He may not be always an especially generous or affluent man, but good breeding will tell him all the proper observances and the duty of being a conventional gentleman. He assumes virtue if he have it not and is courteous and tender to the old, the feeble, the burden-some.

FASHIONS

FRENCH MODES.

Evening Gowns Designed and Made by Worth—Fanciful Coiffures.

The two models in the cut represent Parisian evening dress, and illustrate some of the features of the new skirts now being discussed—viz., the great width of skirt at the bottom, with full trimming reaching almost to the knees, and the increase, less marked, but plainly perceptible, of fullness about the hips.

The seated figure shows a lemon colored peau de soie dress, enhanced with either white chiffon, gauze or china crape. The front of the stay bodice recalls an expanded fan, with its five tapering sections scalloped at the top. The full chemisette and short, puffed sleeves are in the diaphanous material, like the rosettes and the loose twists which encircle the waist and describe spandrels. A similar trimming is carried round the hem of the wide skirt, where it is divided into a flounce and vandykes by means of a ruche. An upright cluster of three loops of broad ribbon heads each triangle. The fan is of black lace with ebony mount and the shoes of yellow satin.

The fashionable coiffure consists of a double row of loops and spadilgreatail ends in gold colored ribbon, dividing the wavy bandeaux (parted in the center) from the soft roulenux, arranged at the back so as to fall down to the nape of the neck.

The second costume is of satin or bengaline silk in a new crushed strawberry tint. Alencon lace falls as a flounce round the skirt, which is slightly draped on the hips and from the short empire sleeves. A double edging of vandyked blond describes a bertha and wired epaulets, while a ruffled jabot in plain muslin, terminating in a point, partly veils the low pointed bullion round which spreads out a gauffered frilling which gradually diminishes toward the front. A row of pearls, rubies or tinsel beads may terminate or be added down the center of the fluted stomacher. Loops of jeweled galon glitter in the coiffure. Fan in pink ostrich feathers.

Boys' Evening and Fancy Dress.

For little boys the simple outfits in plush, with full bag vests of lighter tone, are very becoming. Green, with cam de nil silk, is a fashionable selection, as is navy blue with sky blue vest. Sometimes silk shirts are unaccompanied by jackets. Then there is a silk sash round the waist and feather stitching at the collar and sleeves. White silk shirts form an excellent contrast to darker velvet or cloth suits.

CAVALIER SUITS FOR BOYS.

Two handsome cavalier suits are shown in the cut. That of the larger boy is of rich black velvet. The vest, collar, cuffs and knee bands in white corduroy are finished with gold lace, and the feather is of lace or silk. Black silk stockings and shoes with buckles are worn. The same design can of course be carried out in any color or velvet.

The second suit, for a boy of about 8 years, is well adapted for a page at a wedding. It is in heliotrope plush, with satin vest, pointed cuffs and falling collar of lace.

Hints to Amateur Dressmakers.

All skirts have been gradually shortened, the most fashionable modistes commending those that sweep the ground for walking dresses. Carriage and calling costumes are also perceptibly shortened, and what are now considered demi-trains in only two or three inches on the ground. Only full dress toilets and wedding gowns have long trains.

Two fabrics combined in one gown are coming into favor again. By way of widening skirts, and thus utilizing last year's dresses, bell skirtsa are made to open in front on a tablier breadth of silk, satin or velvet, or else the front remains intact, and a panel breadth of the second fabric is added on each side, giving sufficient fullness on the hips and permitting the sides of the skirt to be pushed back. Still another plan adds two back breadths between the sloped breadths of bell shape. If this change of location makes the old breadths too short for their new position, the skirt is widely bordered at the foot with the added material or with fur bands placed on a lengthened lining. For the same purpose other modistes make a yoke-like top of velvet or other contrasting fabric around the hips, adding the skirt, with a standing ruffle of the velvet or of the skirt material.—Harper's Bazar.

Black velvet dresses are much the fashion, and with these are worn silk petticoats edged with lace.

As Mother Made Them.

He had journeyed many leagues on foot and without shaving.

His shoes and whiskers were alike of the unconventional sort peculiar to the peripatetic cosmopolitan.

She who stood in the doorway wore one of those ingenuous and unequivocal frowns often found among women who do their own work.

"What"——

Her tone betokened a disposition to deal expeditiously with the affair in hand.

——"do you want?"

For a moment he contemplated her, then asserted his face.

"I wish"——

There was a yearning, piteous thrill in his voice.

——"I could get a doughnut"——

A look of relief, faint, but perceptible, swept across her countenance at the word.

——"like my mother used to make."

That night he stole cautiously back to the place and gazed with awe upon the dent left in the fence by the tenketchie, which, memory's flood came rushing upon him, he recollected to have observed hustling over his head upon the occasion of his previous visit.—Detroit Tribune.

Preparing For Spring.

"Jeptha," called Mrs. Jones from up stairs, "where is the tack hammer?"

Mr. Jones was deep in a work on national politics and hated to be called off. But he stopped long enough to say:

"It's wherever you left it when you used it last, m'dear."

Presently Mrs. Jones came down with a cobweb on her nose.

"I've looked under the bed and in all the clothespresses, and I can't find that miserable tack hammer."

"Have you whistled for it?" inquired Mr. Jones sarcastically.

"Oh, don't try to be funny, Jeptha. I want that tack hammer and must have it. Look in your secretary and see if it is there."

Mr. Jones laid his book upside down with care and began a search for the tack hammer which lasted far into the night, but without success. He barked his shins on stepladders, nearly brained himself on a hanging shelf, and at last trod out sat down to contemplate his ruins. Then Mrs. Jones asked in a cool, even voice:

"Do you suppose it can be in the tool-box?"

"That's the last place where I should expect to find it," said the perspiring man as he went on another search spell.

"Well, I vum!" he exclaimed as he fished it out, "that's the wonder of the age. Here it is. Now, what are you going to do with the measly thing, Maria?"

"Nothing. I just wanted to have it handy for the spring housecleaning when it comes. It saves confusion to take time by the forelock. Don't you think so, Jeptha?"

But Jeptha was madder than a wet hen.—Detroit Free Press.

Ungrammatical.

The Danger Point.

I do not care how good and kind
A man may truly be,
Or how his heart within may glow
With pure philanthropy—

I do not care how much he dotes
Upon his fellow man,
Nor if he warm unasked to bliss
In every way he can—

I do not care though gentleness
May all his soul pervade,
Or though of kindness completed
His every part be made—

Take my advice and keep aloof,
Nor to him dare to speak
When he has had a bowling cold
For just about a week.

A MASS MEETING IN STILLMAN MUSIC HALL YESTERDAY.

Speeches by Mayor Gilbert, Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis, ex-Mayor Randolph, Rev. Dr. Hurlbut, Rev. Mr. Honeyman, Prof. Maxson, Rev. Dr. Richards, and Editor A. M. Powell—Resolutions Adopted.

Plainfield fully sustained her reputation yesterday afternoon in promptly and vigorously resenting the Legislature's latest attempt upon public morals.

The mass meeting, called on a day's notice, was well attended at Music Hall, the free use of which for the purpose, by Mr. Demarest, was duly acknowledged in a vote of thanks at the close of the meeting.

Mayor Gilbert presided and called the meeting to order at four o'clock. The Rev. Dr. Yerkes led in prayer, and then the meeting was addressed by those whose names head this article and in the order named.

MAYOR GILBERT

said among other thing that the Governor's veto had opened the door of hope, in the reason he gave that he believed these laws to be unconstitutional, and if the Supreme Court declares the Governor's belief to be the fact we may never again hear of race-track legislation. But this fight ought to have been made at the primaries, instead of at this late hour. While we allow a handful of men to run our primaries we must expect just such results. We want a government, as Abraham Lincoln said, "Of the people, for the people, and by the people."

REV. DR. LEWIS

the next speaker, said among other things, that this bad legislation is because we take the scum of the population of New York and Pennsylvania into our borders, the sewage as it were. He considered that the Governor's veto was not made in good faith because of the undue haste, not giving the people a chance to be heard. He believed it was all due to an understanding previously had with the gamblers, in order to enable the governor to fool the people as to his attitude.

EX-MAYOR RANDOLPH

followed with a written speech, taking a view opposite to the previous speaker as to the action of the Governor, which he declared to be "an honest act honestly done."

REV. DR. HURLBUT

the next speaker, said he didn't know he was to speak. He was like the old woman who went out with a poker to fight Stonewall Jackson and his army. Some one said to her "Why, that will do no good." Her reply was, "Well, it will show which side I am on." He was glad to be one of such a large gathering, if for no other reason than to show which side he was on, and he hoped the State would rise with such indignation against those who had dragged the honor of our State in the dust.

REV. W. E. HONEYMAN

who was next introduced, said he considered this a time of great public peril, related incidents showing the misery caused to families when the race tracks were in operation in Elizabeth, and wanted to see every man who voted for this bill blacklisted.

PROF. MAXSON

said that these race track gamblers snapped their fingers at every moral-minded man in New Jersey. As a school master he had taught the children to respect the government, but do the people want their children to respect the laws made by gamblers placed over them? Yet these gamblers represent a majority of the people, although a majority are not gamblers, but content their duty by not voting, and thereby allow a dangerous minority to rule us, and the result is men of low moral character to make our laws.

REV. DR. RICHARDS

said, in his remarks, that such vicious laws must be repealed, or the result will be anarchy and bloodshed. It is growing worse and worse, and there is danger ahead. Our honor is now outraged. He had always prayed, "Oh, Lord, teach us to reverence our rulers," but he would now add, "Give us rulers that we can reverence."

EDITOR A. M. POWELL

said, among things, that the race track legislation meant a triumph of lawlessness in the form of law and order.

A letter and resolutions were read by the mayor. Before adoption, an amendment was offered by Rev. Dr. Yerkes, seconded by ex-Mayor Randolph, extending a vote of thanks to Gov. Werts, but this was met with opposition that the resolutions were presented without them and adopted unanimously, a committee of which the mayor was chairman appointed to present them to our representatives, after which the meeting adjourned.

The following are the letter and resolutions referred to:

PLAINFIELD, N. J., Feb. —, 1893.

To the Hon. Alexander Gilbert, Chairman.

When, one year ago, the thousands of assembled Jerseymen thundered into the ears of their representatives at Trenton the people's protest against the threatened desecration of her laws, Plainfield was represented in meeting assembled.

Among the first of our cities to strike the alarm, her citizens, by prompt and decisive action, enabled the legislators to find in our views the true exponent of public opinion throughout the State. It was given to us to speak authoritatively for the owners of our factories and the operatives in their works; for all the pastors of our local churches and all the officers of our local government; for the directors of our banks and the teachers of our schools, for our merchants, mechanics and professional men, and the laborers on our streets; for Catholic and Protestant, Republican or Democrat; for our charitable institutions and for our business corporations; and for whatever else in our midst makes for industrial prosperity, good government and good morals.

Such a demonstration of the unanimity of public sentiment in an enlightened community on a question of the hour was perhaps never before presented to a Legislature, State or national. That demonstration, prepared in forty-eight hours, won for this community a title of honor, and contributed mightily to the victory for the right.

Let our citizens rise equal to the present emergency and do like service in moulding public opinion, that the entire State may be aroused and the stigma on her fair fame obliterated forever. CHAS A. MARSH.

Be it resolved, By citizens of Plainfield, in mass meeting assembled, on this Sunday, February 26th, 1893,

First, That we denounce the said statutes, to which our legislature have sought to commit us, indecent recognitions of the worst influences and elements of our society. By the enactment of said statutes, the State of New Jersey has been humiliated and disgraced, and made to be a promoter of crime to the profit of the original chasers.

Second, That the said statutes have been passed in violation of the unbridled protest of all right minded citizens, in defiance of a unanimous expression of disapproval by their respected Chancellor of society, and at the direct solicitation and procurement of men whose business is a system of cheating and false pretences. The people who pay the taxes and support the State have been made to stand aside and the race track "sport" and book maker led up into the capitol and commended over the great seal of the State.

Third, That the said statutes are baldly immoral and indecent, in that because they are based upon a recognition of the criminal classes, but because they serve to foster gambling in poolrooms and places of resort outside of the State, whereby New Jersey is made to first plant the miserable wrong, and then to spread it like a contagious disease. The corruption of her own people is not more to be deplored than that of the people of her sister State into which the tele-graph carries each day the results of her moral turpitude.

Fourth, That we desire to express our sense of gratitude and obligation to those members of the legislature who resisted the passage of the said statutes. They will return to their constituents to receive the assurance that they have earned the grateful commendation of the good and women whose lives and labors make their commendation of the largest place and value.

Fifth, That we believe it to be true that while debasing influences have again prevailed, the moral sense of the State has been greatly stirred, and confident that the repeal of the obnoxious statutes cannot be permanently delayed.

And we call on all good citizens to do whatever may be done to rescue the State from the great shame that has fallen upon her. Let this race track abomination be made an issue at the polls—it is nothing more important to the State—And let all good men who deprecate the corruption of our youth, and of whom Abraham Lincoln called "the common people" vote and work for the candidate who is for an unqualified repeal.

Sixth, That we demand the repeal of these infamous laws. We demand their repeal in the name of all that is of good repute in the past and present of the State of New Jersey; in the name of her churches, her schools, all that is of good repute in the past and present of

What We Owe to France and Russia.

The New York Sun does well to call the attention of the American people to the vital services both France and Russia have rendered this country in times of its extreme peril. Russian persecution of the Jews is abhorrent. So is the cruelty practiced on the hapless convicts in Siberia. When contemplating atrocities that have been perpetrated by Russian government officials, it is hard at times not to sympathize with even the nihilists. But the fact remains that our nation owes its very existence to certain decisive acts of the Russian government, taken at times when our affairs were wavering in the balance. What those acts were are set forth in the extract from The Sun printed below.

If France helped us to gain our independence not because she loved us, but because she hated England, that does not lessen our obligation to her or our gratitude. In all time to come the republic of the United States must stand by the republic of France. The Sun says:

For years France paid, armed and clothed the Continental forces; fought and bled; soldiers fought together in the trenches at Yorktown, and Rochambeau stood by the side of Washington when Cornwallis gave up his sword. These are things that a nation can never forget, so long as it is worthy to remain a nation.

That we are under like tremendous obligations to the house of Romanoff is recognized by every American who knows the history of his country. Whatever may have been the motive which led Catherine II to join the so called League of Neutrals, the result of the act was to complete the discouragement of the British ministry, to break the stubborn will of George III, and to compel the acknowledgment of American independence. Whatever, again, may have been the stubborn will of George the mind of Alexander I when, braving the anger of Napoleon, he refused to enforce the Berlin decrees and let the American vessels thronging the Baltic ports, there is no doubt that he rescued from ruin our commerce. We accepted redemption at his hands; we profited by his protection, and it behooves us to remember it.

The services of the house of Romanoff to the American republic culminated in the stand taken on our behalf by Alexander II at a crisis when our national existence was at stake, the French emperor having put forth all his influence at Westminster to persuade the British government to join him in intervening on the side of the southern confederacy. Then it was that Seward, who freed the Russian serfs, caused his ambassadors at Paris and London to announce that if France and England undertook to secure the destruction of the American Union and to perpetuate the regime of slavery in the western hemisphere they would find Russia arrayed against them. Nor was the friendly interposition of Alexander II confined in words.

Simultaneously with the utterance of diplomatic warnings a Russian fleet was directed to proceed with secret orders to the harbor of New York, and a Russian squadron was dispatched to the bay of San Francisco. For us, for the American republic, for the consolidation of our Union, the czar made known his willingness to fight, and there is not the shadow of a doubt that his unofficial promises averted a catastrophe. Is it likely that Americans will ever forget services like these? Not so long as our children remember with gratitude their fathers' friends; not so long as the blood of the men of the Revolution, of the war of 1812 and of the war for the Union, throbs through our veins and electrifies our hearts.

The bodies of one or two of the cholera patients that died on the infected steamers in New York bay last autumn were buried in quicklime. The bodies were placed in a pine box, the box was filled with quicklime, shaked with water so that soon the infection germs were destroyed and the corpses rendered harmless. If bodies of those dying from such diseases as smallpox, typhus, cholera and diphtheria were disposed of in a similar manner, the poisoning of air and soil through deadly contagion would be greatly diminished. Such burial would not shock the sensibilities of those having a prejudice against cremation. Enthusiastic admirers of cremation have decided, however, that cremation should be the method of disposition of such corpses, in all cases, if possible. The burial in quicklime would be an effectual means of getting rid of the bodies of animals that had died of contagious diseases, such as glanders, pleuro-pneumonia and swine plague.

The world's eyes will be on the result of a lawsuit now pending at Atlanta. A lady slipped upon a banana peel which some malignant idiot had thrown into the street and injured herself severely. She thereupon sued the city for damages to the amount of $10,000. If she gains her suit, it will be a warning, as long as bananas continue to be eaten, to the other malignant idiots who cast the skins upon the pavement. Then cities, knowing they would be liable for damages, would fine the banana and orange peel throwers, and everybody would be happy.

Perhaps you know it already, but if you do not you will be astonished to be told that in this intelligent republic, in the dying days of the 19th century, there are living along the mountain ranges from Virginia to Alabama nearly 1,500,000 people "who have never received or written a letter and could not read one if it were printed and sent to them." They are not negroes either, but white people, with good old Scotch and Huguenot blood in their veins. Their ancestors came to this country in the colonial days.

Somebody has calculated that there are a million bad roads in the United States. The number of good ones is not stated, probably because it was so small that the statistician could not find it. Colonel Albert Pope would like to have one department, at the World's fair devoted to road making exhibits, with full information, printed and otherwise, in regard to the cost of making and maintaining a good road. Good idea.

TABLED BY THE SENATE

Probable Fate of the President's Recommendations.

PREPARING FOR THE INAUGURAL.

Congress Has a Vast Amount of Business Before It—Our Grain Exportations to Germany—Uncle Jerry Rusk's Advice to the Farmers.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—The closing week of the 52d congress will be characterized by a rush of legislation that has seldom been equaled. As there is not time enough for all the many public and private measures near completion to pass, they must antagonize each other, and opposed to them all in both houses will stand the appropriation committees urging immediate action upon the great measures in their charge. The present condition of these bills is as follows:

The fortifications bill is a law; the army bill is before the president for signature; the military academy and District of Columbia bills are in conference; the sundry civil, the diplomatic and consular and the legislative bills have passed both houses, but have not reached the conference stage; the pension bill has passed the house and been reported to the senate, and the naval, agricultural, postoffice and deficiency bills are awaiting action at the hands of the senate committee on appropriations.

In the senate the naval bill will probably come up today. The agricultural and postoffice bills are expected to be reported by Tuesday and the deficiency bill about the middle of the week. They will be taken up as fast as reported. Meantime consideration of these bills and of other pending measures will be suspended from time to time to allow the disposition of conference reports.

Purposes of the Senate to Defeat.

In this condition of affairs matters of general legislation can hardly receive much attention, but if opportunity offers Senator Teller will endeavor to call up his revised McGarrahan bill. Mr. Carey may make another effort to secure consideration of his cumulus statehood bill, and Senator Blackburn will probably strive to secure the passage of the New York and New Jersey bridge bill as it came from the house.

There seems to be no set purpose to prevent any further executive session of the senate if possible, but there are a three-fold purpose—defeat action on the nomination of Judge Hanchett, prevent reconsideration of the vote by which the nomination of ex-Congressman Findlay of Maryland as Chilian arbitrator was rejected and shelve the Hawaiian treaty of annexation for this session.

In the house advantage will be taken of the rule permitting action during the last six days of a session, under suspension of the rules, to rush forward business of an urgent nature. A number of measures of comparatively little interest may be thus passed, but the Indian bill will not. It will be necessary to give most of the time to the appropriation bills. Unless an amicable understanding can be privately reached with regard to the course to be taken with the Sherman bond amendment to the sundry civil bill, it is probable that it will be moved, under suspension of the rules, to strike out that section. On the adoption of this course the long debate over the numerous amendments of no special interest of themselves would be avoided, leaving only the bond amendment to be fought out in the house. It is expected by the leaders of the house that the French spoliation claims will be again put on the deficiency appropriation bill by the senate and perhaps the Cherokee strip bill on the Indian bill, but with these exceptions it is not anticipated that any serious trouble will occur in conference sufficient to endanger the passage of the appropriation bills and compel an extra session of congress.

By All Means Feed Corn.

Secretary Rusk says that farmers in all parts of the country are inquiring as to the probable profit of feeding corn to hogs at present prices. He desires to state that the prospect of large returns from judicious hog feeding has seldom been as bright as now. In average years it takes about nine pounds of hogs, liveweight, to bring the price of a bushel of corn. This year five pounds of hogs bring as much as a bushel of corn. If 10 pounds of pork are made from a bushel of corn, which may be taken as a fair return, then the present prices of hogs would make corn bring about 85 cents a bushel if fed to these animals, which is about twice as much as it is now quoted on the Chicago market.

Breadstuffs For Germany.

The United States is the chief source of supply from which Germany draws the deficit in her domestic breadstuffs. Such is the information contained in a report to the state department by Frank H. Mason, consul at Frankfort, of the statistics of grain importation into Germany for the year 1892. They show an enormously increased volume of both wheat and rye imported from the United States. From fourth place in 1890 the United States rose to first place in 1892, the amount of wheat purchased from the United States rising from 1,902,775 bushels in 1890 to 32,665,795 bushels last year.

Inaugural Preparations.

This is inauguration week—that grand quadrennial spectacular performance at the national capital. The coming six days promise to be like the successive scenes of a well constructed play. Saturday will bring the climax with the final exit of President Harrison and of the Republican party from control of both the executive and legislative branches of the government, and with the triumphal entrance of Mr. Cleveland and his party, whatever it may be called, into power. Then will come the red light tableau of the inaugural ball, and after that Sunday will ring down the curtain upon the wearied actors and auditors.

The Great Ball.

The inaugural ball promises to be as curiously domestic as any of its predecessors. The great court of the pension building is already in ballroom attire. It is expected to accommodate 12,000 guests. Tickets to 10,000 have been printed, and every one is likely to be sold. This will allow about one square foot for each person within the building. There were fears at one time that Mrs. Cleveland could not attend the ball, but she has now promised to be present. The president and his wife, with a number of friends, will occupy a raised platform in the center of the building.

Extortionate Prices Prevail.

The inauguration crowd is beginning to arrive, and by the middle of this week the accommodations of Washington will be sorely taxed. Extortionate rates for rooms are exacted, although it is a time when extortion is tolerated. One of the members of the committee on arrangements said that there were 2,000 on their books at $10 to $25 a day. When these are gone the late comers will have to pay fabulous figures or sleep in the streets.

The Pennsylvania militia, which numbers 8,000, will be quartered in the corridors of the war, state and navy departments. Three inches of newspapers will be put on the marble floors, and the soldiers will sleep on the sawdust.

If You Intend Marching, Say So.

Notice is given by the commanding officers in charge of the inaugural parades that all military and civic organizations intending to participate in the inaugural parades must report at once at the inaugural committee at Washington, so as to procure a proper assignment in line and mention in the official programme now being prepared.

THE BISHOP GETS INTO LINE.

Mass Said at St. Thomas', as Satolli Directed.

BATONNE, N. J., Feb. 27.—Bishop Wigger sent Father Wallace of Seaton Hall college here to see that St. Thomas' church was opened in accordance with Archbishop Satolli's directions, Father Abns being still confined to the rectory by illness. The first mass was said in St. Henry's church at 6 o'clock. The edifice was crowded, more than 700 persons being present.

The only special announcement made was that the second mass would be said at the Church of St. Thomas. The mass said there began at 10.30. There were about 300 persons present. The chapel, which is on the upper floor of the building, for which purpose the building was originally built, was cold and uncomfortable. It was said that the last mass would continue to be said in St. Thomas' church so long as the defective heating apparatus could be made to warm the building or could be repaired, which cannot be done until changes are made in the building.

At St. Mary's church there was no announcement beyond a statement by the curate that Father Killeen was sick and would not be able to preach.

LEGISLATIVE AFFAIRS AT ALBANY.

Adjournment Will Be Taken to Allow Members to Attend the Inauguration.

ALBANY, Feb. 27.—The blanket ballot amendment to the ballot reform law is a special order on the second and third reading in the assembly for Tuesday and the personal registration bill for the country districts for Wednesday. The Choton watershed bill will come up in the assembly on second reading during the week, as will also the Albany three-platoon police bill, which are opposed by Mayor Manning and the other city officials. The World's fair $200,000 appropriation bill and the Pine Island purchase bill are likely to come up in the senate some day this week. The legislature, according to the present plan, will adjourn over from Wednesday until the following Monday evening, so as to give the members an opportunity to attend the inauguration.

Governor Flower will leave for Washington on Thursday morning, accompanied by his military secretary, Colonel Judson. The governor's staff will meet him there.

Just an Ordinary Lynching.

KNOXVILLE, Feb. 27.—The lynching at Jellico of the negro Joe Payne for assaulting Miss Fannie Dell Cook was in itself a very commonplace affair. He confessed the crime and was swung up to the nearest tree without any noise. The mob planted a placard on his breast, but by any one coming after should disturb the body until 10 o'clock. At that hour fully 5,000 people had gathered from neighboring towns. Miss Cook's sweetheart did what all took pleasure in—cutting down the body. Her wishes were gratified, and with a sharp knife she severed the rope, and the body fell to the ground. She smiled as she cut the rope, and the act was greeted with cheers from the vast crowd.

The School Question In New Jersey.

TRENTON, Feb. 27.—Some of the leading Catholic clergymen here are opposed to the proposed bill providing for the turning over of the parochial school property to the state in return for an appropriation. They hold that nothing substantial could be gained by the scheme. The appropriation of such a bill in the legislature will be a signal for an agitation greater than any that has shaken the state in years, as Protestants generally would be against it. Impassioned editorials in opposition to the project have already appeared in newspapers.

Evangeline France.

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—The evangelization of France was the theme discussed at a meeting held in the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian church. With Dr. Hall there were in the pulpit Mr. F. N. Necker, vice president of the Evangelical Society of Geneva, and the Rev. E. J. Dupuy, pastor of the Reformed church of Paris. The sum of $50,000 is needed by the four evangelical societies of Europe now carrying on evangelical work among the French Catholics, and this sum the societies hope to raise among the Protestants in America.

Mass Meetings Against Jersey Races.

ELIZABETH, N. J., Feb. 27.—In pursuance of an announcement from the pulpit at the morning service in all the churches, a mass meeting was held this afternoon in the race track bill was held in St. John's Episcopal church. The crowd was so large that it was necessary to hold overflow meetings in the First Presbyterian church, which was also filled. Addresses were made by clergy and laymen, in which the legislature was arraigned in scathing terms.

A Norwich Belle Weds a Chinaman.

NORWICH, Conn., Feb. 27.—Kwai Pahn Lee, an one time a student in the Free academy here, and Miss Elizabeth Standish Jewett of this city were united in marriage at the home of the bride's brother, Professor F. F. Jewett, in Oberlin, O. Kwai Pahn Lee is a native of China and was sent here by the government when very young to be educated.

President Harrison's Possibilities.

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—From a hint given by John D. Rockefeller it is believed that a chair of constitutional law will be endowed in connection with the Chicago university, the salary to be $25,000 per year, and that President Harrison will be invited to accept this position and lecture at least twice a week to the students of that educational institution.

Milan and Natalie Not Divorced at All.

VIENNA, Feb. 27.—The Metropolitan Michael has pronounced the divorce of ex-King Milan and Natalie void. According to this decision the first marriage is still valid and hence a second marriage, which has been contemplated, will not be necessary.

ENGLAND WANTS HAWAII

Ready to Gobble It if Uncle Sam Lets Go.

NEUMAN HAS FAITH IN THE SENATE.

He Believes a Jumbering Trip Only Will Result From the Consideration of the President's Message—An Opinion Expressed of the Princess.

CHICAGO, Feb. 27.—W. C. Wilds and J. Marsden of the Hawaiian commissioners have left for San Francisco. L. A. Thurston returns to Washington, where he will remain until the new administration takes final action on the matter of annexation. Mr. Marsden said: "If the Democrats fail to take speedy action toward annexing the Hawaiian Islands, it will be the last chance the United States will ever have to get them. England is playing a smart diplomatic game. She knows she is to enter a protest would precipitate annexation only, hes England stands ready to act at a moment's notice. Warships are on the way, and if Minister Woodhouse, the English representative on the islands, has occasion to call troops ashore these troops will never be removed until the English flag is raised over the islands."

Neuman Says Annexation Is Defeated.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—Mr. Paul Neuman, the envoy of Queen Liliuokalani to Washington, expresses his confident conviction that the treaty of annexation made with the commissioners of the provisional government of Hawaii was practically defeated. He said that the senate would be asked this week to appoint a commission to visit the islands and investigate the condition of affairs there. If this were done, he said, the senate and the country would learn the condition of affairs under which the people of Hawaii would unanimously support a movement for the annexation of the islands if it were their unfettered intention that was the best thing for both countries. The present treaty, Mr. Neuman said, gave the people of Hawaii practically nothing, and the offer of the islands' queen came from a body of men who had nothing to give.

He asserted that the queen had not been deposed, but had simply retired to her private residence in order to avoid a conflict with the United States troops. He asserted that Minister Stevens had been compelled to raise the United States flag over the government buildings in Honolulu to protect the provisional government from its own partizans. Having established the protectorate, however, Mr. Neuman said Minister Stevens should have been amply supported by his government. Personally he hoped the protectorate would be maintained until the future course of the islands was settled.

Criticises the Princess.

Mr. Neuman criticised the action of Mr. Blount in the Princess Kaiulani and also his reported proposition to Minister Lincoln in London to accept a United States protectorate over Hawaii. The Princess is next on the throne and a regency for three years.

"Why for three years?" he was asked.

"Because she will be of age next year, and if she is ever qualified to reign it will be then. Mr. Davies acted, I believe without authority. The friends of the princess in Honolulu opposed the regency, and bringing her to this country, but she seems to have been started off before letters from the island could reach her. It is not believes the officials of the United States will be inclined to receive with a kindly spirit the intermeddling of this Liverpool merchant."

The Montana Tie Liable to Break.

HELENA, Mon., Feb. 27.—There is great gloom in the Clark camp over the apparently authentic report that three of the Dixon men will today vote for Mantle. Republican, for senator. Pauline Matthews is also said to be prepared to help break the deadlock by voting for Mantle. With the full Republican vote, the four defections will be sufficient to elect Mantle. Two Republicans, however, have so far refused to vote for him. If they refuse to come into line, Mantle will have only 39 votes—one short of a majority. But one week of the session remains, and if no election results Governor Rickards will name Senator Sanders' successor to serve until 1895.

Corbett and Mitchell's Money Is Up.

BOSTON, Feb. 27.—Charley Mitchell, the fighter, and his backer, Abingdon Beird, arrived in this city and registered at the Parker House. They met David H. Blanchard at his home on Columbus avenue, and a private consultation was held, at the close of which Beird said the money was all up for the Mitchell-Corbett fight, but he would give no particulars regarding it. Mitchell will have here Monday night. After the Hall-Fitzsimmons fight Mr. Hall go to England to do some preliminary work and will return to this country about eight weeks before the date of his fight with Corbett. Mitchell expects to weigh in at 170 or 172 pounds.

An Attempt at Highway Robbery.

WILMINGTON, N. C., Feb. 27.—C. Wilson, a butcher, while on his way home from the Front Street market, was knocked senseless by some blunt instrument in the hands of a highway robber. He remained on the sidewalk unconscious nearly an hour, when he was discovered and taken home. The robber took Mr. Wilson's account books, but did not find any money on his person, as it had been carefully hidden.

Boston to Learn of Chicago.

CHICAGO, Feb. 27.—Twenty-six members of the Massachusetts legislature are in the city to investigate the systems of rapid transit and underground wire conduits in this city. When the committee has obtained all the information possible, they intend to apply their knowledge for the benefit of Boston, which is now confronted with the same problems in those which are of vast importance to its future.

Hart Will Run Against Russell.

BOSTON, Feb. 27.—Postmaster and ex-Mayor Thomas N. Hart of this city has announced that he is a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor. The Republicans have for several years past tried to induce Mr. Hart to be their candidate.

A French Bicycle Record.

PARIS, Feb. 27.—In the 1,000-kilometer bicycle race in Machinery hall on the exhibition grounds Terront covered the distance in 43 hours and defeated Corre, who came in second, by 10 kilometers.

gradually growing worse. Three years ago I got down so low that I could scarcely walk. I looked more like a corpse than a living being. I had no appetite and for five months could not retain food on my stomach. I was terribly emaciated and had no more color than a marble statue. My friend's friends was present and I thought I would try it. Before I had finished the first bottle I noticed that I felt better, and before I had finished the second bottle I could eat my food and relish it. I continued to gain in every way than, and I began to feel hungry. After I had taken three bottles I could eat anything and relish it. I have gained in flesh more than I had in all 5 years a day. I have now fully recovered. [Sold by]

THE POPULIST HOUSE OUT.

The Kansas Third Party Will Respect the Findings of the Court.

TOPEKA, Feb. 27.—The antifusion Republicans and Democrats are at sea over the sudden and unexpected withdrawal of B. F. Waggener from the senatorial race. The plans were all laid to elect Waggener today or Tuesday, but since he withdrew, without even giving a word of warning or explanation, they feel very sore and do not conceal it. Democrats and Republicans charge that Martin has made a deal with representatives of the Gould interests to secure Waggener's withdrawal.

A boom has been started for Colonel Ross-sington, a stalwart Democrat, for senator. The Republican leaders say they can get four or five Populist votes for him. This, with the solid Republican strength, will elect. They also claim that the supreme court decision knocking out the Populist house also knocks out Martin, and that if all the other acts of the alleged Populist house are illegal Martin was not elected. Therefore it will be easy to get several votes from Populists for a straight Democrat on the ground that the other election was illegal.

Telegrams were received here from leading Democrats in Washington and New York saying that Rossington, if given 63 votes, will be sure of election.

The Populists have agreed to respect the supreme court decision and will march into Representative hall this afternoon and take their seats in the Republican house.

THE POPE IS BETTER.

He Receives and Addresses Pilgrims at St. Peter's.

ROME, Feb. 27.—The pope's cold is much better, and yesterday he said mass in the private chapel. Somewhat later he received Count Reverters-Salandra, Austrian embassador, who presented to him a letter of congratulation from Emperor Franz Joseph and several gifts, one of them an ivory crucifix set with large diamonds. The pope received the Scottish pilgrims and listened to a Latin address read in their behalf by Archbishop MacDonald. After the presentation of Peter's pence the pope expressed his gratitude briefly, and Mgr. Merry del Val read in French a formal address from the pope to the pilgrims. After being blessed by the pope the pilgrims withdrew.

Cardinal Vaughan held a large reception at the English college. The most conspicuous pilgrims and Catholic residents of Rome were present.

MACKAY'S ASSAILANT WILL LIVE.

He Had Lain In Wait For the Millionaire For a Month.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 27.—Wellsey C. Rippey, who tried to kill John W. Mackay, is disappointing the doctors, who predicted at first that he could not live 12 hours, but finally made it 48 hours. He has passed this point, and seems to be gaining rather than losing strength. He talked a little, and in regard to the shooting he said: "I had been watching for Mackay for about a month because I regarded him as the cause of all my losses. I am not sorry that I shot at him, but I made a bad business of it, for at that close range I ought to have killed him at the first fire."

Mackay is getting along nicely, but his doctors still enforce the rule that he shall receive no callers and discuss no business.

Governor Brown Accuses His Predecessor.

LOUISVILLE, Feb. 27. — In a report to the legislature Governor Brown and Secretary of State Hardy charge that the Mason & Ford company of Frankfort, lessees of the state's convict labor, owed the state $94,000 on account of the convicts in the Eddyville penitentiary. The Mason & Ford company have a 10-year lease, which was made by Governor Buckner, Governor Brown's predecessor. The lessees built the Eddyville prison, and Governor Brown charges in his report that the contract was altered for their benefit and that various concessions were made in their favor. Ex-Governor Buckner publishes an open letter, in which he charges Governor Brown with misrepresenting the records.

Rich Mineral Find In Michigan.

SAGINAW, Mich., Feb. 27.—W. R. Burt some years ago purchased a quantity of timbered land in St. Louis county, Minn. Within the past year there has been discovered on a 40-acre tract of this land a rich deposit of ore which runs high to Bessemer and low to phosphorus. The deposit is only covered by light earth, and it is claimed there are 10,000,000 tons in sight. It is not a vein, but a deep bed of mineral wealth, which is so accessible and of such a quality that it can be dug out with steam shovels. Mr. Burt has leased the mine on a royalty of 80 per cent, which will bequivalent to an income of $800,000 a year.

The Trials of a Devoted Mother.

ASBURY PARK, N. J., Feb. 27.—Mrs. Harris, mother of Carlyle W. Harris, came to this place to procure evidence in favor of her son's application for a new trial. Mrs. Harris went to the home of Mr. Lefferson, who in 1890 ran a ph rmacy near the beach. When questioned whether he had sold morphine to Helen Potts, Mr. Lefferson said he had often sold it to her during that season. Mrs. Harris then visited several lawyers, but they refused to take Mr. Lefferson's affidavits. She then went to Jersey City, where the druggist's affidavits were prepared and sworn to.

The President of the Manhattan Diss.

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—Francis Ormond French, president of the Manhattan Trust company, died at his cottage at Tuxedo. He was born in Chester, N. H., on Sept. 12, 1837. His father was Benjamin Brown French, who was clerk of the United States house of representatives in 1845-7 and commissioner of public buildings under Lincoln. His mother was a daughter of Chief Justice W. M. Richardson of Chester, N. H.

THE TREASURY AGENT'S FIGURES.

Prediction That the Second Year of the Probationary Six Will Fulfill the Law's Requirements as to the Quantity of Domestic Manufacture.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—Special Agent Ayer has submitted another report to the treasury department on the development of the tin plate industry. The period covered by this report is the quarter ending Dec. 31, 1892.

The report shows that during that period 83 firms produced 19,756,491 pounds of tin and terne plates proper. The same number of firms produced during the previous quarter 10,965,810 pounds.

Of the production of the past quarter, 6,138,739 pounds, or a little less than one-third of the whole, were bright tin plates, of which 5,276,484 pounds, or about 86 per cent, consisted of the class of plates weighing lighter than 63 pounds per 100 square feet; 13,617,752 pounds were terne plates, of which 12,984,646 pounds, or more than 90 per cent, belonged to the lighter class of plates.

The amount of American sheet iron and steel made into articles and wares tinned or terne coated during the quarter, as shown by the sworn statements of manufacturers received to date, was 2,243,936 pounds. The total production of tin and terne plates for the six months ended Dec. 31, 1892, was 38,852,955 pounds.

An Increase Ratio of 1 to 14.

The production of tin and terne plates proper during the first six months of the present fiscal year was 30,709,216 pounds, against 2,236,743 pounds produced during the corresponding period of the previous year, the ratio of increase having been nearly as 1 to 14. The production of the last fiscal year was 13,646,719 pounds, which is considerably less than one-half the production during the first six months of the present year.

The consumption of American black plates in the production of tin and terne plates proper during the first six months of the present fiscal year was 30,709,216 pounds, against 2,236,743 pounds produced during the corresponding period of the previous year, the ratio of increase having been nearly as 1 to 14. The production of the last fiscal year was 13,646,719 pounds, which is considerably less than one-half the production during the first six months of the present year.

The production of the last fiscal year was 13,646,719 pounds, which is considerably less than one-half the production during the first six months of the present year.

Of the 32 firms who submitted their sworn returns for the quarter, 9 firms made and used their own black plates exclusively, 5 others used only American plates, 9 used both American and foreign plates and 10 used only foreign plates. The American plates are generally preferred by manufacturers to the foreign.

One Tin Mine a Failure.

The report states that the Temescal tin mine in southern California and the Harney Peak mine in South Dakota have suspended operations, and suggests that inasmuch as it now seems probable that the tin mines of this country will not be developed in the near future to an extent that will afford an adequate product of the metal, it is worthy of consideration whether, in the interest of tin plate manufacturers, the law which imposes a duty of 4 cents per pound on and after July 1 on cassiterite and bar, block and pig tin might not be advantageously repealed.

Under existing provisions of law American manufacturers must produce during one of the six fiscal years ending June 30, 1897, one-third of the net importations of one of the said years. It is but assumed that the importations will not be less during any one of the remaining years specified, the amount of the lighter class of plates which must be produced by American manufacturers during one of the six years in question may be positively stated at 79,857,059 pounds. Agent Ayer thinks it probable that this amount will be equaled during the present fiscal year.

Hard to Tell What Is Wanted.

OMAHA, Feb. 27.—M. V. Gannon, president of the Irish National league, emphatically denies that he authorized the address said to have been issued by officers of the league directed against the Gladstone home rule bill. Mr. Gannon says he received a telegram from Treasurer Lyman asking him if he would join in such an address, and he telegraphed in reply: "No, not against the bill itself. If against certain portions of the bill, yes. The bill itself is right in principle, but some of its provisions should be modified in committee." Mr. Gannon asserts that it would be the height of madness for the league to denounce a bill which both factions in Ireland have agreed to support.

A Girl Murders Her Mother.

COLLINGWOOD, Ont., Feb. 27.—Jennie Wonch, a 16-year-old girl, murdered her mother and cousin, a boy 5 years old. The girl used an ax, and the bodies of her victims were horribly mutilated. Jennie's brother brought the news of the murder to this place and says his sister wanted her mother out of the way so she could marry her lover.

Johnson Reduces a Skating Record.

MINNEAPOLIS, Feb. 27.—John S. Johnson, the skater, in a 300-yard dash here, reduced the record by three seconds, making the distance in 17 3-5 seconds. He skated two miles in 6 minutes 1 second, reducing the competitive record for that distance by 2 2-3 seconds. The ice was not in first class condition.

His Face a Good Razor Strop.

A young fop, who had just begun to shave for a beard, stepped into a hairdresser's shop, and after a great swagger desired to be shaved. The hairdresser went through the usual movements, and the spring jumped up with a flourish and exclaimed:

"My fine fellow, what is the charge?"

"Oh, no charge," replied the barber.

"No charge! How is that?"

"Why, I am always thankful when I can get a soft calfskin to sharpen the razor on."—Philadelphia Record.

FASHIONS

For Evening Wear.

A very charming toilet for a ball can be made like the accompanying sketch, which represents a model of the latest style. It consists of a slip and bodice of canary colored satin covered with draperies of white silk gauze net with a small design of trefoil in white and deep yellow. The bodice is perfectly plain and tight fitting, with a very deep berthe of the gauze, which conceals the small puffed sleeve. The draperies and berthe are edged with two rows of narrow yellow satin ribbon.

The New York Recorder says the materials required to make this gown are as follows:

11 yards cotton backed satin at...	75	$8 25
12 yards gauze net.....	50	7 00
26 yards ribbon.....	5	1 30
Linings.....	2 00	2 00
Dressmaker (two days).....	2 00	4 00
Total.....		$24 13

This gown may be made of less expensive material. The design would be equally effective carried out in crape or other inexpensive material.

Can Americans Take the Time?

A Frenchwoman takes a bath of 20 minutes' length, a cold shower bath of five minutes after that and then a rest of half an hour. After this her throat and neck are sprayed with elder flower water or violet water and gently rubbed until the surface has a clear, ivory hue. Scented orris powder is rubbed into the hair and carefully brushed out again, leaving a fine fragrance impossible of attainment by any other process. A delicate cream is rubbed over the face and smoothed off again after 10 minutes, obliterating every wrinkle and care line, every trace of weariness, and then my French madame is ready to be dressed. Bernhardt makes the water for her tepid bath milky white with sweet odors, of which even her maid does not know the secret.

MR. CLEVELAND PACKS HIS GRIP.

He Will Leave Lakewood on Thursday For Washington.

LAKEWOOD, N. J., Feb. 27.—President-elect Cleveland has decided upon the route he is to travel over in going from Lakewood to Washington. His train, which will be composed of four cars—a baggage, a dining and two parlor coaches—will leave on Thursday morning at 11 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland will be accompanied by Colonel and Mrs. Daniel Lamont, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Benedict, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Jefferson, Mr. and Mrs. Francis P. Freeman, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Watson Gilder and Miss Jeanette Gilder. Should Mr. Cleveland's private secretary not arrive here in time, he will join the party at Baltimore.

In all probability the various newspaper men who have been with Mr. Cleveland since he has been in Lakewood will accompany him on his trip.

Mr. Cleveland passed a quiet Sunday, with Mr. Carlisle as his only guest. In the afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland and Mr. Carlisle took a long drive through the Lakewood pines. Mr. Carlisle leaves for Washington today.

A Western Railroad Federation.

WICHITA, Kan., Feb. 27.—At a meeting held here plans were perfected to form a vast confederation of the employees of all the mechanical departments of the Santa Fe system. Over 50 delegates were present, representing the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, the Order of Railroad Conductors, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, the Switchmen's Mutual Aid association, the Order of Railway Telegraphers and the Brotherhood of Trainmen. Delegates were sent from the lodges at Chicago, Kansas City, Denver, Colorado Springs, Topeka, Emporia, Newton, Wichita, Chanute, Springfield, Galveston and Cleburne. "We have no grievances to right," said one delegate, "and we wish it thoroughly understood that no strike or trouble is contemplated, and the federation has not been suggested as a precaution for any strike now proposed. The organization is being formed solely with a view to protecting the system's employees in the event of any grievances coming up at some future time."

Science of Progress.

OPTICAL PHENOMENA.

Two Simple Illustrations of the Ease With Which the Eye May Be Deceived.

Take three strips of white paper (as shown in Fig. 1) of equal lengths, but one of them having only half the width of the other two. Cross the two broader strips like an X, and at their point of intersection place in an upright position the narrower strip. It will appear considerably longer than the others, and you will have to demonstrate by actual measurement that they are all alike in length before you will be able to convince the spectators of the fact. The illusion, which is sufficiently striking even in the illustration, will be found even more so when tested with actual pieces of white paper laid on a black ground (paper or cloth, as may be most convenient).

If, on the other hand, you form with your three strips a figure in the shape of an H, the narrow strips forming the transverse bar between the two wide ones, and then turn this strip round on its center, so as to lie diagonally between them, as shown in the second illustration, this strip will now appear shorter than the two vertical strips, though it is, as we know, of exactly the same length.

FIG. II—ILLUSIONS OF THE EYE.

Thus, by reason of this curious illusion to which the eye is subject and which may well deceive any person, a strip of paper exactly corresponding in length with two others, may be made to appear either longer or shorter than they, according to the relative positions given to them.

Natural Selection at Fault.

We can generally hold, by shades Darwinians that both the structure and the actions of animals are to a great extent dependent upon natural selection. Any organ or any habit which is not advantageous to its species will be, it is said, promptly suppressed as a possible danger, or at least as unremunerative demand. But a correspondent of Science declares that there are a few cases of habits which seem to have been acquired or maintained in flat contradiction to this doctrine. He says: "Every one knows that the feline, from the Bengal tiger down to our domestic mouser, when they have sissed a prey do not at once kill and devour it, but either torment it or at least sit and watch it for some time before administering the fatal bite or blow. The consequence is that the victim sometimes escapes, as we all have witnessed when pussy is playing with a mouse."

One instance at least is on record where a man, struck down by a tiger, quietly drew a dagger and stabbed the assailant to the heart. This could not have been done with a beast of prey of the canine or ursine family, as they do not allow time for devising and executing such a maneuver. Hence we see that the peculiar conduct of the cats is disadvantageous to themselves, and we ask why it has not been abandoned. Certainly any cat which should at once devour any mouse or bird which it had caught would, in times of scarcity, have a decided advantage over its fellow cats.

Similarly injudicious is the conduct of the domestic hen. As soon as she has laid an egg she at once announces the fact to all whom it may concern by her well known cackling. What benefit is this outcry to herself or to her species? On the contrary, the outcry is heard by animals which are given to stealing eggs and is understood by monkeys, if we may accept the evidence of La Vaillant. These animals, we have a line of conduct quite contrary to what natural selection would determine.

Discolored Pearls.

Mr. George F. Kunz, the well known gem expert, has expressed himself in regard to the popular belief that pearls become "sick" and colorless from being unworn and may be restored by soaking them in the sea. The theory is not founded in fact, and the sea can "will not help the pearls unless they were in a pearl oyster, receiving new layers of nacre; otherwise a dish of salt water would do as well as the sea." Mr. Kunz recommends that pearls which have become yellow through absorption of grease be cleaned with a little carbonate of soda, orris root, or by bleaching in the sun.

Waterproof Cement.

For a good cement which completely resists the solvent action of water The Horological Review gives the following formula: From 5 to 10 parts of pure, dry gelatin are dissolved in 100 parts water. To the solution is added about 10 per cent of concentrated solution of bichromate of potash. The liquid is kept in the dark. When articles joined with this cement are exposed to light, the gelatin film is acted upon, the chromate being partly reduced, and the film of the cement becomes tough and glossy.

FOLKLORE OF CRIME.

Ghastly Charms and Weird Queers In the Mystic Code of Criminals.

The mystic code which regulates the lives of these societies of society is in many cases a survival of fetichism of the oldest kind. Believing tenaciously in the dread efficacy of certain ghastly charms and incantations, the malefactor boldly enters on his enterprise, occasionally carrying with him "a dead man's hand"—taken from one who had died a violent death. Such a charm being supposed to overpower with sleep those who come under its influence, it is naturally an invaluable adjunct to the implements employed by thieves.

Some years ago an attempted robbery was made by burglars on an estate in Ireland, and, to quote a contemporary account of the affair, "they entered the house armed with a dead man's hand, with a lighted candle in it, believing that a candle so placed will not be seen by any but those by whom it has been used, and also that if a candle in a dead man's hand be introduced into a house it will prevent those who may be asleep from awakening. The inmates, however, were alarmed. The robbers fled, leaving the dead hand behind them."

Many similar stories are told of the use of the dead hand by thieves, one commemorated by the Rev. S. Baring-Gould being worthy of notice. Two men, having come to lodge in a public house with a view to robbing it, asked permission to pass the night by the fire and obtained it. When the house was quiet, the servant girl, suspecting mischief, crept down stairs and looked through the keyhole, when she saw the men open a sack and take out a dried, withered hand. They anointed the fingers with some unguent and lighted them. Each finger flamed except the thumb, which indicated that one of the household was not asleep.

Then there is the corpse candle, a weird implement of the robber's trade, which, although once common throughout Europe, seems to have been more general in Germany than any other country. Not so long ago, it may be remembered, four peasants in the south Russian government of Kursk murdered a girl in order to make candles of her body, the notion being that such a hideous light not only renders the perpetrators of robberies invisible, but actually throws the victim or victims into a state of somnolency. An instance of this piece of criminal lore occurred during the trial of the German thief, Thomas Unger, who was arrested at Magdeburg in 1810, when it was brought out in evidence that a regular traffic existed for the supply of these gruesome implements of the burglar's trade.

Criminals again have a deep rooted belief in the power of talismans and in the protecting properties of charms and amulets. Thus, according to an experienced English detective, the professional burglar invariably carries in his pocket a small lump of coal for luck. To this safeguard he pins his faith, and with his "bit of charmed coal" he believes it to defy the authorities, however shrewd they may be.

The Putty or Clay Pipe.

In England the first pipes used appear to have been made of clay, with narrow bowls and contracted mouths. Then, as the habit grew stronger and tobacco more costly, something more capacious would be required. These are the pipes which, under the name of "fairy pipes," are sometimes dug up and preserved as interesting relics of the past.

Aubrey, writing about 1690, says: "They (the English people) first had silver pipes, but the ordinary sort made use of walnut shell and straw. I have heard my grandfather say that one pipe was handed from man to man round the table. Within these 38 years 'twas scandalous for a divine to take tobacco. It was then sold for its weight in silver. I have heard some of our old yeomen neighbours say that when they went to market they used to carry their biggest shilling to lay in the scales against tobacco; now the customers of it are the greatest his majesty hath."

It is not generally known, according to All the Year Round, that the word "cutty," as applied to a species of clay pipe very much used, is a corruption of Kutaieh, the name of a city in Asia Minor, where a species of soft, white stone is found which is exported by the Turks to Germany for the manufacture of tobacco pipes.

Large Trees of Great Britain.

Nearly every county in England has its favorite oak, the largest of which is the Cowthorpe of Yorkshire, which has a circumference of 30 feet. The Carnoch ash in Strathsigachie is 31 feet in circumference. The Tortworth chestnut in Gloucestershire was used to identify the boundary in the year 1135. It is said to have been the first tree that was ever planted in Great Britain by man. The largest cedars in England are at Clumber; they measure 27 feet in circumference. There is a yew tree at Crowhurst in Sussex 32 feet in circumference. The "Crawley elm" is 61 feet in girth. The largest beech tree is to be found in Cornbury Park, Berkshire, and the largest sycamore is at Cobham Park, with a circumference of 25 feet, says Garden and Forest.

The Word "Blue" In Phrase and Fable.

Blue is a favorite adjective for the impossible in popular phrase and fable. The blue flower of the German romanticists represented the unattainable, and in France Alphonse Karr has domesticated the similar expression "blue rose." "Once in a blue moon" translates the French "bleuir à la lune," meaning to howl at the moon. "To blush like a blue dog," an expression that is preserved in Swift's "Polite Conversation," means not to blush at all. More than a century earlier, however, Stephen Gosson, in the "Apologie For the School of Abuse" (1579), speaks with similar meaning of "blushing like a black dog." Sometimes blue is used as an intensive. Thus schoolboys speak of "blue fear" and "blue funk," and the phrase to "drink till all is blue" is at least as old as Ford's "Lady's Trial" (1639).

Scott as a Lover.

Mr. Ruskin declares that Scott never comprehended a passionate lover. Mr. Laing refers, as was first done by Professor Palgrave in his introduction to Scott's poems, to the great passion for Margery Stuart Belches which swept over and colored his early life. "He whose heart was broken for two years," and retained the crack till his dying day; he who, when old and tired and near his death, was yet moved by the memory of the name which 30 years before he had cut in Runic characters on the turf at the castle gate of St. Andrew, knew love too well to write of it much or speak of it at all." And then Mr. Laing quotes the infinite first letter of Rose Bradwardine to Waverley.

ALMOST A TRAGEDY.

He Suspected His Wife, but It Was All Right After All.

"Come here, Smith, I want to speak to you a moment."

They were fellow clerks in one of Detroit's large stores.

"All right, Brown. What is it?"

"You know my wife."

"I have that pleasure, Brown."

"Noticed anything queer in—in—her actions lately?"

"Haven't seen Mrs. Brown for several weeks, if you remember."

"Ha! is that so? Smith, I have been very happy."

"Why do you put your happiness in the past tense?"

"Smith, come home with me tonight. It is an hour earlier than usual. Ha! I may discover the perfidious wretch who has invaded the sanctity of my home and ruined my happiness. Come!"

He spoke in sepulchral tones, and seizing Smith by the arm hurried him off to the modest cottage where he lived.

"She is in the parlor! Heavens! The blinds are tightly drawn. Villain, I have thee. Listen!"

He drew Smith after him into the hall, and together they listened at the parlor door.

"You first taught me to love. Your eyes!" they heard the young wife say in sweet, joyful tones.

"And you will always love me, my own darling. I know it; I feel it," answered a resonant masculine voice.

Smith gripped Brown by the arm and held him back.

"Wait," he whispered. "Make assurance doubly sure."

"The wretches—the"—

"H-u-s-h."

"We will never part," continued the sweet feminine voice. "I will fly with you to the ends of the earth. We will live and die together!"

"Die now!" shrieked Brown as he burst through the door, his hand raised to strike the destroyer of his peace to the floor. Then he stood short, for there was no one in the room but his wife, who blushed very red on seeing him.

"Where is he?" he shouted. "He cannot escape. Bring him out and let me kill him in my righteous anger."

"Don't be a goose, Tom," said the wife. "You know there was no one in the room."

"I will swear that I heard a man's voice—so will my friend Smith."

"It was mine, and I'm ever so glad it sounded like a man," said his wife, laughing. "I'm taking elocution lessons and make my debut Saturday night. I was going to surprise you, you great, jealous goose."

"You did," said Tom meekly as he sank into one chair, while his friend flopped into another. "I may safely say that I was never so agreeably surprised in my life."—Detroit Free Press.

The man had informed a number of his friends that he was going down and give his editor a thumping, and his friends, who knew the editor, tried to dissuade him, because they had seen a few wrecks who had escaped. But it was no use; he was bound to go, and they couldn't prevent him. They waited across the street, however, with an ambulance to receive him when the call was finished. In about 15 minutes he came out without even his necktie mussed and not a scratch visible.

"Hello," they said in surprise, "he wasn't there, was he?"

"Yes, he was."

"But you didn't see him!"

"Yes, I did, and I slapped his jaws and walked all over him."

"Come off; what are you giving us?"

"Straight goods."

"Didn't he make any resistance?"

"Not a bit."

"What was the matter with him?"

"Nothing. I had one of his papers in my pocket containing an insurance policy good for $1,000 if I were killed, and for $20 a week if I were injured. I showed it to him, and then I went for him, and he didn't raise a finger."

"Now is the time to subscribe!" shouted the crowd, and they all went in behind a green shutter.—Exchange.

TO DEMAND THE REPEAL

OF THE INFAMOUS RACE TRACK BILLS.

Citizens from all Over the State to Meet at Trenton—A Large Delegation Expected from Plainfield.

Citizens from all parts of New Jersey are joining in a general uprising against the recent enacted race track laws at Trenton. The following has just been issued by Mayor Gilbert:

PLAINFIELD, February 28th, 1893.

A mass meeting of citizens from all parts of the State has been called to meet at the State House, Trenton, on Wednesday, March, 1st, at noon, to demand of our legislatures the repeal of the race-track bills. A large delegation is expected from Plainfield. All citizens interested in the movement who can make it convenient to attend are requested to do so as representatives from this city. Those who respond to this call are hereby constituted members of the Committee which I, as chairman of Sunday's meeting, was authorized to appoint. A. GILBERT, Chairman.

Since the above was written word has been received by telegram that both Houses have adjourned to attend the inauguration March 4th.

The above means that the race track gamblers are trying to balk the people in having the obnoxious laws repealed, hoping that by the time they re-assemble the opposition will have spent its strength.

BREVITIES.

—Gazelle Engine Company will hold a meeting to-morrow evening.

—To-night the Park Club bowlers will roll a game in the series with the Cranford Club.

—A special meeting of the Plainfield Bicycle Club will be held on Saturday, March 4, at eight o'clock, p. m., in the club house.

—There will be no exhibition at the Camera Club to-night. The lantern slides expected from New York have not arrived.

—Thursday night the Crescent League team and the Y. M. C. L. A's of Elizabeth will bowl a Journal League game on the latter's alleys.

—The Park Club will bowl the New Jersey Athletic Club on the latter's alleys, at Bergen Point, on Wednesday evening, March 8.

—The interior of Mr. Charles Leggett's handsome house on Madison avenue is being beautifully decorated by Messrs. Marsh, Myers & Co.

—North Plainfield firemen are contemplating giving a reception, sometime next month, to the young ladies who aided in making their recent fair a success.

—Messrs. Moore Coddington and Harry Spencer, in the First District, and Dr. W. E. Martine and Mr. J. J. Stahl, in the Second District, were sworn in as clerks of election in North Plainfield to-day.

—A mixed coal and freight train, on the New Jersey Central, parted near Bound Brook yesterday, and when the front portion stopped the rear crashed into it. Eighteen cars were piled in a heap across both tracks.

—A Standard reporter recently dropped in to see U. B. Crane, the hatter, now in his new quarters on Front street, Plainfield. Mr. Crane has the largest hat store in Plainfield and is doing a rushing business.—Westfield Standard.

—The American Engine Company Works of Bound Brook have shut down, throwing 200 men out of employment. The company say that the high grade engines did not work successfully. Several Plainfield mechanists were employed there.

—A special train will be run over the Central to Trenton to-morrow to accommodate those desiring to attend the mass meeting there. It will leave Elizabeth at 10 a. m., and Plainfield at 10.26. Special excursion tickets will be sold good to return March 1st and 2d, and can be used on any train.

—Mr. Edward S. Hooley has contributed two bowling balls to the Park Club as prizes. One for the regular member, and the other for the junior member making the highest average out of thirty games to be played during March. No less than thirty games will be permitted, and each game must be announced before being played.

—Some experiments to show the nature of fire will be made at the Y. M. C. A. rooms, Thursday evening, by Mr. Franklin S. Smith, of the High School. Phosporous will be made to burn under water. Iron will be made to burn, and many other interesting illustrations of combustion will be shown. The admission will be free to all men.

—A large and handsome, light colored, bird dog, ran into a yard on Manning avenue yesterday afternoon. The sharp, whip-like report of a Flobert rifle was heard, and, a moment later, the dog was seen dragging itself out of the yard. It had been shot through the hips. It crawled up on the stoop of Mr. Vroom's house, No. 26 Manning avenue. Later he found it there. He saw it was a valuable animal, evidently a pet, and had it brought into his kitchen, where it now is receiving good care. He has an advertisement elsewhere, concerning it.

THE NEW TRUCK SATISFACTORY.

A Public Exhibition Given of its Workings Yesterday Afternoon.

The new hook and ladder truck was publicly exhibited on Park avenue yesterday afternoon. The sixty-five feet extension ladder was raised and lowered with ease. It was placed along side the City Hotel and several of the members of the company climbed to the roof of that building very easily.

The exhibition was witnessed by Councilmen Erickson, Bird, Marsh and Fisk. The former three constitute the Fire and Water Committee of Common Council. The corners of Park avenue and Second street were crowded with spectators. After the exhibition the truck, on which were Councilmen Erickson, Bird and Fisk, besides several members of the company, was driven up Front street and so back to the house.

The Fire Commission and Chief Deane held a meeting in the truck house, and decided to accept the truck as it was perfectly satisfactory in every particular.

THAT BOARD OF EDUCATION BILL.

Plainfielders at Trenton for and Against It.

A hearing is expected to be given to-day on the Board of Education bill, introduced in the House, at Trenton, by Assemblyman Kyte, which was drawn by Mayor Gilbert and favored by the Plainfield Common Council.

Corporation Counsel Craig A. Marsh, ex-Judge John Ulrich, Lawyer William M. Stillman and Messrs. Charles Opdyke and Capt. J. Frank Hubbard left on the 9.48 train this morning for the Capitol.

Mr. Marsh goes in the interest of the Common Council and Mr. Ulrich represents the Board of Education.

President of the Board George H. Babcock and Trustees Hurlbut and Finch are expected to be present.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. F. M. Hulett is spending this week with Mr. and Mrs. John Haynes of New York.

Miss Brydee Randolph has returned to her home in this city after a two years' tour in Europe.

Next Thursday evening a birthday party will be held at the home of Mr. Goldson Smalley, at Green Brook. It will be largely attended by relatives and friends from this city.

To-morrow night Mr. and Mrs. S. K. Bolmer will hold a reception at the residence of Councilman J. B. Coddington, on Union avenue, Bound Brook. City Judge and Mrs. W. A. Coddington will attend.

Mr. Peter V. Weaver of Orchard place, who has been confined to the house for two weeks past with rheumatism, is able to walk out again. He is unable, however, to resume his duties as letter carrier yet.

Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis of this city last evening addressed, in New York, a large meeting of the Society for the Promotion of Social Purity and was followed by Miss Anna Dickinson, who, he says, spoke with all her old-time vigor.

At a recent sociable at the Congregational church, on West Seventh street, Mr. John V. Beekman of West Eighth street, rendered the difficult piece, "The Last Idea of Von Weber," with such skill that the pastor complimented him in the last issue of his paper, Our Church. The compliment is well merited, as Mr. Beekman gives promise of becoming one of our most talented musicians.

Mr. O. S. Teale of North Plainfield, was last evening a guest at a banquet by the Newark Camera Club, of Newark, which, judging by Mr. Teale's description to some friends, and other evidences which he had with him, must have been a sweetly delightful affair. Mr. Teale is the president of the New Jersey Division of the League of Amateur Photographers, and as such had the seat of honor at the table, around which were assembled some of the most prominent citizens of New Jersey, financially and socially.

Mr. George H. Babcock of Eighth street, by invitation, lectured last evening in the rooms of the New York Camera Club, No. 314 Fifth avenue. The lecture was entitled "Random Shots at Home and Abroad," and comprised, he said, views taken in the spare moments of a busy life. The lecture and views were very interesting, and included many views of Plainfield, which averaged very well, and made the Plainfielders present feel quite proud of their town, as New Yorkers present make remarks something like these: "Well, I think I would like to live there." "What a very pretty place Plainfield must be!" "I must run out that way some day." The audience was very select, and that they were appreciative was shown in their frequent but well merited applause. After the entertainment Mr. Franklin Harper, of Harper Brothers, who was chairman of the entertainment, entertained the Plainfield guests and several prominent New York gentlemen, to a spread at Merschutz's. The Plainfielders reached home at an early hour this morning greatly pleased with their reception.

New Quarters for No. 2's.

Plainfield Engine Co. No. 2, will move into their new quarters on East Second street as soon as the work of getting a room in proper shape is completed. The work is now well under way. The company's new quarters will only be temporary, and will be occupied only until their new house is completed.

A SERMON TO YOUNG MEN

THE FIRST OF A SERIES DELIVERED SUNDAY EVENING.

By the Rev. Chas. E. Herring, at the First Presbyterian Church, on "Joseph, the Discreet Young Man." A Brilliant Discourse.

The first of the series of sermons for young men was delivered Sunday evening by the Rev. Chas. E. Herring in the First Presbyterian church.

The pastor said, in substance, speaking of "Joseph, the Discreet Young Man;"

The Lord was with Joseph and he was a prosperous man. And yet if the curtain of history had fallen while he was in that Egyptian dungeon we should not have seen the evidences of God's providence. For thirteen weary years fortune did not seem to smile upon Joseph, yet that thirteen years was the disciplinary process for greater things for Joseph, his family and humanity. Shortsighted men would have discerned prosperity in his brethren who quietly fed their flocks and would declare the evidence all against a righteous life.

"Lift the curtain after the thirteen years, and behold the transformation from the prison to the palace, from poverty to princeliness, from the abject betrayer to the honored ruler. Judgment should not be hasty in estimating God's providences.

"Joseph was a man of rare qualities. He had the grace of David, but added purity and persistence which David lacked. He had the power of dealing with foreigners that Daniel possessed, but with a cheerful disposition greater than Daniel.

"Joseph is a model for the young man of to day in his spirit of Inflexibility. He was a man of iron. There was nothing of the "muff" about him. He was not a flimsy flabby milksop, who found his temptations greater than he could bear, not a weather vane telling the direction of the wind. He knew the art of saying 'no,' courteously yet positively. He was no puppet lead about by the string of any damsel. He was like an Atlantic liner made of Swedish steel and facing the breeze. He did not pray 'I want to be an angel,' but, 'I want to be a man.' God wants no imbeciles, but men, and that is the meaning of trial.

"He was beautiful of countenance. His mother was beautiful, and it was his natural inheritance, but no flattery of his personal charms could unsteady his steadfastness. He knew how to retreat. He fled leaving his coat behind him, but his conscience within him. The retreat of the 10,000 was one of the noblest events in history. The retreat of Joseph from the bewitching powers of temptation is just as noble. I note again his piety. He was good without being goody-goody. The basis of his inflexibility was his piety. He was strong in the Lord.

God's way was mysterious to him, but he knew the end would be right. Piety is the youth is fraged with manliness. He is a pious lad savors of hypocrisy. The youth is taunted with such epithets, but Joseph was pious.

The devotion of the first hour in the morning has been the secret of the success of many great men. William of Orange entered into an alliance with the King of Kings before he took up the cause of the oppressed Christians in the provinces. Aim to be pious and you will never err with Byron

"Ah, it is sublime, ah!

The future cheats us from afar

Nor can we wish for what we are.'

Nor dare we think on what we are.'

"Sagacity is another prominent trait in the man. That sagacity was recognized by the father. He was a young man of insights and foresights. To profit Joseph was not a difficult problem to him. His sagacity was recognized by Pharoah and he was placed over the affairs of the nation—a position of tremendous responsibility. Egyptian famine has been illustrated in the famine of the middle ages when men were kidnapped from the streets of Cairo to be devoured in secret.

"This insight and foresight rendered him patient under his varied trials. He believed in dreams, as a boy, and he still believed in them in the prison. His belief in dreams and therefore in God was undaunted. Joseph could not be crushed. Don't be too easily discouraged. Don't revel in the shadows of life. Live in the sunlight. Find some spot in the rays of light and dwell there. Poor Carlyle was the greatest pessimist of his age, so black as night, but he was always hunting for and groping in the dungeon. Learn another feature of his character, that of magnanimity.

"He was charged falsely. Charged with a crime that must have burned into his sensitive nature. He denied it, but did not deny or criminate Potiphar. He had a great esteem for Potiphar. He might have slain him. He might have ruined him, but this man delivered him from slavery and he respected him. He bore the sin of another, and in this he seems like a type of Christ. He would rather bear the punishment himself than injure his master. In his purity you would find many like him, but in this gracious magnanimity how few! But such a character of this would not long remain in bondage. The cost of many colors was soon to be exchanged for a royal garment. His inflexibility on all occasions manifested itself.

"Be true if the whole world be untrue. Be unselfish in a selfish age. Among the few. Let the life of Joseph be a stimulus to you for its inflexibility, piety, sagacity, and magnanimity."

The Funeral of Mr. Redfern.

The funeral of Wm. Y. Redfern, who died last Friday from injuries received in falling from the new opera-house building while chopping ice from the gutters, was held in the Methodist church, Cranford, yesterday afternoon. The exercises were in charge of the pastor, Rev. W. B. Judd, Rev. S. P. Lacey, pastor of the church for five years, was also present, with a delegation from the Knights and Ladies of the Golden Eagle. There were also many present from the following orders of which Mr. Redfern was a member; Odd Fellows, Knights of Pythias, Junior Order of American Mechanics, Royal Arcanum and Master Workmen. The Knights and Ladies of the Golden Star and the Royal Arcanum the widow will receive $5,000.

RECTOR JENNINGS HAS A HEARING.

The Trouble Between Him and His Church Discussed.

The trouble between Rev. J. B. Jennings, pastor of Grace Episcopal church, at Westfield, and his vestry and congregation was discussed yesterday in Elizabeth, in the lecture room of Christ church. The General Standing Committee of the Episcopal church in New Jersey had been appealed to by Rev. Mr. Jennings for a final hearing when Bishop Scarborough informed the rector he would have to go, and the hearing was fixed for yesterday.

Bishop Scarborough was present. Rector Jennings and the vestrymen with whom he is at sword's point were also there. The committee, composed of ministers from this city and Roselle, was likewise prompt in arriving.

Seven members of the committee were present. Rev. A. B. Baker, of Princeton, was in the chair. Vestrymen Elliott, Forster and Cole represented the Westfield church.

Several witnesses were examined and Rector Jennings was heard in his own defence, while Bishop Scarborough related the complaints lodged with him against the rector, whose alleged drinking habits seem to be his greater fault.

The session lasted nearly two hours. The committee reserved its decision.

THE PRESIDENTIAL TRAIN

Will Pass Through this City about Two O'Clock Thursday Afternoon.

The Presidential special train, which will run over the Reading road, carrying the President-elect and party from Lakewood to Washington, on Thursday, will consist of a Royal Blue Line baggage car and the private cars Baltimore, Cleveland, and Monmouth.

The train will leave Lakewood at 12.15 p. m., reaching Elizabeth at 1.50 p. m. and Bound Brook at 2.11, passing through this city at about two o'clock.

Y. M. C. A. Lectures.

Major-General O. O. Howard, U. S. A., who is widely known throughout the country, will deliver the first of a course of lectures under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. during March and April. Subject: "Major-Gen. Geo. H. Thomas." Those who have heard this lecture pronounce it exceedingly interesting and instructive. Gen. Thomas enjoyed the unique distinction of being the only General of the North, or South, in the War of the Rebellion, who succeeded in destroying the opponent's army. This he did when he met Gen. Hood at the battle of Nashville. After that battle Hood was never able to get his army together.

The second lecture will be delivered by Major-General Wager Swayne, U. S. A., Commander of the Royal Legion of the State of New York. He enlisted August, 1861, as Major of the Forty-third Ohio Volunteers and served through the war with great distinction. After the war Gen. Swayne was assigned to duty in the South during the reconstruction period. He will give some interesting facts in connection with his experience during this period.

The third lecture will be given by Sergeant Charles E. Sprague, who enlisted in May, 1861, with Ellsworth in the Forty-fourth New York Volunteers.

In Trouble Again.

Ex-Policeman "Nick." Kelly, of this city, made a rumpus in the borough last evening, but escaped before he could be arrested.

Marshal Pangborn, however, has taken steps to secure a State warrant for Kelly's arrest, as the charge against him is a very serious one.

Kelly's wife resides on Emily street, in North Plainfield. She is a dressmaker and supports herself. All she asks is to be let alone to earn her own living, which it appears Kelly will not permit her to do, nor support her either.

He went to her home last night, and, she says, choked and beat her, and insulted her by calling her foul and abusive names.

The trouble seems to have been over a sewing machine, which, when living together, they had bought on the installment plan. Kelly had paid it on account, and the wife had paid the balance, and declined to part with the property.

She has made complaint, and asked for protection, and special efforts are to be made by citizens to punish Kelly as they consider he deserves.

Hillside Tennis Club.

A regular meeting of the Hillside Tennis Club will be held at the club house, on Broadway, to-morrow evening, at eight o'clock. Business of considerable importance will be discussed.

A resolution will be offered to change Section I, Article X, of the Constitution to read as follows:

"The annual meeting of the club held in March in each year, a Nominating Committee shall be appointed, by the chairman, at the annual meeting; and it shall be the duty of such Committee to prepare a ticket for the election of officers and members of the Executive Committee, the said ticket to be voted upon at the annual meeting of the club, which shall be held on the first Wednesday in April of each year, also

Resolved, That Article XI of the Constitution be changed to number Article XII, and Article XI to read: It shall be the duty of the Nominating Committee to post in the club house two weeks previous to the annual election of the club the names to be balloted for at the said election.

EDITORIAL NOTES

When the Prince of Wales, his sister and the betrothed wife of his son are among the first to congratulate Gladstone on his great speech introducing the bill for home rule for Ireland, it is not impossible to see toward which side the political principles of the next king of England tend.

It is a marvelous triumph for the aged composer, Verdi, that at the age of 78 he has been able to produce an opera equal to if not surpassing the most brilliant efforts of his prime. A critic says of "Falstaff," the new opera, "It is all smiles and laughter, destined to increase the gayety of nations." Blessed be the man who in this sad, tragic time is able to "increase the gayety of nations."

There are 23 different tribes in the Indian Territory, with appellations musical enough and unique enough to furnish names to all the cities that will be added when the Indians come into Oklahoma as citizens and Oklahoma comes into the Union as a state. There will be no need of rummaging the geography for old English names that mean nothing in America; neither will there be any need of using names that have already been applied to a dozen different postoffices in the old states.

Farmers' Heads.

A phrenologist informs us that the average rural head is half an inch smaller in circumference than the average city head—that is, contains half an inch less brain. We repel the base insinuation with our bitterest scorn. Nevertheless, if anything could make one believe the phrenologist's slanderous and scandalous statement, it would be the fact that at a certain meeting in favor of good roads an individual rose and said that the whole movement fog decent highways in that state was instigated by a certain bicycle manufacturer, and all he wanted was to get sale for more of his machines. "Now," says the speaker in eloquent peroration, "must the tax ridden farmers of this community pay for good roads just for them bicycle fellers?"

That farmer's skull was small anyhow; or he would have known the bad roads of this country cost the farmers themselves not less than $350,000,000 a year. Wasted time, expense of additional horses, loss of the highest market price for their products on account of impassable roads and wear and tear of wagons and human beings are some of the items of this lost money. Happily the governors of all the western states are alive to the good road movement, and without exception recommended in their messages last winter thorough measures to that end. One good immediate step might be the passage of laws requiring the tires of heavy hauling wagons to be of greater breadth, the breadth to be specified by the law. So it is in France, which has the finest country roads in the world. That would be one proof at least that farmers' heads are as big as any other man's.

Taxing Inheritances.

Mr. Max West discusses this question in The Review of Reviews. Mr. Max West is in favor of a tax on dead men's estates, to be paid by the heirs when they take possession of such properties. The tax would pay the expenses of the probate court and some other government expenses also. Mr. West would, however, exempt from the inheritance tax moderate amounts of property going to a widow and children, excepting her grown sons, who are able to earn their own living. It is only fair to say, though, that many individuals quite as wise apparently as Mr. Max West denounce vigorously this tax on inheritances, calling it an outrage, "robbing dead men," etc. But Mr. West sagely observes that dead men would rather pay their taxes after they are dead than when they are alive.

New York has an inheritance tax law and under it derived from the estate of Jay Gould $700,000. Several states have laws taxing bequests to relatives other than husband, wife or children. This the law calls taxing collateral inheritances. In New York the tax on inheritances falling to direct heirs was not passed till 1891, so that if Mr. Gould had died two years ago his children would not have had to pay the $700,000. The law imposes 1 per cent tax on the direct inheritors of personal property. If they had lived in England, the Goulds would have had to pay nearly $3,000,000; in the Australian province of Victoria or the Canadian province of Ontario, more than $2,500,000.

All the countries of Europe except Sweden and Portugal are mentioned by Mr. West as having inheritance taxes. Some exempt direct heirs from such taxation, others do not. Some have progressive inheritance taxes—that is, the larger the estate the higher the rate that is levied. This would not encourage acquisitive persons from becoming millionaires, because the tax would not come till after they were dead. In truth, they would rather enjoy knowing that some relative whom they did not like would have to pay a good round sum for getting their money. Mr. West mentions that, oddly enough, persons with diversity of views the widest favor this method of paying public expenses. Andrew Carnegie and Edward Bellamy advocate it, likewise the Knights of Labor. Carnegie wrote four years ago, "Of all forms of taxation, this seems to be the wisest."

CONGRESS ON THE RUSH

The Sherman Amendment Referred Without Debate.

GENERAL SWAIM FAILS IN HIS CASE

Speaker Crisp Calls the House a "Beer Garden"—The President Issues His First Veto of the Session—An Act Introduced to Make Pig Tin Free.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—There was a good deal of interest manifested when the house entered upon the last legislative week of the 52d congress. Many important measures were yet awaiting action. Mr. Pee (Ark.) was the first gentleman to catch the speaker's eye, and he moved the passage of the Indian appropriation bill under suspension of the rules. There was no objection to the measure, but it was made a pivot around which circled a general discussion of the antioption bill. Mr. Peel's motion having been agreed to, a discussion of the Sherman bond amendment to the sundry civil appropriation bill was discussed with some warmth, but finally all the senate amendments to the measure were nonconcurred in, and the bill was sent to conference.

When the speaker of the house even indirectly refers to that body as a "beer garden," as Speaker Crisp did, the provocation must be very great, and it was. A dozen members were on their feet speaking at the top of their voices, and were rendered shrill through their efforts to outdo each other. The trouble occurred over the motion made by Mr. Wise to suspend the rules and concur in the senate amendment to the coupler bill, which amendment was finally concurred in—yeas 184, nays 85. The friends of the measure burst into hearty applause.

Banking Business In Both Branches.

Both houses did a good day's work and took a long step in the direction of winding up the business, so as to lessen the danger of an extra session. Few members of the house anticipated the smooth sailing that was met, and when the senate amendments to the sundry civil bill were duly agreed to informally and sent to conference there was a sigh of relief all over the house. It was anticipated that there would be a stubborn fight on the Sherman bond amendment, and the fact that it was disposed of so expeditiously was a matter for general congratulation. Under a suspension of the rules the house also passed the Indian appropriation bill and removed that prolific subject of debate from the calendar.

One of the surprises of the day was the ability of the friends of the car coupler bill to secure, under a suspension of the rules, an agreement to the senate amendments and as soon as the bill is signed by the president it will be a law. The conference report on the military academy bill was also agreed to, and the launch as the report was also agreed to in the senate that measure is out of the way.

In the senate equally as expeditious work was accomplished. The pension bill, involving an expenditure of about $167,000,000, was passed without any debate of consequence, the committee having rushed the bill through in good shape. A conference was ordered on the sundry civil bill, and the agricultural bill was reported. The Indian bill will be taken up next week, and the committee will at once prepare and report the Indian bill which has just passed the house. From this time on night sessions will be the order until the close of congress.

General Swaim's Case Settled.

The court of claims has rendered a decision in the case of D. G. Swaim, judge advocate general of the army, versus the United States for the recovery of half of his pay for 12 years adverse to General Swaim. The case has been pending in the court of claims for the past two or three years. The opinion, which is a very elaborate and exhaustive one, recites that in 1884 the firm of Bateman & Co., private bankers in Washington, sent a communication to Secretary Lincoln charging the judge advocate general of the army with having defrauded them, and they at the same time published their charges in the newspapers. Secretary Lincoln referred the communication to the judge advocate general, and, his explanation not being satisfactory, brought the matter to the attention of President Arthur. The president ordered it to be investigated by a court of inquiry, and subsequently on the report of the court he ordered the arrest of General Swaim and his trial by court martial. General Schofield was president of the court, and the charge preferred was conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman. After various findings and appeals a sentence was imposed to the effect that General Swaim be suspended for 12 years and forfeit half of his pay. It was to recover this pay that General Swaim instituted suit in the court of claims.

To Make Tin Free.

Mr. Springer, from the committee on ways and means, reported to the house, with the recommendation that it pass, the ptuning bill placing tin and tin ores on the free list.

First Veto This Session.

The president returned to the house without his approval a bill increasing the number of district attorneys and marshals in the judicial district of the state of Alabama. This is the first veto of the present session.

A Statement of the Insane Murderess.

ATLANTA, Feb. 28.—Today's sensation is the publication of the full statement of Julia Force, who on Saturday murdered her two sisters. It was found by the police in the possession of a friend of Miss Force, to whom it had been intrusted, but who knew nothing of its contents. It is the story of the life of a high strung, sensitive child, who grew to womanhood and to mature maidenly years in the belief that her mothers, sisters and brothers as well times slighted her. The climax was reached when her brothers ordered dry goods stores not to credit her further. This was the last straw. "It is enough," she writes. "I have borne all I can bear. May God avenge, and for every insult, every mortification that has been given me heap a crushing weight of insult, mortification and suffering, moral and physical, upon the heads of these scoundrels and traitors."

Beheading With Royalty.

LONDON, Feb. 28.—Mr. Robert T. Lincoln, Mrs. Lincoln, the secretaries in the embassy, their wives and the attaches will attend the queen's drawing room today. Mrs. Lincoln will present to the diplomatic circle Mrs. Astor and in the general circle Miss Helen Williams and Miss Burrows, daughter of Hoffman Burrows of Newport, R. I. Lady Alfred Spencer Churchill will present in the general circle Mrs. Somerset Gough Calthorpe.

OLNEY'S PICTURE AT LAST.

The New Attorney General Was Caught On His Guard.

BOSTON, Feb. 28.—Since the evening on which Mr. Cleveland announced the appointment of Richard Olney to the cabinet the newspapers have been using every effort to get a photograph of that gentleman for illustrative purposes. The New York Herald went so far Sunday as to use a cut alleged to have been drawn by an artist from memory. This caricature may have made Mr. Olney give up in despair, for before its appearance the trials and tribulations of the "snap shot" artists who have tried to catch him, if written up, would fill a volume of no small size. Every conceivable plan was adopted to trundle his features on the sensitive plate, but in vain. He has put his hands to his face at the sight of a camera, has buried his head in his ulster collar, has jumped into snowdrifts and has deftly eluded those who patiently lay in wait at his office door. Mr. Olney had not had a photograph taken since he was a lad in Brown university.

RICHARD OLNEY.

HARRIS ADDRESSES THE COURT.

His Mother's Efforts For a New Trial Offered.

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—Recorder Smyth heard arguments of counsel for Carlyle W. Harris for a new trial. Harris was convicted of the murder of his wife, Helen Potts Harris, by administering to her pills containing morphine. Mrs. Harris, the mother, was in the courtroom armed with a batch of affidavits which allege that her son's wife was addicted to the morphine habit.

At the close of Mr. Nicoll's argument Harris arose, and steadying his emaciated form by resting his hands on the table before the prisoner's dock addressed the court. This being given, Harris made a statement denying that he had attacked the memory of his wife. As to her using morphine, he at first doubted, then suspected, now believed it. He denied knowledge of some of the affiants produced by the prosecution and said:

"I loved Helen as my wife and I never heard of some of them. I did not know them. The district attorney said in his opening remarks, and I think he wishes now he hadn't said it, that 'this was a case for executive clemency.' If I am innocent, I am not guilty. If I am innocent, I should walk abroad. I should not be dependent on an appeal to executive clemency. I should not be sent to prison for life, to die or to grow insane there."

Harris further explained his alleged remarks about his prescription for his wife and charged the prosecution with distorting them into a false interpretation. His manner was earnest and produced an evident impression. His mother, who was greatly affected, threw her arms about Carlyle and wept bitterly.

THE ASBURY PARK RESTRICTIONS.

Indications of a Recent Election Point to Their Withdrawal.

ASBURY PARK, N. J., Feb. 28.—It is probable that at least the summer restrictions surrounding Asbury Park will have been removed and it will have become an ordinary New Jersey town. It will be remembered that by a ballot within its precincts and that the paragraphists will lose a fruitful theme through the repeal of the regulations governing the Sunday carriages and one will probably be allowed within the gates on Sunday and the other distinguishing features of the place be wiped out. This is the result of the election held here yesterday to decide whether the park should be incorporated as a borough. The election was quiet, and out of 1,200 votes cast 737 vote was polled. The result showed that the popular feeling was in favor of incorporation, as 563 of those who voted favored incorporation, and but 13 were against it.

END OF THE KANSAS BATTLE.

The Populists Will Let Themselves Down as Easily as Possible.

TOPEKA, Feb. 28.—The Populist house members, after canvassing all day and part of the night, have finally decided to yield to the decree of the court and recognize the Republican house. One of their members appeared in the Republican house, and there was loud applause when he addressed Mr. Douglass as "Mr. Speaker." The two houses will be amalgamated today. They will demand, however, that the house pass an appropriation for the payment of the salaries and per diem of the officers and members of the Populist house to date. The Populists decided also that no bills should be passed excepting those necessary to keep in motion the machinery of the state and that an adjournment should be reached as speedily as possible.

Breach of Promise In High Society.

SYRACUSE, Feb. 28.—Society circles were considerably agitated by the announcement that Miss Beulah Chase Dodge, one of the most beautiful young ladies of the city, had brought suit against Lucius L. Moses for alleged breach of promise, the damages being laid at $25,000. Mr. Moses is the son of Lucius Moses, vice president of the Paragon Plaster company. On Jan. 4 young Mr. Moses was wedded with great pomp to Miss Ceil Calvin at St. Paul's cathedral.

Young Blaine Takes a Trip.

PITTSBURG, Feb. 28.—James G. Blaine, Jr., accompanied by Mr. Graham of Elizabeth, Pa., took passage on a Pittsburg and Lake Erie train for Elizabeth. Mr. Blaine declined to state the object of his visit up the Monongahela valley. It is supposed, however, that his presence has reference to the contemplated sale of the large tract of coal land which belongs to the Blaine family.

Gold Shipments Lessening.

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—In spite of the general expectation in Wall street that big engagements of gold would be made for shipment to Europe, no one was taken from the subtreasury. One firm put in an order for $500,000, but withdrew it before the close of business. Some big sterling loans were made, lessening the need for gold exports.

A Legislative Speaker Disbarred.

NASHVILLE, Feb. 28.—Ralph Davis, speaker of the Tennessee house of representatives, who has been disbarred by a decision of Judge Estes, announces that he will not resign his position as speaker, but will fight the case to the end.

The Freedmen's Aid Meets In Chicago.

CHICAGO, Feb. 28.—Ministers and laymen were present in large numbers at the annual convention of the Freedmen's Aid and Southern Educational society.

HONORS TO MR. MORTON

A Banquet Tendered Him by the Senate.

POLITICAL DIFFERENCES BURIED.

A Happy Time, in Which the Representatives of All Sections of the United States Tender Their Regard For the Retiring Vice President.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—Vice President Levi P. Morton was honored last night as none of his predecessors have been. The entire senate, without distinction of party, united in tendering him a complimentary dinner, bearing testimony to the admirable manner in which he has presided over the deliberations of the upper chamber of congress for the past four years.

The banquet, which was held in the beautiful dining hall of the Arlington, was the finest that skill and taste could supply. The decorations were most effective, and the company was as distinguished as could well be, inasmuch as scarcely one senator of prominence was absent. Among other guests were ex-Senators W. M. Evarts and T. W. Palmer, General Alger, Frank Hatton, P. V. Degraw, H. L. West and H. C. Clarke.

Senator Manderson, president pro tem. of the senate, was chairman and toastmaster, and his ready wit and graceful rhetoric never once permitted the proceedings to flag. Messrs. Hale, Cockrell, Evarts, Viles and other orators were fully equal to the occasion.

Mr. Morton Speaks.

The guest of the evening, Vice President Morton, in the course of his response said: "There are events in the life of every man that stand out with such prominence and make such imprint upon him that an indelible impression remains while memory holds its seat. This occasion, so flattering to me, the speeches so complimentary, your cordial greeting and the hearty good will expressed in such pleasing form, shall ever live within the book and volume of my brain unmixed with baser matter.

"Four years ago I came, through the suffrages of the citizens of this great republic, to the high place, the main duty of which is to preside over the deliberative body recognized as the highest in the world, of which you, the representatives of 44 sovereign states, forming one powerful nation, are members.

Supported by All Parties.

"I brought to the position very limited experience and but little knowledge of parliamentary law, for the lines of my life had been cast in places where such knowledge is not acquired. I felt the full force of my shortcomings, but relied with trusting confidence upon that gentle forbearance that has ever characterized the senate of the United States. Experience has shown that my trust had abundant foundation: That I have served the senate acceptably and I am fain to believe so from the earnest recognition you have given me here and elsewhere) has been because of the generous aid and cheerful support received by me from all members of the body without distinction of party and without bias from political affiliations."

A Tribute to the President.

Mr. Morton closed with a graceful allusion to the retiring president, of whom he said:

"In a few days there will pass to private life the man who won distinction as a soldier in the period of war and lasting renown as a civilian in time of peace. As a patriot and statesman, after years of thorough statesman, a wise ruler, the name of Benjamin Harrison will shine brighter with the light that comes with every passing year."

His remarks were received with every demonstration of cordial approval.

Nearly Killed In a Prize Fight.

CHICAGO, Feb. 28.—Vera and McArthur, the two principals in the prize fight at Niles Center, which ended so fatally to Vera, were held to the criminal court in bonds of $500, and a number of witnesses of the contest were fined $10 each. Judge Brentano called the grand jury's special attention to the fight and instructed it to investigate the case fully. He characterized the affair as outrageous.

The Lockberg Murderer a Banko Man.

PINDLAY, O., Feb. 28.—It is learned that Charles Sperry, who is in jail at Kitansing, Pa., charged with complicity in the attempted bank robbery and murder at Lockberg, Pa., is Dr. Sperry of this city, a well known banko man and professional swindler, though the son of respectable and honored parents. It is believed that the whole gang is from Findlay.

A Company Discharges Its Nonunion Men.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Feb. 28.—Every employe of the mills of the Hubbard Iron company not a member of the Amalgamated association has been discharged, and the extra six mills are being put in until the vacancies can be filled. An official of the company says that the vacancies will be filled as rapidly as possible and operations resumed.

Anarchist Bombmakers Caught In Rome.

ROME, Feb. 28.—The police surprised 26 anarchists at work in a bomb factory on the outskirts of the city. All the men were arrested, and a large quantity of explosives was seized. The police believe that they now have the persons responsible for most of the explosions of the last year.

Deaf for a Year

Caused by

Catarrh in the Head

Catarrh is a CONSTITUTIONAL disease, and requires a CONSTITUTIONAL REMEDY like Hood's Sarsaparilla to cure it. Read:

"Three years ago, as a result of catarrh, I became so deaf I could not hear the tick of a watch. Among other guests were ex-Senators W. M. Evarts and T. W. Palmer, General Alger, Frank Hatton, P. V. Degraw, H. L. West and H. C. Clarke.

Senator Manderson, president pro tem. of the senate, was chairman and toastmaster, and his ready wit and graceful rhetoric never once permitted the proceedings to flag. Messrs. Hale, Cockrell, Evarts, Viles and other orators were fully equal to the occasion.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

MACKAY DOING WELL.

His Assistant Says He Is Sane and Knew What He Was About.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 28.—Health Officer James W. Keene, the physician in attendance on John W. Mackay, said that Mr. Mackay was feeling very well and is able to sit in an easy chair.

Wesley C. Rippey, the old man who shot Mr. Mackay, is sinking rapidly at the Receiving hospital. Police Surgeon Somers has no hope of the man's recovery. He said he was sorry he had not made a good job of the shooting. He added: "I am an old man, 70 years of age, and I knew perfectly well what I was about when I fired that shot. At one time I had over $20,000, but a combination of Fair, Flood and Mackay caused me to lose it after it was invested in stocks. That loss changed my whole life. Instead of the hopeful, energetic man I once was, I became a misanthrope, avoided the society of my fellowmen and became a stranded hulk in Pauper alley. I may be wrong, but I think all rich men like Mackay should be killed."

THE POPE'S HOPE.

As Reported, It Is That England May Be a Catholic Country.

ROME, Feb. 28.—The pope bade a courteous farewell to the pilgrims from England. His holiness said that he hoped soon to see England once more a Catholic country. The faithful, his holiness said, ought to pray for the speedy consummation of this hope, of which there were already many signs. The pope warmly commended the lofty spirit of justice shown by the queen and parliament in granting to all Catholics of her majesty's vast empire complete freedom of religion. The audience lasted for two hours and was marked by much cordiality and some pathos, the pope apparently hesitating to part with his devoted visitors. At the close of his audience his holiness was borne in a sedia gestatoris through the corridors of the Vatican, in which the pilgrims ranged themselves. The pontiff as he passed held out his hand, the pilgrims kissing his ring. The pope has appointed Dr. Laffoni his body physician.

HARRIET HUBBARD AYER.

An Inquiry as to Her Sanity Asked by a Divorced Husband.

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—A commission has been appointed by Justice Andrews of the supreme court to inquire into the sanity of Harriet Hubbard Ayer, manufacturer of toilet articles and the divorced wife of Herbert C. Ayer, formerly a millionaire in the iron business in Chicago. They have two children—Mrs. Allan L. Seymour and Margaret, 15 years old, at Stuttgart. In applying for a commission to inquire into her sanity Mr. Herbert C. Ayer says he has no interest in any of her property and brings the proceedings to save her own reputation and that of their daughters. Mrs. Ayer was taken to an asylum on Feb. 9 on an order of Judge McAdam of the superior court on the certificate of two physicians. She is said to suffer from chronic melancholia.

Despatches Himself In a Sawmill.

NEWCASTLE, Pa., Feb. 28.—A horrible suicide was committed by a man named Lee Taylor five miles southwest of this place. Taylor had become financially embarrassed and had been brooding over his troubles. For the past week he had been working at a sawmill. In the evening, while the fireman and engineer were engaged at the boiler, Taylor deliberately lay down on the log carriage, grasped the framework with one hand and the shaft with the other and pulled himself up to the rapidly revolving saw. His head was instantly severed from the body and rolled down into the dust pit. The engineer, noticing a jar in the machinery, went back to the saw and was horrified to find the bleeding trunk still lying on the carriage. The deceased was recently married.

Maryland Seeks West Virginian Territory.

GRAFTON, W. Va., Feb. 28.—Maryland sues to recover the entire territory lying between the north and south branches of the Potomac river. Six large counties, with a population of nearly 100,000, are involved, and in addition, if Maryland wins the suit, five other West Virginian counties will be cut off from the rest of the state. The case is considered very grave by West Virginia lawyers and politicians. The state has appropriated a large amount of money to fight the case.

A Texan's Murderous Assault.

CHICAGO, Feb. 28.—At the main entrance to the courthouse, in full view of hundreds of people, Samuel Baxter Foster, attorney for the Grand Trunk railway, was assaulted and knocked senseless by Philip Wood, a Texan. Foster is executor of the estate of Alonzo C. Wood, and the Texan is one of the contestants of the will, which leaves an estate valued at nearly $100,000 exclusively to the grandchildren of the deceased.

The Wheeling Car Strike.

WHEELING, Feb. 28.—The electric cars in South Wheeling were run under police protection. The men are in a bad temper, and an outbreak at any time would not be surprising. The electrical line is owned by Cincinnati and eastern capitalists, who have recently invested about $1,000,000 in improvements.

A Bad Storm In the West.

MILWAUKEE, Feb. 28.—Specials from West Superior, New Richmond, Marshfield and other points scattered points in the state report the worst storm of the season, with high winds and steadily falling mercury. At West Superior the street cars are demoralized, and business is almost suspended.

Insane In His Pulpit.

SUMNER, Ia., Feb. 28.—Rev. J. E. Sandlust, Sr., was seized with temporary insanity in the pulpit, tore up the Bible and cursed the congregation during his delirium. The audience was horror stricken. House finally quieted and removed to his home. He is in a critical condition.

CLEVELAND'S ADDRESS.

A Forecast of the Document by Mr. McKelway.

THE ANTISNAPPERS RANK HIGH

Mrs. Cleveland Will Reside In the White House, Which President Harrison Has Kindly Put In Readiness—A Strike at the New York Machine.

LAKEWOOD, N. J., Feb. 28.—Mr. Cleveland passed the best part of the day with Mr. Carlisle talking over important matters connected with the inaugural address and the policy of the incoming administration. Mrs. Cleveland took Mr. Carlisle out for a drive in the forenoon, and the next secretary of the treasury left for Washington on an afternoon train.

St. Clair McKelway of the Brooklyn Eagle is stopping at one of the Lakewood hotels and has called at the Cleveland cottage frequently during the past two days. Mr. McKelway says Mr. Cleveland's inaugural address as president of the United States for four years from March 4 next will contain about 1,700 words and will be more general than specific in character.

A Forecast of the Address.

Mr. Cleveland has carefully written out what he desires to say, but will speak at the inauguration without manuscript, only referring to topical notes to refresh his memory. The address will express Mr. Cleveland's profound gratitude to the people for the honor thus a second time conferred upon him as a mark of confidence in him and belief in the principles upon which he was elected. His utterances upon a financial policy, the tariff and economy of administration will be decisive and frank. Confidence in Democratic principles as able to deal with the problems of labor and capital, sectional divisions and political unrest will be expressed. The abolition of federal interference with elections in the states will, it is said, be treated as a recognized decision of the people.

The pension department, the new navy, a rigorous quarantine and the regulation of immigration will probably receive attention. The president may not refer openly to the question of the annexation of Hawaii, but will take a conservative stand on the subject and not act hastily.

Harrison's Kindness Appreciated.

Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland will go at once to the executive mansion after the inauguration and not to any private residence, as has been misrepresented. President Harrison has had the White House put in admirable condition. He has been in correspondence with Mr. Cleveland, and the latter greatly appreciates the kind, provident and hospitable spirit which the retiring president has shown for the comfort of the family of the incoming executive.

Mr. Cleveland and President Harrison will ride to and from the inauguration ceremonies together.

Mr. McKelway added that the deathbed or 11th hour loyalty of the Brooklyn machine to Cleveland is appreciated at its commercial value here, and whether the home machine will have the courage to keep out of caucus at Albany or not is watched from here with considerable interest.

The Antisnappers Are on Top.

The policy of going into caucus to save regularity, mixed with the purpose to back out or to try to back out of caucus if anything unpleasant is sprung on the caucus, is regarded as an endeavor to ride two horses going in opposite directions at the same time. Open opponents within the party will be treated with in preference to nerveless and inveterate self styled friends. Antisnapper Democracy ranks high in the quotation of political values here and at Washington now.

An Entering Wedge to Sunday Selling.

ALBANY, Feb. 28.—In the senate Senator Roesch introduced a bill to regulate the sale of liquor on Sunday, which represents the views of the State Liquor Dealers' association. The first section provides that at the general election to be held next fall there shall be submitted to the people in cities having a population of 100,000 inhabitants or over the question whether they desire the sale of spirituous liquors, wines, ale or beer may be lawfully sold on Sundays during the hours specified.

A Butcher Boy's Windfall.

BOSTON, Feb. 28.—George B. Barslow, residing at Salem and employed in a meat market, has received official information that he has fallen heir to $215,000 by the death of a cousin, Mrs. Abbie White of Santa Barbara, Cal. Mrs. White was the widow of Judge White, formerly of the probate court in Santa Barbara, Cal. She left a fortune of between $2,000,000 and $3,000,000, which is to be divided among seven heirs.

The Wealthy Young Man Who Stole.

CHICAGO, Feb. 28.—Harry C. Gray, who was arrested a week ago for robbing his traveling companions, F. N. Pugh and George Stacey, was discharged by Justice Lyon. Gray's father, who is a wealthy manufacturer in New York, was in court and will take his son home with him. Pugh and Stacey asked the justice to discharge Gray, as he was drunk when he took the money.

A Strike In a Carnegie Mill.

PITTSBURG, Feb. 28.—Another strike has been inaugurated at Carnegie's Twenty-ninth street mill, the strikers this time being the machinists, who refused to work 10 hours a day for 9 hours' pay. The strike involves about 50 skilled workmen. Superintendent Jones Bliss says there will be no trouble in filling the vacancies.

A Blast Furnace Explodes.

BELLAIRE, O., Feb. 28.—An explosion occurred at Benwood, W. Va., opposite this city, by which the blast furnace at the Riverside works was blown up, and four workmen were seriously burned. William Kelley is not expected to recover. His eyes were burned out, and he is unconscious.

A Compromise at Danville.

DANIELSONVILLE, Conn., Feb. 28.—The weavers at Danville will resume work today upon an advance of 5 cents per yard on the old list, with less fines. This is half of what was asked.

Davenport Gets His Claims.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—The court of claims rendered a decision in favor of John I. Davenport of New York, allowing him $657 for marshal's fees.

RAILROAD MEN KILLED.

A Crash Between Freights Upon the Boston and Maine.

ST. JOHNSBURY, Vt., Feb. 28.—The worst accident that ever occurred in the history of the Passumpsic railroad division of the Boston and Maine took place just above St. Johnsbury Center late yesterday afternoon, when two through freights collided at a culvert. Fred Clark, engineer of the up train; Charles West, an engineer who was riding on the same engine, and Fred Gregory, fireman on the down train, were killed. William Dowling, a brakeman, was hurt about the head, but not seriously. Engineer Hopkins of the down train saved his life by jumping. None of the other train hands was hurt.

Fred Clark was living when first found, but died before he could be extricated from the debris. The down train had 30 cars, most of them loaded. It was a very heavy train and was going down a heavy grade, giving it a fearful impetus. When the crash came, the up train was slowly steaming up the grade. J. C. Bacon and two others saw the collision.

Mr. Bacon said the shock was not as loud as he expected, but the impetus of the down train was so great that the cars nearest to both engines were tumbled over the locomotives and fell on both sides of the track into the ravine below.

Mexico Will Trade Free With Itself.

PIEDRAS NEGRAS, Feb. 28.—The Mexican government has definitely decided to abolish the free zone. This action will give general satisfaction along the Rio Gr nde border, as it is expected that it will result in the establishment of extensive manufacturing concerns and other industries on this side of the river. Under present restrictions, as an essential feature of zone libre regulations, articles manufactured within the zone on introduction into the interior have to pay the same duty as if imported from foreign countries.

Prize Fighting Killed In California.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 28.—The California, the Pacific, the Palo Alto and other professional athletic clubs have closed their doors and declared all pending contests off. Boxing is now certainly dead in San Francisco. All that remains to completely stamp it out is the governor's signature, which is expected to be attached to the antiprize fighting bill at any moment.

FASHIONS

Jellies.

Soak ½ box of gelatin for an hour in ½ pint of cold water; add ½ pint of boiling water, ½ pint of sugar, ½ pint of wine and the juice of ½ a lemon.

For lemon jelly use lemon juice instead of wine and add ½ tablespoonful of white wine.

For coffee jelly soak ½ box [of gelatin for an hour in ½ pint of cold water. Add ½ of a pint of strong coffee, boiling hot, and ½ pint of sugar. Serve with whipped cream.

The Poke Bonnets.

The last importations of millinery show some pronounced 1830 shapes which appear most outre and strange, though they resemble in the shape of which the poet of Broadway sang:

Here, beneath bewitching bonnets,
Sparkle eyes to kindle sonnets.

There is very little of the bewitching to the present generation in these huge bonnets, guiltless of any attempt at grace or elaboration of trimming. They suggest to the unprejudiced observer at once the scoop bonnets of the Salvation Army. The example illustrated is from the shop of a famous Parisian milliner.

BEWITCHING MILLINERY.

Some are made of green velvet, with ornaments of jet and Prince of Wales plumes. Others are shown in dark empire green chip and are trimmed with bands of narrow black velvet caught down by buckles of Parisian diamonds. A standing panache of two slender ostrich feathers, one green and one pale rose color, with an aigret of green, trims the hat high over the brim. The huge brim is simply faced with black velvet. These new poke, it should be remembered, are "sky sweeping" affairs intended to be worn back on the head instead of projecting over the eyes like the poke bonnets of a few seasons ago. For youthful, pretty faces the poke is specially adapted.

Swearing.

A lovely custom of the Society of Friends is that of saying "thee" instead of "you"—lovely in that it seems to make powerful to kindness the mere sense and tender. Moreover, the use of the pronoun "you" implies with them an emphasis which one can only appreciate by hearing a child's version of it.

Two children of this gentle sect were one day playing together, and suddenly they began to dispute. One especially grew angry and said passionately:

"If thee doesn't take care I'll swear at thee!"

"Oh, oh!" cried the second, too much shocked to say more.

"I will! Oh, thee little you, thee!"—Youth's Companion.

THE HOUSEHOLD

CAKEMAKING.

Some Suggestions For Insuring Satisfactory Results.

Cakemaking occupies a unique position in culinary work. People will undertake to make cake who never think of doing anything else in the way of cookery. Many fail and blame recipes for disappointments, which are entirely the result of neglect of some rule founded on common sense and recognized by experience. Before everything else, those who desire to excel in cakemaking must give attention to the minutest particulars. Much of this attention must be devoted to the choice and the preparation of ingredients. Cakes are never definity when the materials of which they are composed are not dainty. Gritty currants, chance eaten seeds and the presence of unexpected small stones have spoiled many a cake that but for them would have been a brilliant success. Before beginning to mix cake as all prepare every ingredient most carefully.

Use only the best flour, and, excepting in hot weather, warm and afterward sift this flour before using it. In this slowly, that it may be dry as well as warm. Especially should this be done if the flour has been kept in a cold, damp place. The use of good flour is a great hindrance to successful cakemaking. The sugar for cakes should be fine and white.

More cakes are spoiled from "something going wrong with the eggs" than from any other cause. The eggs should be quite fresh. To make the most of them, the whites and yolks should be beaten separately. Egg whites can be most easily beaten till firm in a cold place, and a little salt sprinkled upon them facilitates matters. Many people think that the lightness of a cake depends upon the number of eggs employed. This, however, is not the case. "Eggs bind as well as lighten," and when their number is increased there should be a corresponding increase in the allowance of butter. Cakes lightened with baking powder are not necessarily made more light because eggs are also used; they are only enriched by the addition, while cakes that are moistened sufficiently with eggs without milk do not require baking powder or yeast at all.

Cakes made light with baking powder, soda or beaten eggs should be baked as soon as mixed. Therefore they should not be mixed until all the ingredients are prepared and until the oven is heated. Cakes of this description are very often spoiled through being mixed too wet.

When cakes are to be made, the molds should be most carefully prepared. For rich cakes the bottom and sides of the molds should be lined with doubled paper cut to the size and well buttered. For plain cakes the molds only may be buttered and the paper dispensed with.

To Wash Chamois Leather.

The secret of washing chamois leather is never to rinse in water only, but in water with a certain amount of soap left in it. This prevents the chamois from drying stiff and hard. Wash the leather first in tepid water, with a piece of soda dissolved in it, using plenty of soap; let it soak and then rinse in a similar soapy mixture. Wring well, and during the drying process, which should be as quick as possible, pull the leather about frequently and hang it up by different corners after each pulling to prevent any "set" in the leather.

Economizing Cut Flowers.

Flowers that are gathered for furnishing vases and are expected to last fresh for any length of time should be cut with a sharp knife, and not slipped with scissors or pinched off. Both the last methods bruise the stems, and consequently impede the action of the vessels which take up the moisture to replace the loss arising from evaporation. Use soft water with a sprinkling of salt in it and change it every other day. Cut off the ends of the stems at the same time, as by this means they are better able to absorb moisture.

Pretty Garnishing For Dishes.

There is so much in the garnishing of dishes. Have plenty of crisp, green parsley; cut lemons into thin slices and quarter them; cast colored jelly into molds, such as half egg cups, and use them round the dishes. Use the tops of watercress and the green ends of celery, and cut boiled beet root into nice little shapes. They will all come in for "garnish."

Soft Sugar Cookies.

Rub together till white a teacupful of butter, two of sugar, then stir in a couple of beaten eggs, a little flour, grate in a nutmeg, dissolve a teaspoonful of saleratus in a teacupful of milk or water, strain it on the cake, then add flour until stiff enough to roll out nicely, but not too thinly.

Cushions For Stickpins.

The pretty stickpins now so fashionable deserve special arrangements for their safe and convenient keeping, and these are to be found in a number of charming little hanging cushions easily made by adepts in the manufacture of dainty decorative articles. One of the prettiest of these is here illustrated. The egg shaped padded center is covered with pompadour silk and bordered with a lace frilling. It is suspended from the wall or looking glass by upright loops and swallow ends in embossed ribbon, bordered with satin stripes.

EGG SHAPED CUSHION.

Another unique arrangement, called the "double target," consists of two tufted cushions—a large one and a small one—in plush of contrasting shades, each fixed to the center of a flat foundation of bright colored satin and edged with radiating lace bows. The smaller cushion is hung beneath the larger, and a chain of two mixed cords finished with a tuft of silk suspends the whole from the looking glass. Both large and small pins can be fixed on these attractive targets.

Another of these cushions is the "coronet" of shot velvet, surrounded with a crossband of satin, which is beaded with fan shaped festoons of spangled lace, hiding the stuffed cushion.

These cushions, when stuck full of the jeweled and fancy pins that ladies use for lacepins and gentlemen wear in their ties, are very attractive.

OUR YOUNG FOLKS

MONKEYLAND.

An Extensive Region With a Variety of Queer Inhabitants.

It will be useless to look on the map for the whereabouts of Monkeyland. You will not find it marked, but it exists and is such a big region it is difficult to know where to make a start in exploring it. We shall find that its curious inhabitants dwell in almost every part of the world, excepting of course, the arctic regions. They make their homes in America, Africa, India, China, Japan and many of the islands of Asia, and as we journey from one land to another we shall notice that the inhabitants of Monkeyland are out of many shades of color and of various shapes and sizes—some without tails, others with mere stumps, while some possess long tails which seem to be used chiefly for swinging on the boughs of trees or for enabling their owners to play many tricks upon their neighbors. An interesting portion of Monkeyland is the Rock of Gibraltar, where the Barbary apes, the only kind found in Europe, abound. They are often seen in large numbers on the western face of the rocks.

Except the crocodile and the snake few animals ever venture to attack or interfere with monkeys. The snake is their deadliest enemy, and the larger snakes are often seen winding up the trees where they dwell. Nor is there much prospect of the poor monkeys getting away if their enemy can surprise them sleeping. This is one reason why monkeys make their home in the tops of the trees, but they will frequently venture upon the very branches round which the snakes are coiled, and although they have such a dread of the snake their curiosity will often overcome their fear.

Some curious looking green monkeys live in Senegal, in Africa, and extend as far south as the river Niger, on the banks of which they collect in troops. They have a fondness for particular parts of their forests, and one band will prevent another from entering its favorite haunts.

A strange colony of these green monkeys was discovered by a French explorer in the course of his travels in the heart of Africa. He came to a place called Kouniza, which at one time had been quite a flourishing village of some hundreds of inhabitants, but was then in ruins and uninhabited, excepting by these monkeys. A strange picture they presented as they sat together in large numbers on the tops of the ruined walls and surveyed the distant view or amused themselves uninterrupted.

This curious colony of monkeys reminds me of another to the depths of Africa, which is sometimes called the "Monkey Palace," and at others the "Mountain of Apes." It is a very high hill rising in there or steps, on which the monkeys congregate in such large numbers as to literally cover the hill from the lowest step to the highest.

The World's First Artists.

Long, long ago, in the days before history, man was little better than the beasts of the field and forest and lived in caves. There is a district in central France where remains of these remote ancestors of ours are found from time to time. The limestone was scooped into nooks and crannies by the action of glaciers and swollen rivers, and in these hollows and caverns dwelt the families of the men of the reindeer period, so called because the reindeer was a common animal then and roamed in a country from which it retired thousands of years since. Men of that age were so rude they used no pottery, but only flint weapons of the roughest sort and the bones of the animals they slew.

In one respect, however, the reindeer man was a remarkable being, for in point of time he was the first artist in the world, his drawings of horses and reindeer, done with a sharpened flint upon pieces of bone, being really wonderful, considering his circumstances. It is singular that at this very day there are people at Les Eyzies living in rooms that have been hollowed out of the limestone by the river Vezere.

Ten True Friends.

Ten true friends you have,
Which, if you're a rover,
Upon each side of you,
Go where you go.
Suppose you are weary,
They help you to bed;
Suppose you are hungry,
They see that you're fed.

They wake up your daily
And put on her clothes,
And tremble her carriage
Wherever she goes.
They buckle your shoes straps
And feed at your table,
Are in summer quite white
And in winter quite red.

Now, with ten willing servants
So trusty and true,
Pray, who would be lazy
Or idle—would you?
Would you find out the name
Of this kind little band?
Then count up the fingers
On each little hand.

Mr. Turnip's Complaint.

Mr. Turnip sat sighing,
And this was his moan:
"Those tiresome young rabbits
Won't leave me alone.

"They nibble and nibble
On this side and that—
They think I've no feeling,
Because I am fat."

So sighed the poor Turnip,
With tears in his eyes—
"Oh, would that those rabbits
Were made into pies!"

COLORING OF WALLS.

How to Make the Rooms Most Attractive and Pleasant.

It is slowly dawning upon the decoratively inclined woman that the fundamental law of household beauty does not relate to carpets, hangings, chairs or cabinets, but to the coloring of the walls. Vain are fine rugs and etchings of exquisite scenes, vain are shelves of curios and divans with cushions of inviting contour, if the walls be of the large flowered variety or resemble an ancient patchwork quilt in the number of hues with which they are covered.

There are a few general principles, says The Decorator and Furnisher, in accordance with which the walls of a room may be treated so as to produce an artistic result. The chief factors in deciding the color are the size of the room and the amount of light it receives. In rooms which face the north the north light, which is whitish to bluish in color, requires that the walls be decorated in luminous tints ranging from orange yellow to warm red.

Rooms with a southern exposure, conversely, should be papered or painted in tints ranging from greenish yellow to blue. Rooms facing east or west should be decorated in yellow, as east and west lights have yellow and purple in their composition.

A hall should be done in strong, dark colors, while the rooms opening off it may range from the deep, rich tints suitable to a library to the pale ones of bedrooms and boudoirs. Pompeiian or Damascus red is a good color in a hall. Russets, browns, dull yellows and tans are also suitable. For libraries rich colors are always desirable, as, for example, reds, browns, golden greens and orange.

For dining rooms soft reds and browns are good, as are also combinations of blue or green with silver in small figures. Bedrooms require the paler shades of all colors.

All walls on which pictures are to be hung should be in solid, or almost solid, color. No striking patterns should be used, for it will necessarily distract the eye from the picture. As a general rule pictures are most effective against a dark neutral colored background.

Dinner Etiquette.

On elegant tables each plate is accompanied by two large silver knives, a small silver knife and fork for fish, a small fork for oysters, a tablespoon for soup and three large forks. The napkin is folded in the center with a piece of bread upon it. As the courses are served the knives and forks and spoons that have been used are removed with the plate. Fish should be eaten with a silver fork, and if full of bones needs the use of the knife as well. For sweetbreads, cutlets, roast beef, etc., the knife is also necessary, but for croquettes, rissoles, bonfrieau la Reine, timbales and dishes of that class the fork is required.

When dessert is reached, everything save the tablecloth and floral decorations are removed. A dessert plate with a small silver spoon, a dessert spoon and fork, and sometimes a combination fork and spoon for ices is placed before each guest. Pears and apples are peeled with a silver knife, cut in quarters and eaten with the fingers. Grapes should be eaten from behind the half closed hand, the stones and skins falling into the fingers unobserved, and—theme to the plate. Oranges are eaten with a spoon. Salad is eaten with a fork, but needs a knife to cut large leaves that have not been divided before serving. Cheese is eaten with a fork, though soft cheeses are spread on a bit of cracker or bread and conveyed to the mouth by the fingers. Saltcellars are now placed at each plate, and it is not improper to take salt with the knife.

The small after dinner coffee spoon is used with the tiny cups of the black beverage that concludes all dinners. The spoon is the most dangerous implement of the dinner, so far as its correct usage is concerned. Soup is always taken from the side and is eaten noiselessly. To push the spoon into the mouth either end first, or otherwise is decidedly vulgar.

Pretty Spring Gown.

A pretty fancy cheviot of newly imported design in combination with broadcloth of a contrasting color and a vest of white vesting trimmed with fancy braid is used in making this pretty spring

STYLISH AND REASONABLE.

gown. The most attractive feature of this gown is the triple cape of broadcloth which the sketch shows. It is divided into sections, lessening the weight on the shoulders. The skirt, which is wide at the foot, has two crosswise tucks piped with cloth like the cape. The cost of making this gown is, according to the New York Recorder, as follows:

6 yards cheviot at 60c.	$3 60
1½ yards broadcloth at $1.25	1 88
2 yards fancy braids at 25c.	2 25
¼ yard vesting (cotton) at 50c.	12
Linings, etc.	2 00
Dressmaker 3 days at $2.50 per day	7 50
Total	$16 85

For Breakfast.

A simple breakfast, but one which ought to tempt even a fastidious appetite, is:

Grape fruit.
Fricasee of chicken. Baked potatoes.
Muffins. Toast.
Coffee.

THOUGHTS AND AFTERTHOUGHTS.

She dashes down the woodland way
Swift as a darting hawk,
For Betty runs, Lorieve to say,
When others trip or walk.
Around her bluebirds chirp and swing
And flutter up and down,
But blacker than each jetty wing—
Nay, Betty's hair is brown.

She kneels where grow the violets shy
Amid ground ivy vines,
By pools that glass the summer sky
That blue alone then shines.
Blue is the veil of smoke that dwells
Above the farmer town,
And blue as evening glory bells—
Nay, Betty's eyes are brown.

Where roses droop above the walks
In gardens overgrown,
And sweetbriar bend their greenest stalks,
She moves, a queen, alone.
There, drunken with their own perfume,
Pink petals drop and drown,
But pinker than the roses' bloom—
Nay, Betty's cheeks are brown.

She calls the cattle from the hills
Down the deep lanes of grass,
And while the wooden pail she fills
I watch her as I pass.
Ah, whiter than the foaming milk
That flecks with foam her gown—
Nay, Betty's hands are soft as silk,
But Betty's hands are brown.

Not mine the woods wherein she strays
The garden wild, not mine;
Nor mine the meadow ways where grass
These fortune favored kine.
But mine a deeper prize for eye
That sees a lovely scene,
Nay, Betty goes to church today
To wed a man named Brown!
